23 Then when all the captaines of the host and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah gouernour, they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, to wit, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Iazaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

24 And Gedaliah sware to them, and to their men, and said vnto them, Feare not to be the seruants of the Caldees: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and ye shalbe well.

25 * But in the seuenth moneth Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah the sonne of Elishama of the Kings seed, came, and ten men with him, and smote Gedaliah, and he died, and so did he the Iewes, and the Caldees that were with him at Mizpah.

26 Then all the people both small and great, and the captaines of the armie arose, and came to^m Egypt: for they were afraid of the Caldees.

27 Notwithstanding in the seuen and thirtieth yeere after^a Iehoiachin king of Iudah was caried away in the twelfth moneth, and the seuen and twentieth day of the moneth, Erimeroch king of Babel in the yeere that hee began to reigne, did lift vp the head of Iehoiachin king of Iudah out of the prison,

28 And spake kindly to him, and set his throne about the throne of the kings that were with him in Babel, 29 And changed his prison garments: and hee did continually eate bread before him, all the dayes of his life.

30 And his^o portion was a continually portion giuen him by the king, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life.

ⁿ Thus long was he, his wife and his children in Babylon, whom Nebuchad-nezzars sonne, after his fathers death, preferred to honour: thus by Gods providence the seed of Dauid was reserved euen y^t to Christ.

^o Meaning, that he had an ordinarie in the court.

THE FIRST BOOKE OF THE [†]CHRONICLES, OR [¶]PARALIPOMENON.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Iewes comprehend both these bookes in one, which the Grecians, because of the length, diuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories from Adam to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylon. But these are not those bookes of Chronicles, which are so oft mentioned in the bookes of the Kings of Iudah and Israel, which did at large set forth the storie of both the Kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abridgement of the same, and were gathered by Ezra, as the Iewes write, after their returne from Babylon. This first booke containeth a brieue rehearsall of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Izhak, Iacob, and the twelue Patriarches, chiefly of Iudah, and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it setteth forth more amply his actes, both concerning ciuill gouernment, and also the administration, and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyeth, and giueth thanks to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

1 The genealogie of Adam and Noah vntill Abraham. 27 And from Abraham to Esau. 35 His children. 43 Kings and Dukes came of him.

Adam, ^a Sheth, Enoch,
2 Kenan, Mahalaleel, Iered, 3 Henoch, Methuselah, Lamech, 4 Noah, ^b Shem, Ham, and Iapheth.

5 ¶ The sonnes of Iapheth were Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Iauan, and Tubal, and Meshech, and Tiras.

6 And the sonnes of Gomer, Ashchenaz, and ¶ Iphath and Togarmah.

7 Also the sonnes of Iauan, Elifshah and Tarshishah, Kittim, and ¶ Dodanim.

8 ¶ The sonnes of Ham were Cush, and Mizraim, Put and Canaan.

9 And the sonnes of Cush, Siba, and Hauiilah, and Sabra, and Raamah, and Sabtecha. Also the sonnes of Raamah were Sheba and Dedan.

10 And Cush begate^c Nimrod, who began to be mightie in the earth.

11 And Mizraim begate Ludim and Ananim, Lehabim, and Naphtuhim:

12 Pathrusim also, and Casluhim, of whom came the Philistims, and Caphtorim.

13 Also Canaan begat Zidon his first borne, and Heti,

14 And the Iebusite, and the Amorite, and the Girgashite,

15 And the Hiuite, and the Arkite, and the Simite,

17 ¶ The sonnes of Shem were Elam and Asthur, and Arpachshad, and Lud, and^d Aram, and Vz, and Hul, and Gether, and Meshech.

18 Also Arpachshad begate Shelah, and Shelah begate^e Eber.

19 Vnto Eber also were borne two sonnes: the name of the one was Peleg: for in his dayes was the earth diuided: and his brothers name was Joktan.

^c Who did first lift vp himselfe aboue others, Gen. 10. 8.

^d Gen. 10. 22. and 11. 10. d Of whom came the Syrians, and therefore they are called Aramites throughout all the Scripture.
^e Of him came the Ebrewes, which were afterward called Israe'lites of Ibrahims which was Iacob: and Iewes of Iudah, because of the excellencie of that tribe.

20 Then

20 Then Iokran begate Almodad and Sheleph, and Hazerem, and Ierah, 21 And Hadoram, and Vzai, and Diklah,

22 And Ebal, and Abimael, and Sheba,

23 And Ophir, and Hauilah, and Iobab: all these were the sonnes of Iokran.

f He repeateth Shem againe, because hee would come to the stocke of Abraham, g Who came of Shem, and of him Shelah, *Gen 11.26. and 17.5. and 21.2. *Gen 25.13.

24 Shem, & Arpachshad, Shelah,

25 Eber, Peleg, Rehu,

26 Serug, Nahor, Terah,

27 *Abram, which is Abraham.

28 ¶ The sonnes of Abraham were Izhak, and Ishmael.

29 These are their generations. *The eldest sonne of Ishmael was Nebaioth, and Kedar, and Abdeel, and Mibsam.

¶ Or, Hadar.

30 Mithma, and Dumah, Massa, ¶ Hadad, and Tema, 31 Ietur, Naphtih and Kedamah: these are the sonnes of Ishmael.

h Reade Gen. 25.2.

32 ¶ And Keturah Abrahams^b concubine bare sonnes, Zimran, and Iokshan, and Medan, and Midian, and Ishbak, and Shuah: and the sonnes of Iokshan, Sheba, and Dedan.

*Gen. 21.2.

33 And the sonnes of Midian were Ephah, and Ephar, and Hinoch, and Abida, and Eldalah: *All these are the sonnes of Keturah.

34 And *Abraham begate Izhak: the sons of Izhak, Esau and Israel.

i These were borne of three diuers mothers, read Gen. 36.4. *Gen. 36.9. ¶ Or, Zeph. k Which was Eliphaz concubine: reade Gen. 36.12.

35 ¶ The sonnes of Esau were i *Eliphaz, Reuel, and Ieush, and Isalam, and Korah.

36 The sonnes of Eliphaz, Teman, and Omar, ¶ Zephi, and Gatam, Kenaz, and^k Timna, and Amalek.

37 The sonnes of Reuel, Nahath, Zerah, Shammah and Mizzah.

38 And the sonnes of^l Seir, Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibon, and Anah, and Dishon, and Ezer, and Dishan.

l He is also called Seir the Horite, which inhabited mount Seir, Gen. 36.30.

39 And the sonnes of Lotan, Hori, and Homam, and Timna Lotans sister.

40 The sonnes of Shobal were Alian, and Manahath, and Epai, Shephi, and Onam. And the sonnes of Ziteon, Aiah and Anah.

41 The sonne of Anah was Dishon. And the sonnes of Dishon, Amran, and Eshban, and Ithran, and Cheran.

42 The sonnes of Ezer were Bilhan, and Zaauan, and Iakkan. The sonnes of Dishon were Vz, and Aran.

m He maketh mention of the kings that came of Esau, according to Gods promise made to Abraham concerning him, that kings should come of him. These 8. kings reign done after another in Idumea vnto the time of Dauid, who conquered their country. n Which was the principall citie of the Edomites.

43 ¶ And these were the^m kings that reigned in the land of Edom, before a king reigned ouer the children of Israel, to wit, Bela the sonne of Beor, and the name of his citie was Dinhabah.

44 Then Bela died, and Iobab the sonne of Zerah ofⁿ Bozrah reigned in his stead.

45 And when Iobab was dead, Hushham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his stead.

46 And when Hushham was dead, Hadad the sonne of Bedad which smote Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his stead, and the name of his citie was Auith.

47 So Hadad died, and Samlah of Massreah reigned in his stead.

48 And Samlah died, and Shaul of Rehoboth by the riuer, reigned in his stead.

49 And when Shaul was dead, Baal-hanan the sonne of Achbor reigned in his stead.

50 And Baal-hanan died, and Hadad reigned in his stead, and the name of his citie was ¶ Pai, & his wiues name Meherabel the daughter of Matred the daughter of Mezahab. ¶ Or, Pam.

51 Hadad died also, and there were Dukes in Edom, Duke Timnah, Duke ¶ Aliah, Duke Icther, ¶ Or, Alah.

52 Duke Aholibamah, Duke Elah, Duke Pinon,

53 Duke Kenaz, Duke Teman, Duke Mibzar,

54 Duke Magdiel, Duke Iram: these were the Dukes of Edom.

CHAP. II.

23 And Ziza the sonne of Shiphei, the sonne of Allon, the sonne of Iedaiah, the sonne of Shimri, the sonne of Shemaiah.

24 These were famous princes in their families, and increased greatly their fathers houses.

25 And they ¹ went to the entering in of Gedor, euen vnto the East side of the valley, to seeke pasture for their sheepe.

26 And they found fat pasture and good, and a wide land, both quiet and fruitfull: for they of Ham had dwelt there before.

27 And these described by name, came in the dayes of Hezekiah king of Iudah, and smote their tents, & the inhabitants that were found there, and destroyed them vtterly vnto this day, and dwelt in their roomes, because there was pasture there for their sheepe.

28 And besides these, five hundred men of the sonnes of Simeon went to mount Seir, and Pelatiah, and Neariah, and Rophaiah, and Vziel the sonnes of Ishi were their captaines.

29 And they smote the rest of Amalek that had escaped, & they dwelt there vnto this day.

CHAP. V.

1 The birthright taken from Reuben and given to the sonnes of Ioseph. 2 The genealogie of Reuben. 3 And Gad, 4 And of the halfe tribe of Manasseh.

5 The sonnes also of Reuben the eldest sonne of Israel (for hee was the eldest, * but had defiled his fathers bed, therefore his birthright was giuen vnto the sonnes of Ioseph the sonne of Israel, so that the genealogie is not reckoned after his birthright.

6 For Iudah prevailed about his brethren, and of him came the Prince; but the birthright was Iosephs.

7 The sonnes of Reuben the eldest sonne of Israel were Hanoth and Pallu, Hezron and Carmi:

8 And the sonnes of Ioel, Shemotah his sonne, Gog his sonne, and Shimeel his sonne, 9 Michah his sonne, Reaiah his sonne, and Baal his sonne,

10 Beerah his sonne: whom Tilgath Pileser king of Asshur carried away: hee was a Prince of the Reubenites.

11 And when his brethren in their families reckoned the genealogie of their generations, Iehiel and Zechariah were the chiefe, 12 And Bela the sonne of Azaz, the sonne of Shema, the sonne of Ioel, which dwelt in Aroer euen vnto Nebo, and Baal-meon.

13 Also Eastward he inhabited vnto the entering in of the wilderness from the riuer ¹⁴ Perath: for they had much cattell in the land of Gilead.

15 And in the dayes of Saul they warred with the Hagarims, which fel by their hands: and they dwelt in their tents in all the East parts of Gilead.

16 And the children of Gad dwelt ouer against them in the land of Bashan vnto Salchah.

17 Ioel was the chiefe, and Shapham the second, but Iaari and Shaphat were in Bashan.

18 And their brethren of the house of their fathers were Michael, and Meshullam, and Sheba, and Sorai, and Iacan, and Zia, and Eber, seuen.

19 These are the children of Abihail, the sonne of Huri, the sonne of Iaroah, the sonne of Gilead, the sonne of Michael, the sonne of Ieshihai, the sonne of Iahdo, the sonne of Buz.

20 Ahi the sonne of Abdiel, the son of Guni was chiefe of the household of their fathers.

21 And they dwelt in Gilead in ²² Bashan, and in the townes thereof, and in all the suburbs of Sharon by their borders.

23 All these were reckoned by genealogies in the dayes of Iotham king of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam king of Israel.

24 The sonnes of Reuben and of Gad, and of halfe the tribe of Manasseh, of those that were valiant men, able to beare shield & sword and to draw a bowe, exercised in warre, were foure and fourty thousand, seuen hundred and threescore, that went out to the warre.

25 And they made warre with the Hagarims, with ²⁶ Ietur, and Naph-sh, and Nodab.

27 And they were ²⁸ holpen against them, and the Hagarims were deliuered into their hand, and all that were with them: for they cried to God in the battel, and he heard them, because they trusted in him.

22 For many fell downe wounded, because the warre was of God. And they dwelt in their steads vntill the captiuitie.

23 And the children of the halfe tribe of Manasse dwelt in the land, from Bashan vnto ^k Baal Hermon, and Senir, & vnto mount Hermon: for they increased.

24 And these were the heads of the households of their fathers, euen Ephraim and Ishi, and Eliel, and Azriel, and Jeremiah, and Hodaniah, and Iahdiel, strong men, valiant, and famous, heads of the households of their fathers.

25 But they transgressed against the God of their fathers, and went a whoring after the gods of the people of the land, whom God had destroyed before them.

26 And the God of Israel stirred vp the spirit of Pul king of Asshur, and the spirit of Tilgath Pilnezer king of Asshur, and hee caried them away: euen the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the halfe tribe of Manasse, and brought them vnto ^{*} Halah, and Habor, and Hara, and to the riuer Gozan, vnto this day.

CHAP. VI.

1 The genealogie of the sonnes of Leui. 31 Their order in the ministrie of the Tabernacle. 49 Aaron and his sonnes Priests. 54. 57 Their habitations.

The sonnes of Leui were Gershom, Kohath and Merari.

2 ^{*} And the sonne of Kohath, Amram, Izhar, and Hebron, and Vzziel.

3 And the children of Amram, Aaron, and Moses and Miriam. And the sonnes of Aaron, ^{} Nadab, and Abihu, and ^{} Eleazar, and Ithamar.

4 Eleazar begate Phinehas, Phinehas begate Abishua.

5 And Abishua begate Bukki, and Bukki begate Vzzi.

6 And Vzzi begate Zerachiah, and Zerachiah begate Meraioth.

7 Meraioth begate Amariah, and Amariah begate Ahitub.

8 And Ahitub begate ^a Zadok, and Zadok begate Ahimaaz.

9 And Ahimaaz begate Azariah, and Azariah begate Iohanan.

10 And Iohanan begate Azariah (it was he that was ^b Priest in the house that Salomon built in Ierusalem.)

11 And Azariah begate Amariah, and Amariah begate Ahitub.

12 And Ahitub begate Zadok, and Zadok begate Shallum.

13 And Shallum begate Hilkiah, and Hilkiah begate Azariah.

14 And Azariah begate Seraiah, and Seraiah begate Iehozadak.

15 And ^c Iehozadak departed when the Lord caried away into captiuitie Iudah and Ierusalem by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar.

16 ¶ The sonnes of Leui were Gershom, Kohath and Merari.

17 And these be the names of the sonnes of Gershom, Libni, and Shimei.

18 And the sonnes of Kohath were Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron, and Vzziel.

19 The sonnes of Merari, Mahli and Mushi: and these are the families of Leui, concerning their fathers.

23 Elkanah his sonne, and Ebiasaph his sonne, and Assir his sonne, 24 Tahath his sonne, Vriel his sonne, Vzziah his sonne, and Shaul his sonne, 25 And the sonnes of Elkanah Amasai, and Ahimoth.

26 Elkanah. The sonnes of Elkanah, Zophai his sonne, and Nahath his sonne, 27 Eliab his sonne, Ieroham his sonne, Elkanah his sonne.

28 And the sonnes of Shemuel, the eldest ^e Vashui, then Abiah.

29 ¶ The sonnes of Merari were Mahli, Libni his sonne, Shimei his sonne, Vzzah his sonne, 30 Shimea his sonne, Haggiah his sonne, Asaiah his sonne.

31 And these be they whom Dauid set for to sing in the house of the Lord, after that the Arke had ^f rest.

32 And they ministred before the Tabernacle, euen the Tabernacle of the Congregation with ^g singing, vntill Salomon had built the house of the Lord in Ierusalem: then they continued in their office, according to their custome.

33 And these ministred with their children of the sonnes of Kohath, Heman a singer, the sonne of Ioel, the sonne of Shemuel, 34 The sonne of Elkanah, the sonne of Ieroham, the sonne of Eliel, the sonne of Toah, 35 The sonne of Zuph, the sonne of Elkanah, the sonne of Mahath, the sonne of Amasai, 36 The sonne of Elkanah, the sonne of Ioel, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Zephaniah, 37 The sonne of Tahath, the ^h sonne of Assir, the sonne of Ebiasaph, the sonne of Korah, 38 The sonne of Izhar, the sonne of Kohath, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel.

39 And his ⁱ brother ^h Asaph stood on his right hand: and Asaph was the sonne of Berachia, the sonne of Shimea, 40 The sonne of Michael, the sonne of Baaseiah, the sonne of Malchiah, 41 The sonne of Ethni, the sonne of Zerah, the sonne of Adaiah, d Who seemeth to be called Iohar, Exod. 6. 21. Num. 16. 1.

42 The sonne of Ethan, the sonne of Zim-mah, the sonne of Shimei,

43 The sonne of Iahath, the sonne of Gershom, the sonne of Leui.

44 And their brethren the sonnes of Merari were on the left hand; even Ethan the sonne of Kishi, the sonne of Abdi, the sonne of Malluch,

45 The sonne of Hahabiah, the sonne of Amaziah, the sonne of Hilkiab,

46 The sonne of Amzi, the sonne of Bani, the sonne of Shamer,

47 The sonne of Mahli, the sonne of Mushi, the sonne of Merari, the sonne of Leui.

48 ¶ And their brethren the Levites were appointed vnto all the seruice of the Tabernacle of the house of God,

49 But Aaron and his sonnes burnt incense vpon the altar of burnt offering, and on the altar of incense, for all that was to doe in the most holy place, and to make an atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the seruant of God had commanded.

50 These are also the sonnes of Aaron, Eleazar his sonne, Phinehas his sonne, Abishua his sonne,

51 Bukki his sonne, Vzzi his sonne, Zerahiah his sonne,

52 Meraioth his sonne, Amariah his sonne, Ahitub his sonne,

53 Zadok his sonne, and Ahimaaz his sonne.

54 ¶ And these are the dwelling places of them throughout their townes and coasts, even of the sonnes of Aaron for the family of the Ko-hathites, for the lot was theirs.

55 So they gaue them Hebron in the land of Iudah, and the suburbs thereof round about it.

56 But the field of the citie, and the villages thereof, they gaue to Caleb the sonne of Iephunneh.

57 And to the sonnes of Aaron they gaue the cities of Iudah for refuge, even Hebron and Libna with their suburbs, and Iattir, and Esh-temoa with their suburbs,

58 And Hilen with her suburbs, and Debir with her suburbs,

59 And Ashan and her suburbs, and Bethshemesh and her suburbs:

60 And of the tribe of Benjamin, Geba and her suburbs, and Alemeth with her suburbs, and Anathoth with her suburbs: all their cities were thirteene cities by their families.

61 And vnto the sons of Kohath the remnant of the family of the tribe, even of the halfe tribe of the halfe of Manasseh by lot ten cities.

62 And to the sonnes of Gershom according to their families out of the tribe of Issa-char, and out of the tribe of Asher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirteene cities.

63 Vnto the sonnes of Merari according to their families out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, by lot twelue cities.

64 Thus the children of Israel gaue to the Leuites cities with their suburbs.

65 And they gaue by lot out of the tribe of the children of Iudah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, and out of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, these cities, which they called by their names.

66 And they of the families of the sonnes of Kohath, had cities and their coastes out of the tribe of Ephraim.

67 * And they gaue vnto them cities of refuge, Shechem in mount Ephraim, and her suburbs, and Gezer and her suburbs,

68 Iokmeam also and her suburbs, and Beth-horon with her suburbs,

69 And Aialon and her suburbs, and Gath Rimmon and her suburbs,

70 And out of the halfe tribe of Manasseh, Aner and her suburbs, and Bileam and her suburbs, for the families of the remnant of the sonnes of Kohath.

71 Vnto the sonnes of Gershom out of the family of the halfe tribe of Manasseh, Golan in Bashan, and her suburbs, and Ashtaroth with her suburbs,

72 And out of the tribe of Issachar, Kedesh and her suburbs, Daberath and her suburbs,

73 Ramoth also and her suburbs, and Anem with her suburbs,

74 And out of the tribe of Asher, Masfal and her suburbs, and Abdon and her suburbs,

75 And Hukok and her suburbs, and Rehob and her suburbs,

76 And out of the tribe of Naphtali, Ke-desh in Galilea and her suburbs, and Hammon and her suburbs, and Kiriathaim and her suburbs.

77 Vnto the rest of the children of Merari were given out of the tribe of Zebulun Rimmon and her suburbs, Tabor and her suburbs,

78 And on the other side Iorden by Ieri-cho, even on the East side of Iorden, out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer in the wilderness with her suburbs, and Iahzah with her suburbs,

79 And Kedemoth with her suburbs, and Mephaath with her suburbs,

80 And out of the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead with her suburbs, and Mahanaim with her suburbs,

81 And Hesbon with her suburbs, and

dayes of Dauid two and twenty thousand, and fixe hundredth.

3 And the sonne of Vzzi was Izrahiah, and the sonnes of Izrahiah, Michael, and Obadiah, and Ioel, & Ishiah, five men all princes.

4 And with them in their generations after the household of their fathers were bands of men of warre for battell fixe and thirtie thousand: for they had many wiues and children.

5 And their brethren among all the families of Issachar were valiant men of warre, reckoned in all by their genealogies fourescore and seuen thousand.

6 ¶ The sonnes of Benjamin were Bela, and Becher, and Iediael, three.

7 And the sonnes of Bela, Ezbon, and Vzzi, and Vzziel, and Jerimoth, and Iri, five heads of the households of their fathers, valiant men of warre, and were reckoned by their genealogies, two and twentie thousand and thirtie and foure.

8 And the sonnes of Becher, Zemirah, and Ioash, and Eliezer, and Elieonai, and Omri, and Jerimoth, and Abiah and Anathoth, and Alameh: all these were the sonnes of Becher.

9 And they were numbred by their genealogies, according to their generations, and the chiefe of the houses of their fathers, valiant men of warre twentie thousand and two hundredth.

10 And the sonne of Iediael was Bilhan, and the sonnes of Bilhan, Ieush, and Benjamin, and Ehud, and Chenanah, and Zethan, and Tharshish, and Ahishahar.

11 All these were the sonnes of Iediael, chiefe of the fathers, valiant men of warre, seuentene thousand and two hundredth marching in battell aray to the warre.

12 And Shupim, and Hupim were the sonnes of Iri, but Hushim was the sonne of another.

13 ¶ The sonnes of Naphtali, Iahziel, and Guni, and Iezei, and Shallum of the sonnes of Bilhah.

14 The son of Manasseh was Ashriel whom shee bare vnto him, but his concubine of Aram bare Machir the father of Gilead.

15 And Machir tooke to wife the sister of Hupim and Shupim, and the name of their sister was Maachah. And the name of the second sonne was Zelophehad, and Zelophehad had daughters.

16 And Maachah the wife of Machir bare a sonne, and called his name Peresh, and the name of his brother was Sheresh: & his sonnes were Vlam and Rakem.

17 And the sonne of Vlam was Bedan. These were the sonnes of Gilead the sonne of Machir, the sonne of Manasseh.

18 And his sister Molecheth bare Ishod, and Abiezer, and Mahalah.

19 And the sonnes of Shemida were Ahian, and Shechem, and Likhi, and Aniam, 20 ¶ The sonnes also of Ephraim were Shuthelah, and Bered his sonne, and Tahath his sonne, and his sonne Eladah, and Tahath his sonne, 21 And Zabad his sonne, and Shuthelah his sonne, and Ezer, & Elead: and the men of Gath that were borne in the land, slew them, because they came downe to take away their cattell.

22 Therefore Ephraim their father mourned many dayes, and his brethren came to comfort him.

23 And when hee went in to his wife, shee conceived, and bare him a sonne, and he called his name Beriah, because affliction was in his house.

24 And his daughter was Sherah, which built Beth-horon the nether, and the vpper, and Vzzen Sheerah.

25 And Rephah was his sonne, and Resheph, and Telah his sonne, and Tahan his sonne, 26 Laadan his sonne, Ammihud his sonne, Elishama his sonne, 27 Non his sonne, Iehoshua his sonne.

28 And their possessions and their habitations were Beth-el, and the villages thereof, and Eastward Naaran, and Westward Gezer with the villages thereof, Shechem also and the villages thereof, vnto Azzah, and the villages thereof.

29 And by the places of the children of Manasseh, Bethshean and her villages, Taanach and her villages, Megiddo and her villages, Dor and her villages. In those dwelt the children of Ioseph the sonne of Israel.

30 ¶ The sonnes of Asher were Imnah, and Isuah, and Ishuai, and Beriah, and Serah their sister.

31 And the sonnes of Beriah, Heber, and Malchiel, which is the father of Birzauith.

32 And Heber begat Iaphlet, and Shomer, and Hotham, and Shuah their sister.

33 And the sonnes of Iaphlet were Pasach, and Bimhal, and Ashuath: these were the children of Iaphlet.

38 And Azel had fixe sonnes, whose names are these, Azrikam, Botherai, and Ishmael, and Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hapan: all these were the sonnes of Azel.

39 And the sonnes of Eshek his brother were Vlam his eldest sonne, Iehush the second, and Eliphelet the third.

40 And the sonnes of Vlam were valiant men of warre which shot with the bow, and had many sonnes and nephewes, an hundreth and fiftie: all these were of the sonnes of Benjamin.

C H A P. IX.

1 All Israel and Iudah are numbred, 10 Of the Priests, and Levites, 11. 18 And of their offices.

THUS all Israel were numbred by their genealogies: and behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel and of Iudah, and they were carried away to Babel for their transgression.

2 ¶ And the chiefe inhabitants that dwelt in their owne possessions, and in their owne cities, even Israel, the Priests, the Levites, and the Nethinims.

3 And in Ierusalem dwelt of the children of Iudah, and of the children of Benjamin, and of the children of Ephraim, and Manasseh, 4 Vthai the sonne of Ammihud the sonne Omri, the sonne of Imri, the sonne of Bani: of the children of Pharez, the sonne of Iudah.

5 And of Shiloni, Afaiah the eldest, and his sonnes.

6 And of the sonnes of Zerah, Ieuel, and their brethren fixe hundreth and ninetie.

7 And of the sonnes of Benjamin, Sallu the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Hodaiah, the sonne of Hasenuah, 8 And Ibneiah the sonne of Ieroham, and Elah the sonne of Vzzi, the sonne of Michri, and Meshullam, the sonne of Shephatiah, the sonne of Reuel, the sonne of Ibniiah.

9 And their brethren according to their generations, nine hundreth, fiftie and fixe: all these men were chiefe fathers in the households of their fathers.

10 ¶ And of the Priests, Iedaiah, and Iehoiarib, and Iachin, 11 And Azariah the sonne of Hilkiah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Meraioth, the sonne of Ahitub the chiefe of the house of God, ^f Who in the 1. Sam. 9. 1. is called Abiel.

^g He is also named Ithobotheth, 1. Sam. 2. 8.

^h He is likewise called Mephibotheth, 1. Sam. 9. 6.

^a Hitherto he hath described their genealogies before they went into captivity: and now he describeth their history after their returne.
 ^b Meaning the Gibeonites, which served in the Temple, reads 1oth. 9. 13

^c Or, chiefe of the families.

^e That is, hee was the high Priest.

12 And Adaiah the sonne of Ieroham, the sonne of Pashhur, the sonne of Malchijah, and Maasai the sonne of Adiel, the sonne of Jahze-rah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Meshillemith, the sonne of Immer.

13 And their brethren the chiefe of the households of their fathers, a thousand, seven hundred and thre score valiant men for the worke of the seruise of the house of God.

14 ¶ And of the Leuites, Shemaiah the sonne of Hattub, the sonne of Azrikam, the sonne of Hattubiah of the sonnes of Merari.

15 And Bakbakkar, Heresh and Galal, and Mattaniah the sonne of Michai, the sonne of Zichri, the sonne of Asaph.

16 And Obadiah the sonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Galal, the sonne of Jeduthun, and Berechiah, the sonne of Asa, the sonne of Elkanaah, that dwelt in the villages of the Netophathites.

17 ¶ And the porters were Shallum, and Akkub, and Talmon, and Ahiman, and their brethren: Shallum was the chiefe.

18 For they were porters to this time by companies of the children of Leui vnto the kings gate Eastward.

19 And Shallum the sonne of Kore the sonne of Ebiasaph the sonne of Korah, and his brethren the Korathites (of the house of their father) were ouer the work, and office to keepe the gates of the Tabernacle: so their families were ouer the hoste of the Lord, keeping the entrie.

20 And Phineas the sonne of Eleazar was their guide, and the Lord was with him.

21 Zechariah the sonne of Meshelemiah was the porter of the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

22 All these were chosen for porters of the gates, two hundred and twelue, which were numbred according to their genealogies by their townes. Dauid established these and Samuel the Seer in their perpetuall office.

23 So they and their children had the ouersight of the gates of the house of the Lord, euen of the house of the Tabernacle by wardes.

24 The porters were in foure quarters, Eastward, Westward, Northward, and Southward.

25 And their brethren which were in their townes, came at seven dayes from time to time with them.

26 For these foure chiefe porters were in perpetuall office, and were of the Leuites, and had charge of the chambers, and of the treasures in the house of God.

27 And they lay round about the house of God, because the charge was theirs, and they caused it to be opened euery morning.

28 And certaine of them had the rule of the ministring vessels: for they brought them in by tale, and brought them out by tale.

29 Some of them also were appointed ouer the instruments, and ouer all the vessels of the Sanctuary, and of the floure, and the wine, and the oyle, and the incense, and the sweet odour.

30 And certaine of the sonnes of the Priests made ointments of sweet odours.

31 And Masithiah one of the Leuites, which was the eldest sonne of Shallum the Korhite, had the charge of the things that were made in the faying pan.

32 And other of their brethren the sonnes of Kohath had the ouersight of the shewbread, to prepare it euery Sabbath.

33 And these are the singers, the chiefe fathers of the Leuites, which dwelt in the chambers, and had none other charge: for they had to doe in that businesse day and night.

34 These were the chiefe fathers of the Leuites according to their generations, and the principall which dwelt at Ierusalem.

35 ¶ And in Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon, Aziel, and the name of his wife was Maachah.

36 And his eldest sonne was Abdon, then Zur, and Kish, and Baal, and Ner, and Nadab, 37 And Gedor, and Ahio, and Zechariah, and Mikloth.

38 And Mikloth begate Shimeam: they also dwelt with their brethren at Ierusalem, euen by their brethren.

39 And Ner begate Kish, and Kish begate Saul, and Saul begate Jonathan and Malchishua, and Abinadab and Eshbaal.

40 And the sonne of Jonathan was Meribbaal: and Meribbaal begate Micah.

41 And the sonnes of Micah were Pithon, and Melech and Tahrea.

42 And Ahaz begate Iarah, and Iarah begate Alemeth, and Azmaueh, and Zimri, and Zimri begate Moza.

43 And Moza begate Binea, whose sonne was Rephaiah, and his sonne was Elefah, and his sonne Azel.

44 And Azel had fixe sonnes, whose names are these, Azrikam, Bocheru, and Ismael, and Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hanan: these are the sonnes of Azel.

16 And there came of the children of Benjamin, and Iudah to the holde vnto Dauid.

17 And Dauid, went out to meere them, and answered and said vnto them, If ye be come peaceably vnto me to helpe mee, mine heart shall be knit vnto you, but if you come to betray me to mine aduersaries, seeing there is no wickednesse in mine hands, the God of our fathers behold it, and rebuke it.

18 And the spirit came vpon Amasai, which was the chiefe of thirtie, and he said, Thine are wee, Dauid, and with thee, O sonne of Ishai. Peace, peace bee vnto thee, and peace bee vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Then Dauid receiued them, and made them captaines of the garison.

e The spirit of bouldnesse and courage moued him to speake thus.

19 ¶ And of Manasseh some fell to David, when he came with the Philistines against Saul to battell, but they helped them not: for the Princes of the Philistines by aduise ment sent him away, saying, Hee will fall to his master Saul for our heads.

20 As he went to Ziklag, there fell to him of Manasseh Adnah, and Iozabad, and Jedaiel and Michael, and Iozabad, and Elihu, and Ziltai, heads of the thousands that were of Manasseh.

21 And they helped Dauid against that band: for they were all valiant men and were captaines in the host.

22 For at that time day by day there came to Dauid to helpe him, vntill it was a great host, like the host of God.

23 And these are the numbers of the captaines that were armed to battell, and came to Dauid to Hebron to turne the kingdome of Saul to him, according to the worde of the Lord.

24 The children of Iudah that bare shield and speare, were fixe thousand and eight hundred armed to the warre.

25 Of the children of Simeon valiant men of war, seuen thousand and an hundred.

26 Of the children of Leui four thousand and fixe hundred.

27 And Iehoiadab was the chiefe of them of Aaron: and with him three thousand and seuen hundred.

28 And Zadok among man very valiant, and of his fathers household came two and twentie captaines.

29 And of the children of Benjamin the brethren of Saul three thousand: for a great part of them vnto that time kept the ward of the house of Saul.

30 And of the children of Ephraim twentie thousand, and eight hundred valiant men and famous men in the household of their fathers.

31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasse eighteen thousand, which were appointed by name to come and make Dauid King.

32 And of the children of Issachar which were men that had vnderstanding of the times to know what Israel ought to doe: the heads of them were two hundred, and all their brethren were at their commandement.

33 Of Zebulun that went out to battell expert in warre and in all instruments of warre, fiftie thousand which could set the battell in aray: they were not of a double heart.

34 And of Naphtali a thousand captaines, and with them with shield and speare seuen and thirtie thousand.

35 And of Dan, expert in battell eight and twenty thousand, and fixe hundred.

36 And of Asher that went out to the battell and were trained in the warres fortie thousand.

37 And of the other side of Iorden of the Reubenites, and of the Gadites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasseh with all instruments of warre to fight with, an hundred and twentie thousand.

38 ¶ All these men of warre which could leade an armie, came with vp right heart to Hebron to make Dauid king ouer all Israel: and all the rest of Israel was of one accord to make Dauid King.

39 And there they were with Dauid three dayes, eating and drinking: for their brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreover they that were neere them vntill Issachar, and Zebulun, and Naphtali brought bread vpon asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, euen meate, floure, figs, and raisins, and wine and oyle, and beeces and sheepe abundantly: for there was ioy in Israel.

CHAP. XIII.

7 The Arke is brought againe from Kiriath-iearim to Ierusalem. 8 Vzza dieth because he touched it.

¶ And Dauid counselled with the captaines of thousands and of hundreths, and with all the gouernours.

2 And Dauid said to all the Congregation of Israel, If it seeme good to you, and that it proceedeth of the Lord our God, we will send to and fro vnto our brethren, that are left in all the land of Israel, (for with them are the Priests and the Leuites in the cities and their suburbs) that they may assemble themselves vnto vs.

3 And wee will bring againe the Arke of our God to vs: for we sought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation answered, Let vs do so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 ¶ So Dauid gathered all Israel together from Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto the entering of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from Kiriath-iearim.

6 And Dauid went vp and all Israel to Baalath, in Kiriath-iearim, that was in Iudah, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lord that dwelleth betweene the Cherubims, where his Name is called on.

7 And they caried the Arke of God in a newe cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Vzza and Ahio guided the cart.

8 And Dauid and all Israel played before God with all their might, both with songs and with harps and with viols, and with timbrels and with cimbals, and with trumpets.

9 ¶ And when they came vnto the threshing floore of Chidon, Vzza put forth his hand to hold the arke, for the oxen did shake it.

10 But the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Vzza, and hee smote him, because hee layed his hand vpon the arke: so he died there before God.

11 And Dauid was angry because the Lord had made a breach in Vzza, and he called the name of that place Perez-vzza vnto this day.

12 And Dauid feared God that day, saying,

8 But when the Philistims heard that Dauid was annointed King ouer Israel, all the Philistims came vp to seeke Dauid: And when Dauid heard, he went out against them.

9 And the Philistims came, and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

10 Then Dauid asked counsell at God, saying: Shall I goe vp against the Philistims, and wilt thou deliuer them into mine hande? And the Lord said vnto him, Go vp: for I wil deliuer them into thine hand.

11 So they came vp to Baal-perazim, and Dauid smote them there: and Dauid said, God hath diuided mine enemies with mine hand, as waters are diuided: therefore they called the name of that place, Baal-perazim.

12 And there they had left their gods: and Dauid said, Let them euen be burnt with fire.

13 Again the Philistims came and spread themselves in the valley.

14 And when Dauid asked againe counsell at God, God said to him, Thou shalt not go vp after them, but turne away from them, that thou mayest come vpon them ouer against the mulberie trees.

15 And when thou hearest the noyse of one going in the tops of the mulberie trees, then go out to battell: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the host of the Philistims.

16 So Dauid did as God had commaunded him: and they smote the hoste of the Philistims from Gibeon euen to Gezer.

17 And the fame of Dauid went out into all lands: and the Lord brought the feare of him vpon all nations.

2 Then Dauid said, None ought to cary the Arke of God, but the Leuites: for the Lord hath chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lord, and to minister vnto him for euer.

3 And Dauid gathered all Israel together to Ierusalem to bring vp the Arke of the Lord vnto his place, which hee had ordeined for it.

4 And Dauid assembled the sonnes of Aaron, and the Leuites.

5 Of the sonnes of Kohath, Vziel the chiefe, and his brethren sixe score.

6 Of the sonnes of Merari, Asaiah the chiefe, & his brethren two hundred & twenty.

7 Of the sonnes of Gershom, Joel the chiefe, and his brethren an hundred and thirty.

8 Of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundred.

9 Of the sonnes of Hebron, Eliel the chiefe, and his brethren fourescore.

10 Of the sons of Vzziel, Amminadab the chiefe, and his brethren an hundred & twelue.

11 And Dauid called Zadok and Abiathar the Priests, and of the Leuites, Vziel, Asaiah and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab.

12 And he said vnto them, Ye are the chiefe fathers of the Leuites: sanctifie your selues, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

13 For because yee were not there at the first, the Lorde our God made a breach among vs: for we fought him not after due order.

14 So the Priests and the Leuites sanctified themselves to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 And the sonnes of the Leuites bare the Arke of God vpon their shoulders with the barres, as Moses had commanded, according to the word of the Lord.

16 And Dauid spake to the chiefe of the Leuites, that they should appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with instruments of musicke, with viols and harpes, and cymbals, that they might make a founde, and lift vp their voyce with ioy.

26 And because that God helped the Le-uites that bare the Arke of the covenant of the Lorde, they offered seven bullockes and seven rammes.

27 And David had on him a linnen garment, as all the Leuites that bare the Arke and the fingers, and Chenaniah that had the chiefe charge of the fingers: and vpon David was a linnen Ephod.

28 Thus all Israel brought vp the Arke of the Lords covenant with shouting and sound of corner, and with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a sounde with viols and with harpes.

29 And when the arke of the covenant of the Lorde came into the cite of David, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out at a window, and saw king David dancings and playing, and she despised him in her heart.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Arke being placed, they offer sacrifices. 4 David ordeineth Asaph & his brethren to minister before the Lorde.
8 He appointeth a notable psalme to be sung in praise of the Lorde.

So they brought in the Arke of God, and set it in the middes of the Tabernacle that David had pitched for it, and they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God.

3 And when David had made an end of offering the burnt offering & the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the Name of the Lorde.

And he dealt to euery one of Israel both man and woman, to euery one a cake of bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottel of wine.

4 And hee appointed certaine of the Le-uites to minister before the Arke of the Lorde, and to rehearse and to thanke and praise the Lorde God of Israel.

5 Asaph the chiefe, and next to him Zechariah, Icziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Marithiah, and Eliab, and Benaiah, & Obed Edom, euen Icziel with instruments, viols and harpes, and Asaph to make a sound with cymbals,

6 And Benaiah and Iabaziel Priests, with trumpets continually before the Arke of the covenant of God.

7 Then at that time David did appoint at the beginning to giue thanks to the Lorde by the hand of Asaph and his brethren.

8 * Praise the Lorde and call vpon his Name: declare his works among the people.

9 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, and talke of all his wonderfull works.

10 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the hearts of them that seeke the Lorde, reioyce.

11 Seeke the Lorde and his strength: seeke his face continually.

12 Remember his marueilous workes that he hath done, his wonders, & the Iudgements of his mouth,

13 O seede of Israel his seruant, O the children of Iakob his chosen.

14 Hee is the Lorde our God: his iudge-ments are throughout all the earth.

15 Remember his covenant for euer, and the word, which he commanded to a thousand generations:

16 * Which hee made with Abraham, and his othe to Izhak:

17 And hath confirmed it to Iakob for a Law, and to Israel for an euerlasting covenant.

18 Saying, To thee will I giue the land of Canaan the lot of your inheritance.

19 When ye were few in number, yea, a on, and from one kingdome to another people,

21 He suffered no man to doe them wrong, but rebuked kings for their sakes, saying

22 Touch not mine anointed, and do my Prophets no harme.

23 * Sing vnto the Lorde all the earth: declare his saluation from day to day:

24 Declare his glory among the nations, and his wonderfull workes among all people.

25 For the Lorde is great and much to bee praised and he is to bee feared aboue all gods.

26 For all the gods of the people are idols, but the Lorde made the heauens,

27 Praise and glory are before him: power and beauty are in his place.

were appointed by names) to praise the Lorde, house.

CHAP. XVII.

3 Dauid is forbidden to build an house vnto the Lorde. 12 Christ is promised vnder the figure of Salomon. 18 Da-uid giueth thanks. 23. And prayeth vnto God.
N Ow after ward when Dauid dwelt in his house, he said to Nathan the prophet, Be-holde, I dwell in an house of cedar trees, but the Arke of the Lords couenant remaineth vnder curtains.
2 Then Nathan said to Dauid, Do all that is in thine heart: for God is with thee.
3 And the same night euen the word of God came to Nathan, saying, 4 Goe and tell Dauid my seruant, Thus sayth the Lorde, Thou shalt not builde me an house to dwell in.

5 For I haue dwelt in no house, since the day that I brought out the children of Israel vnto this day, but I haue bene from tent to tent, and from habitation to habitation.
6 Wherefore I haue walked with all Israel, spake I one word to any of the Iudges of Israel (whom I commaunded to feede my people) saying, Why haue ye not built me an house of cedar trees?
7 Now therefore thus saith the Lorde vnto my seruant Dauid, Thus saith the Lorde of hosts, I tooke thee from the sheepe, and from following the sheepe, that thou shouldst be a prince over my people Israel.
8 And I haue bene with thee whitheroe-uer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and haue made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.
9 (Also I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and will plant it, that they may dwell in their place, and moue no more: neither shall the wicked people vex them any more, as at the beginning.
10 And since the time that I commaunded Iudges over my people Israel, And I wil subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lorde will build thee an house.
11 And when thy dayes shall be fulfilled to go with thy fathers, then wil I raise vp thy seed after thee, which shall be of thy sonnes, and will stablish his kingdome.
12 Hee shall build me an house, and I will stablish his throne for euer.
13 I will bee his father, and he shall bee my sonne, and I will not take my mercie away from him, as I tooke it from him that was before thee.
14 But I will establish him in mine house, and in my kingdome for euer, and his throne shall be established for euer.
15 According to all these wordes, and according to all this vision, So Nathan spake to Dauid.
16 ¶ And Dauid the King went in and sate before the Lorde and saide, Who am I, O Lorde God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me hitherto?
17 Yet thou esteeming this a smal thing, O God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruant for a great while: and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of his degree, O Lord God.
17 What can Dauid desire more of thee, for the honor of thy seruant? for thou knowest thy seruant.
19 O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine heart hast thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

there any God besides thee, according to all that we haue heard with our eares.

ble things by casting out nations from before thy people, whom thou hast delivered out of Egypt?

12 For thou hast ordered thy people Israel to be thine owne people for ever, and thou Lord art become their God.

13 Therefore now Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruant, and concerning his house, bee confirmed for euer, and doe as thou hast said,

14 And let thy Name be stable and magnified for euer, that it may be said, The Lord of let the house of Dauid thy seruant bee stabilished before thee.

vnto the eare of thy seruant, that thou wilt build him an house: therefore thy seruant hath bene bold to pray before thee.

God, and hast spoken this goodnesse vnto thy seruant.)

17 Now therefore it hath pleased thee to bless the house of thy seruant, that it may bee before thee for euer: for thou, O Lord, hast blessed it, and it shall be blessed for euer.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The battell of Dauid against the Philistims, 2 And against Moab, 3 Zobah, 5 Aram, 12 And Edom.

1 And after this, Dauid smote the Phil-istims, and subdued them, & tooke Gath, and the villages thereof out of the hand of the Philistims.

2 And he smote Moab, and the Moabites became Dauids seruants, and brought gifts.

3 And Dauid smote Hadarezer king of Zobah vnto Hamath, as he went to stablish his border by the riuier Perath.

4 And Dauid tooke from him a thousand charets, and seuen thousand horsemen, and twentie thousand footmen, and destroyed all the charets, but hee reserued of them an hundred charets.

5 Then came the Aramites of Damascus to succour Hadarezer King of Zobah, but Dauid slew of the Aramites two and twentie thousand.

6 And Dauid put a garison in Aram of Damascus, and the Aramites became Dauids seruants, and brought gifts: and the Lord preserued Dauid wheresoeuer he went.

7 And Dauid tooke the shields of golde that were of the seruants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Ierusalem.

8 And from Tibhath, and from Chun (cities of Hadarezer) brought Dauid exceeding much brasse, wherewith Salomon made the brasen Sea, and the pillars, and the vessels of brasse.

9 Then Tou king of Hamath heard how Dauid had smitten all the hoste of Hadarezer king of Zobah:

10 Therefore hee sent Hadoram his sonne to King Dauid, to salute him, and to reioyce with him, because he had fought against Hadarezer, and beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarezer) who brought all vessels of gold and silver and brasse.

11 And King Dauid did dedicate them vnto the Lord, with the silver and gold that hee brought from all the nations, from Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims, and from Amalek.

12 And Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah smote of Edom in the salt valley^f eightene thousand,

13 And he put a garison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruants: & the Lord preserued Dauid wheresoeuer he went.

14 So Dauid reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement and iustice to all his people.

15 And Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah was ouer the host, and Iehoshaphat the sonne of Ahiud Recorder.

16 And Zadok the sonne of Abitub, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the Priests, and Shausha the Scribe,

17 And Benaiah the son of Iehoiada was ouer the Cherethites and the Pelethites: and the sons of Dauid were chiefe about the King.

CHAP. XIX.

4 Hanun king of the children of Ammon doeth great injuries to the seruants of Dauid. 6 Hee prepareth an armie against Dauid, 15 And is overcome.

1 After this also, Nahash the king of the children of Ammon died, and his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And Dauid said, I will shew kindnesse vnto Hanun the sonne of Nahash, because his father shewed kindnesse vnto mee. And Da-uid sent messengers to comfort him for his father. So the seruants of Dauid came into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanun to comfort him.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanun, Thinkest thou that Da-uid doeth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters vnto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to search, to seeke and to spie out the land?

4 Wherefore Hanun tooke Dauids ser-uants, and shewed them, and cut off their garments by the halfe vnto the buttocks, and sent them away.

5 And there went certaine and tolde Da-uid concerning the men: and he sent to meete them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the King said, Tary at Iericho, vntill your beards be grown: then returne.

7 And they hired them two and thirtie thousand charers, and the King of Maachah and his people, which came & pitched before Medeba: and the children of Ammon gathered themselves together from their cities, and came to the battell.

8 And when Dauid heard he sent Ioab and all the host of the valiant men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and set their battell in aray at the gate of the citie. And the Kings that were come, were by themselves in the field.

10 When Ioab saw that the front of the battell was against him before & behinde, then he chose out of all the choise of Israel, and set himselfe in aray to meete the Aramites.

11 And the rest of the people he deliuered vnto the hand of Abishai his brother, and they put themselves in aray against the children of Ammon.

12 And he said, If Aram be too strong for me, then thou shalt succour me: and if the children of Ammon preuaile against thee, then I will succour thee.

13 Be strong, and let vs shew our selues valiant for our people, and for the cities of our God, and let the Lord doe that which is good in his owne sight.

14 So Ioab and the people that was with him, came neere before the Aramites vnto the battell, and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Aramites fled, they fled also before Abishai his brother, and entred into the citie: so Ioab came to Ierusalem.

16 And when the Aramites saw that they were discomfited before Israel, they sent messengers and caused the Aramites to come forth that were beyond the riuer: and Shophach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarezer went before them.

17 And when it was shewed Dauid, he gathered all Israel, and went ouer Iorden, & came vnto them, & put himselfe in aray against them: And when Dauid had put himself in battell aray to meete the Aramites, they fought with him.

18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and Dauid destroyed of the Aramites seuen thousand charers, and fourtie thousand footemen, and killed Shophach the captaine of the hoste.

19 And when the seruants of Hadarezer saw that they fell before Israel, they made peace with Dauid, & serued him. And the Aramites would no more succour the children of Ammon.

CHAP. XX.

And when the yeere was expired, in the time that kings goe out a warfare, Ioab caried out the strength of the armie, and destroyed the countrey of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah (but Dauid taried at Ierusalem) and Ioab smote Rabbah and destroyed it.

2 Then Dauid tooke the crowne of their king from off his head, and found it the weight of a talent of gold, with precious stones in it: and it was set on Dauids head, and he brought away the spoile of the citie exceeding much.

3 And he caried away the people that were in it, and cut them with sawes, and with harrowes of yron, and with axes: euen thus did Dauid with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then Dauid and all the people came againe to Ierusalem.

4 And after this also there arose warre at Gezer with the Philistims: then Sibbechai the Hushathite slew Sippai, of the children of Haraphah, and they were subdued.

5 And there was yet another battell with the Philistims: & Elhanan the son of Iair slew Lahmi, the brother of Goliath the Gittite, whose speare staffe was like a weauers beame.

6 And yet againe there was a battell at Gath, where was a man of great stature, and his fingers were by fixes, euen foure & twentie, and was also the sonne of Haraphah.

7 And when he reuiled Israel, Iehonathan the son of Shimea Dauids brother did slay him.

8 These were borne vnto Haraphah at Gath, and fell by the hand of Dauid, and by the hands of his seruants.

CHAP. XXI.

¹ Dauid causeth the people to be numbered. ² And there die seuentie thousand men of the pestilence.

And Satan stooode vp against Israel, and aprouoked Dauid to number Israel.

2 Therefore Dauid said to Ioab, and to the rulers of the people, Goe and number Israel from Beer-sheba euen to Dan, & bring it to me, that I may know the number of them.

3 And Ioab answered, The Lord increase his people an hundreth times so many as they bee, O my lord the King: are they not all my lords seruants: wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why should hee be a cause of trespassse to Israel?

4 Neuerthelesse, the Kings word preuailed against Ioab. And Ioab departed and went thorow all Israel and returned to Ierusalem.

5 And Ioab gaue the number and summe of the people vnto Dauid: and all Israel were eleuen hundreth thousand men that drew sword: and Iudah was foure hundreth and seuentie thousand men that drew sword.

6 But the Leuites and Benjamin counted he not among them: for the Kings word was abominable to Ioab.

7 And God was displeased with this thing: therefore he smote Israel.

now,

now, I beseech thee, remove the iniquities of thy servants: for I have done very foolishly.

9 And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauid's seer, saying,

10 Go and tell Dauid, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I offer thee three things: chuse thee one of them that I may doe it vnto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Take to thee either three yeeres famine, or three moneths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, and the sword of thine enemies to take thee, or els the sword of the Lord and pestilence in the lande three dayes, that the Angel of the Lord may destroy throughout all the coasts of Israel: now therefore aduise thee, what word I shall bring againe to him that sent me.

12 And Dauid said vnto Gad, I am in a wonderful strait. let me now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.

13 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel seuentie thousand men.

14 And God sent the Angel into Ierusalem to destroy it. And as he was destroying, the Lord beheld, and repented of the euill, and said to the Angel that destroyed, It is now enough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite.

15 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and saw the Angel of the Lord stand betweene the earth and the heauen with his sword drawn in his hand, and stretched out toward Ierusalem. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces:

16 And Dauid said vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to number the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euill, but these sheepe what haue they done? O Lord my God, I beseech thee, let thine hand be on me and on my fathers house, and not on thy people for their destruction.

17 Then the Angel of the Lord commanded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid should goe vp, & set vp an altar vnto the Lord in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite.

18 So Dauid went vp according to the saying of Gad, which he had spoken in the Name of the Lord.

19 And Ornan turned about & saw the Angel, and his foure sonnes, that were with him, hid themselves, and Ornan threshed wheate.

20 And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw Dauid, and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed himselfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

21 And Dauid said to Ornan, Giue me the place of thy threshing floore, that I may build an altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it me for sufficient money, that the plague may be staid from the people.

22 Then Ornan said vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, and let my lord the King doe that which seemeth him good: for loe, I giue thee bullocks for burnt offerings, and threshing instruments for wood, and wheate for meat offering, I giue it all.

23 And King David said to Ornan, Not so: but I will buy it for sufficient money: for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord; nor offer burnt offerings without cost.

24 So Dauid gaue to Ornan for that place sixe hundred shekels of gold by weight.

25 And Dauid built there an altar vnto the Lord, and offered burnt offerings, and peace offerings, and called vpon the Lord, and he answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offering.

26 And when the Lord had spoken to the Angel, hee put vp his sword againe into his sheath.

27 At that time when Dauid saw that the Lord had heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite, then he sacrificed there.

28 (But the Tabernacle of the Lord, which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were at that season in the high place at Gibeon.)

29 And Dauid could not goe before it to aske counsell at God: for he was afraid of the sword of the Angel of the Lord.)

CHAP. XXII.

2. Dauid prepareth things necessary for the building of the Temple. 6 He commandeth his sonne Salomon to build the Temple of the Lord, which thing he himselfe was forbidden to doe. 9 Vnder the figure of Salomon Christ is promised.

And Dauid said, This is the house of the Lord God, and this is the altar for the burnt offering of Israel.

2 And Dauid commanded to gather together the strangers that were in the land of Israel, and hee set masons to hew and polish stones to build the house of God.

3 Dauid also prepared much yron for the nailes of the doores and of the gates and for the ioyning, and abundance of brasse passing weight,

4 And cedar trees without number: for the Zidonians & they of Tyrus brought much cedar wood to Dauid.

5 And Dauid said, Salomon my sonne is yong and tender, and wee must build an house for the Lord, magnificent, excellent and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countreys. I will therefore now prepare for him. So Dauid prepared very much before his death.

6 Then he called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to build an house for the Lord God of Israel.

7 And Dauid said to Salomon, My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to build an house to the Name of the Lord my God,

8 But the word of the Lord came to mee, saying, Thou hast shed much blood, & hast made great battels: thou shalt not build an they may dwell in Jerusalem forever.

26 And also the Levites that no more beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the service thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last words of David, the Levites were numbered from twenty years and above, 28 And their office was under the hand of the sons of Aaron, for the service of the house of the Lord in the courts, and chambers, and in the purifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the service of the house of God.

29 Both for the shewbread, and for the fine flour, for the meate offering, and for the unleavened cakes, and for the fried things, and for that which was roasted, and for all measures and eise,

30 And for to stand every morning, to give thanks and to praise the Lord, and likewise at even,

31 And to offer all burnt offerings unto the Lord, in the Sabbaths, in the months, and at the appointed times, according to the number and according to their custome continually before the Lord, 32 And that they should keepe the charge of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the charge of the holy place, and the charge of the sonnes of Aaron their brethren in the service of the house of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIII.

David assigneth offices unto the sonnes of Aaron.

These are also the divisions of the sonnes of Aaron: The sonnes of Aaron were Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

2 But Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children: therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the Priests office.

3 And David distributed them, even Zadok of the sonnes of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sonnes of Ithamar, according to their offices in their ministracion.

4 And there were found moe of the sons of Eleazar by the number of men, then of the sonnes of Ithamar. and they divided them, to wit, among the sons of Eleazar, sixteene heads, according to the household of their fathers, and among the sonnes of Ithamar, according to the household of their fathers, eight.

5 Thus they distributed them by lot the one from the other, & so the rulers of the Sanctuary and the rulers of the house of God were of the sonnes of Eleazar and of the sonnes of Ithamar.

6 And Shemaiah the sonne of Nethaneel the scribe of the Levites, wrote them before the king and the princes, and Zadok the priest, and Ahimelech the sonne of Abiathar, and before the chiefe fathers of the Priests and of the Levites, one family being reserved for Eleazar, and another reserved for Ithamar.

7 And the first lot fell to Ichobabib, and the second to Iedaiah,

8 The third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim,

9 The fifth to Malchijah, the sixth to Mijamin,

10 The seventh to Hakkoz, the eight to Abijah,

11 The ninth to Ieshua, the tenth to Shecaniah,

12 The eleventh to Eliashub, the twelfth to Jakim,

13 The thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Ieshieba,

14 The fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer,

15 The seventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to Happizzer,

16 The nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Ichezekel,

17 The one and twentieth to Iachin, the two and twentieth to Gamul, 18 The three and twentieth to Deliah, the four and twentieth to Maaziah.

19 These were their orders according to their offices, when they entered into the house of the Lord according to their custome under the hand of Aaron their father, as the Lord God of Israel had commanded him.

20 ¶ And of the sonnes of Levi that remained of the sonnes of Amram, was Shubael, of the sonnes of Shubael, Iedeiah, 21 Of Rehabiah, even of the sonnes of Rehabiah, the first Ishijah, 22 Of Izhar, Shelomoth, of the sonnes of Shelomoth, Iahath, 23 And his sonnes Ieriah the first, Amariah the second, Iahaziel the third, and Iekameam the fourth,

24 The sonne of Vzziel was Michah, the sonne of Michah was Shamsi, 25 The brother of Michah was Isshijah, the sonne of Isshijah, Zechariah, 26 The sonnes of Merari, were Mahli and Mushi, the sonne of Iazizah was Beno, 27 The sonnes of Merari, of Iahaziah, were Beno, and Shoham, and Zaccur, and Ibbi, 28 Of Mahli came Eleazar, which had no sonnes.

29 Of Kish, the sonne of Kish, was Ierahmeel,

30 And the sonnes of Mushi were Mahli, and Eder, and Ierimoth: these were sonnes of the Levites after the household of their fathers.

31 And these also cast lots with their brethren the sonnes of Aaron before King David, and Zadok and Ahimelech and the chiefe fathers of the Priests, and of the Levites, even the chiefe of the families against their younger brethren.

CHAP. XXV.

The singers are appointed, with their places and lots.

SO David and the captaines of the armie separated for the ministerie the sonnes of the Levites, that every course or order contained twelve, and in all there were 288, as verse 7, e Which was the second sonne of Merari, f That is, every one had that dignity, which fell unto him by lot.

a The singers were divided into 24 courses, so that every course or order contained twelve, and in all there were 288, as verse 7,

Asaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun, who should sing prophecies with harps, with viols, and with cimbals, and their number was even of the men for the office of their ministerie, to wit,

2 Of the sonnes of Asaph, Zaccut, and Ioseph, and Nethaniah, & Asharelah the sons of Asaph were vnder the hand of Asaph, which sang prophecies by the f commission of the King.

3 Of Jeduthun, the sons of Jeduthun Gedaliah, and Zeri, & Ieshaiah, Ashabiah, & Mattithiah, b fixe, vnder the hands of their father: Jeduthun sang c prophecies with an harpe, for to giue thanks and to praise the Lord.

4 Of Heman, the sonnes of Heman, Bukiah, Mattaniah, Pizziel, Shebuel, and Ierimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, and Romantiezzer, Ioshebekashah, Mallathi, Hothir, and Mahazioth.

5 All these were the sonnes of Heman, the Kings || Seer in the words of God to lift vp the || thorne: and God gaue to Heman fourteene sonnes and three daughters.

6 All these were vnder the || hand of their father, singing in the house of the Lord with cymbals, viols and harps, for the seruice of the house of God, and Asaph, and Jeduthun, and Heman were at the kings f commandement.

7 So was their number with their brethren that were instructed in the songs of the Lord, even of all that were cunning, two hundred fourescore and eight.

8 And they cast lots, d charge against charge, as well e small as great, the cunning man as the scholler.

9 And the first lot fell to f Ioseph, which was of Asaph, the second, to Gedaliah, who with his brethren and his sonnes were twelue.

10 The third, to Zaccut, be, his sonnes, and his brethren were twelue.

11 The fourth, to Izri, be, his sonnes and his brethren twelue.

19 The twelft, to Ashabiah, be, his sonnes and his brethren twelue.

20 The thirteenth, to Shubael, be, his sons and his brethren twelue.

21 The fourteenth to Mattathiah, be, his sonnes and his brethren twelue.

22 The fifteenth to Ierimoth, be, his sonnes and his brethren twelue.

23 The sixteenth, to Hananiah, be, his sons and his brethren twelue.

24 The seuenteenth, to Ioshebekashah, be, his sonnes and his brethren twelue.

25 The eighteenth, to Hanani, be, his sonnes and his brethren twelue.

26 The nineteenth, to Mallathi, be, his sons and his brethren twelue.

27 The twentieth, to Eliathah, be, his sons and his brethren twelue.

28 The one and twentieth, to Hothir, be, his sonnes and his brethren twelue.

29 The two and twentieth, to Giddalti, be, his sonnes and his brethren twelue.

30 The three and twentieth, to Mahazioth, be, his sonnes and his brethren twelue.

31 The foure and twentieth, to Romantiezzer, be, his sonnes and his brethren twelue.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The porters of the Temple are ordained, every man to the gate, which he should keepe, so and over the treasure,

Concerning the || diuisions of the porters, of the Korhites, Meshelemiah the sonne of Kore of the sonnes of || Asaph.

2 And the sonnes of Meshelemiah, Zachariah the eldest, Iediel the second, Zebadiah the third, Iachniel the fourth, 21. Behold also, the companies of the priests, and the Leuites for all the service of the house of God: even they shall be with thee for the whole worke, I with every free heart that is skillfull in any manner of service. The princes also and all the people will be t' wholly at thy commandement.

CHAP. XXIX.

1. The offering of Dauid and of the princes for the building of the Temple. 10. Dauid giveth thanks to the Lord.

20. He exhorteth the people to doe the same. 22. Salomon is created King. 28. Dauid dieth; and Salomon his sonne reigneth in his stead.

Moreouer Dauid the king said vnto all the Congregation, God hath chosen Salomon mine onely sonne young and tender, and the worke is great: for this house is not for man, but for the Lord God.

2. Now I haue prepared with all my power for the house of my God, golde for vessels of golde, and silver for them of silver, and brasie for things of brasie, yron for things of yron, and wood for things of wood, and Onix stones, and stones to be set, and carbuncle stones and of diuers colours, and all precious stones, and marble stones in abundance.

3. Moreover because I haue delight in the house of my God, I haue of mine owne gold & silver, which I haue giuen to the house of my God, beside all that I haue prepared for the house of the Sanctuary.

4. Euen three thousand talents of gold of the gold of Ophir, & seuen thousand talents of fined silver to ouerlay the walles of the houses.

5. The golde for the things of gold, and the silver for things of silver, and for all the worke by the hands of artificers: and who is willing to fill his hand to day vnto the Lord?

6. So the princes of the families, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, and the captaines of thousands and of hundreths, with the rulers of the Kings worke, offered willingly,

7. And they gaue for the service of the house of God five thousand talents of gold, & ten thousand pieces, & ten thousand talents of silver, and eightene thousand talents of brasie, and one hundreth thousand talents of yron.

8. And they with whome precious stones were found, gaue them to the treasure of the house of the Lord, by the hand of Iehiel the Gershunnite.

9. And the people reioyced when they offered willingly: for they offered willingly vnto the Lord, with a perfitt heart. And Dauid the king also reioyced with great ioy.

10. Therefore Dauid blessed the Lord before all the Congregation, and Dauid said, Blessed be thou, O Lord God of Israel our father, for euer and euer.

11. Thine, O Lord, is greatnesse and power, and glory, and victorie, and praise: for all that is in heauen and in earth, is thine: thine is the kingdome, O Lord, and thou excellest as head ouer all.

12. Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest ouer all, and in thine hand is power and strength, and in thine hand it is to make great, and to giue strength vnto all.

13. Now therefore our God, wee thanke thee, and praise thy glorious Name.

14. But who am I, and what is my people, that wee should be able to offer willingly after this sort? for all things come of thee: and of thine owne hand we haue giuen thee.

15. For wee are strangers before thee, and sojourners, like all our fathers: our dayes are like the shadow vpon the earth, and there is none abiding.

16. O Lord our God, all this abundance that wee haue prepared to build thee an house for thine holy Name, is of thine hand, and all is thine.

17. I know also, my God, that thou triest the heart, and hast pleasure in righteousness: I haue offered willingly in the vprightnesse of mine heart all these things: now also haue I seene thy people which are found here, to offer vnto thee willingly with ioy.

18. O Lord God of Abraham, Izhak and Israel our fathers, keepe this for euer in the purpose, and the thoughts of the hearts of thy people, and prepare their hearts vnto thee.

19. And giue vnto Salomon my sonne, a perfitt heart to keepe thy commandements, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to doe all things, and to build the house which I haue prepared.

20. And Dauid said to all the Congregation, d He was not onely liberall himselfe, but prouoked others to set forth the worke of God, 1 Or, to offer.

22 And they did eate and drinke before the Lord the same day with great ioy, and they made Salomon the sonne of Dauid king the second time, and anointed him Prince before the Lord, and Zadok for the high Priest.

23 So Salomon sat on the throne of the Lord, as king in stead of Dauid his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.

24 And all the princes and men of power, and all the sonnes of King Dauid submitted themselves vnder king Salomon.

25 And the Lord magnified Salomon in dignitie in the sight of all Israel, and gave him so glorious a kingdome; as no king had before him in Israel.

26 ¶ Thus Dauid the sonne of Iuiat reigned ouer all Israel.

27 And the space that hee reigned ouer Israel was fouertie yeere: seuen yeeres reigned he in Hebron, and three and thirtie yeeres reigned he in Ierusalem.

28 And he died in a good age, full of dayes, riches and honour, and Salomon his sonne reigned in his stead.

THE SECOND BOOKE OF THE CHRONICLES.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis second booke containeth briefly in effect that, which is comprehended in the two bookes of the Kings, that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carrying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certaine things declared, and yet forth more copiously then in the bookes of the Kings, and therefore serue greatly to the understanding of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First that the godly Kings, when they saw the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues remooued. The second, how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and professe his religion, should ioyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirdly, how the good Rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, and were very zealous to set forth his religion throughout all their dominions; and contrariwise the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true religion and word of God, set vp idolatrie, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chiefe actes from the beginning of the world to the building againe of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yeere of Darius, and containe in the whole, three thousand, five hundredeth, three score and eghteen yeeres, and sixe moneths.

CHAP. I.

6 The offering of Salomon at Gibeon. 8 Hee prayeth vnto God to giue him wisdom: 11 Which he giueth him, and more. 14 The number of his charrets and horsemen, 15 and of his riches.

Then Salomon the sonne of Dauid was confirmed in his kingdome: and the Lord his God was with him, and magnified him highly.

2 And Salomon spake vnto all Israel, to the captaines of thousands, and of hundreds, & to the iudges, and to all the gouernors in all Israel, even the chiefe fathers.

3 So Salomon and all the Congregation with him went to the high place that was at Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle of the Congregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lord had made in the wilderness.

4 But the Arke of God had Dauid brought vp from Kiriath-iearim, when Dauid had made preparation for it: for he had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.

5 Moreover the brazen altar that Bezaiel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur had made, did he set before the Tabernacle of the Lord: and Salomon and the Congregation sought it.

6 And Salomon offered there before the Lord vpon the brazen altar that was in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: even a thousand burnt offerings offered he vpon it.

7 ¶ The same night did God appeare vnto Salomon, and said vnto him, Aske what I shall giue thee.

8 And Salomon said vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercy vnto Dauid my father, and hast made me to reigne in his stead.

9 Now therefore, O Lord God, let thy promise vnto Dauid my father be true: for thou hast made me king ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

to Give me now wisdom and knowledge, that I may goe out and go in before this people for who can Iudge this thy great people?

11 And God said to Salomon; Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, treasures, nor honour, nor the lives of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisdom and knowledge, that thou mightest Iudge my people, oner whom I haue made thee king, 12 Wisdom and knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I will giue thee riches and treasures and honour, so that there hath not beene the like among the kings which were before thee, neither after thee shall there be the like.

13 Then Salomon came from the high place that was at Gibeon, to Ierusalem from before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and reigned ouer Israel.

14 And Salomon gathered the charrets and horsemen: and he had a thousand and foure hundred charrets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whom he placed in the charret cities, and with the king at Ierusalem.

15 And the king gaue siluer and gold at Ierusalem as stones, and gaue Cedar trees as the wilde figge trees, that are abundantly in the plaine.

16 Also Salomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and funne linnen: the kings merchants receiued the funne linnen for a price.

17 They came vp also and brought out of Egypt some charret, worth fixe hundred shekels of siluer; that is, an horse for an hundred and fiftie: and thus they brought horses to all the kings of the Hittites, and to the kings of Aram by their timeanes.

CHAP. II.

1 The number of Salomons workemen to build the Temple.

2 Salomon sendeth to Hiram the king of Tyrus for wood and workemen.

3 Then Salomon determined to build an house for the Name of the Lord, and an house for his kingdom.

4 And Salomon told out seuentie thousand that bare burdens, & fourescore thousand men to hew stones in the mountaine, and three thousand and a fixe hundred to ouersee them.

5 And Salomon sent to Hiram the king of Tyrus, saying, as thou hast done to David my father, and didst send him Cedar trees to build him an house to dwell in, so doe to me.

6 Behold, I build an house vnto the name of the Lord my God, to sanctifie it vnto him, and to burne sweet incense before him, and for the continuall shewbread, and for the burnt offerings of the morning and euening, on the Sabbath dayes, and in the new moneths, and in the solemne feasts of the Lord our God: this is a perpetuall thing for Israel.

7 And the house which I build, is great: for great is our God aboue all gods.

8 Who is he then that can be albe to build him an house, when the heauen, and the heauen of heauens cannot containe him? who am I then that I should build him an house? but I doe it to burne incense before him.

9 Send me now therefore a cunning man that can worke in golde, in siluer, and in brasse, and in yron, and in purple, and in crimfin and blue silke, and that can graue in grauen worke with the cunning men that are with me in Iudah and in Ierusalem, whom Dauid my father hath prepared.

10 Send me also cedar trees, firre trees and Algummim trees from Lebanon: for I know that thy seruants can skill to hew timber in Lebanon: and behold, my seruants shall be with thine.

11 That they may prepare me timber in abundance: for the house which I doe build, is great and wonderfull.

12 And behold, I will giue to thy seruants the cutters and the hewers of timber twentie thousand measures of beaten wheate, and twentie thousand measures of barley, & twentie thousand baths of wine, and twentie thousand baths of oyle.

13 Then Hiram king of Tyrus answered in writing which he sent to Salomon, Because the Lord hath loued his people, hee hath made thee King ouer them.

14 Hiram said moreover, Blessed bee the Lord God of Israel, which made the heauen and the earth, and that hath giuen vnto Dauid the King a wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to build an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.

15 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, and of vnderstanding of my father Hiram, 16 The sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyrus, and he can skill to worke in gold, in siluer, in brasse, in yron, in stone, and in timber, in purple, in blew silke, and in fine linnen, and in crimfin, and can graue in all grauen workes, and broyder in all broidered worke that shall be giuen him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord Dauid thy father.

17 Now therefore the wheate and the barley, the oile and the wine, which my lord hath spoken of, let him send vnto his seruants, 18 And wee will cut wood in Lebanon, as much as thou shalt neede, and will bring it to thee in rafts by the sea to Iapho, so thou mayest cary them to Ierusalem.

19 And Salomon numbred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the numbring that his father Dauid had numbred them: and they were found an hundred and three and fiftie thousand, and fixe hundred.

20 And hee set seuentie thousand of them to the burden, and fourescore thousand to hew stones in the mountaine and three thousand and fixe hundred ouersees to cause the people to worke.

The building of the Temple. II. Chron.

CHAP. III.

The Temple of the Lord, and the porch are builded with other things thereto belonging.

So Salomon began to build the house of the Lord in Jerusalem, in mount Moriah which had been declared unto David his father in the place that David prepared in the threshing floor of Ornan the Iebusite.

And hee began to build in the second moneth and the second day in the fourth yere of his reigne.

And these are the measures, wherein Salomon grounded to build the house of God: the length of cubites after the first measure was threescore cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites.

And the porch, that was before the length in the front of the breadth was twenty cubits, and the height was an hundred and twenty, and he overlaid it within with pure golde.

And the greater house hee felled with fure tree which hee overlaid with good golde, and graued theron palme trees and chaines.

And hee overlaid the house with precious stone for beutie: and the golde was golde of Paruaim.

The house, I say, the beames, posts, and wallis thereof and the doores thereof overlaid hee with golde, and graued Cherubims vpon the wallis.

Hee made also the house of the most holy place: the length thereof was in the front of the breadth of the house, twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof twenty cubits: & he overlaid it with the best gold, of six hundred talents.

And the weight of the nails was fiftie shekels of gold, and he overlaid the chambers with golde.

And in the house of the most holy place hee made two Cherubims wrought like children, and overlaid them with gold.

And the wings of the Cherubims were twenty cubites long: the one wing was five cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubites, reaching to the wing of the other Cherub.

Likewise the wing of the other Cherub was five cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubites ioyning to the wing of the other Cherub.

The wings of these Cherubims were spread abroad twenty cubites: they stood on their feete, and their faces were toward the house.

Hee made also the vaile of blew filke and purple, and crimosin, and fine linnen, and wrought Cherubims thereon.

And hee made before the house two pillars of five and thirtie cubits hie: and the chapter that was vpon the top of each of them was five cubits.

He made also chaines for the oracle, and put them on the heads of the pillars, and made an hundredth pomegranates, and put them among the chaines.

And hee set vp the pillars before the Temple, one on the right hand, and the other on the left, and called that on the right hand Iachin, and that on the left hand Boaz.

CHAP. III.

And hee made an altar of brasse twenty cubites long, and twenty cubites broad, and ten cubites hie.

And hee made a molten Sea of ten cubites from brimme to brimme, round in compass, and five cubites hie: and a line of thirtie cubites did compass it about.

And vnder it was the fashion of oxen, which did compass it round about, tenne in a cubite compassing the sea about: two rowes of oxen were cast when it was molten.

It stood vpon twelue oxen: three looked toward the North, and three looked toward the West, and three looked toward the South, and three looked toward the East, and the Sea stood aboue vpon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

And the thicknesse thereof was an hand bredth, and the brim thereof was like the worke of the brimme of a cup, with floures of lilies: it contained three thousand baths.

Hee made also ten caldrons, & put five on the right hand and five on the left, to wash in them, and to cleanse in them that which appertained to the burnt offerings: but the sea was for the Priests to wash in.

And hee made ten candlesticks of gold (according to their forme) and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left.

And hee made ten tables, and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left: and he made an hundredth basins of golde.

And hee made the court of the priests, and the great court and doores for the court, and overlaid the doores thereof with brasse.

And he set the sea on the right side Eastward toward the South.

And Huram made pots and besoms and basens, and Huram finished the worke that hee should make for king Salomon for the house of God,

Two pillars, and the bowles, and the chapters on the top of the two pillars, and two grates to couer the two bowles of the chapters which were vpon the top of the pillars:

And foure hundredth pomegranates for the two grates, two rowes of pomegranates for euery grate to couer the two bowles of the chapters, that were vpon the pillars.

He made also basens, and made caldrons vpon the basens:

And a sea, and twelue bulles vnder it:

a Which is the mountain where Abraham thought to have sacrificed his sonne: Gen. 22. 2. 2 Sam. 24. 16. 21.

b According to the whole length of the Temple, comprehending the most holy place with the rest.

c It contained as much as did the breadth of the Temple, 1. King. 6. 3.

e Some thinke it is that place which is called Peru.

1 King. 6. 24.

f Which separated the Temple from the most holy place. g Every one was 18 cubites long, but the halfe cubite could not be seen: for it was hid in the roundness of the chapter, & therefore he giueth to euery one but 17 and an halfe.

h For euery pillar an hundredth, reads 1. King. 7. 20.

a A great vessel of brasse, so called, because of the great quantitie of water, which it contained, 1. King. 7. 23. b Meaning, vnder the brimme of the vessel, as 1. King. 7. 34. c In the length of euery cubite were ten heads or knops which in all are 300.

Or, fountaine. d In the first booke of Kings, Chap. 7. 26. mention is only made of a thousand: but the last number was taken there, and here according as the measures proued afterward is declared. e Euen as they should be made.

f Called also the porch of Salomon, Acts 3. 11. It is also taken for the Temple where Christ preached, Mark 11. 27.

Or, caldrons.

16 Pot also and becomers; and flesh hookes, and all these vessels made Huram his father, to King Salomon for the house of the Lord, of this fine brass.

17 In the plains of Jordan did the King cast them in clay, between Succoth and Zeredathah.

18 And Salomon made all these vessels in great abundance, for the weight of brass could not be reckoned.

19 And Salomon made all the vessels of tin, were for the house of God, he golden altar also, and the tables whereon the shewbread stood.

20 Moreover the candlesticks with their lamps to burne them after the maner, before the oracle of pure gold.

21 And the flowers and the lamps, and the snuffers of gold, which was fine gold.

22 And the hookes, and the basins, and the spoones, and the alspans of pure gold, the entering alle of the house, and doores thereof within, and of the most holy place, and the doores of the house, so was of the Temple wrought of gold.

CHAP. V. V. P. 8:

1 The things dedicated by David are put in the Temple: 2 The Arke is brought into the Temple. 3 What was within it. 4 They sing praise to the Lord.

SO was all the worke finished that Salomon made for the house of the Lord, and Salomon brought in the things that David his father had dedicated, with the silver and the gold, and all the vessels, and put them among the treasures of the house of God.

2 Then Salomon assembled the Elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the chiefe fathers of the children of Israel vnto Ierusalem to bring vp the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord from the citie of Dauid, which is Zion.

3 And all the men of Israel assembled vnto the king at the feast: it was in the seuenth moneth.

4 And all the Elders of Israel came, and the Leuites tooke vp the Arke.

5 And they caried vp the Arke and the Tabernacle of the Congregation and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests and Leuites bring vp.

6 And king Salomon and all the Congregation of Israel that were assembled vnto him, were before the Arke, offering sheepe and bullockes, which could not be told nor numbred for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the most Holy place, euen vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

8 For the Cherubims stretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims couered the Arke and the barres thereof aboue.

9 And they drew out the barres, that the ends of the barres might be seene out of the Arke before the Oracle, but they were not seen without: and there they are vnto this day.

10 Nothing was in the Arke, save the two Tables which Moses gaue at Horeb, where the Lord made a couenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt.

11 And when the Priests were come out of the Sanctuary, (for all the Priests that were present, were sanctified, and did not wake by course.)

12 And the Leuites the singers of all sorts, as of Asaph, of Heman, of Jeduthun, & of their sonnes and of their brethren, being clad in fine linen, stood with cymbals, and with viols, and harpes at the East end of the altar, and with them an hundred and twenty Priests blowing with trumpets.

13 And they were as one, blowing trumpets, and singing, and made one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the Lord, and when they dist vp their voyce with trumpets and with cymbals, & with instruments of musick, and when they praised the Lord, singing, For he is good, because his mercie lasteth for euer, then the house, euen the house of the Lord was filled with a cloud.

14 So that the Priests could not stand to minister, because of the cloud: for the glory of the Lord had filled the house of God.

CHAP. VI.

1 Salomon blesseth the people. 2 He prayeth the Lord. 3 He prayeth vnto God for those that shall pray in the Temple.

THEN Salomon said, The Lord hath said that he would dwell in the darke cloudes:

2 And I haue built thee an house to dwell in, an habitation for thee to dwell in for euer.

3 And the king turned his face, and blessed all the Congregation of Israel (for all the Congregation of Israel stood there)

4 And he said, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who spake with his mouth vnto Dauid my father, and hath with his hand fulfilled it, saying,

5 Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no citie of all the tribes of Israel to build an house, that my Name might be there, neither chose I any man to be a ruler ouer my people Israel:

6 But I haue chosen Ierusalem, that my Name might be there, and haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

7 And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to build an house vnto the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

8 But the Lord said to Dauid my father, Whereas it was in thine heart to build an house vnto my Name, thou diddest well, that thou wast so minded.

9 Notwithstanding thou shalt not build the house, but thy sonne which shall come out of thy loynes, he shall build an house vnto my Name.

Or, without the Oracle. For Aarons rod and Manna were taken thence before it was brought to this place.

Or, that it was in thine heart.

10 And the Lord hath performed his word that he spake: and I am risen vp in the roome of Dauid my father, and am set on the throne of Israel as the Lord promised: and haue built an house to the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

11 And I haue in the Arke there, wherein is the covenant of the Lord, that he made with the children of Israel.

12 ¶ And the king stood before the altar of the Lord, in the presence of all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands,

13 (For Solon on had made a brasen scaffold and set it in the middes of the court, offiue cubites long, and fiue cubites broad, and three cubites of height, and vpon it hee stood, and kneeled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Israel, and hee stretched out his hands toward heauen.)

14 And said, O Lord God of Israel: there is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which keepst covenant, and mercy vnto thy seruants, that walke before thee with all their heart.

15 Thou that hast kept with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as appeareth this day.

16 Therefore now Lord God of Israel, keep with thy seruant, Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou shalt not want a man in my fight, that shalt sit vpon the throne of Israel: that thy sonnes take heede to their wayes, to walke in my Lawe, as thou hast walked before me.

17 And now, O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be verified, which thou spakest vnto thy seruant Dauid.

18 (Is it true indeede that God will dwell with man on earth? behold, the heauens, and the heauens of heauens are not able to containe thee: how much more unable is this house, which I haue built?)

19 But haue thou respect to the prayer of thy seruant, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to heare the cry and praier which thy seruant prayeth before thee,

20 That thine eyes may bee open toward this house day and night, even toward the place whereof thou hast said, that thou wouldest put thy Name there, that thou maiest hearken vnto the prayer, which thy seruant praieith in this place.

21 Heare thou therefore the supplication of thy seruant, & of thy people Israel, which they pray in this place: and heare thou in the place of thine habitation, even in heauen, and when thou hearest, be mercifull.

22 ¶ When a man shall sinne against his neighbour, and hee lay vpon him an oath to cause him to sweare, & the swearer shal come before thine altar in this house,

23 Then heare thou in heauen, and doe, and judge thy seruants, in recompensing the wicked to bring his way vpon his head, and in iustifying the righteous, to giue him according to his righteousness.

24 ¶ And when thy people Israel shall be overthrowen before the enemy, because they haue sinned against thee, and turne againe, and confesse thy Name, and pray, and make supplication before thee in his house, 25 Then heare thou in heauen, and be mercifull vnto the sinne of thy people Israel, and bring them againe vnto the land which thou gauest to them and to their fathers.

26 When heauen shalbe shut vp, and there shall be no raine, because they haue sinned against thee, and shal pray in this place, and confesse thy Name, and turne from their sinne, when thou dost afflict them, 27 Then heare thou in heauen, and pardon the sinne of thy seruants, and of thy people Israel (when thou hast taught them the good way wherein they may walke) and giue raine vpon thy land, which thou hast giuen vnto thy people for an inheritance.

28 ¶ When there shall be famine in the land, when there shalbe pestilence, blasting, or mildew, when there shalbe grasshopper, or caterpillar, when their enemy shall besiege them in the cities of their land, or any plague or any sicknesse,

29 Then what praier and supplication so euer shalbe made of any man, or of all thy people Israel when euery one shal know his owne plague, and his owne disease, and shall stretch forth his hands toward this house,

30 Heare thou then in heauen, thy dwelling place, and be mercifull, and giue euery man according vnto all his wayes, as thou dost know his heart (for thou onely knowest the hearts of the children of men.)

31 That they may feare thee, and walke in thy wayes as long as they liue in the land which thou gauest vnto our fathers.

32 ¶ Moreouer as touching the stranger which is not of thy people Israel, who shall come out of a farre countrey for thy great Names sake, and thy mighty hand, and thy stretched out arme: when they shal come and pray in this house,

CHAP. VIII.

1 The chiefes that Salomon built. 2 People that were made tributary vnto him. 3 His sacrifices. 4 He sendeth to Ophir.

1 And after twentie yeere when Salomon had built the house of the Lord, and his owne house,

2 Then Salomon built the cities that Hiram gaue to Salomon, and caused the children of Israel to dwell there.

3 And Salomon went to Hamath Zobah, and ouercame it.

4 And hee built Tadmor in the wilderness, and repaired all the cities of store which hee built in Hamath.

5 And hee built Beth-horon the vpper, and Beth-horon the nether, cities defended with wals, gates and barres.

6 Also Basath, and all the cities of store that Salomon had, and all the charret cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and every pleasant place that Salomon had a mind to build in Ierusalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion,

7 And all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hiuites, and the Iebusites, which were not of Israel,

8 But of their children which were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel had not consumed, euen them did Salomon make tributaries vntill this day.

9 But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no seruants for his worke: for they were men of warre, and his chief princes, & the captaines of his charrets, and of his horsemen.

10 So these were the chiefe of the officers which Salomon had, euen two hundredth and fiftie that bare rule ouer the people.

11 Then Salomon brought vp the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of Dauid, into the house that he had built for her: for he said, My wife shal not dwell in the house of Dauid king of Israel: for it is holy, because that the Arke of the Lord came vnto it.

12 Then Salomon offered burnt offerings vnto the Lord, on the altar of the Lord, which he had built before the porch, 13 To offer according to the commandment of Moses every day, in the Sabbaths, and in the new moones, and in the solemne feasts, three times in the yeere, that is, in the feast of the Vnleavened bread, and in the feast of the Weekes, and in the feast of Tabernacles.

14 And he set the courses of the Priests to their offices, according to the order of Dauid his father, and the Leuites in their watches, for to praise and minister before the Priests, every day, and the porters by their courses, at every gate: for so was the commandment of Dauid the man of God.

15 And they declined not from the commandment of the king, concerning the Priests and the Leuites, touching all things, and touching the treasures.

16 Now Salomon had made provision for all the worke, from the day of the foundation of the house of the Lord, vntill it was finished: so the house of the Lord was perfic.

17 Then went Salomon to Ezion-geber, and to Eloth by the sea side in the land of Edom.

18 And Hiram sent him by the hands of his seruants, ships, and seruants that had knowledge of the sea: & they went with the seruants of Salomon to Ophir, & brought thence four hundredth and fifty talents of gold, and brought them to King Salomon.

CHAP. IX.

1 The Queene of Sheba cometh to see Salomon, and bringeth gifts. 2 His yearly revenues. 3 The time of his reigne. 4 His death.

1 And when the Queene of Sheba heard of the fame of Salomon, she came to proue Salomon with hard questions at Ierusalem, with a very great traine, and camels that bare sweete odours and much gold, and precious stones: and when she came to Salomon, shee communed with him of all that was in her heart.

2 And Salomon declared her all her questions, and there was nothing hid from Salomon, which he declared not vnto her.

3 Then the Queene of Sheba saw the wisdom of Salomon, & the house that he had built,

4 And the meate of his table, and the sitting of his seruants, and the order of his waiters, and their apparell, and his butlers, and their apparell, and his burnt offerings which he offered in the house of the Lord, and she was greatly astonished.

5 And she said to the king, It was a true word which I heard in mine owne land of thy sayings, and of thy wisdom:

6 Howbeit I beleued not their report, vntill I came, and mine eyes had seene it: and behold, the one halfe of thy great wisdom was not told mee: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 Happy are thy men, and happy are these thy seruants, which stand before thee alway, and heare thy wisdom.

8 Blessed be the Lord thy God, which loued thee, to set thee on his throne as King, in the stead of the Lord thy God: because thy God loueth Israel, to establish it for euer, therefore hath he made thee King ouer them, to execute iudgement and iustice.

in the houses of the Kings, all mounte the thron.

9 Then shee gaue the King sixe score talents of gold, and of sweete odours exceeding much and precious stones: neither was there such sweete odours since, as the Queene of Sheba gaue vnto King Salomon.

10 And the seruants also of Huram, and the seruants of Salomon which brought gold from Ophir, brought Algumini wood and precious stones.

11 And the King made of the Algumini wood stakes in the house of the Lord, and in the Kings house, and harpes and viols for singers: and there was no such seen before in the land of Iudah.

12 And King Salomon gaue to the Queene of Sheba, euery pleasant thing that she asked, besides for that which shee had brought vnto the King: so she returned and went to her own country, both she and her seruants.

13 Also the weight of gold that came to Salomon in one yeere, was sixe hundred threescore and sixe talents of gold.

14 Besides that which chapmen and merchants brought: and all the Kings of Arabia, and the princes of the country brought gold and siluer to Salomon.

15 And king Salomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold, and sixe hundred shekels of beaten gold went to one target.

16 And three hundred shields of beaten gold: three hundred shekels of gold went to one shield, and the king put them in the house of the wood of Lebanon.

17 And the King made a great throne of yuory and ouerlaid it with pure gold.

18 And the throne had sixe steps, with a footstool of gold fastned to the throne, and stayes on either side on the place of the seate, and two lions standing by the stayes.

19 And twelue lions stood there on the sixe steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdom.

20 And all King Salomons drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure gold: for siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the Kings ships went to Tarshish with the seruants of Huram, euery three yeere once came the ships of Tarshish, and brought gold and siluer, yuorie, and apes, and peccocks.

22 So King Salomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wisdom that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of gold, and raiment, armour, and sweet odours, horses, and mules, from yeere to yeere.

25 And Salomon had foure thousand stables of horses, and charrets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whom he bestowed in the cha-ret cities, and with the king at Ierusalem.

26 And he reigned ouer all the Kings from the river euen vnto the land of the Philistines, and to the border of Egypt.

27 And the King gaue siluer in Ierusalem, as stones, and gaue Cedar trees as the wild fig trees, that are abundant in the plaine.

28 And they brought vnto Salomon horses out of Egypt, and out of all lands.

29 Concerning the rest of the acts of Salomon first and last, are they not written in the booke of Nathan the Prophet, and in the prophetic of Ahiah the Shilonite, and in the visions of Ieezo the Seer, against Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat?

30 And Salomon reigned in Ierusalem ouer all Israel fortie yeeres.

31 And Salomon slept with his fathers, & they buried him in the city of David his fathers: and Rehoboam his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. X.

14 The rigour of Rehoboam. 13 He followeth lewd counsell. 16 The people rebel.

Then Rehoboam went to Shechem: for to Shechem came all Israel to make him King.

2 And when Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat heard it, (which was in Egypt, whither he had fled from the presence of Salomon the King) he returned out of Egypt.

3 And they sent and called him: so came Ieroboam and all Israel, and communed with Rehoboam, saying,

4 Thy father made our yoke grievous: now therefore make thou the grievous seruitude of thy father, and his sore yoke, that hee put vpon vs, lighter, and we will serue thee.

5 And he said to them, Depart yet three dayes, then come againe vnto mee. And the people departed.

6 And King Rehoboam tooke counsell with the old men that had stand before Salomon his father, while he yet liued, saying, What counsell giue ye that I may answer this people?

7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou bee kind to this people, and please them, and speake louing words to them, they will be thy seruants for euer.

8 But hee left the counsell of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and tooke counsell of the yong men that were brought vp with him, and waited on him.

9 And hee said vnto them, What counsell giue yee, that wee may answer this people which haue spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

10 And the yong men that were brought vp with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answer the people that speake to thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heauie, but make thou it lighter for vs: thus shalt thou say vnto them, My least part shall bee bigger then my fathers loynes.

11 Now when my father did burden you with a grievous yoke, I will yet increase your yoke: my father hath chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with scourges.

12 ¶ Then Ieroboam & all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the King had appointed, saying, Come againe to mee the third day.

14 And spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grievous: but I will increase it: my father chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with scourges.

15 So the king hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the ordinance of God that the Lord might performe his saying, which he had spoken by Ahijah the Shilonite to Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat.

16 So when all Israel saw that the King would not heare them, the people answered the King, saying, * What portion haue we in Dauid? for wee haue none inheritance in the sonne of Ishai. Of Israel, euery man to your tents: now see to thine owne house, Dauid. So all Israel departed to their tents.

17 Howbeit Rehoboam reigned ouer the children of Israel, that dwelt in the cities of Iudah.

18 Then King Rehoboam sent Hadoram that was ouer the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died: then king Rehoboam made speed to get him vp to his chariot, to flee to Ierusalem.

19 And Israel rebelled against the house of Dauid vnto this day.

CHAP. XI.

4 Rehoboam is forbidden to fight against Ieroboam: 5 Cities which he built. 21 He hath eighteen wives, and threescore concubines: and by them eight and twenty sonnes and threescore daughters.

And * when Rehoboam was come to Ierusalem, he gathered of the house of Iudah and * Beniamin nine score thousand chosen men of warre to fight against ^b Israel, and to bring the kingdome againe to Rehoboam.

2 But the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

3 Speake vnto Rehoboam, the sonne of Salomon king of Iudah, and to all Israel that are in Iudah, and Beniamin, saying,

4 Thus saith the Lord, Ye shall not go vp, nor fight against your brethren: returne euery man to his house: for this thing is done of me. They obeyed therefore the word of the Lord, and returned from going against Ieroboam.

5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Ierusalem, and ^c built strong cities in Iudah.

6 Hee built also Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoa,

7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, and Adullam,

8 And Gath, and Maresha, and Ziph,

9 And Adoraim, and Lachish, & Azekah,

10 And Zorah, and Aialon, and Hebron, which were in Iudah & Benjamin, strong cities.

11 And he repaired the strong holds, and put captaines in them, and store of vitale, and oyle and wine.

12 And in all cities hee put shieldes and speares, and made them exceeding strong: for Iudah and Benjamin were his,

13 ¶ And the Priests and the Leuites that were in all Israel, resorted vnto him out of all their coasts.

14 For the Leuites left their suburbs and their possession, and came to Iudah and to Ierusalem: for Ieroboam and his sonnes had cast them out from ministering in the Priests office vnto the Lord.

15 * And hee ordeined him Priests for the high places, and for the ^d deuils and for the calves which he had made.

16 And after the Leuites there came to Ierusalem of all the tribes of Israel, such as set their hearts to seeke the Lord God of Israel, to offer vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

17 So they strengthened the kingdome of Iudah, and made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon mighty, three yeere long: for three yeere they walked in the way of Dauid and Salomon.

18 ¶ And Rehoboam tooke him Mahalath the daughter of Ierimoth the sonne of Dauid to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Ishai, 19 Which bare him sonnes, Ieussi, and Schemariah, and Zaham.

20 And after her hee tooke Maakah the daughter of Absalom which bare him Abiah, and Atthai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboam loued Maakah the daughter of Absalom aboue all his wiues and his concubines: for he tooke eightene wiues, and threescore concubines, and begate eight and twenty sonnes, and threescore daughters.

22 And Rehoboam made ^e Abiah the son of Maakah the chiefe ruler among his brethren for he thought to make him king.

23 And hee taught him: and disperfed all his sonnes throughout all the countreys of Iudah and Beniamin vnto euery strong citie: and he gave them abundance of vitale, and ^f defired many wiues.

CHAP. XII.

And when Rehoboam had established the kingdome and made it strong, he forooke the Lawe of the Lord, and ^a all Israel with him.

2 Therefore in the fift yeere of king Rehoboam, Shishak the king of Egypt came vp against against Ierusalem (because they had transgressed against the Lord.)

With foure hundred chariots, and threescor thousand horsemen, and the people were without number that came with him from Egypt, even the Libims, ¹ Sukkims, and the Ethiopians.

And he tooke the strong cities which were of Iudah, and came vnto Ierusalem.

Then came Shemaiah the Prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Iudah, that were gathered together in Ierusalem, because of Shishak, and said vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Ye haue forsaken me, therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishak.

Then the princes of Israel, and the king humbled themselves, & said, The Lord is iust.

And when the Lord saw that they humbled themselves, the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, saying, They haue humbled themselves, therefore I will not destroy them, but I will send them deliuerance shortly, and my wrath shall not be powred out vpon Ierusalem by the hand of Shishak.

Neuertheless they shall be his seruants: so shall they know my seruice, and the seruice of the kingdomes of the earth.

Then Shishak king of Egypt came vp against Ierusalem, and tooke the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kings house: he tooke even all, and he caried away the shields of golde, which Salomon had made.

In stead whereof king Rehoboam made shields of brasse, and committed them to the hands of the chiefe of the guard, that waited at the doore of the kings house.

And when the king entred into the house of the Lord, the guard came and bare them and brought them againe vnto the guard chamber.

And because he humbled himselfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that hee would not destroy all together. And also in Iudah the things prospered.

* So king Rehoboam was strong in Ierusalem and reigned: for Rehoboam was one and fortie yeres old, when he began to reigne, & reigned 8 seuentene yeres in Ierusalem, the Citie which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his Name there. And his mothers name was Naamah an Ammonitess.

And he did euill: for he prepared no his heart to seeke the Lord.

The actes also of Rehoboam, first and last, are they not written in the booke of Shemaiah the Prophet, and Iddo the Seer, in rehearsing the genealogie? and there was warre alway betweene Rehoboam and Ieroboam.

And Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and was buried in the citie of Dauid, and Abiiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XIII.

Abiiah maketh warre against Ieroboam. 4 He sheweth the occasion. 12. He witnesseth in the Lord and seruiceth Ieroboam. 21. Of his wives and children.

IN the eighteenth yeere of King Ieroboam began Abiiah to reigne ouer Iudah.

He reigned thre yere in Ierusalem (his mothers name also was Michaiah the daughter of ^c Vriell of Gibeon) and there was warre betweene Abiiah and Ieroboam.

And Abiiah set the battell in aray with the armie of valiant men of warre, even foure hundred thousand chosen men. Ieroboam also set the battell in aray against him with eight hundred thousand chosen men which were strong and valiant.

And Abiiah stood vp vpon mount ^d Zemeraim, which is in mount Ephraim, and said, O Ieroboam, and all Israel, heare you me.

Ought you not to know that the Lord God of Israel hath giuen the kingdome ouer Israel to ^e Dauid for euer, even to him and to his sons by a couenant of salt?

And Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Dauid is risen vp, and hath rebelled against his lord:

And there are gathered to him 8 vaine men and twicked, and made themselves strong against Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was ^h but a childe and ⁱ tender hearted, and could not resist them.

Now therefore ye thinke that ye be able to resist against the kingdome of the Lorde, which is in the hands of the sonnes of Dauid, and yee be a great multitude, and the golden calues are with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

* Haue ye not driuen away the Priests of the Lord the sonnes of Aaron, and the Leuites, and haue made you Priests like the people of other countreys? whosoever commeth to ^j consecrate with a ^k yong bullocke and seuen rammes, the same may be a priest of them that are no gods.

But we belong vnto the Lord our God, and haue not forsaken him, and the priests the sonnes of Aaron minister vnto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.

And they burne vnto the Lord euery morning and euery euening burnt offerings and sweet incense, and the bread is set in order vpon the pure Table, and the candlestick of golde with the lampes thereof, to burne euery euening: for wee keepe the watch of the Lord our God: but ye haue forsaken him,

And behold, this God ^l is with vs as a captain, & his priests with the sounding trumpets, to cry an alarme against you. O ye children of Israel, fight not against the Lord God of your fathers: for ye shall not prosper.

But Ieroboam caused an ambushment to compasse, and come behinde them, when they were before Iudah, and the ambushment behinde them.

Then Iudah looked, and behold, the battell battell was before and behinde them, and they cryed vnto the Lord, and the Priests blew with the trumpets.

15 And the men of Iudah gaue a shout: and euen as the men of Iuda shouted, God smote Ieroboam and also Israel before Abiiah and Iudah.

16 And the children of Israel fledde before Iudah, and GOD deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abiiah and his people slewa great slaughter of them: so that there felddowne wounded of Israel fise hundred thousand chosen men.

18 So the children of Israel were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah preuailed, because they stayed vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

19 And Abiiah pursued after Ieroboam, and tooke cities from him, euen Beth-el, and the villages therof, and Ieshanah with her villages, and Ephron with her villages.

20 And Ieroboam recouered no strength againe in the dayes of Abiiah, but the Lorde plagued him, and he died.

21 So Abiiah waxed mightie, and married foueteene wiues, and begate two and twentie sonnes, and sixteene daughters.

22 The rest of the actes of Abiiah and his maners and his sayings, are written in the storie of the Prophet Iddo.

CHAP. XIII.

Afa destroyeth idolatrie, and commandeth his people to serue the true God. 11 He prayeth vnto God when he should goe to fight. 12 He obtaineth the victory.

SO *Abiiah slept with his fathers, and they soured him in the citie of Dauid, and Afa his sonne reigned in his stead: in whose dayes the land was quiet ten yeere.

2 And Afa did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For hee tooke away the Altars of the strange gods, and the hie places, & brake downe the images, and cut downe the groues.

4 And commaunded Iudah to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, and to doe according to the Law and the commandement.

5 And he tooke away out of all the cities of Iudah the hie places, and the images: therefore the kingdome was quiet before him.

6 He built also strong cities in Iudah, because the land was in rest, and he had no warre in those yeeres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore he said to Iudah, Let vs build these cities and make wals about, and towres, gates, and barres, whiles the land is before vs: because we haue fought the Lord our God, we haue fought him, and hee hath giuen vs rest on euery side: so they built and prospered.

8 And Afa had an army of Iudah that bare shields and speares, three hundred thousand, and of Benjamin that bare shields and drewe bowes, two hundred & four score thousand: all these were valiant men.

9 And there came out against them Zerah of Ethiopia with an host of ten hundred thousand, and three hundred charers, and came vnto Marefah.

10 Then Afa went out before him, and they set the battell in aray in the valley of Zephathah besides Marefah.

11 And Afa cried vnto the Lord his God, and said, Lord, it is nothing with thee to helpe with many, or with no power: helpe vs, O Lord our God: for we rest on thee, and in thy Name are we come against this multitude: O Lord, thou art our God, let not man preuaile against thee.

12 So the Lord smote the Ethiopians before Afa, and before Iudah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Afa and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerar. And the Ethiopians host was ouerthrowen, so that there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lord and before his hoste: and they caried away a mightie great spoile.

14 And they smote all the cities round about Gerar: for the feare of the Lord came vpon them, and they spoiled all the cities, for there was exceeding much spoyle in them.

15 Yea, and they smote the tents of cattell, and caried away plentie of sheepe and camels, and returned to Ierusalem.

The exhortation of Azariah. 8 Afa purgeth his countrey of idolatrie. 11 He sacrificeth with the people. 14 They sweare together to serue the Lord. 16 He deposeh his mother for her idolatrie.

THEN the Spirit of God came vpon *Azariah the sonne of Obed.

2 And he went out to meete Afa, and said vnto him, O Afa, and all Iudah, and Benjamin, heare ye me. The Lord is with you, while ye be with him: and if ye seeke him, hee will be found of you, but if ye forsake him, he will forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath bene without the true God, and without Priest to teach, and without Law.

4 But whosoener returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Israel, and sought him, hee was found of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him, that did goe out and goe in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, and citie of citie: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 Be ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weake: for your worke shall haue a reward.

8 And when Afa heard these words, and the prophcie of Obed the prophet, he was encouraged, and tooke away the abominations out

9 And hee gathered all Iudah and Benjamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim, and Manasse, and out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel, when they saw that the Lord his God was with him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the third moneth, in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Afa.

11 And they offered vnto the Lord the same time of the spoyle, which they had brought, seven hundred bullockes, and seven thousand sheepe.

12 And they made a couenant to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart, and with all their soule.

17 But the high places were not taken away out of Israel: yet the heart of Afa was perfite all his dayes.

18 Also he brought into the house of God the things that his father had dedicate, and that he had dedicate, siluer, and golde, and vessels.

19 And there was no warre vnto the fife and thirtieth yeere of the reigne of Afa.

20 And the people were in peace, and partly by the superstition of the people, that all were not taken away. 1 Because that God was called the God of Israel, by reason of his promise to Iacob: therefore Israel is sometime taken for Iudah, because Iudah was his chiefe people.

Afa for feare of Baasha king of Israel, maketh a couenant with Benhadad king of Aram. 7 Hee is reprobated by the Prophet, 10 Whom he putteth in prison, 12 He putteth his trust in the Physicians. 13 His death.

IN the sixe and thirtieth yere of the reigne of Afa came a Baasha king of Israel vp against Iudah, and built Ramah to let none passe out or goe in to Afa king of Iudah.

2 Then Afa brought out siluer & gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the kings house, and sent to Benhadad king of Aram that dwelt at Damascus, saying,

3 There is a couenant betweene me and thee, and betweene my father and thy father: behold, I haue sent thee siluer and gold: come, & breake thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that he may depart from me.

4 And Benhadad hearkened vnto king Afa, and sent the captaines of the armies which hee had, against the cities of Israel. And they smore Iion, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasha heard it, he left building of Ramah, and let his worke cease.

6 Then Afa the king tooke all Iudah, and caried away the stones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha did build, and he built therewith Geba and Mizpah.

7 ¶ And at that same time Hanani the Seer came to Afa king of Iudah, and said vnto him, Because thou hast rested vpon the king of Aram, and not rested in the Lord thy God, therefore is the hoste of the king of Aram escaped out of thine hand.

8 The Ethiopians and the Lubims, were they not a great hoste with charrets and horsemen, exceeding many? yet because thou didst rest vpon the Lorde, hee deliuered them into thine hand.

9 For the eyes of the Lord behold all the earth to shewe himselfe strong with them that are of perfite heart toward him: thou hast then done foolishly in this: therefore from henceforth thou shalt haue warres.

10 Then Afa was wroth with the Seer, and put him into a prison: for he was displeased with him, because of this thing. And Afa oppressed certaine of the people at the same time.

11 And behold, the actes of Afa first and last, loe, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iudah and Israel.

12 ¶ And Afa in the nine and thirtieth yere of his reigne was diseased in his feet, and his disease was extreme: yet hee sought not the Lord in his disease, but to the Physicians.

13 So Afa slept with his fathers, and died in the one and fortieth yeere of his reigne.

14 And they buried him in one of his sepulchres, which he had made for himselfe in the citie of Dauid, and laide him in the bed, which they had filled with sweete odours and diuers kinds of spices, made by the arte of the Apothecarie: and they burnt odours for him with an exceeding great fire.

and walked in his commandments, and not after the trade of Israel.

Therefore the Lord established the kingdom in his hands, and all Judah brought presents to Jehoshaphat, so that hee had riches and honour in abundance.

And hee set up his heart vnto the waies of the Lord, and hee tooke away moreouer the high places and the groues out of Iudah.

And in the third yeere of his reigne he sent his Princes, Jehail, and Obadiah, and Zechariah, and Nathaneel, and Michaiah, that they should teach in the cities of Iudah,

And with them Leuites, Shemaiah, and Nathaniah, and Zebadiah, and Afahel, and Shemaiah, and Iehonathan, and Adoniah, and Tobiah, and Iob-adoniah, Leuites, and with them Elishama and Iehoram Priests.

And they taught in Iudah, and had the booke of the Law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Iudah, and taught the people.

And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the kingdomes of the lands that were round about Iudah, and they fought not against Jehoshaphat.

And some of the Philistines brought Jehoshaphat gifts and tribute siluer, and the Arabians brought him flockes, seven thousand and seven hundred ammes, & seven thousand and seven hundred hee goats.

So Jehoshaphat prospered and grew vp on his: and he built in Iudah palaces and cities of store.

And he had great workes in the cities of Iudah, and men of warre, and valiant men in Ierusalem.

And these are the numbers of them after the house of their fathers, in Iudah were Captaines of thousands, Adnah the captaine, and with him of valiant men three hundred thousand.

And at his hand Iehohanan a Captaine, and with him two hundred and fourescore thousand.

And at his hand Amasiah the sonne of Zichri, which willingly offered himselfe vnto the Lorde, and with him two hundred thousand valiant men.

And of Benjamin, Eliada a valiant man, and with him armed men with bow and shield two hundred thousand.

And at his hand Ichozabad, and with him an hundred and fourescore thousand armed to the warre.

These waited on the king besides those which the king put in the strong cities through out all Iudah.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Jehoshaphat maketh affinitie with Ahab. 10. Foure hundred Prophets pounce Ahab to go to war. 16 Michaiah is against them. 23 Zidkiah smiteth him. 25 The King putteth him in prison. 29 The effect of the prophesie.

And Jehoshaphat had riches and honour in abundance, but he was ioynd in affinitie with Ahab.

And after certaine yeeres he went downe to Ahab to Samaria: and Ahab slew sheepe and oxen for him in great number, and for the people that hee had with him, and entised him to go vp vnto Ramoth Gilead.

And Ahab king of Israel said vnto Jehoshaphat king of Iudah, Wilt thou goe with me to Ramoth Gilead? And he answered him, I am as thou art, and my people as thy people, and we will ioyne with thee in the warre.

And Jehoshaphat said vnto the king of Israel, Aske counsell, I pray thee, at the wordes of the Lord this day.

Therefore the King of Israel gathered of prophets foure hundred men, and said vnto them, Shall wee goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease? And they said, Goe vp: for God shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

But Jehoshaphat said, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord that we might inquire of him?

And the king of Israel said vnto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may aske counsell of the Lord, but I hate him: for he doeth not prophesie good vnto me, but alway euill: it is Michaiah the sonne of Imla. Then Jehoshaphat sayde, Let not the King say so.

And the King of Israel called an eunuch, and sayd, Call quickly Michaiah the sonne of Imla.

And the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat King of Iudah sate either of them on his throne clothed in their apparell: they sate euen in the threshing floore at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: and all the Prophets prophesied before them.

And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him hornes of yron, and said, Thus sayth the Lord, With these shalt thou push the Aramites vntill thou hast consumed them.

And all the Prophets prophesied so, saying, Goe vp to Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the king.

And the messenger that went to call Michaiah, spake to him, saying, Beholde, the wordes of the Prophets declare good to the king with one accord: let thy word therefore, I pray thee, bee like one of theirs, and speake thou good.

And Michaiah sayde, As the Lorde liueth, whatsoeuer my God saith, that will I speake.

So he came to the King, and the king said vnto him, Michaiah, shall we go to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I leaue off? And hee said, Go ye vp and prosper, and they shall bee deliuered into your hand.

And the king said to him, How oft shall I charge k Thinking, that whereas foure hundred Prophets had agreed in one thing, that hee being but one man, and in least estimation, durst not gainsay it.

l He saith this by derision of the false prophets, as the king well perceived.

I charge thee, that thou tell me nothing but the truth in the Name of the Lord?

16 Then he said, I sawe all Israel scattered in the mountains, as sheepe that haue no shepheard: and the Lord said, These haue no Master: let them returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And the king of Israel said to Iehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, that hee would not prophetic good vnto me, but euill?

18 Againe he said, Therefore heare yee the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sit vpon his throne, and all the hoste of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.

19 And the Lord said, Who shall perswade Ahab king of Israel, that he may go vp, and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one spake and sayde thus, and another said that.

20 Then there came forth a spirit and stood before the Lord, and said, I will perswade him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherein?

21 And he said, I will goe out, and be a false spirit in the mouth of all his Prophets. And he said, Thou shalt perswade, and shalt also preuaile: goe forth, and doe so.

22 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a false spirit in the mouth of these thy Prophets, and the Lord hath determined euill against thee.

23 Then Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came neere, and smote Michaiah vpon the cheek, and said, By what way went the spirit of the Lord from me, to speake with thee?

24 And Michaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see that day when thou shalt go from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the king of Israel said, Take ye Michaiah, and carie him to Amon the gouernour of the citie, and to Ioash the kings sonne.

26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this man in the prison house, & feed him with bread of affliction and with water of affliction vntill I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiah said, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by mee. And he said, Heare, all ye people.

28 So the King of Israel and Iehoshaphat the King of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the king of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, I will change my selfe, and enter into the battell: but put thou on thine apparell. So the king of Israel changed himselfe, and they went vnto the battell.

30 And the king of Aram had commanded the captains of the charets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against the king of Israel onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charets saw Iehoshaphat, they said, It is the king of Israel: and they compassed about them to fight. But Iehoshaphat cried, and the Lord helped him and mooued them to depart from him.

32 For when the captaines of the charets saw that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certaine man drew a bow, mightily, and smote the king of Israel betwene the ioints of his brigandine: Therefore he said to his charietman, Turne thine hand, and carie me out of the host: for I am hurt.

34 And the battell increased that day: and the king of Israel stood still in his chariet against the Aramites vntil euen, and died at the time of the sunne going downe.

CHAP. XIX.

4 After Iehoshaphat was rebuked by the Prophet, he called againe the people to the honouring of the Lord. 5 He appointed iudges and ministers. 9 And exhorted them to feare God.

And Iehoshaphat the king of Iudah returned safe to his house in Ierusalem.

2 And Ichu the sonne of Hanani the Seer went out to meete him, and said to king Iehoshaphat, Wouldest thou helpe the wicked, and loue them that hate the Lorde? therefore for this thing the wrath of the Lord is vpon thee.

3 Neuerthelesse good things are found in thee, because thou hast taken away the groues out of the land, and hast prepared thine heart to seeke God.

4 So Iehoshaphat dwelt at Ierusalem, and returned and went through the people from Beertheba to mount Ephraim, & brought them againe vnto the Lorde God of their fathers.

5 And he set iudges in the land throughout all the strong cities of Iudah, citie by citie.

6 And said to the iudges, Take heed what ye doe: for yee execute not the iudgements of man, but of the Lord, and he will be with you in the cause and iudgement.

7 Wherefore now let the feare of the Lord be vpon you: take heede, and do it: for there is no iniquitie with the Lord our God, neither respect of persons, nor receiuing of reward.

8 Moreouer in Ierusalem did Iehoshaphat set the Leuites, and of the Priestes, and of the chiefe of the families of Israel, for the iudgement and cause of the Lord: and they returned to Ierusalem.

9 And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye doe in the feare of the Lord faithfully and with a perfite heart.

10 And in euery cause that shall come to you of your brethren that dwell in their Cities betwene blood and blood, betwene law and precept, statutes and iudgements, ye shall iudge them, & admonish them that they trespasse not against the Lorde, that his wrath come not vpon you and vpon your brethren. Thus shal ye doe and trespasse nor.

11 And behold, Amariah the Priest shall be the chiefe ouer you in all matters of the Lord, and Zebadiah the sonne of Ihmael, a ruler of the house of Iudah, shall be for all the kings affaires,

3 Iehoshaphat and the people pray vnto the Lord. 22 The maruillous victorie that the Lord gaue him against his enemies. 30 His reigne and alth.

After this also came the children of Moab and the children of Ammon, and with them of the Ammonites against Iehoshaphat to battell.

a That is, which counterfeited the Ammonites in language and apparel. The Hebrews thinke that they were the Amalekites, but as may appeare by the scilicet verse, they were the Idumeans of mount Seir. b Called the dead Sea, where God destroyed the five cities for finne. c This declarereth what the feare of the godly is, which is as a pricke to stirre them to prayer, and to depend on the Lord, whereas it moueth the wicked either to feele after worldly meanes and policies, or elseto fall into despair.

2 Then there came that told Iehoshaphat saying, There cometh a great multitude against thee from beyond the Sea, out of Aram: and behold, they be in Hazzon Tamar, which is Engedi.

3 And Iehoshaphat feared, and set himselfe to seek the Lord, & proclaimed a fast throughout all Iudah.

4 And Iudah gathered themselues together to aske counsell of the Lord: they came euery one out of all the cities of Iudah to inquire of the Lord.

5 And Iehoshaphat stood in the Congregation of Iudah and Ierusalem in the house of the Lord before the new court.

6 And said, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen? and reigneest not thou on all the kingdomes of the heathen? and in thine hand is power and might, and none is able to withstand thee.

7 Diddest not thou our God cast out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and gauest it to the seede of Abraham thy friend for euer?

8 And they dwelt therein, and haue built thee a sanctuarie therein for thy name, saying,

9 * If euil come vpon vs, as the sword of iudgment, or pestilence, or famine, we will stand before this house and in thy presence (for thy name is in this house) and will cry vnto thee in our tribulation, and thou wilt heare and helpe.

10 And now behold, the children of Ammon and Moab, & mount Seir, by whom thou wouldest not let Israel go, when they came out of the land of Egypt: but they turned aside from them, and destroyed them not.

11 Behold, I say, they reward vs, in coming to cast vs out of thine inheritance, which thou hast caused vs to inherite.

12 O our God, wilt thou not iudge them? for there is no strength in vs to stand before this great multitude that commeth against vs, neither doe we know what to doe: but our eyes are toward thee.

13 And all Iudah stood before the Lorde with their yong ones, their wiues, and their children.

14 And Iahaziel the sonne of Zechariah the sonne of Benaiah, the sonne of Ieiel, the sonne of Mattaniah, a Leuite of the sonnes of Asaph, was there, vpon whom came the Spirit of the Lord, in the middes of the congregation.

g We onely put out t staff in thee and waite for our deliuerance from heauen. h That is, before the Arke of the couenant. i Which was moued by the Spirit of God to prophetic.

15 And he said, Harken ye, all Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem, and thou, King Iehoshaphat: thus saith the Lorde vnto you, Feare you not, neither be afraid for this great multitude: for the battell is not yours, but Gods.

16 To morow go ye downe against them: behold they come vp by the skirts of Iiz, and ye shall finde them at the end of the brooke before the wilderness of Ieruel.

17 Ye shall neede to fight in this battell: stand still, moue not, and behold the saluation of the Lorde toward you: O Iudah, and Ierusalem, feare ye not, neither be afraid: to morow go out against them, and the Lord will be with you.

18 Then Iehoshaphat bowed downe with his face to the earth, and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell downe before the Lord, worshipping the Lord.

19 And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites and of the children of the Korhites stood vp to praise the Lord God of Israel with a loude voice on this.

20 And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wilderness of Tekoa: and as they departed, Iehoshaphat stood and said, Heare ye me, O Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your trust in the Lorde your God, and ye shall be assured: beleue his Prophets, and ye shall prosper.

21 And when hee had consulted with the people, and appointed fingers vnto the Lorde, and them that should praise him that is in the beautifull Sanctuarie, in going forth before the men of armes, and saying, Praise ye the Lorde, for his mercy lasteth for euer.

22 And when they began to shoute, and to praise, the Lord laid ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, and they slew one another.

23 For the children of Ammon and Moab rose against the inhabitants of mount Seir, to slay and to destroy them: and when they had made an ende of the inhabitants of Seir, euery one helped to destroy another.

24 And when Iudah came toward Mizpah in the wilderness, they looked vnto the multitude, and beholde, the carkeises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoyle of them, they found among them in abundance both of substance and also of bodies laden with precious iewels which they took for themselves, til they could carie no more: they were three daies in gathering of the spoyle: for it was much.

26 And in the fourth day they assembled themselues in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore they called the name of that place, The valley of Berachah vnto this day.

k They fight against God and not against you: therefore he will fight for you.

l Declaring his faith and obedience to the word of the Lord, and giuing thanks for the deliuerance promised.

m Give credit to their words and doctrine.

n This was a praise of thankgiuing, which they vied commonly to sing when they praised the Lord for his benefits & was made by David, Psalme 136. o Meaning, the Idumeans, which dwelt in mount Seir.

p Thus the Lord according to Iehoshaphats prayer declared his power, when he deliuered hisby causing their enemies to kill one another.

q To giue thanks to the Lord for the victorie, and therefore the valley was called Berachah, that is, blessing or thankgiuing, which was also called the valley of Iehoshaphat, Joel 3. 2. 12. because the Lord iudged the enemies according to Iehoshaphats prayer.

27 Then every man of Iudah and Ierusalem returned with Iehoshaphat their head, to goe againe to Ierusalem with ioy: for the Lord had made them to reioyce ouer their enemies.

28 And they came to Ierusalem with viols and with harps, and with trumpets, even vnto the house of the Lord.

29 And the feare of God was vpon all the kingdomes of the earth, when they had heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the kingdome of Iehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gaue him rest on every side.

31 ¶ And Iehoshaphat reigned ouer Iudah, and was fise and thirtie yeere old, when he began to reigne: and reigned fise and twentie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the way of Asa his father, and departed not therefrom, doing that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

33 Howbeit the hie places were not taken away: for the people had not yet prepared their hearts vnto the God of their fathers.

34 Concerning the rest of the acts of Iehoshaphat first & last, behold, they are written in the booke of Iehu the son of Hanani, which is mentioned in the booke of the kings of Israel.

35 ¶ Yer after this did Iehoshaphat king of Iudah ioyne himselfe with Ahaziah king of Israel, who was giuen to doe euill.

36 And he ioyned with him, to make ships to goe to Tarshish: and they made the ships in Ezion Gaber.

37 Then Eliezer the sonne of Dodanah of Marehah prophesied against Iehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast ioyned thy selfe with Ahaziah, the Lord hath broke thy works, and the ships were broken, that they were not able to goe to Tarshish.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iehoshaphat dieth. 3 Iehoram succeedeth him, 4 which killeth his brethren. 6 Hee was brought to idolatrie, 11 and seduceth the people. 16 Hee is oppressed of the Philistims. 18 His miserable end.

Iehoshaphat then slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the citie of Dauid: and Iehoram his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And he had brethren the sonnes of Iehoshaphat, Azariah, and Iehiel, and Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah. All these were the sonnes of Iehoshaphat king of Israel.

3 And their father gaue them great gifts of siluer and of golde, and of precious things, with strong cities in Iudah, but the kingdome gaue he to Iehoram: for he was the eldest.

4 ¶ And Iehoram rose vp vpon the kingdome of his father, and made himselfe strong, and slew all his brethren with the sword, and also the princes of Israel.

5 Iehoram was two and thirtie yeere old, when he began to reigne, and he reigned eight yeere in Ierusalem.

6 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel: as the house of Ahab had done: for he had the daughter of Ahab to wife, and he wrought euill in the eyes of the Lord.

7 Howbeit the Lord would not destroy the house of Dauid, because of the couenant that he had made with Dauid, and because hee had promised to giue a light to him and to his sonnes for euer.

8 ¶ In his dayes Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah, and made a king ouer them.

9 And Iehoram went forth with his princes, and all his charets with him: and he rose vp by night, and smote Edom, which had compassed him in, and the captaines of the charets.

10 But Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah vnto this day, then did Libnah rebel at the same time from vnder his hand, because he had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 ¶ Moreouer he made hie places in the mountaines of Iudah, and caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Iudah thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from Elijah the Prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Iehoshaphat thy father, nor in the wayes of Asa King of Iudah,

13 But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to go a whoring, as the house of Ahab went a whoring, and hast also slaine thy brethren of thy fathers house, which were better then thou,

14 Behold, with a great plague wil the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, & thy wiues and all thy substance, 15 And thou shalt be in great diseases in the discafe of thy bowels, vntill thy bowels fall out for the discafe, day by day.

16 ¶ So the Lord stirred vp against Iehoram the spirit of the Philistims, and the Arabians that were beside the Ethiopians.

17 And they came vp into Iudah, and brake into it, & caried away all the substance that was found in the kings house, & his sonnes also, and his wiues, so that there was not a son left him, saue Iehoahaz the yongest of his sonnes.

18 And after all this, the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable discafe.

19 And in proceffe of time, euen after the end of two yeeres, his guts fell out with his discafe: so he died of fore diseases: and his people made no burning for him like the burning of his fathers.

20 When he began to reigne, he was two and thirty yeere old, and reigned in Ierusalem eight yeere, and liued without being desired: yet they buried him in the citie of Dauid, but not among the sepulchres of the Kings.

And * the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahaziah his yongest sonne King in his stead: for the armie that came with the ^a Arabians to the campe, had slaine all the eldest: therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and ^b fortie yeere old was Ahaziah when he began to reigne, and he reigned ^c one yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter of ^d Omri.

3 He walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counselled him to doe wickedly.

4 Wherefore hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his ^e counsellors after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And he walked after their counsell, and went with Iehoram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel to fight against Hazael king of Aram, at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Ioram.

6 ¶ And he returned to be healed in Izreel, because of the wounds wherewith they had wounded him at Ramah, when he fought with Hazael king of Aram. Now Azariah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah went downe to see Iehoram the sonne of Ahab at Izreel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah ^f came of God in that he went to Ioram: for when he was come, he went forth with Iehoram against Iehu the sonne of Nimshi, * whom the Lord had anoynted to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Iehu executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Iudah & the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that waited on Ahaziah, he slew them also.

9 And he sought Ahaziah & they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Iehu, and slew him and buried him, because said they, he is the sonne of Iehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to reteine the kingdome.

10 ¶ Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her sonne was dead, she arose and ^h destroyed all the kings seede of the house of Iudah.

11 But Iehoshabeath the daughter of the king, tooke Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the kings sonnes that should be slaine, and put him and his nource in the bed chamber: so Iehoshabeath the daughter of king Iehoram the wife of Iehoiada the Priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so she slew him not.

12 And he was with them hid in the ⁱ house of God sixe yeeres, whiles Athaliah reigned ^k ouer the ^l land.

C H A P. XXIII.

1 Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah is made King: 15 Athaliah is put to death. 17 The temple of Baal is destroyed. 19 Iehoiada appointeth ministers in the Temple.

And ^a in the seuenth yeere Iehoiada waxed bold, and tooke the captaines of hundreds, ^a Azariah the sonne of Ieroham, and Ishmael, the sonne of Iehohanan, and Azariah the sonne of Obed, and Maasiah the sonne of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the sonne of Zichri in covenant with him.

2 And they went about in Iudah, and gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iudah, and the chiefe fathers ^b of Israel: and they came to Ierusalem.

3 And all the Congregation made a covenant with the King in the house of God: and he said vnto them, Behold, the kings sonne must reigne, * as the Lord hath said of the sonnes of David.

4 This is it that ye shall doe, The third part of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priests, and the Leuites, shall be porters of the doores.

5 And another third part toward the kings house, and another third part at the ^c gate of the foundation, and all the people shall be in the courts of the house of the Lord.

6 But let none come into the house of the Lord, saue the Priests and the Leuites that minister: they shall goe in, for they are holy: but all the people shall keep the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Leuites shall compasse the king, round about, and euery man with his weapon in his hand, & he that entred ^d into the house, shall be slaine, and be you with the king, when he commeth in, and when he goeth out.

8 ¶ So the Leuites and all Iudah did according to all things that Iehoiada the Priest had commanded, and tooke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that went out on the Sabbath: for Iehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courses.

9 And Iehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaines of hundreds, speares, and shields, and bucklers which had bin King Davids, and were in the house of God.

10 And he caused all the people to stand (euery man with his weapon in his hand) from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the altar and by the ^e house round about the King.

11 Then they brought out the kings sonne, and put vpon him the crowne, and ^f gave him the testimony, and made him King. And Iehoiada and his sonnes anointed him, and said, God saue the King.

Then Jehoiada the Priest brought out the captaines of hundreds that were gouernours of the host, and said vnto them, Haue her forth of the ranges, and hee that followeth her; for his shal be the sword: for the Priest had said, Shee is not in the house of the Lord.

So they laid hands on her; and when she came to the entring of the hogewate by the Kings house, they slew her there.

Then all the people of the land reioyced, and the cite was quiet, after that they had slaine Athaliah with the sword.

CHAP XXIIII.

Ioash repaireth the house of the Lord. 17 After the death of Jehoiada, he fallerh to idolatrie. 21 He stoneth to death Zechariah the Prophet. 25 Ioash is killed of his owne seruants. 27 After him reigneth Amasiah.

Ioash was seuen yeere old, when he began to reigne, and he reigned fourtie yeere in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.

And Ioash did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, all the dayes of Jehoiada the Priest.

And Jehoiada tooke him two wiues, and he begate sonnes and daughters.

And afterward it came into Ioash minde, to renew the house of the Lord.

And he assembled the Priests & the Leuites, and said to them, Goe out vnto the cities of Iudah; and gather of all Israel money to repaire the house of your God, from yeere to yeere, and haste the thing: but the Leuites hastened not.

Therefore the king called Jehoiada the chiefest, and said vnto him, Why hast thou not required of the Leuites to bring in out of Iudah and Ierusalem, the case of Moses the seruant of the Lord, and of the Congregation of Israel, for the Tabernacle of the Testimony?

For wicked Athaliah, and her children brake vp the house of God, and all the things that were dedicate for the house of the Lord, did they bestow vpon Baalim.

Therefore the King commanded, and they made a chest, and set it at the gate of the house of the Lord, without the walled city.

And they made proclamation thorow Iudah and Ierusalem, to bring vnto the Lord the taxe of Moses the seruant of God layd vpon Israel in the wilderness.

And all the princes and all the people reioyced, & brought in and cast into the chest, vntill they had finished.

And when it was time, they brought the chest vnto the Kings officer by the hand of the Leuites: and when they saw that there was much siluer, then the Kings Scribe and one appointed by the hie Priest came and emptied the chest, and tooke it, and caried it to his place againe: thus they did day by day, and gathered siluer in abundance.

And the King and Jehoiada gaue it to such as did the labour and worke in the house of the Lord, and hired masons and carpenters to repaire the house of the Lord: they gaue also to workers of yron and brasle, to repaire the house of the Lord.

So the workemen wrought, and the worke amended through their hands: & they restored the house of God to his state, and strengthened it.

And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the siluer before the King and Jehoiada, and hee made thereof vessels for the house of the Lord, euen vessels to minister, both morters and incense cups, and vessels of gold, and of siluer: and they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the dayes of Jehoiada.

But Jehoiada waxed olde, and was full of dayes, and died. An hundred and thirty yeere old was he when he died.

And they buried him in the cite of Dauid with the kings, because he had done good in Israel, and toward God and his house.

And after the death of Jehoiada, came the princes of Iudah, and did reuerence to the king, and the king hearkened vnto them.

And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and serued groues and idoles; and wrath came vpon Iudah and Ierusalem, because of this their trespass.

And God sent Prophets among them, to bring them againe vnto the Lord: and they made protestation among them, but they would not heare.

For he was the high Priest.

And the Spirit of God came upon Zechariah the sonne of Iehoiada the priest, which stood aboue the people, and sayd vnto them, Thus saith God, Why transgress ye the commandments of the Lord? surely ye shall not prosper: because ye haue forsaken the Lord, he also hath forsaken you.

Then they conspired against him, and stoned him with stones at the commandment of the King, in the court of the house of the Lord.

Thus Iehoiada the King remembered not the kindnesse which Iehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his sonnes. And when he died, he said, The Lord lookes vpon it, and requite it.

And when the yere was out, the host of Aram came against him, and they came against Iudah and Ierusalem, and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoyle of them into the king of Damascus.

Though the armie of Aram came with a small company of men, yet the Lord deliuered a very great armie into their hand, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers, and they saue sentence against Ioshaphat.

And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diseases) his owne seruantes conspired against him for the blood of the Lord, and slew him on his bed, and he died, and they buried him not in the sepulchres of the Kings.

And these are they that conspired against him, Zabad the son of Shimrath an Ammonite, and Iehozabad the sonne of Shimrath a Moabite.

But his sonnes, and the summe of the taxe gathered by him, and the foundation of the house of God, behold, they are written in the storie of the booke of the Kings. And Amaziah his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXV.

Amaziah putteth them to death which slew his father. He sendeth ba ke them of Israel. He overcommeth the Edomites. He falleth to idolatrie. And Ioshaphat King of Israel overcommeth Amaziah. He is slaine by a conspiracie.

Amaziah was fise and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned nine and twentie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Iehoadan, of Ierusalem.

And he did vprightly in the eyes of the Lord, but not with a perfitt heart.

And when the kingdom was established vnto him, he slew his seruantes that had slaine the King his father.

But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the Law, and in the booke of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying,

The fathers shall not die for the children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but every man shall die for his owne sinne.

And Amaziah assembled Iudah, and made them captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreds, according to the houles of their fathers, thierout all Iudah and Benjamin: and hee numbred them from twenty yecre old and aboue, and found among them three hundred thousand chosen men, to go forth to the warre, and to handle spears and shield.

He hired also an hundred thousand valiant men out of Israel for an hundred talents of siluer.

But a man of God came to him, saying, O King, let not the armie of Israel goe with thee: for the Lord is not with Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim.

If not, goe thou on, doe it, make thy self strong to the battell. For God shall make thee fall before the enemy: for God hath power to helpe, and to cast downe.

And Amaziah said to the man of God, What shall we do then for the hundred talents, which I haue giuen to the hoste of Israel? Then the man of God answered, The Lord is able to giue thee more then this.

So Amaziah separated them, to wit the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forth his people, and went to the salt valley, and fought of the children of Seir, tenne thousand.

And other tenne thousand did the children of Iudah take aliue, and caried them to the top of a rocke, and cast them downe from the top of the rocke, & they all burst to peces. But the men of the armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they should not goe with his people to battell, fell vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Beth-horon, and smote three thousand of them, and tooke much spoile.

Now after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, hee brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them vp to bee his gods, and worshipped them, and burnt incense vnto them.

Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which said vnto him, Why hast thou sought the gods of the people, which were not able to deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

And as he talked with him, he said vnto him, Haue they made thee the Kings counsellor? cease thou: why should they smite thee? And the Prophet ceased, but said, I know that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsell.

Then Amaziah king of Iudah tooke counsell

4 Reuenge my death, & require my blood at your hands: or he speaketh this by prophesie, because he knew that God would doe it. This Zechariah is also called the sonne of Barachie, Matt. 23. 35, because his progenitors were Id-do, Barachiah, Iehoiada, &c.

condemned, and sent to Ioshaphat the sonne of Iehozabab, the sonne of Iehozabab, saying, Come, let vs see one another in the face.

10 But Ioshaphat king of Iudah sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The justice that is in Edom, thou hast receiued in Ierusalem, saying, Give thy daughter to my sonne to wife, and the wilde beest that was in Lebanon wept and brake downe the thistle.

19 Thou thinkest: loe, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to brag: bide now at home: why dost thou provoke to shame that thou shouldst fall, and Iudah with thee? shouldst thou not know that thou shalt be destroyed?

20 But Amaziah would not heare: for he was of God, that hee might deliuer them into his hand, because they had fought the gods of Edom.

21 So Ioshaphat the king of Iudah went vp: and he, & Amaziah king of Iudah saw one another in the face at Beth-shean, which is in Iudah.

22 And Iudah was put to the worse before Iudah, and they fled euery man to his tents.

23 But Ioshaphat the king of Iudah tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Ioshaphat the sonne of Iehozabab in Beth-shean, & brought him to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate, foure hundred cubits.

24 And he tooke all the gold and the silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with Obed Edom, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.

25 And Amaziah the sonne of Ioshaphat king of Iudah liued after the death of Ioshaphat sonne of Iehozabab King of Iudah fiftene yeere.

26 Concerning the rest of the acts of Amaziah first and last, are they not written in the booke of the Kings of Iudah and Iudah?

27 Now after the time that Amaziah did turne away from the Lord, they wrought treason against him in Ierusalem: and when he was fled to Lachish, they sent to Lachish after him, and slew him there.

28 And they brought him vpon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the cite of Iudah.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Vzziah obeying the Lord, prospereth in his enterprises.

2 Hee waxeth proud, and surpeth the Priests office.

3 The Lord plagueth him. 4 The Priests drive him out of the Temple, and excludeth him out of the Lords house.

5 His buriall, and his successour.

Then all the people of Iudah tooke Vzziah, which was sixteen yere old, & made him King in the stead of his father Amaziah.

2 He built Eloth, and restored it to Iudah after that the King slept with his fathers.

3 Sixteene yeere old was Vzziah when he began to reigne, and he reigned two and fiftie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Iecoliah of Ierusalem.

4 And he did valiantly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did: at which time Ioshaphat had said, Thou shalt be destroyed.

5 And he fought God in the dayes of Zechariah (which vnderstood the visions of God) and when he fought the Lord, God made him to prosper.

6 For he went forth and fought against the Philistines, and brake downe the wall of Gath, and the wall of Iabneh, and the wall of Ashdod, and built cities in Ashdod, and among the Philistines.

7 And God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal, and Hammeunim.

8 And the Ammonites gaue gifts to Vzziah, and his name spread to the entering in of Egypt: for he did most valiantly.

9 Moreover, Vzziah built towers in Ierusalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, and at the turning, and made them strong.

10 And he built towers in the wilderness, and digged many cisternes: for he had much cattell both in the valleyes and plaines, plowmen, and dressers of vines in the mountaines, and in Carmel: for he loued husbandry.

11 Vzziah had also an hoste of fighting men that went out to warre by bands, according to the count of their number vnder the hand of Ieiel the Scribe, and Maaseiah the ruler, and vnder the hand of Hananiah, one of the Kings capitaines.

12 The whole number of the chiefe of the families of the valiant men were two thousand and sixe hundreth.

13 And vnder their hand was the armie for warre, three hundred and seuen thousand, and fise hundred that fought valiantly to helpe the King against the enimie.

14 And Vzziah prepared them thorowout all the hoste, shields, and speares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, & stones to sling.

15 He made also very artificiall engines in Ierusalem, to be vpon the towres and vpon the corners, to shoot arrowes and great stones: and his name spread farre abroad, because God did helpe him marueilously, til he was mighty.

16 But when he was strong, his heart was lift vp to his destruction: for he transgressed against the Lord his God, and went into the Temple of the Lord to burne incense vpon the altar of incense.

17 And Azariah the Priest went in after him, and with him foure score Priests of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withstood Vzziah the King, and said vnto him, * It perteineth not to thee, Vzziah, to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, that are consecrated for to offer incense: * goe forth of the Sanctuary: for thou hast transgressed, and thou shalt haue none honour of the Lord God.

19 Then Vzziah was worth, and had incense c This was not that Zechariah that was the son of Iehoiada, but some other Prophet of that name.

d For God neuer forsaketh any that seeketh vnto him, and therefore man is the cause of his owne destruction.

e That is, they payed tribute in signe of subiection.

h Of the chiefe officers of the Kings house, or of the capitaines and sergeants for warre.

i Thus prosperitie causeth men to trust in themselves, and by forgetting him, which is the author thereof, procure their owne perdition.

k Though his zeale seemed to be good and alio his intention, yet because they were not gouerned by the word of God, he did wickedly, & was therefore both iustly resisted and alio punished.

cast in his hand, and burne it: and while hee was thus, the spirit of the Lord came vpon him, and hee was taken vp in his forehead before the Priestes in the house of the Lord beside the incense altar.

And when Azariah the chiefe Priest with all the Priestes looked vpon him, behold, he was leprous in his forehead, and they caused him hastily to depart thence: and he was euen compelled to goe out, because the Lord had smitten him.

And Vzziah the king was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt as a leper in an house apart, because he was cut off from the house of the Lord: and Iotham his sonne ruled ouer the kings house, and iudged the people of the land.

Concerning the rest of the actes of Vzziah, first and last, did Ishaiah the Prophet the sonne of Amoz write.

So Vzziah slept with his fathers, & they buried him with his fathers in the field of the buriall, which pertained to the kings: for they said, Hee is a leper. And Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXVII.

Iotham reigned, and was with the Ammonites, & hee reigned and death. And his sonne reigned in his stead.

Iotham was five and twenty yere old when he beganne to reigne, and reigned sixteene yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Ierushah the daughter of Zadok.

And he did uprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Vzziah did, save that hee entered not into the Temple of the Lord, and the people did yet corrupt their wayes.

He built the hie gate of the house of the Lord, and hee built very much on the wall of the castle.

Moreover hee built cities in the mountaynes of Iudah, and in the forests hee built palaces and towres.

And hee fought with the king of the children of Ammon, & preuailed against them. And the children of Ammon gaue him the same yeeer an hundred talents of siluer, and ten thousand measures of wheate, & ten thousand of barley: this did the children of Ammon giue him both in the second yeeer and the third.

So Iotham became mighty, because hee directed his way before the Lord his God.

Concerning the rest of the actes of Iotham, and all his warres and his wayes, lo, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel, and Iudah.

He was five and twentie yere old when he began to reigne, and reigned sixteene yere in Ierusalem.

And Iotham slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the citie of Dauid: and Ahaz his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Ahaz an idolater is giuen into the hands of the Syrians, and hee was taken vp in his forehead before the Priestes in the house of the Lord beside the incense altar.

And when Azariah the chiefe Priest with all the Priestes looked vpon him, behold, he was leprous in his forehead, and they caused him hastily to depart thence: and he was euen compelled to goe out, because the Lord had smitten him.

And Vzziah the king was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt as a leper in an house apart, because he was cut off from the house of the Lord: and Iotham his sonne ruled ouer the kings house, and iudged the people of the land.

Concerning the rest of the actes of Vzziah, first and last, did Ishaiah the sonne of Amoz write. So Vzziah slept with his fathers, & they buried him with his fathers in the field of the buriall, which pertained to the kings: for they said, Hee is a leper. And Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

Hee sacrificed also, and burnt incense in the hie places, and on hills, and vnder every greene tree.

Wherefore the Lord his God deliuered him into the hand of the king of the Aramites, and they smote him, and tooke of his many prisoners, and brought them to Damascus: and hee was also deliuered into the hand of the king of Israel, which smote him with a great slaughter.

For Pekah the sonne of Reimiah slew in Iudah six score thousand in one day all valiant men, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers.

And Zichri a mightie man of Ephraim slew Maaseiah the kings sonne, and Azrikam the gouernour of the house, and Elkanah the second after the king.

And the children of Israel tooke prisoners of their brethren, two hundred thousand of women, sonnes and daughters, and carried away much spoile of them, and brought the spoile to Samaria.

But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whose name was Oded) and hee went out before the host that came to Samaria, and said vnto them, Behold, because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudah, he hath deliuered them into your hand, and ye haue slaine them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.

And now yepurpose to keepe vnder the children of Iudah and Ierusalem, as seruants and handmaids vnto you: but are not you such, that sinnes are with you before the Lord your God?

Now therefore heare me, and deliuer the captiues againe, which ye haue taken prisoners of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is toward you.

Wherefore certaine of the chiefe of the children of Ephraim, Azariah the sonne of Iehohanan, Berechiah the sonne of Meshillemoth, and Ichizkiah the sonne of Shallum, and Amasa the sonne of Hadlai, stood vp against them that came from the warre,

And said vnto them, Bring not in the captiues hither: for this shalbe a sinne vpon vs against the Lord: ye intend to adde more to our sinnes.

...and to durchasse; though our trespass be great; and the fierce wrath of the Lord against Israel. Now he was, as we have heard, in the year 4. So the Armee deft the captives and the spoile before the princes and all the Congregation. And the men that were named by name, rose up and took the prisoners, and with the spoile that had alachward naked among them, and arrayed them, and shod them, & gave them meate, and gave them drinke, and annointed them, and caried all them were free of them upon asses, and brought them to Iericho, the cite of Palmes trees to their brethren: so they returned to Samaria. At that tyme King Ahaz send vnto the Kings of Asshur to helpe him. For the Philistines came morcovntly, and loote of Iudah: and caried away captives. The Philistines also invaded the cities in the low country, and toward the South of Iudah, and tooke Bethshemesh, and Aialon, and Gedetoth, and Shochb, with the villages thereof, and Timnah, with her villages, and Gimzo, with her villages, & they dwelt there. For the Lord had humbled Iudah, because of Ahaz, King of Israel: for hee had brought vengeance upon Iudah, and had grievously transgressed against the Lord. And Tilgath Pileaser, king of Asshur came vnto him, who troubled him, and did not strengthen him. For Ahaz tooke a portion out of the house of the Lord, and out of the Kings house, and of the Princes, and gave vnto the king of Asshur: yet it helped him not. And in the time of his tribulation did he yet trespasse more against the Lord, (this is king Ahaz). For hee sacrificed vnto the gods of Damascus, which plagued him, and he said, Because the gods of Aram helped them, I will sacrifice vnto them, and they will helpe me: yet they were his ruine, and of all Israel. And Ahaz gathered the vessels of the house of God, and brake the vessels of the house of God, and shut vp the doores of the house of the Lord, and made him altars in every corner of Ierusalem. And in every cite of Iudah he made hie places, to burne incense vnto other gods, and prouoked to anger the Lord God of his fathers. Concerning the rest of his actes, and all his wayes first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel. And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the cite of Ierusalem, but brought him not vnto the sepulchres of the kings of Israel: and Hezekiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXII. Hezekiah began to reigne, when he was nine and twentie yeeres olde, and reigned nine and twentie yeeres in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Abijah the daughter of Zechariah. And he did uprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that David his father had done. He opened the doores of the house of the Lord in the first yeere, and in the first moneth of his reigne, and repaired them. And he brought in the Priests and the Levites, & gathered them into the East street. And said vnto them, Heare me, ye Levites: sanctifie now your selves, & sanctifie the house of the Lord God of your fathers, and carie forth the filthinesse out of the Sanctuary. For our fathers have trespassed and done euill in the eyes of the Lord our God, and have forsaken him, and turned away their fates from the Tabernacle of the Lord, and turned their backs. They have also shut the doores of the porch, and quenched the lampes, and have neither burnt incense, nor offered burnt offerings in the Sanctuary vnto the God of Israel. Wherefore the wrath of the Lord hath bene on Iudah and Ierusalem: and hee hath made them a scattering, a desolation, and an hissing, as ye see with your eyes. For loe, our fathers are fallen by the sword, and our sonnes, and our daughters, and our wiues are in captiuitie for the same cause. Now I purpose to make a couenant with the Lorde God of Israel, that hee may turne away his fierce wrath from vs. Now my sonnes, be not deceiued: for the Lord hath chosen you to stand before him, to serue him, and to be his ministers, and to burne incense. Then the Levites arose, Mahath the sonne of Amasai, and Loel the sonne of Azariah of the sonnes of the Kohathites and of the sonnes of Merari, Kish the sonne of Abdi, and Azariah the sonne of Elehalel, and of the Gershonites, Ioah the sonne of Zimmah, and Eden the sonne of Ioah. And of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Shimri, and Iehiel: and of the sonnes of Afaph, Zechariah, and Mattaniah. And of the sonnes of Heman, Iehiel, and Shimei: and of the sonnes of Jeduthun, Shemaiah and Vzziel. And they gathered their brethren, and sanctified themselves, and came according to the commandement of the King, and by the words of the Lord, for to cleanse the house of the Lord.

f From the pollutions and filth that Ahaz had brought in.

i For without sprinkling of blood nothing could be sanctified. Heb. 9. 22. exod. 24. 8.

k That is, the king and the elders, as Levit. 4. 15. for they that offered a sinne offering must lay their hands upon it, to signify that they had deserved that death, and also that they did consecrate it to God to be thereby sanctified. Exod. 29. 10.

l This thing was not appointed of man, but it was the commandement of God.

m The Psalme which David had appointed to be sung for thanksgiving. n Which David had appointed to praise the Lord with.

16 And the Priests went into the inner parts of the house of the Lord, to cleanse it, and brought out all the uncleanness that they found in the Temple of the Lord: into the court of the house of the Lord: and the Levites took it, to carry it out vnto the brooke Kidron.

17 They began the first day of the first month to sanctifie it, and the eighth day of the month came they to the porch of the Lord: so they sanctified the house of the Lord in eight dayes, and in the thirteenth day of the first month they made an end.

18 ¶ Then they went in to Hezekiah the king, and said, We haue cleansed all the house of the Lord, and the altar of burnt offering, with all the vessels thereof, and the shewbread table, with all the vessels thereof.

19 And all the vessels which king Ahaz had cast aside, when he reigned, and transgressed, haue we prepared and sanctified: and behold, they are before the altar of the Lord.

20 ¶ And Hezekiah the king rose early, and gathered the Princes of the citie, and went vp to the house of the Lord.

21 And they brought seven bullockes, and seven rammes, and seven lambes, and seven hee goats, for a sinne offering for the kingdome, and for the Sanctuary, and for Iudah. And hee commanded the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

22 So they slew the bullockes, and the Priests receiued the blood, and sprinkled it vpon the altar: they slew also the rammes, and sprinkled the blood vpon the altar, and they slew the lambes, and they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar.

23 Then they brought the hee goats for the sinne offering before the king and the Congregation, and they laid their hands vpon them.

24 And the Priests slew them, and with the blood of them they cleansed the altar to reconcile all Israel: for the king had commanded for all Israel the burnt offering and the sinne offering.

25 Hee appointed also the Levites in the house of the Lord with cymbales, with viols, and with harpe, according to the commandement of Dauid, and Gad the Kings Seer, and Nathan the Prophet: for the commandement was by the hand of the Lord, and by the hand of his Prophets.

26 And the Levites stood with the instruments of Dauid, and the Priests with the trumpets:

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering vpon the altar: and when the burnt offering began, the song of the Lord began with the trumpets, and the instruments of Dauid king of Israel.

28 And all the Congregation worshipped, singing a song, and they blew the trumpets: all this continued vntill the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had made an end of offering, the King and all that were present with him, bowed themselves and worshipped.

30 ¶ Then Hezekiah the King, and the Princes commanded the Levites to praise the Lord with the words of Dauid, and of Asaph the Seer, so they praised with ioy, and they bowed themselves, and worshipped.

31 And Hezekiah saide, and said, Now ye haue sanctified your selues to the Lord: come now and bring the sacrifices and offerings of praise into the house of the Lord. And the Congregation brought sacrifices, and offerings of praise, and every man that was willing in heart, offered burnt offerings.

32 And the number of the burnt offerings, which the Congregation brought, was seven tie bullockes, an hundred rams, and 100 hundred lambes: all these were for a burnt offering to the Lord.

33 And for sanctification fixe hundred bullockes, and three thousand sheepe.

34 But the Priests were too few, and were not able to slay all the burnt offerings: therefore their brethren the Levites did helpe them, till they had ended the worke, and vntill other Priests were sanctified: for the Levites were more vp right in heart to sanctifie themselves, then the Priests.

35 And also the burnt offerings were many, with the fatte of the peace offerings, and the drinke offerings for the burnt offering, so the seruice of the house of the Lord was ser in order.

36 Then Hezekiah reioyced, and all the people, that God had made the people so ready: for the thing was done suddenly.

CHAP. XXX.

1. 13. The keeping of the Passouer by the kings commandment. 6 He exhorteth Israel to turne to the Lord. 18 He prayeth for the people. 24 His oblation and the princes. 27 The Levites blesse the people.

And Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Iudah, and also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, to keepe the Passouer vnto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And the King & his princes and all the Congregation had taken counsell in Ierusalem to keepe the Passouer in the second moneth.

3 For they could not keepe it at this time, because there were not Priests enough sanctified, neither was the people gathered to Ierusalem.

4 And the thing pleased the King, and all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make Proclamation throughout all Israel from Beer sheba euen to Dan, that they should come to keepe the Passouer vnto the Lord God of Israel at Ierusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, as it was written.

6 ¶ So the postes went with letters by the commission of the King, and his princes, thorow-throw out all Israel and Judah, and with the commandment of the king, saying, Ye children of Israel, turne againe unto the Lord God of Abraham, Izhak, and Israel, and he will returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the hands of the king of Asshur.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore hee made them desolate, as ye see.

8 Be not ye now stiffnecked like your fathers, but give the hand to the Lord, and come into his Sanctuary, which hee hath sanctified for ever, and serve the Lord your God, and the fiercenes of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For if ye returne unto the Lord, your brethren and your children shall finde mercie before them that lead them captives, and they shall returne unto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and mercifull and will not turne away his face from you, if ye convert unto him.

10 ¶ So the postes went from citie to citie thorow the land of Ephraim and Manasse, even unto Zebulun: but they laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.

11 Nevertheless divers of Asher, and Manasse, and of Zebulun submitted themselves, and came to Jerusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Judah, so that he gave them one heart to doe the commandment of the king, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Jerusalem much people, to keepe the feast of the unleavened bread in the second moneth, a very great assembly.

14 ¶ And they arose, and tooke away the altars that were in Jerusalem: and all those for incense tooke they away, and cast them into the brooke Kidron.

15 Afterward they slew the Pascheouer the fourteenth day of the second moneth: and the Priests and Leuites were ashamed, and sanctified themselves, and brought the burnt offerings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stood in their place after their manner, according to the Lawe of Moses the man of God: and the Priestes sprinkled the blood, received of the hands of the Leuites.

17 Because there were many in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Leuites had the charge of the killing of the Pascheouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, even a multitude of Ephraim, and Manasse, Issachar and Zebulun had not cleansed themselves, yet did eate the Pascheouer, but not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The good Lord be mercifull toward him,

19 That prepareth his whole heart to seeke the Lord God, the God of his fathers, though he be not cleansed according to the purification of the Sanctuary.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, and healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Jerusalem, kept the feast of the unleavened bread seven dayes with great ioy, and the Leuites, and the Priests praised the Lord, day by day, singing with loud instruments unto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah spake comfortably unto all the Leuites, that had good knowledge, saying unto the Lord, and they did eate in that feast seven dayes, and offered peace offerings, and praised the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly rooke, counsell to keepe it other seven dayes.

24 For Hezekiah king of Iudah had given to the Congregation, a thousand bullockes, and seven thousand sheepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation, a thousand bullockes, and ten thousand sheepe: and many Priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Iudah reioiced with the Priests and the Leuites, and all the Congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Iudah.

26 So there was great ioy in Jerusalem: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of David king of Israel, there was not the like thing in Jerusalem.

27 Then the Priests and the Leuites arose, and blessed the people, and their voyce was heard, and their prayer came up unto heauen, to his holy habitation.

And when all these things were finished, all Israel that were found in the cities of Iudah, went out and brake the images, and cut downe the groues, and brake down the high places, and the altars thorowout all Iudah and Benjamin, in Ephraim also and Manasse, vntill they had made an end: afterward all the children of Israel returned euery man to his possession, into their owne cities.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priests and Leuites by their turnes, euery man according to his office, both Priests and Leuites, for the burnt offering and peace offerings, to minister and to giue thanks, and to praise in the gates of the tents of the Lord.

3 (And the kings portion was of his owne substance for the burnt offerings, even for the burnt offerings of the morning, and of the evening, and the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths, and for the newe Moones, and for the Iohelme feasts, as it is written in the Law of the Lord.)

CHAP. XXXII.

1 And when Hezekiah had finished the foundation of the house of the Lord, he said, Now will I build the house of the Lord, and I will dwell therein.

2 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Levites, concerning the heaps. 3 And Azariah the chief Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and said, Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the Lord, we have eaten and have been satisfied, and there is left in abundance: for the Lord hath blessed his people, and his abundance that is left.

4 And Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord, and they prepared them.

5 And carried in the first fruits, and the tithes, and the dedicate things faithfully, and over them was Comanah the Levite, the chief, and Shimei his brother the second.

6 And Iehiel, and Azariah, and Nahath, and Asahel, and Ieremoth, and Iozabad, and Eliel, and Ishmachiah, and Mahath, and Benaiah were overseers, by the appointment of Comanah and Shimei his brother, by the commandment of Hezekiah the king, and of Azariah the chief of the house of God.

7 And Kore the sonne of Imnah the Levite, porter toward the East, was over the things that were willingly offered vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, and the holy things that were consecrate.

8 And at his hand were Eden, and Miniamin, and Ieshua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shechaniah, in the cities of the Priests, to distribute with fidelity to their brethren by courses, both to the great and small.

9 Their daily portion: beside their generation being males, from three yeere olde and above, even to all that entred into the house of the Lord to their office in the charge, according to their courses.

10 Both to the generation of the Priests after the house of their fathers, and to the Levites from twentie yeere old and above, according to their charge in their courses.

11 And to the generation of all their children, their wives, and their sons, and their daughters throughout all the Congregation: for by their fidelity are they partakers of the holy things.

12 And to the sons of Aaron, the Priests: all were in the fields and suburbs of their cities in every day: the men that were appointed by name, should give portions to all the males of the Priests, and to all the generation of the Levites.

13 And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Judah, and did well, and prospered, and truly before the Lord his God.

14 And in all the works that he began for the service of the house of God, both in the Law and in the commandments, to seek his God, he did it with all his heart, and prospered.

15 Then hee tooke counsell with his Princes & his Nobles, to stop the water of the fountaines without the cite: & they did helpe him. So many of the people assembled themselves, and stop all the fountaines, and the river that ranne through the mids of the countrey, saying, Why should the kings of Asshur come, and finde much water?

16 And hee tooke courage, and built all the broken wall, and made up the towers, and another wall without, and repaired a Millo in the cite of David, and made many darts and shields.

17 And hee set captaines of warre over the people, & assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the cite, and spake comfortably vnto them, saying, Be strong and courageous: feare not, neither be afraid for the king of Asshur, neither for all the multitude that is with him: for there be moe with vs, then is with him.

18 With him is an arme of flesh, but with vs is the Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels: Then the people were confirmed by the words of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

19 After this, did Saneherib king of Asshur send his servants to Ierusalem (while hee was against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah, and vnto all Iudah that were at Ierusalem, saying, Thus sayth Saneherib the king of Asshur, Wherein doe yee trust, that yee will remaine remain in Ierusalem, during the siege.

1 Meaning, that either by the faithful distributions of the officers, every one had their part in the things that were offered, or else that their wives and children were relieved, because the Levites were faithful in their office, and so depended on them.

11 Doeth not Hezekiah entice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine and by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hand of the king of Asshur?

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places and his altars, and commanded Iudah and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Know ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreys? were the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

14 Who is he of all the gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that could deliuer his people out of my hand? that your God should be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither beleeue yee him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruants spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his seruant Hezekiah.

17 He wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel, and (speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countreys could not deliuer their people out of mine hand, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they cryed with a loud voyce in the Iewes speech vnto the people of Ierusalem that were on the wall, to feare them and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euē the works of mans hands.

20 But Hezekiah the king, and the Prophet Iſaiah the sonne of Amoz prayed against this, and cryed to heauen.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and captaines of the hoste of the king of Asshur: so he returned † with shame to his owne land. And when he was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his owne bowels, slew him there with the sword.

22 So the Lord saued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem from the hand of Saneherib king of Asshur, and from the hand of all other, and maintained them on euery side.

23 And many brought offerings vnto the Lord to Ierusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Iudah, so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thenceforth.

24 In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lord, who spake vnto him, and gaue him a signe.

25 But Hezekiah did not render according to the reward bestowed vpon him: for his heart was lift vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himselfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, & the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

27 Hezekiah also had exceeding much riches and honour, and he gate him treasures of filuer, and of gold, and of precious stones, and of sweete odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of store houses for the increase of wheate, and wine and oyle, and stables for all beasts, and rowes for the stables,

29 And he made him cities, and had possession of sheepe and oxen in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceeding much.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water springs of Cihon, and ledde them streight vnderneath toward the citie of Dauid Westward, so Hezekiah prospered in all his works.

31 But because of the ambassadours of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him to try him, and to know all that was in his heart.

32 Concerning the rest of the actes of Hezekiah, and his goodnes, behold, they are written in the vision of Iſaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz, in the booke of the Kings of Iudah and Israel.

33 So Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the highest sepulchre of the sonnes of Dauid: and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did him honour at his death: and Manasseh his sonne reigned in his stead.

the fire in the valley of Ben-hinnom: hee gaue himselfe to witchcraft and to charming, and to sorcerie, and hee vsed them that had familiar spirits, and soothsayers: he did very much euill in the sight of the Lord to anger him.

7 He put also the carued image, which hee had made, in the house of God: whereof God had said to Dauid and to Salomon his sonne, * In this house and in Ierusalem, which I haue chosen before all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for euer.

8 Neither will I * make the foote of Israel to remooue any more out of the land which I haue appointed for your fathers, so that they take heede, and doe all that I haue commanded them, according to the Law and statutes and iudgements by the hand of Moses.

9 So Manasseh made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to erre, and to doe worse then the heathen, whom the Lord had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake ^c to Manasseh and to his people, but they would not regard.

11 Wherefore the Lord brought vpon them the captaines of the hoste of the king of Asshur, which tooke Manasseh and put him in fetters, and bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel.

12 And when hee was in tribulation, hee prayed to the Lord his God, and humbled himselfe greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him: and God was entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him againe to Ierusalem into his kingdom: then Manasseh knewe that the Lord was God.

14 Now after this he built a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the West side of ^e Gihon in the valley, euen at the entrie of the fishgate, and compassed about ^f Ophel, and raised it verie high, and put captaines of warre in all the strong cities of Iudah.

15 And he tooke away the strange gods and the image out of the house of the Lord, and all the altars that he had built in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Ierusalem, and cast them out of the citie.

16 Also he prepared the ^g altar of the Lord, and sacrificed thereon peace offerings, and of thanks, and commanded Iudah to serue the Lord God of Israel.

17 Neuerthelesse the people did sacrifice still in the high places, but vnto the ^h Lord their God.

18 ¶ Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, and his prayer vnto his God, and the wordes of the Seers, that spake to him in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Israel.

19 And his prayer, and how God was entreated of him: and all his sinne, and his trespasses, and the places wherein he built high places, and set groues and images (before he was humbled) behold, they are written in the booke of the ⁱ Seers.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his owne ^k house: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

21 ¶ Amon was two and twentie yeere old, when he began to reigne, and reigned two yeere in Ierusalem.

22 But hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed to all the images, which Manasseh his father had made, and serued them, 23 And hee humbled not himselfe before the Lord, as Manasseh his father had humbled himselfe: but this Amon trespassed more and more.

24 And his seruants ^l conspired against him, and slew him in his owne house.

25 But the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against king Amon: and the people of the land made Iosiah his sonne king in his stead.

3 And in the eight yeere of his reigne (when he was yet a ^p childe) he began to seeke after the God of Dauid his father: and in the twelfth yeere he began to purge Iudah, and Ierusalem from the high places, and the groues, and the carued images, and molten images:

3 And they brake downe ^q in his sight the altars of Baalim, and hee caused to cut downe the images that were on high vpon them: hee brake also the groues, and the caried images, and the molten images, and stampd them to powder, and strowed it vpon the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the high Priest, they delivered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites that kept the doors, had gathered at the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim, and of all the residue of Israel, and of all Judah and Benjamin, and of the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

10 And they put it in the hands of them that should doe the worke, and had the oversight in the house of the Lord, and they gaue it to the workemen that wrought in the house of the Lord, to repaire and amend the house.

11 Euen to the workemen and to the builders gaue they it to buy hewed stone and timber for couples and for beames of the houses, which the kings of Iudah had destroyed.

12 And the men did the worke faithfully, and the ouerseers of them were Iahath and Obadiah the Levites, of the children of Merari, and Zechariah, and Meshullam, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forward: and of the Levites all that could skill of instruments of musike.

13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdens, and them that set forward all the workemen in euery worke: and of the Levites were Scribes, and officers and porters.

14 And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the Priest found the booke of the Law of the Lord given by the hand of Moses.

15 Therefore Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the Chancellor, I haue found the booke of the Law in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan caried the booke to the King, and brought the King word againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that doe they.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was found in the house of the Lord, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerseers, and to the hands of the workemen.

18 Also Shaphan the Chancellor declared to the king, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hath giuen me a booke, and Shaphan read it before the King.

19 And when the king had heard the words of the Law, he tare his clothes.

20 And the king commanded Hilkiah, and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Abdon the sonne of Micah, and Shaphan the Chancellor, and Asaiah the kings seruant, saying, 21 Goe, and enquire of the Lord for mee, and for the rest in Israel and Iudah, concerning the wordes of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen vpon vs, because our fathers haue not kept the word of the Lord; to doe after all that is written in this booke.

22 Then Hilkiah and they that the King had appointed, went to Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of Tokhath, the sonne of Hafaiah keeper of the wardrobe (and she dwelt in Jerusalem within the Colledge) and they communed hereof with her.

23 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell ye the man that sent you to me,

24 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I wil bring euill vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, euen all the curses, that are written in the booke which they had read before the king of Iudah:

25 Because they haue forsaken mee, and burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger mee with all the workes of their hands, therefore shall my wrath fall vpon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 But to the king of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of the Lord, so shal ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The words which thou hast heard, shall come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did smelt, and thou diddest humble thy selfe before God, when thou heardest his words against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy selfe before mee, and tarest thy clothes, and weptest before mee, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Behold, I wil gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt bee put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill, which I will bring vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same, I thus they brought the king word againe.

29 Then the king sent and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Jerusalem.

30 And the king went vp into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the Priests and the Levites, and all the people from the greatest to the smallest, and hee read in their eares all the words of the booke of the couenant that was found in the house of the Lord.

31 And the king stood by his pillar, and made a couenant before the Lord, to walke after the Lord, & to keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes; with all his heart, and with all his soule, and that hee would accomplish the words of the couenant written in the same booke.

32 And he caused all that were found in Jerusalem and Benjamin to stand to it: & the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the couenant of God, euen the God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah tooke away all the abominations out of all the countreys that pertained to the children of Israel, and compelled all that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so all his dayes they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

Moreouer ^a Iosiah kept a Passeouer vnto the Lord in Ierusalem, and they slew the ^a Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

² And hee appointed the Priests to their charges, and encouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord.

³ And he said vnto the Leuites that ^b brought all Israel, and were sanctified vnto the Lord, Put the holy Arke in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel did build: it shall be no more a ^c burden vpon your shoulders: serue now the Lord your God, and his people Israel.

⁷ Iosiah also gaue to the [†] people sheepe, lambes and kids, all for the Passeouer, ^e euen to all that were present, to the number of thirty thousand, and three thousand bullockes: these were the kings substance.

⁹ ^e Conaniah also and Shemaiah and Nathaneel his brethren, and Hashabiah and Ieiel, and Iozabad chiefe of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passeouer, fixe thousand sheepe, and fixe hundred bullockes.

¹⁰ Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priests stood in their places, also the Leuites in their orders, according to the Kings commandement:

¹¹ And they slew the Passeouer, and the Priests ^f sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Leuites slayed ^g them.

¹³ And ^h they roasted the Passeouer with fire, according to the custome, but the sanctified things they set in pots, pannes, and cauldrons, and distributed them quickly to all the people.

¹⁴ Afterward also they prepared for them selues and for the Priests: for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offering of burnt offerings, and the fat vntill night: therefore the Leuites prepared for themselues, and for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron.

¹⁷ And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passeouer the same time, and the feast of the vnleavened bread seuen dayes.

¹⁸ And there was no Passeouer kept like that in Israel, from the dayes of Samuel the Prophet: neither did all the kings of Israel keepe such a Passeouer as Iosiah kept, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all Iudah, and Israel that were [†] present, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

¹⁹ This Passeouer was kept in the ⁱ eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah.

²³ And the shooters shot at King Iosiah: then the king said to his seruants, Carie me away, for I am very sicke.

²⁴ So his seruants tooke him out of that charet, and put him in the second charet which he had, and when they had brought him to Ierusalem, he died, and was buried in the sepulchres of his fathers: and all Iudah and Ierusalem ^m mourned for Iosiah.

²⁶ Concerning the rest of the acts of Iosiah, and his goodnes, ^o doing as it was written in the Law of the Lord, ²⁷ And his deeds, first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudah.

phets. 22 And were restored againe the seventieth yeere after by King Cyrus.

1 Then the people of the land tooke Jeho-ahaz the sonne of Josiah, and made him king in his fathers stead in Ierusalem.

2 Jehoahaz was three and twenty yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned three moneths in Ierusalem.

3 And the king of Egypt tooke him away at Ierusalem, and condemned the land in an hundred talents of silver, and a talent of gold.

4 And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king over Iudah and Ierusalem, and turned his name to Ichoiakim: and Necho tooke Jehoahaz his brother, and carried him to Egypt.

5 Ichoiakim was five and twenty yeere old, when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord his God.

6 Against him came vp Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and bound him with chaines to carie him to Babel.

7 Nebuchad-nezzar also caried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babel, and put them in his Temple at Babel.

8 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoiachim, and his abominations which he did, and that which was found vpon him, behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudah, and Ichoiachin his sonne reigned in his stead.

9 Ichoiachin was eight yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned three mo-neths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord.

10 And when the yeere was out, king Nebuchad-nezzar sent and brought him to Babel with the precious vessels of the house of the Lord, and he made Zedekiah his brother king ouer Iudah and Ierusalem.

11 Zedekiah was one and twenty yere old, when he began to reigne, and reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem.

12 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not himselfe before Ieremiah the Prophet at the commandement of the Lord.

13 But he rebelled moreouer against Nebuchad-nezzar, which had caused him to sweare by God: and he hardened his necke and made his heart obstinate, that hee might not returne to the Lord God of Israel.

14 All the chiefe of the Priests also, and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the heathen, and poisoned the house of the Lord which he had san-ctified in Ierusalem.

15 Therefore the Lord God of their fathers sent to them by his messengers, rising early and sending: for hee had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.

16 But they mocked the Messengers of God, and despised his words, and misused his Prophets, vntill the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, and till there was no remedie.

17 For he brought vpon them the king of the Caldeans, who slew their yong men with the sword in the house of their Sanctuary, and spared neither yong man, nor virgine, ancient, nor aged. God gaue all into his hand,

18 And all the vessels of the house of God great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king, and of his Princes: all these caried he to Babel.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, and burnt all the palaces therof with fire, and all the precious vessels thereof, to destroy all.

20 And they that were left by the sword, caried hee away to Babel, and they were ser-uants to him and to his sonnes, vntill the kingdome of the Persians had rule.

21 To fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremiah, vntill the land had her fill of her Sabbaths: for all the dayes that shee lay desolate, shee kept Sabbath, to fulfill seventy yeeres.

22 But in the first yeere of Cyrus king of Persia (when the word of the Lord, spoken by the mouth of Ieremiah, was finished) the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he made a proclamation through all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

23 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, All the kingdome of the earth hath the Lord God of heauen giuen me, & he hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, that is in Iudah. Who is among you of all his people, with

The prayer of Manasseh king of the Iewes.

Lord Almighty, God of our fathers, Abraham, Isaac & Iacob, and of their righteous feede, which hast made heauen and earth, with all their ornament, which hast bound the Sea by the word of thy commandement, which hast shut vp the deepe, and sealed it by thy terrible and gloriou. Name, whom all doe feare and tremble before thy power: for the Maieste of thy glory cannot be borne, and thine angry threatning toward sinners is importable, but thy merciful promise is vnmesurable and vnsearchable. For thou art the most high Lord, of great compassion, long suffering, and most mercifull, and repentest for mans miserie. Thou, O Lord, according to a Thou hast promised that repentance shall be the way for them to returne to thee.

b He speaketh this in comparison of himselfe and those holy fathers which haue their commendation in the Scriptures, so that in respect of himselfe he calleth their finnes nothing, but attributes vnto them righteousness.

thy great goodnesse hast promised repentance and forgiveness to them that sinne against thee, and for thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners that they may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iust, hast not appointed repentance to the iust, as to Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob, which haue not sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I haue sinned about the number of the sand of the Sea. My transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to behold and see the height of the heauens for multitude of mine vnrightheousnesse. I am bowed downe with many yron bands, that I cannot lift vp mine head, neither haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath and done euill before thee. I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandments. I haue set vp abominations, and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgive me: O Lord, forgive me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Bee not angry with me for euer by reseruing euill for me, neither condemne me into the lower parts of the earth. For thou art the God, euen the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shew all thy goodnesse: for thou wilt saue me that am vnworthy, according to thy great mercie: therefore I will praise thee for euer all the dayes of my life: for all the power of the heauens praise thee, and thine is the glory for euer and euer. Amen.

EZRA.

THE ARGUMENT.

As the Lord is ever mercifull vnto his Church, and dooth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the world and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that hee had visited the Iewes and kept them now in bondage seventy yeeres in a strange countrey among infidels and idolaters, hee remembered his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a deliverer, and mooued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pitie them, and also by him punished such, which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstanding, lest they should grow into a contempt of Gods great benefite, he keepeth them still in exercise, and raiseth domesticall enemies, which endeavour as much as they can to hinder their most worthy enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophets they went forward by little and little till their worke was finished. The authour of this booke was Ezra, who was Priest and Scribe of the Law, as chap. 7. 6. He returned to Ierusalem the sixt yeere of Darius, who succeeded Cyrus, that is, about fifty yeeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. Hee brought with him a great company, and much treasures, with letters to the Kings officers for all such things as should be necessary for the Temple: and at his comming he redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good order.

e If any through pouertie were not able to returne, the kings commision was, that hee should be furnished with necessaries.

NOW in the first yeere of Cyrus king of Persia (that the worde of the Lord spoken by the mouth of Ieremiah, might be accomplished) the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he made a Proclamation through all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

2 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heauen hath giuen mee all the kingdomes of the earth, and he hath commanded mee to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudah.

4 And euery one that remaineth in any place (where he sojourneth) let the men of his place relieue him with siluer and with gold, and with substance, and with cattel, and with a willing offering, for the house of God that is in Ierusalem.

5 Then the chiefe fathers of Iudah and Benjamin, and the Priests and Leuites rose vp, with all them whose spirit God had raised to goe vp to build the house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

6 And all they that were about them, strengthened their hands with vessels of siluer, with gold, with substance, and with cattel, and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offered.

7 Also the king Cyrus brought forth the vessels of the house of the Lord, which Nebuchad-nezzar had taken out of Ierusalem, and had put them in the house of his god.

8 Euen them did Cyrus King of Persia bring forth by the hand of Mithridath the treasurer, and counted them vnto Sheshbazzar the prience of Iudah.

8 Be it known vnto the king that wee went into the prouince of Iudea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with great stones, and beams are laide in the walles, and this worke is wrought speedily, and prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked wee those Elders, and said vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundation of these walles?

10 Wee asked their names also that wee might certifie thee, and that wee might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

13 ¶ Then Tatnai the captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shethar-Boznai and their companions, according to that which Darius had sent, so they did speedily.

14 So the Elders of the Iewes builded, and they prospered by the prophesie of Haggai the Prophet, and Zechariah the sonne of Iddo, and they builded and finished it by the appointment of the God of Israel, and by the commandement of Cyrus and Darius, and Artahshaste king of Persia.

15 And this house was finished the third day of the month Adar, which was the sixt yeere of the reigne of king Darius.

16 ¶ And the children of Israel, the Priests, and the Leuites, and the residue of the children of the captiuitie kept the dedication of this house of God with ioy, 19 And the children of the captiuitie kept the Pascheouer on the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

20 (For the Priests and the Leuites were purified altogether) and they killed the Pascheouer for all the children of the captiuitie, & for their brethren the Priests, and for themselves.

21 So the children of Israel which were come againe out of captiuitie, and all such as had separated themselves vnto them, from the filthinesse of the heathen of the land to seeke the Lord God of Israel, did eate,

22 And they kept the feast of vnleavened bread seuen dayes with ioy: for the Lord had made them glad, and turned the heart of the King of Asshur vnto them, to encourage them in the worke of the house of God, euen the God of Israel.

CHAP. VII.

1 By the commandement of the king, Ezra and his companions come to Ierusalem. 27 He giueth thanks to God.

Now after these things, in the reigne of Artahshaste king of Persia, was Ezra the sonne of Seraiah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Hilkiah, a common name to the Kings of Egypt, and Cesar to the Emperours Romane.

4 The sonne of Zeraiah, the sonne of Vzzi, the sonne of Bukki,

5 The sonne of Abishua, the sonne of Phinehas, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron the chiefe Priest.

6 This Ezra came vp from Babel, and was a Scribe prompt in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had giuen, and the King gaue him all his request according to the hand of the Lord his God, which was vpon him.

7 And there went vp certaine of the children of Israel, and of the Priests, & the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nehemims vnto Ierusalem, in the seuenth yeere of King Artahshaste.

8 And hee came to Ierusalem in the fift moneth, which was in the seuenth yeere of the King.

9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth began he to goe vp from Babel, and on the first day of the fift moneth came he to Ierusalem, according to the good hand of his God that was vpon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seeke the Law of the Lord and to doe it, and to teach the precepts and iudgements in Israel.

proclaimed a fast, that we might humble our selues before our God, and seeke of him a right way for vs, and for our children, and for all our substance.

21 For I was ashamed to require of the King an army and horsemen, to helpe vs against the enemy in the way, because wee had spoken to the king, saying, The hand of our God is upon all them that seeke him in goodnesse, but his power and his wrath is against all them that forsake him.

22 So we fasted, and besought our God for this: and he was intreated of vs.

23 Then I separated twelue of the chiefe of the Priests, Sherebiah, and Habbabiah, and ten of their brethren with them,

24 And weighed them the siluer and the golde, and the vessels, even the offering of the house of our God, which the king and his counsellors, and his Princes, and all Israel that were present had offered.

25 And I weighed vnto their hand sixe hundred and fiftie talents of siluer, and in siluer vessel an hundred talents, and in golde an hundred talents:

26 And twentie basins of golde, of a thousand drams, and two vessels of shining brasse very good, and precious as golde.

27 ¶ And I said vnto them, Yee are consecrate vnto the Lord, and the vessels are consecrate, and the golde and the siluer are freely offered vnto the Lord God of your fathers.

28 Watch yee, and keepe them vntill yee weigh them before the chiefe Priests and the Leuites, and the chiefe fathers of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of the Lord.

29 So the Priests and the Leuites receiued the weight of the siluer and of the golde, and of the vessels to bring them to Ierusalem, vnto the house of our God.

30 ¶ Then wee departed from the riuer of Ahava on the twelfth day of the first moneth, to goe vnto Ierusalem, and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hand of the enemy, and of such as laide waite by the way.

31 And we came to Ierusalem, and abode there three dayes.

32 And on the fourth day was the siluer weighed, and the golde and the vessel in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the sonne of Uriah the Priest, and with him was Eleazar the sonne of Phinehas, and with him was Iozabad the sonne of Ieshua, and Noadiah the sonne of Binnui the Leuites,

33 By number and by weight of euery one, and all the weight was written at the same time.

34 Also the children of the captiuitie, which were come out of captiuitie, offered burnt offerings vnto the God of Israel, twelue bullocks for all Israel, ninetie and sixe rammes, seuentie and seuen lambes, and twelue hee goates for sinne: all was a burnt offering of the Lord.

36 And they deliuered the kings commission vnto the kings officers, and to the captains beyond the Ruer: and they promoted the people, and the house of God.

CHAP. IX.

1 Ezra complaineth on the people that had turned themselves from God, and married with the Gentiles. 5 He prayeth vnto God.

When as these things were done, the rulers came to me, saying, The people of Israel, and the Priests and the Leuites are not separated from the people of the landes (as touching their abominations) to wit, of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Iebu-sities, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.

2 For they haue taken their daughters to themselves, and to their sonnes, and they haue mixed the holy seede with the people of the lands, and the hand of the princes and rulers haue bene chiefe in this trespasse.

3 But when I heard this saying, I rent my clothes and my garment, and pluckt off the haire of mine head, and of my beard, and sate downe astonished.

4 And there assembled vnto me all that feared the words of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of them of the captiuitie.
And I sate downe astonished vntill the euening sacrifice.

5 And at the euening sacrifice I arose vp from mine heauinesse, and when I had rent my clothes and my garment, I fell vpon my knees, and spread out mine hands vnto the Lord my God,

6 And said, O my God, I am confounded and ashamed to lift vp mine eyes vnto thee my God: for our iniquities are increased ouer our head, and our trespasse is growen vp vnto the heauen.

7 From the dayes of our fathers haue wee bene in a great trespasse vnto this day, and for our iniquities haue wee, our Kings, and our Priestes bene deliuered into the hand of the kings of the landes, vnto the sword, into capti-uitie, into a spoile, and into confusion of face, a He confessed his sinnes and the sinnes of the people.

W^hiles * Ezra prayed thus, and ^a confessed himselfe weeping, and falling downe before the house of God, there assembled vnto him of Israel a very great Congregation of men and women and children: for the people wept with a great lamentation.

b Meaning, that God would receiue them to mercie.

9 ¶ Then all the men of Iudah and Benjamin assembled themselves vnto Ierusalem within three dayes, which was the twentieth day of the ^e ninth moneth, and all the people sate in the streete of the house of God, trembling for this matter, and for the ^f raine.

e Which contained part of November and part of December.

10 And Ezra the Priest stood vp, and said vnto them, Yee haue transgressed, and haue taken strange wiues, to ^g increase the trespass of Israel.

f For the season was giuen to raine, and so the weather was more than pe and colde, and also their conscience touched them. g Ye haue laide one sinne vpon another. h Reade Iob, 7. 19.

11 Now therefore ^h giue praise vnto the Lord God of your fathers, and doe his wil, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

12 And all the Congregation answered, and said with a loud voice, So will we doe according to thy words vnto vs.

13 But the people are many, and it is a rainy weather, and we are not able to stand withour, neither ⁱ is it the worke of one day or two, for we are many that haue offended in this thing.

14 Let our rulers stand therefore ⁱ before all the Congregation, and let all them which haue taken strange wiues in our cities, come at the time appointed, and with them the Elders of euery city, and the Iudges thereof, till the fierce wrath of our God for this matter turne away from vs.

NEHEMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

GOD doth in all ages and at all times set up worthy persons for the commoditie and profite of his Church, as now within the compasse of fewe yeeres hee raysed up diuers excellent men for the preservation of his people, after their returne from Babylon, as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah. Whereof the first was their captaine to bring them home, and provided that the Temple was builded; the second reformed their manners and planted Religion: and the third builded up the walles, deliuered the people from oppression, and provided that the Law of God was put in execution among them. Hee was a godly man and in great authoritie with the King, so that the King fauoured him greatly, and gaue him most ample letters for the accomplishing of all things which hee could desire. This booke is also called of the Latines the second of Ezra, because he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

4 Nehemiah becometh the calamitie of Ierusalem. 5 He confesseth the finnes of the people and prayeth God for them.

In the moneth ^a Chisleu, in the twentieth yeere, as I was in the palace of Shushan,

2 Came Hanani, one of my brethren, he and the men of Iudah, and I asked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

3 And they said vnto me, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the ^c prouince, are in great affliction and in reproch, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard these wordes, I sate downe and wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I fasted and praied before the God of heauen.

sen to place my Name there.

10 Now these are thy seruants and thy people whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mightie hand,

11 O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eare now hearken to the prayer of thy seruants, and to the prayer of thy seruants, who desire to feare thy Name, and I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of this man: for I was the Kings butler.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes, 11 hee came to Ierusalem, 17 And builded the walles.

NOW in the moneth Nisan in the twentieth yeere of King Artahshashtee, the wine stood before him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the King. Now I was not before time sad in his presence.

2 And the king said vnto mee, Why is thy countenance sadde, seeing thou art not sicke? this is nothing, but sorow of heart. Then was I fore afraid,

3 And I said to the King, God saue the king for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when this citie and house of the sepulchres of my fathers lieth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

4 And the King said vnto mee, For what thing doest thou require? Then I prayed to the God of heauen,

5 And said vnto the King, If it please the king, and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight, I desire that thou wouldest send me to Iudah vnto the citie of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.

6 And the King said vnto me, (the queene also sitting by him) How long shal thy journey be? & when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the king, and he sent me, & I set him a time.

7 After I said vnto the king, If it please the king, let them giue me letters to the capitaines beyond the Riuer, that they may conuey mee ouer, till I come into Iudah,

8 And letters vnto Asaph the keeper of the kings parkes, that hee may giue me timber to build the gates of the palace (which appertained to the house) and for the wals of the citie, and for the house that I shal enter into. And the king gaue me according to the good hand of my God vpon me.

9 ¶ Then came I to the capitaines beyond the Riuer, & gaue them the kings letters. And the king had sent capitaines of the armie and horsemen with me.

10 But Sanballat the Horonite, & Tobiah a seruant, an Ammonitie heard it, and it grieved them sore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Ierusalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I rose in the night, I, and a fewe men with me: for I tolde no man, what God had put in mine heart to doe at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with mee, saue the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before the dragon well, & to the dung port, and viewed the walles of Ierusalem, how they were broken downe, & the ports thereof deuoured with the fire.

14 Then I went forth vnto the gate of the fountaine, and to the kings fishpoole, and there was no roome for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

15 Then went I vp in the night by the brooke, and viewed the wal, and turned backe, and comming back, I entred by the gate of the valley and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I said vnto them, Ye see the miserie that wee are in, how Ierusalem lyeth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs build the wal of Ierusalem, that we be no more reproach.

18 Then I told them of the hand of my God, (which was good ouer me) and also of the kings words that he had spoken vnto me. And they said, Let vs rise, and build. So they strengthened their hand to good.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs & despised vs, and said, What a thing is this that ye do? Will ye rebell against the king?

20 Then answered I them, & said to them, The God of heauen, hee will prosper vs, and we his seruants will rise vp and build: but as for you, ye haue no portion nor right, nor memoriall in Ierusalem.

THEN arose Eliasib the hie Priest with his brethren the Priestes, and they built the sheepegate: they repayred it, and set vp the doores thereof: euen vnto the tower of Meah repayred they it, and vnto the tower of Hanneel.

2 And next vnto him builded the men of Iericho, and beside him Zaccur the sonne of Imri.

3 But the fishport did the sonnes of Senaah build, which also layd the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto them fortified Merimoth, the sonne of Vrijah, the sonne of Hakkoz: and next vnto them fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Meshezabeel: and next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana:

i Thus the wicked when they will burthen the children of God, ever lay treason vnto their charge, both because it maketh them most odious to the world, and also stirreth the hatred of princes most against them.

k Neither ye are of the number of the children of God (to whom he hath appointed this citie onely) neither did any of your predecessors euer feare God.

a In Ierusalem, they finished it, that is, they finished it, and so dedicated it to the Lord by prayer, in desiring him to maintaine it.

And now vnto the fortified the Tekettes: but the greater part of them hatched their necks to the work of their lords.

And the gate of the fildes fildes fortified Ichobab the sonne of Bafan, and Meshullam the sonne of Bafan: they layd the beames thereof, and fet on the doores thereof, and the battens thereof, and the barres thereof.

Next vnto them fortified Melchiah the Gibeonite, and Iadon the Meronothite, the sonne of Gibeon, and Mizpah, vnto the chane of the Dole, which was beyond the River.

Next vnto them fortified Vziel the son of Hagabab, of the golden smithes: vnto him also fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Harakkabim, & they repaired Ierusalem vnto the broad wall.

Also next vnto them fortified Reshiah, the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem.

And next vnto him fortified Iediah, the sonne of Harumaph, euen ouer against his house, and next vnto him fortified Harath, the sonne of Meshabiah.

Malchiah the sonne of Harim, and Hagabab the sonne of Pahath Moab fortified the second portion, and the tower of the furnaces.

Next vnto him also fortified Shallum, the sonne of Malchiah, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem, he, and his daughters.

The valley gate fortified Hanan, and the inhabitants of Zamban: they built it, & fet on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, euen a thousand cubites on the wall vnto the dung port.

But the dung port fortified Malchiah, the sonne of Reehab, the ruler of the fourth part of Beth-haccarem: he built it, and fet on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

But the gate of the fountaine fortified Shallum, the sonne of Col-hozeh, the ruler of the fourth part of Mizpah: he builded it, and couered it, and fet on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the fildes of Shelah by the Kings garden, and vnto the steeppes that goe downe from the cite of Dauid.

After him fortified Nehemiah the sonne of Azbuk, the ruler of the halfe part of Bethzur, vntill the other side ouer against the sepulchres of Dauid, and to the fildes that was repayed, and vnto the house of the mightie.

After him fortified the Levites, Rehum the sonne of Bani, and next vnto him fortified Habbabiah the ruler of the halfe part of Keilah in his quarter.

After him fortified their brethren: Banaï, the sonne of Henadad the ruler of the halfe part of Keilah:

And next vnto him fortified Ezer, the sonne of Ieshua the ruler of Mizpah, the other portion ouer against the going vp to the corner of the armour, and next vnto him fortified Baruch the sonne of Zachai, and fortified another portion from the corner vnto the doore of the house of Eliashib the Priest.

After him fortified Meremoth the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Hakkor another portion from the doore of the house of Eliashib, euen as long as the house of Eliashib extended.

After him also fortified the Priests, the men of the temple.

After them fortified Beniamin, & Harath ouer against their house: after him fortified Azariah the sonne of Maafab, the sonne of Ananiah, by his house.

After him fortified Binnui, the sonne of Henadad another portion, from the house of Azariah vnto the turning and vnto the corner.

Palat, the sonne of Vziel, from ouer against the corner, and the high tower, that lyeth out from the Kings house, which is beside the court of the prison. After him Pedaias, the sonne of Parosh.

And the Nethinims that dwelt in the fortress vnto the place ouer against the water gate Eastward, and to the tower that lyeth out.

After him fortified the Tekettes another portion ouer against the great tower that lyeth out, euen vnto the wall of the fortress.

From above the horse gate fourth fortified the Priests, every one ouer against his house.

After them fortified Zadok the sonne of Immer ouer against his house: and after him fortified Shemaiah, the sonne of Shechaniah, the keeper of the East gate.

After him fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, and Hannu, the sonne of Zaphan, the sixth another portion: after him fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, ouer against his chamber.

After him fortified Malchiah the goldsmiths sonne, vntill the house of the Nethinims, & of the merchants ouer against the gate Miphkad, and to the chamber in the corner.

And between the chamber of the corner vnto the sheeppgate fortified the goldsmiths and the merchants.

CHAP. IIII.

The building of Ierusalem is hindered, 15 but God breake their enterpryse. 17 The Iewes build with one hand, and hold their weapons in the other.

But when Sanballat heard that we builded the wall, then was he wroth and foregriued, and mocked the Iewes,

And said before his brethren and the army of Samaria, thus hee said, What doe these weake Iewes? will they fortifie themselves? will they sacrifice? will they finish it in a day? will they make the stones whole againe out of the heaps of dust seeing they are burnt?

And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they build, yet if a foxe Meaning the six of his sonnes.

Which was the place of judgement, or execution.

Of his companions that dwelt in Samaria.

Thus the wicked, that consider not that Gods power is euer in a readines for the defence of his, knocke them as though they were weake and feeble.

goe vp, he shall euen breake downe their stone wall.

4 Hear, O our God, (for we are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a pray^e in the land of their captiuitie.

5 And beare not their iniquitie, neither let their sinne doe put out thy presence: for they haue provoked vs before the builders.

6 So we built the wall, and all the wal was ioyned vnto the halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7 But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, & the Ashdodims heard that the walles of Ierusalem were repaired, (for the breaches beganne to be stopped) then they were very wroth.

8 And conspired all together to come and to fight against Ierusalem, & to hinder them.

9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and set watchmen by them day and night because of them.

10 And Iudah said, The strength of the bearers is weake, and there is much earth, so that we are not able to build the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had said, They shall not know, neither see, till we come into the middes of them, and slay them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they tolde vs ten times.

13 From all places, whence ye shall returne, they will be vpon vs.

14 Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall vpon the tops of the stones, and placed the people by their families, with their swords, their speares and their bowes.

15 Then I beheld, and rose vp, and said vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not afraid of them: remember the great Lord, and fearefull, and fight for your brethren, your sonnes and your daughters, your wiues, and your houses.

16 And when our enemies heard that it was knowne vnto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, and we turned all againe to the wall, euery one vnto his worke.

17 And from that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, and shields, and bowes, and habergins: and the rulers stood behind all the house of Iudah.

18 They that builded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, and they that laded, did the worke with one hand, and with the other held the sword.

19 For euery one of the builders had his sword girt on his loynes, and so builded: and he that blew the trumpet, was beside me.

20 Then said I to the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and wee are separated vpon the wall, one from another.

21 In what place therefore yee heare the sound of the trumpet, resort ye thither vnto vs: our God shall fight for vs.

22 So we laboured in the worke, and halfe of them held the speares, from the appearing of the morning, till the stars come forth.

23 And at the same time said I vnto the people, Let euery one with his servant lodge within Ierusalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

24 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my seruants, nor the men of the ward (which followed vs) none of vs did put off our clothes, save euery one put them off for washing.

25 CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed, and in necessity. 2 Nehemiah weepeth, & prayeth for the people.

3 Now there was a great cry of the people, and of their wiues against their brethren the Iewes.

4 For there were that said, We, our sonnes and our daughters are many, therefore we take vp come, that we may eate and drinke.

5 And there were that said, We must gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houses, and take vp come for the same.

6 There were also that said, We haue borrowed money for the kings tribute, vpon our lands and our vineyards.

7 And now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, and our sonnes as their sonnes: and loe, wee bring into subiection our sonnes and our daughters, as seruants, and there be of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power in our hands: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.

8 Then was I very angry when I heard their cry and these words.

9 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the princes, and the rulers, and said vnto them, You lay burthens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great assembly against them.

10 And I said vnto them, We (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were sold vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shal they be sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not answere.

11 I said also, That which yee doe, is not good. Ought ye not to walke in the feare of our God, for the reproch of the heathen our enemies?

12 For euen I, my brethren, & my seruants doe lend them money and come: I pray you, let vs leaue off this burden.

13 Restore, I pray you, vnto them this day their lands, their vineyards, their oliues, and their houses, & remitt the hundredth part of the siluer and of the corne, of the wine, and of the oyle that ye exact of them.

Meaning, to resist the their enemies, if neede required.

That is, when they perished themselves, or els when they washed their clothes.

Against the rich, which oppressed them. This is the complaint of the people, shewing to what extremitie they were brought vnto. To pay our tribute to the king of the Persians, which was exacted yearly of vs.

By nature the rich, no better than the poore. We are not able to redeeme them, but for povertie are constrained to hire them to others.

You press them with vray, and speake how, to bring all things into your hands. Both because they should be moued with pite, seeing how many were by them oppressed, and also because the iudgement of others, which should be against were witnesses of their dealing toward their brethren.

Seeing God hath once delivered them from the bondage of the heathen, shal we make them our slaves?

Meaning, Nehemiah. Who by this occasion will blaspheme the name of God, seeing that our acts are no better then theirs.

Or, Which ye take of them for the loan.

12 Then said they, We will restore it, and will not require it of them: we will doe as thou hast said. Then I called the Priests, and caused them to sweare, that they should do according to this promise.

13 So I shooke my lappe, and said, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise, from his house, and from his labour: euen thus let him be shaken out, and emptied. And all the Congregation said, Amen, and prayed the Lord: and the people did according to this promise.

14 And from the time that the King gaue me charge to be gouernour in the land of Iudah, from the twentieth yeere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yeere of king Artahshastre, that is, twelue yeere, I and my brethren haue not eaten the bread of the gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before me, had bene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, besides fourtie shekels of siluer: yea, and their seruants bare rule ouer the people: but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and we bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreover there were at my table an hundred and fiftie of the Iewes, and rulers which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared dayly an ox, and fixe chofen sheepe, and birds were prepared for me, and within ten dayes wine for all in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

19 Remember me, O my God, in goodnesse, according to all that I haue done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

8 Nehemiah answereth with great wisdom, and Zeale to his aduersarie. 11 He is not discouraged by the false prophets.

And when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there were no more breaches therein, (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates)

2 Then sent Sanballat and Geshem vnto me, saying, Come thou that we may meete together in the villages in the plaine of Ono: and they thought to doe me euill.

3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to doe, and I can not come down: why should the worke cease, while I leaue it, and come downe to you?

4 Yet they sent vnto me foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same manner.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fift time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and ¶ Gashmu hath said it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wall, and thou wilt be their king according to these words.

7 Thou hast also ordeined the Prophets to preach of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a King in Iudah: and now according to these wordes it shall come to the Kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these words that thou saydest: for thou faintest them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they afayed vs, saying, Their hands shall be weakened from the worke, and it shal not be done: now therefore encourage thou me.

10 ¶ And I came to the house of Shemaiah the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Mehetabeel, and he was shut vp, and he said, Let vs come together into the house of God in the mids of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea, in the night will they come to kill thee.

11 Then I said, Should such a man as I flee? Who is he being as I am, that would goe into the Temple to lue? I will not goe in.

12 And loe, I perceiued, that God had not sent him, but that he pronouced this prophetic against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraid, and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reproch me.

14 My God, remember thou Tobiah, and Sanballat according vnto these their workes, and Noadiah the s Prophetesse also, and the rest of the Prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15 ¶ Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the fise and twentieth day of ^h Elul, in two and fiftie dayes.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, euen all the heathen that were about vs, they were afraid, and their courage failed them: for they knew that this worke was wrought by our God.

17 And in these dayes were there many of the Princes of Iudah, whose letters went vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were many in Iudah, that were sworne vnto him: for he was the sonne in law of Shechaniah, the sonne of Arah: and his son Ichonathan had the daughter of Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah.

19 Yea, they spake in his prayse before me, and told him my wordes, and Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

1073 Geshem.

c As the same goeth.
d Thou hast bribed, and set vp false prophets to make thy selfe king, and so to defraud the king of Persia of that subiection, which you owe vnto him.

1 Ebr strength in thine hand.

e Although he would be secret, to the intent that he might pray vnto God with greater libertie, and receive some revelation, which in him was but hypocrisie.

f He doubted not but God was able to preferre him, and knew that if he had obeyed his counsell, he should haue discouraged all the people: thus God giueth power to his, to resist false prophecies, though they seeme to haue neuer so great probability.

g Very griefe caused him to pray against such, which vnder the pretence of being the ministers of God, were aduersaries to his glory, and went about to ouerthrow his Church, declaring also hereby that where there is one true minister of God, the deuill hath a great sort of hirings.

h Which was the sixt moneth, and contained part of August, and part of September.

i After that I had sent Sanballat his answer.

k Thus the Church of God hath euermore enemies within it selfe, which are more dangerous then the outward & professed enemies.

57 The sonnes of Salomons seruants, the sonnes of Sotai, the sonnes of Sophereth, the sonnes of Perida, 58 The sonnes of Iaala, the sonnes of Darkon, the sonnes of Giddel, 59 The sonnes of Shephatiah, the sonnes of Hatil, the sonnes of Pochereth of Zebaim, the sonnes of Amon.

60 All the Nethinims, and the sonnes of Salomons seruants were three hundred, nine and two.

61 ¶ And these came vp from Tel-melah, Tel-haresia, Cherub, Addon, and Immer: but they could not shewe their fathers house, nor their feed, or if they were of Israel.

62 The sonnes of Delaiah: the sonnes of Tobiah, the sonnes of Nekoda, fixe hundred and two and fourtie.

63 And of the Priests: the sonnes of Habai, the sonnes of Hakkoz, the sonnes of Barzillai, which tooke one of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite to wife, and was named after their name.

64 These sought their writing of the genealogies, but it was not found: therefore they were put from the Priesthood.

65 And the Tirshatha said vnto them that they should not eate of the most holy, till there rose vp a Priest with * Vrim and Thummim.

66 All the congregation together was two and fortie thousand, three hundred and threescore, 67 Besides their seruants and their maides, which were seven thousand three hundred and seven and thirtie: and they had two hundred and fife and fourtie singing men and singing women.

68 Their horses were seven hundred and fixe and thirtie, and their mules two hundred and fife and fortie.

69 The camels foure hundred and fife and thirtie, and fixe thousand seven hundred and twentie asses.

70 And certaine of the chiefe fathers gaue vnto the worke. The Tirshatha gaue to the treasure, a thousand^b drammes of gold, fiftie basins, fife hundred and thirtie Priestes garments.

71 And some of the chiefe fathers gaue vnto the treasure of the worke, twentie thousand drammes of golde, and two thousand and two hundred pieces of siluer,

72 And the rest of the people gaue twentie thousand drammes of golde, and two thousand pieces of siluer, and threescore and seven Priestes garments, 73 And the Priests, and the Levites, and the porters and the singers, and the rest of the people and the Nethinims, and all Israel dwelt in their cities: and when theⁱ seventh moneth came, the children of Israel were in their cities.

CHAP. VIII.

² Ezra gathered together the people, and readeth to them the Law. ¹³ They reioyce in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God. ¹⁵ They keepe the feast of Tabernacles or booths.

¶ And all the people assembled themselves together, in the streete that was before the watergate, and they spake vnto Ezra the Scribe, that he would bring thee booke of the Law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that^b could heare & vnderstand it, in the first day of the seventh moneth,

3 And he read therein in the street that was before the watergate (from the morning vntill the midday) before men & women, and them that vnderstood it, and the eares of all the people^c hearkened vnto the booke of the Law.

4 And Ezra the Scribe stood vpon a pulpit of wood which he had made for the preaching, and beside him stood Mattithiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Vriah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Pedaiah, and Misael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for he was^d aboue all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stood vp.

6 And Ezra praised the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their hands: & they bowed themselves, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Ieshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Iamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Iozabad, Hanan, Pelajah, and the Levites caused the people to vnderstand the Law, and the people stood in their place,

8 And they read in the booke of the Law of God distinctly, and gaue the sense, and caused them to vnderstand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and Scribe, and the Levites that instructed the people, said vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lord your God: mourne not neither weepe: for all the people^e wept, when they heard the words of the Law.

^a Reade Ezra 7. 6.

^b Which had age and discretion to vnderstand.

^c This declareth the great zeale that the people had to heare the word of God.

^d To the intent that his voyce might be the better heard,

^e In considering their offences against the Law. Therefore the Levites doe not reprove them for mourning, but assure them of Gods mercies, forasmuch as they are repentant,

10 He said also vnto them, Goe, and eat of the fat, and drinke the sweete, and send part vnto them, for whome none is prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not sorie therefore: for the joy of the Lord is your strength.

11 And the Leuites made silence throughout all the people, saying, Holde your peace: for the day is holy, be not sad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eat and to drinke, & to send away part, and to make great joy, because they had vnderstood the words that they had taught them.

13 And on the second day the chiefe Fathers of all the people, the Priests and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezra the Scribe, that he also might instruct them in the words of the Lawe.

14 And they found written in the Law (that the Lord had commanded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwell in * bootes in the feast of the seventh moneth.

15 And that they should cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Ierusalem, saying, Goe soorth vnto the mount, and bring oliue branches, and pine branches, and branches of myrtus, and palme branches, and branches of thicke trees, to make bootes, as it is written.

16 So the people went soorth and brought them, and made them bootes, euery one vpon the rooofe of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the streete by the watergate, and in the streete of the gate of Ephraim.

17 And all the Congregation of them that were come againe out of the captiuitie made bootes, and sat vnder the bootes: for since the time of Ieshua the sonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great ioy.

18 And he read in the booke of the Law of God euery day, from the first day vnto the last day. And they kept the feast seuen dayes, and on the eight day a solemne assembly, according vnto the manner.

CHAP. IX.

1 The people repented, and forsooke their strange wines. 5 The Leuites exhort them to praise God, 6 Declaring his wonders, 29 And their ingratitude, 33 And Gods great mercies toward them.

IN the foure and twentieth day of this moneth the children of Israel were assembled with * fasting, and with sackcloth, and earth vpon them,

2 (And they that were of the seede of Israel were separated from all the strangers) and they stood and confessed their finnes, and the iniquities of their fathers.

3 And they stood vp in their place & read in the booke of the Law of the Lord their God foure times on the day, and they confessed and worshipped the Lord their God foure times.

4 Then stood vp vpon the staires of the Leuites, Ieshua, and Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani, and cryed with a loude voice vnto the Lord their God.

5 And the Leuites said, euen Ieshua and Kadmiel, Bani, Hasabniah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah and Pethahiah, Stand vp, and praise the Lord your God for euer, and euer, and let them praise thy glorious name, O God, which excelleth about all thanksgiuing and praise.

6 Thou art Lord alone: thou hast made heauen, and the heauen of all heauens, with all their hoste, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that are in them, and thou preferuest them all, and the hoste of the heauen worshippeth thee.

7 Thou art, O Lord, the God, that hast chosen Abram, and broughtest him out of * Vr in Caldea, * and madest his name Abraham, 8 And foundest his heart faithfull before thee, * and madest a couenant with him, to giue vnto his seede the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, and Perizzites, and Iebusites, and Girsashites, & hast performed thy words, because thou art iust.

9 * Thou hast also considered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their crie by the red Sea,

10 And shewed tokens and wonders vpon Pharaoh, and on all his seruants, and on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudly against them: therefore thou madest thee a Name, as appeareth this day.

11 * For thou diddest breake vp the Sea before them, and they went through the mids of the Sea on drie land: and those that pursued them, hast thou cast into the bottomies as a stone, in the mighty waters:

12 * And leddest them in the day with a pillar of a cloud, and in the night with a pillar of fire to giue them light in the way that they went.

13 * Thou camest downe also vpon mount Sinai, and spakest vnto them from heauen, and gauest them right iudgements, and true lawes, ordinances, and good commandements,

14 And declaredst vnto them thine holy Sabbath, and commandedst them precepts, and ordinances, and lawes, by the hand of Moses thy seruant:

15 * And gauest them bread from heauen for their hunger, * and broughtest soorth water for them out of the rocke for their thirst: and * promisedst them that they should goe in, and take possession of the lande, for the which thou haddest lift vp thine hand for to giue them.

16 But they and our fathers behaued themselves proudly, and hardened their necke, so that they hearkened not vnto thy commandments, 17 But refused to obey, and would not remember thy merciful works that thou hadst done for them, but hadst hardened their neckes, and had in their heads to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou, O God of mercie, gracious and full of compassion, of long suffering, and of great mercie, yet forsookest them not.

18 Moreover when they made them a molten calfe (as said This is thy God that brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt) and committed great blasphemies.

19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forsookest them not in the wilderness: the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day to lead them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night to shew them light, and the way where by they should goe.

20 Thou gauest also thy good Spirit to instruct them, and withholdest not thy Manna from their mouth, and gauest them water for their thirst.

21 Thou didst also feede them fortie yeeres in the wilderness: they lacked nothing: their clothes waxed not old, and their feete swelled not.

22 And thou gauest them kingdomes and people, and scatteredst them into corners: so they possessed the land of Sihon, and the land of the king of Heshbon, and the land of Og king of Bashan.

23 And thou diddest multiply their children, like the stars of the heauen, and broughtest them into the land, whereof thou haddest spoken vnto their fathers, that they should go, and possesse it.

24 So the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, viz. the Canaanites, and gauest them into their hands, with their kings and the people of the land, that they might doe with them what they would.

25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat land, and possessed houses, full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyards, and olliues, and trees for food in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and liued in pleasure through thy great goodnesse.

26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy Law behind their backes, and slew thy Prophets (which thou pro-tectedst among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them sauiours, who saued them out of the hands of their aduersaries.

28 But when they had rest they returned to doe euill before thee: therefore lesteft thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times.

29 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy Law: but they behaued themselves proudly, and hearkened not vnto thy commandements, but sinned against thy iudgements (* which a man should doe and liue in them) and pulled away the shoulder, and were stifnecked, and would not heare.

30 Yet thou diddest forbear them many yeres, and protestedst among them by thy Spirit viz. by the hand of thy Prophets, but they would not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

32 Now therefore our God, * thou great God, mightie and terrible, that keepest couenant and * mercie, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, see mee a little before thee, that is to our King and to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers and to all the people since the time of the kings of Asshur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou hast dealt truly, but wee haue done wickedly.

34 And our Kings and our Princes, our Priests and our fathers haue not done thy Law, nor regarded thy commandements, nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnes that thou shewedst vnto them, and in the large and fat land which thou diddest set before them, and haue not conuerted from their euill works.

36 Behold, we are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our fathers, to eate the fruit thereof, and the goodnes thereof, behold, we are seruants therein.

37 And it yeeldeth much fruite vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies, and ouer our cattel at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Now because of all this wee make a sure covenant, and write it, and our Princes, our Le-uites and our Priests seale vnto it.

could vnderstand.

29 The chiefe of them receiued it for their brethren, and they came to the curse and to the othe to walke in Gods law, which was gi-uen by Moses the seruante of God, to obserue and doe all the commandements of the Lord our God, and his iudgements & his statutes:

30 And that we would not giue our daughters to the people of the land, neither take their daughters for our sonnes.

31 And if the people of the land brought ware on the Sabbath, or any vitayles to sell, that wee should not take it of them on the 22 In the dayes of Eliashib, Ioiada, and Iohanan and Iaddua were the chiefe fathers of the Levites written, and the Priests in the reigne of Darius the Persian.

23 The sonnes of Leui, the chiefe fathers were written in the booke of the Chronicles euen vnto the dayes of Iohanan the sonne of Eliashib.

24 And the chiefe of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Ieshua the sonne of Kadmiel, and their brethren about them to giue praise and thanks, according to the ordinance of Dauid the man of God, warde ouer against ward.

25 Mattaniah and Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon and Akkub were porters keeping the warde at the thresholds of the gates.

26 These were in the dayes of Ioiakim, the sonne of Ieshua, the sonne of Iozadak, and in the dayes of Nehemiah the captaine, and of Ezra the Priest and Scribe.

27 And in the dedication of the wall at Ierusalem they sought the Levites out of all their places to bring them to Ierusalem to keepe the dedication and gladnesse, both with thanksgivings and with songs, cymbales, viols, and with harpes.

† Ebr. sonnes of the singers.

28 Then the singers gathered themselves together both from the plaine countrey about Ierusalem, and from the villages of Netophathi.

h Which were a certaine family and had their possessions in the fields, 1. Chron. 2. 54.

29 And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreys of Geba, and Almaieth: for the singers had built them villages round about Ierusalem.

30 And the Priests and Levites were purified, and censed the people, and the gates, and the wall.

i Meaning, Nehemiah,

31 And I brought vp the princes of Iudah vpon the wall, and appointed two great companies to giue thanks, and the one went on the right hand of the wall toward the dung gate.

32 And after them went Hoshaiah, and halfe of the princes of Iudah.

33 And Azariah, Ezra and Meshullam,

34 Iudah, Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Ieremiah,

36 And his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azareel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Iudah, Hanani, with the muscicall instruments of Dauid the man of God: and Ezra the Scribe went before them.

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ouer against them went they vp by the stairs of the city of Dauid, at the going vp of the wall beyond the house of Dauid, euen vnto the water gate Eastward.

l Which was the going vnto the mount Zion, which is called the citie of Dauid.

38 And the second companie of them that gaue thanks, went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, and vpon the tower of the furnaces euen vnto the broad wall.

39 And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the old gate, and vpon the fifth gate, and the tower of Hananeel, and the tower of Meah, euen vnto the sheepe gate: and they stood in the gate of the warde.

40 So stood the two companies of them that gaue thanks, in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 The priests also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets.

42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Vzzi, and Iehohanan, and Malchiah, and Elam, & Ezer: and the singers sang loud hauing Izrahiah which was the ouerseer.

43 And the same day they offered great sacrifices and reioyced: for God had giuen them great ioy, so that both the women, and the children were ioyfull: and the ioy of Ierusalem was heard farre off.

44 Also at the same time were men appointed ouer the chambers of the store for the offerings, for the first fruites, and for the tithes, to gather into them out of the fields of the cities, the portions of the Law for the Priests and the Levites: for Iudah reioyced for the Priests and for the Levites, that serued.

m Which were chambers appointed by Hezekiah to put in the tithes, and such things, 1. Chron. 3. 11. and now were repaired againe for the same vse.

45 And both the singers and the porters kept the ward of their God, and the ward of the Purification according to the commandment of Dauid, and Salomon his sonne.

46 For in the dayes of Dauid and Asaph, of olde were chiefe singers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving vnto God.

 4 ¶ And before ^b this had the Priest Eliashib the oversight of the chamber of the house of our God, being ^c kinsman to Tobiah.

5 And he had made him a great chamber, and there had they aforetime laid the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of come, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters) and the offerings of the Priests.

6 But in all this time was not I in Ierusalem: for in the two & thirtieth yere of Artahastate king of Babel, came I vnto the king, and after certaine dayes, I obtained of the king.

7 And when I was come to Ierusalem, I understood ^d the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

8 And it grieved me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commaunded them to cleanse the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate of fring and the meense.

10 And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his land, ^e euen the Leuites and the singers that executed the worke.

11 Then reprooued I the rulers and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Iudah the tithes of come & of wine, and of oyle vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasures ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the scribe, and of the Leuites, Pedaiah, and vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Mataniah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my ^f kindnesse that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 In those dayes saw I in Iudah them, that trode wine presses on the Sabbath, and that brought in sheaves, and which laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figs, and all burdens, and brought them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and I protested to them in the day that they sold vitailles.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish and all wares, and sold on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iuda euen in Ierusalem.

17 Then reprooued I the rulers of Iudah, and said vnto them, What euill thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers ^h thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this cite? yet yee increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.

19 And when the gates of Ierusalem began to be darke before the Sabbath, I commaunded to shut the gates, and charged that they should not be opened til after the Sabbath, and some of my seruantes set I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chapmen and merchants of all merchandise remained once or twise all night without Ierusalem.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tarie yee all night about the wall? If ye doe it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 ¶ And I said vnto the Leuites, that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should come and keepe the ^k gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon mee according to thy great mercy.

23 In those dayes also I sawe Iewes that married wiues of Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab:

24 And their children spake halfe in the speech of Ashdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the ^l one people, and of the ^m other people.

25 Then I reprooued them, and ⁿ cursed them, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their haire, and tooke an oath of them by God, Yee shall not giue your daughters vnto their sons, neither shall ye take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

26 * Did not Salomon the King of Israel sinne by these things? yet among many nations was there no King like him: for he was ^o beloued of his God, and God had made him King ouer Israel: * yet strange women caused him to sinne.

27 Shall wee then obey vnto you, to doe all this great euill, and to transgresse against our God, ^p euen to marrie strange wiues?

^a Was not this a great cause, why God plagued vs in times past? meaning, that if they transgressed now in the same againe, their plague should be greater.

THE ARGUMENT.

BECAUSE of the diuersitie of names, whereby they used to name their Kings, and the supputation of yeeres wherein the Hebrewes, and the Grecians doe varie, diuers Authors write diuersly as touching this Ahasuerosh, but it seemeth Dan. 6. 1. and 9. 1. that he was Darius King of the Medes, and some of Astyages, called also Ahasuerosh, which was a name of honour, and signified great and chiefe, as chiefe head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God toward his Church: who neuer faileth them in their greatest dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, hee our stirreth up some, by whom he sendeth comfort, and deliuerance. Herein also is described the ambition, pride and cruelty of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their sudden fall when they are at highest: and how God preserveth, and preferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and love toward their brethren.

IN the dayes of Ahasuerosh (this is Ahasuerosh that reigned from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundredth & seuen & twenty prouinces)

2 In those dayes when the King Ahasuerosh sate on his throne, which was in the palace of Shushan,

3 In the third yeere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That he might shew the riches and glorie of his kingdome, and the honor of his great maiestie many dayes, euen an hundredth and fourescore dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the King made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushan, both vnto great and small, seven dayes, in the court of the garden of the Kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, greene, and blue clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linnen and purple, in silver rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of gold, and of silver vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble, and alabaster, and blue colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of gold, and changed vessel after vessel, and royall wine in abundance according to the power of the King.

8 And the drinke was by an order, none might be compelled: for so the King had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they should doe according to euery mans pleasure.

9 ¶ The Queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royall house of King Ahasuerosh.

10 Vpon the seventh day when the King was merrie with wine, hee commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seven eunuches, (that serued in the presence of King Ahasuerosh)

11 To bring Queene Vashti before the King with the crowne royall, that hee might shew the people and the princes her beautie: for shee was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the Kings word, which hee had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the King saide to the wise men, which knew the times (for so was the Kings maner towards all that knew the law and the iudgement)

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shetar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan the seven princes of Persia, and Media, which saw the Kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome)

15 What shall wee doe vnto the Queene Vashti according to the law, because shee did not according to the word of the King Ahasuerosh by the commission of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucan answered before the King and the Princes, The Queene Vashti hath not onely done euill against the King, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahasuerosh.

17 For the acte of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The King Ahasuerosh commanded Vashti the Queene to bee brought in before him, but shee came not.

18 So shall the princesses of Persia & Media this day say vnto all the Kings princes, when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus shall there be much despitefulnesse and wrath.

19 If it please the King, let a royall decree proceed from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia and Media (and let it not bee transgressed) that Vashti come no more before King Ahasuerosh: and let the King giue her royall estate vnto her companion that is better then shee.

20 And when the decree of the King which shall be made, shall bee published throughout all his kingdome (though it bee great) all the women

21 And this saying pleased the King and the Princes, and the King did according to the word of Memucan.

22 For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the King, into every prouince according to the writing thereof, and to every people after their language, that every man should beare rule in his owne house, and that he should publish it in the language of the same people.

CHAP. II.

1 After the Queene is put away, certaine yong maidens are brought to the King. 17 After pleasaunt the King, and is made Queene. 22 Mordecai discloseth vnto the King those that would betray him.

After these things, when the wrath of king Ahashuerosh was appeased, he remembred Vasthi, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her.

2 And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, Let them seeke for the King beautifull yong virgins,

3 And let the king appoint officers through all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let them gather all the beautifull yong virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women, vnder the hand of Hege the Kings eunuch, keeper of the women, to giue them their things for purification.

4 And the maide that shall please the king, let her reigne in the stead of Vasthi. And this pleased the King, and he did so.

5 ¶ In the cite of Shushan, there was a certaine Jew, whose name was Mordecai the sonne of Iair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Ietmini,

6 Which had bene caried away from Ierusalem with the captiuitie that was caried away with Ieconiah King of Iudah (whom Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had caried away)

7 And he nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vnckles daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the maide was faire, and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father, & her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the Kings commandement, and his decree was published, & many maidens were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the Kings house vnder the hand of Hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the maide pleased him, and shee found fauour in his sight: therefore he caused her things for purification to be giuen her speedily, and her state, and seuen comely maidens to be giuen her out of the Kings house, and he gaue change to her and to her maidens of the best in the house of the women.

10 But Ester shewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecai had charged her, that she should not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked every day before the court of the womens house, to know if Ester did wel, and what should be done with her.

12 And when the course of every mayde came to goe in to king Ahashuerosh, after that she had bene twelue moneths according to the manner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, six moneths with oile of myrrhe, & six moneths with sweet odours, and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maidens vnto the King) whatsoever shee required, was giuen her, to goe with her out of the womens house vnto the Kings house.

14 In the evening she went, and on the morrow she returned into the second house of the women vnder the hand of Shashgaz the kings eunuch, which kept the concubines: she came in to the King no more, except she pleased the King, and that she were called by name.

15 Nowe when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vnckle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that shee should goe in to the King, she desired nothing, but what Hege the Kings eunuch the keeper of the women said: and Ester found fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

16 ¶ So Ester was taken vnto King Ahashuerosh into his house royal in the tenth moneth, which is the moneth Tebeth, in the seuenth yeere of his reigne.

17 And the King loued Ester aboue all the women, and she found grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that hee set the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Queene in stead of Vasthi.

18 Then the King made a great feast vnto all the princes, and his seruants, which was the feast of Ester, and gaue rest vnto the prouinces, and gaue gifts, according to the power of a King.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the second time, then Mordecai sate in the Kings gate.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kindred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the word of Mordecai, as when shee was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In those dayes when Mordecai sate in the Kings gate, two of the Kings eunuches, Bigthan and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the King Ahashuerosh.

22 And the thing was knowen to Mordecai, and he told it vnto Queene Ester, and Ester certified the King thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the Chronicles before the King.

all the Iewes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

After these things did King Ahasueros promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite: and exalted him, and set his seate aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the Kings seruants that were at the Kings gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the King had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the Kings seruants which were at the kings gate, said vnto Mordecai, Why transgressedst thou the Kings commandement?

4 And albeir they spake dayly vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they told Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stand: for he had told them, that he was a Jew.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Now hee thought it too little to lay hands only on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes, that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahasueros, even the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth Nisan) in the twelfth yeere of King Ahasueros, they call Pur (that is a lot) before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth Adar.

8 Then Haman said vnto King Ahasueros, There is a people scattered, and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the Kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profite to suffer them.

9 If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of siluer by the hands of them that haue the charge of this businesse to bring it into the kings treasure.

10 Then the King tooke his ring from his hand, & gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite the Iewes aduersary.

11 And the King said vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and the people to do with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kings scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, & there was written (according to al that Haman commanded) vnto the kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euery Prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, and to euery prouince according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of king Ahasueros was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent by posts into all the Kings prouinces, to root out, to kill and to destroy all the Iewes, both young and old, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoile them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there should be given a commandement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day.

15 And the postes compelled by the Kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was given in the palace at Shushan: and the King and Haman sat drinking, but the scribe of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. III.

5 Mordecai giueth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the King against the Iewes. 16 Shee willeth that they pray for her.

Now when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the middes of the citie, and cried with a great crye, and a bitter.

2 And hee came euen before the Kings gate, but he might not enter within the Kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in euery prouince, and place, whether the Kings charge & his commission came, there was great sorrow among the Iewes, and fasting, and weeping and mourning, and many lay in sackcloth and in ashes.

4 ¶ Then Esters maids and her eunuches came and told it her: therefore the Queene was very heauie, and shee sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but he receiued it not.

5 Then called Ester Hatach one of the kings eunuches, whom hee had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai vnto the streete of the citie, which was before the Kings gate.

7 And Mordecai told him of all that which had come vnto him, and of the summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the Kings treasures, because of the Iewes, for to destroy them.

8 Also he gaue them the copy of the writing & commission that was giuen at Shushan, to destroy them, that he might shew it vnto Ester & declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that she should goe in to the King, and make petition and supplication before him for her people.

9 ¶ So when Hatach came, hee told Ester the words of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester said vnto Hatach, and commanded him to say vnto Mordecai,

11 All the Kings seruants and the people of the Kings prouinces do know, that whosoeuer, man or woman, that cometh to the King into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that he shal die, except him to whom the the king holdeth out the golden rod, that he may live. Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the king these thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters words.

13 And Mordecai said that they should answer Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, comfort and deliuerance shall appeare to the Iewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for such a time?

15 Then Ester commaunded to answer Mordecai,

16 Goe, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night. I also and my maides wil fast likewise, and so wil goe in to the King, which is not according to the law: and if I perish, I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commaunded him.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester entred in to the King, and biddeth him and Haman to a feast. 14 Haman prepareth a gallows for Mordecai.

And on the third day Ester put on her royall apparell, and stood in the court of the kings palace within, ouer against the kings house: and the king sate vpon his royal throne in the kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And when the King saw Ester the Queene standing in the court, she found fauour in his sight: & the king held out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Ester drew neere, and touched the top of the scepter.

3 Then said the king vnto her, What wilt thou, Queene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall be euen giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 Then said Ester, If it please the King, let the King and Haman come this day vnto the banquet that I haue prepared for him.

5 And the king said, Cause Haman to make haste that he may doe as Ester hath said. So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Ester had prepared.

6 And the king said vnto Ester at the banquet of wine, What is thy petitiō, that it may be giuen thee? & what is thy request? it shall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then answered Ester, and said, My petition and my request is,

8 If I haue found fauour in the sight of the king, and if it please the King to giue me my petition, and to performe my request, let the King and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will doe to morrow according to the Kings saying.

9 ¶ Then went Haman forth the same day ioyful and with a glad heart. But when Haman saw Mordecai in the Kings gate, that he stood not vp, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertherlesse Haman refrained himselfe: and when he came home, he sent, and called for his friends and Zereff his wife.

11 And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the King had promoted him, and how that he had set him above the princes and seruants of the King.

12 Haman said moreover, Yea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the king to the banquet that shee had prepared, saue me: and to morrow am I bidden vnto her also with the king.

13 But all this doth nothing auaille mee, as long as I see Mordecai the Iew sitting at the kings gate.

14 Then saide Zereff his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie cubites high, and to morrow speake thou vnto the King, that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioysfully with the King vnto the banquet. And the thing pleased Haman, and he caused to make the tree.

CHAP. VI.

1 The King turneth ouer the Chronicles, and findeth the fidelitie of Mordecai, 10 and commaundeth Haman to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

The same night the king slept not, and he commanded to bring the booke of the Records, and the Chronicles: and they were read before the King.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai had told of Bigtana, and Teresh two of the Kings Eunuches keepers of the doore, who sought to lay hands on the king Abasueros.

3 Then the king said, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the king said, Who is in the court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the Kings house, that he might speake vnto the King to hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the Kings seruants said vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the King said, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the King said vnto him, What shall bee done vnto the man whom the King will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the King doe honour more then to me?

7 And Haman answered the King, The man whom the King would honour, 8 Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the King useth to weare, and the horse that the King rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be set vpon his head.

9 And let the raiment & the horse be deli-

10 Then the King said to Haman, Make haste, take the raiment and the horse as thou hast said, & doe so vnto Mordecai the Jew, that sitteth at the kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman toke the rayment and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horse backe thorow the streete of the cite, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king will honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to the kings gate, but Haman hastened home mourning, and his head couered.

13 And Haman told Zeresh his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then said his wife men, & Zeresh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the seed of the Iewes, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not preuaile against him, ^d but shalt surely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the Kings eunuches, and hastened to bring Haman vnto the banket that Ester had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Queene biddeth the king and Haman againe, and prayeth for her selfe and her people. 6 Shee accuseth Haman, and hee is hanged vpon the gallowes, which hee had prepared for Mordecai.

SO the King and Haman came to banket with the Queene Ester.

2 And the King said againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banket of wine, What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giuen thee? & what is thy request? It shall be euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

3 And Ester the Queene answered, and said, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O king, and if it please the king, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request.

4 For we are sold, I, and my people, to be destroyed, to be slaine and to perish: but if we were sold for seruants, and for handmaidens, I would haue held my tongue: although the aduersary could not recompence the kings losse.

5 Then king Ahashuerosh answered, and said vnto the Queene Ester, Who is hee? and where is he that presumeth to doe thus?

6 And Ester said, The aduersary and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the King and the Queene.

7 And the King arose from the banket of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stood vp, to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for he saw that there was a mischief prepared for him of the king.

8 And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester sat: therefore the King said, Will he force the Queene also before me in the house? As the word went out of the Kings mouth, they couered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches, said in the presence of the King, Behold, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fiftie cubits hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake good for the King. Then the King said, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree, that hee had prepared for Mordecai: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted. 14 Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Iewes.

THE same day did King Ahashuerosh giue the boufe of Haman the aduersary of the Iewes vnto the Queene Ester: and Mordecai came before the King: for Ester told what he was vnto her.

2 And the King tooke off his ring, which hee had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that hee would put away the wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his deuice that he had imagined against the Iewes.

4 And the King held out the golden scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the King.

5 And said, If it please the King, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the King, and I please him, let it bee written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called again, which he wrote to destroy the Iewes, that are in all the Kings prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the euill, that shall come vnto my people? or how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kinred?

7 And the King Ahashuerosh said vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iewe, Behold, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpon the tree, because hee laid hand vpon the Iewes.

8 Write yee also for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the Kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring (for the writings written in the Kings name, and sealed with the Kings ring, may no man reuoke)

9 Then were the Kings scribes called at the same time, euen in the third moneth, that is the moneth of Siuan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commanded, vnto the Iewes and to the princes and captaines and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia,

10 And hee wrote in the king Ahashueroth name, and sealed it with the kings ring: and he sent letters by posts on horsebacke and that rode on beasts of price, as dromedaries and colts of mares.

11 Wherein the king graunted the Iewes (in what Cities soeuer they were) to gather themselves together, and to stand for their life, and to roote out, to slay and to destroy all the power of the people and of the prouince that vexed them, both children and women, and to spoile their goods:

12 Vpon one day in all the prouinces of king Ahashueroth, euen in the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is the moueth Adar.

13 The copie of the writing was, how there should bee a commaundement giuen in all and euery prouince, published among all the people, and that the Iewes should be ready against that day to ^kauenge themselves on their enemies.

14 So the posts rode vpon beasts of price, and dromedaries, and went forth with speed, to execute the kings commaundement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the king in royall apparell of blew, and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linen and purple, and the citie of Shushan reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light and ioy and gladnesse, and honour.

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in all and euery citie and place, where the Kings commaundement and his decree came, there was ioy, and gladnes to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commaundement of the King the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes keepe a feast in the remembrance of their deliuerance.

SO in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the kings commaundement and his decree drew neer to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them)

2 The Iewes gathered themselves together into their cities throughout al the prouinces of the king Ahashueroth, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the king ^bexalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their ^cenemies with strokes of the sword and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would vnto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushan the palace slew the Iewes and destroyed ^dfiue hundredth men,

7 And Parthandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha,

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Patmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaiezatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersary of the Iewes slew they: but they layd not their hands ^e on the spoile.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slaine, vnto the palace of Shushan before the King.

12 And the King said vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slaine in Shushan the palace and destroyed fiue hundredth men, and the ten sons of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy request moreouer, that it may be performed?

13 Then said Ester, If it please the King, let it be granted also to morrow to the Iewes that are in Shushan, to doe according ^f vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans ten sonnes.

14 And the King charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 So the Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled themselves vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and slewe three hundredth men in Shushan, but on the spoyle they laid not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Iewes that were in the kings prouinces assembled themselves, and stood for ^gtheir liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of them that ^hhated them, seuentie and fiue thousand: but they laid not their hand on the spoyle.

17 This they did on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting & ioy, 18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselves on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalled towne, ^kkept the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting

^b Did them honour and shewed them friendship.

^c Which had conspired their death by the permission of the wicked Haman.

^d Besides those three hundredth, that they slew the second day, as verse 15.

^e Whereby they declared that this was Gods iust iudgement vpon the enemies of his Church, forasmuch as they sought not their owne gain, but to execute his vengeance.

^f This she requirerh not for desire of vengeance, but with zeale to see Gods iudgements executed against his enemies.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote these words, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the king Ahshuerosh, both neere and farre, 21 Inioyning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, & the fifteenth day of the same, euery yeere.

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorrow to ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting, and ioy, and to send presents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

o That is, Ester, p These are the words of the King, commandment to disannull Hamans wicked enterprise.

25 And when shee came before the king, he commanded by letters, Let his wicked Pedeuile (which hee imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the words of this letter, and of that which they had seene besides this, and of that which had come vnto them.

Or, transgress.

27 The Iewes also ordained, and promised for them & for their seed, and for all that ioined vnto them, that they would not faile to ob-serue those two daies euery yeere, according to their writing, and according to their season, 28 And that these daies should be remembered, and kept throughout euery generation and euery family, and euery prouince, and euery cite: euen these dayes of Purim should not faile among the Iewes, and the memoriall of them should not perish from their seed.

29 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Iew wrote with all authoritie (to confirme this letter of Purim the second time.)

30 And he sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahshuerosh, with words of peace and truth, 31 To confirme these dayes of Purim, according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Iew and Ester the Queen had appointed them, and as they had promised for them selves and for their seed with fasting and prayer.

32 And the decree of Ester confirmed these words of Purim, and was written in the booke.

IOB.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his minde and conscience, by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friends: which by their vehement words, and subtill disputations brought him almost to despaire: for they set forth God as a seuerer Iudge, and mortall enemy vnto him, which had cast him off, therefore in vaine hee should seeke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding hee did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this story we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handleth it euill: againe, his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defend it craftily. For Iob held that God did not alway punish men according to their finnes, but that hee had secret iudgements, whereof man knew not the cause, and therefore man could not reason against God therein, but he should be conuicted. Moreover, hee was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments, and affliction he bursteth forth into many inueniences both of words and sentences, and sheweth himselfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that would resist God: and this is his good cause which hee doeth not handle well. Againe the aduersaries maintaine with many goodly arguments, that God punisheth continually according to the trespassse, grounding vpon Gods providence, his iustice, and mans finnes, yet their intention is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into dispaire, and so they maintaine an euill cause. Ezekeil commendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezek. 14. 14. and Iames setteth out his patience for an example. Iam. 5. 11.

CHAP.

C. H. A. P. I.
 1 The holinesse, riches, and care of Iob for his children. 10 Satan hath permission to tempt him. 13 He tempteth him by taking away his substance, and his children. 20 His faith and patience.

THere was a man in the land of Uz called Iob, and this man was a vpright and iust man, one that feared God, and eschewed euill.

2 And he had seuen sons and three daughters.

3 His substance also was seuen thousand sheepe, and three thousand camels, & five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred asses, and his family was very great, so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the East.

4 And his sons went & banquetted in their houses, euery one his day, and sent, and called their three sisters to eat & to drink with them.

5 And when the dayes of ther banquetting were gone about, Iob sent, & sanctified them, and rose vp early in the morning, and offered burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob; euery day.

6 ¶ Now on a day when the children of God came and stood before the Lord, Satan came also among them.

7 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill?

9 Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, Dost thou feare God for nought.

10 Hast thou not made an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hath on euery side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.

11 But stretch out now thine hand, and touch all that he hath, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

12 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Loe all that he hath, & in thine hand: onely vpon himselfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord.

¶ Meaning the Angels which are called the sonnes of God, because they are willing to execute his will. 1 Because our infirmities cannot comprehend God in his Majesty, he is set forth vnto vs as a King, that our capacities may be able to vnderstand that which is spoken of him. m This declareth, that although Satan be aduersary to God, yet he is compelled to obey him, and to doe him al homage, without whose permission and appointment he can doe nothing. n This question is asked for our instruction: for God knew whence he came. o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is euerranging for his pray, 1 Pet. 5. 8. p He feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commoditie that he receiue by thee. q Meaning, the worke of God, which serued Iob as a rampart against all tentraions. r This signifies that Satan is not able to touch vs, but it is God that must doe it. f Satan notwithstanding, whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to conuince with God in the time of prosperitie, which vice is disclosed in the time of aduersitie. t God giueth not Satan power ouer man to gratifie him. u This is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to doe: for else he would not goe out of Gods presence.

13 ¶ And on a day when his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,

15 And the Shabeans came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

16 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The fire of God is fallen from the heauen, and hath burnt vp the sheepe, and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

17 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The Caldeans set out three bands, and fell vpon the Camels, and haue taken them, and haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whiles hee was yet speaking, came another, and said, Thy sonnes, and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 19 And behold, there came a great winde from beyond the wildernesse, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fell vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

20 Then Iob arose, and rent his garment, and shaued his head, and fell downe vpon the ground, and worshipped, 21 And said, Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne thither: the Lord hath giuen, & the Lord hath taken it: blessed be the Name of the Lord.

22 In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge God foolishly.

C H A P. II.

6 Satan hath permission to afflict Iob. 2 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His three friends visit him.

ANd on a day the children of God came & stood before the Lord, & Satan came also among them, and stood before the Lord.

2 Then the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and said, from compassing the earth to and fro and from walking in it.

3 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill? for yet the continueth in his vprighnesse, although thou moudest me against him, to destroy him without cause.

4 And Satan answered the Lord, and said, Skin for skin, and all that euer a man hath, will he giue for his life.

5 But stretch now out thine hand, & touch his bones and his flesh, to see if hee will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

x That is, the Arabians. y Which thing was also done by the craft of Satan, to tempt Iob the more grievously, forasmuch as hee might see, that not onely men were his enemies, but that God made warre against him. z The last plague declareth that when one plague is past, which seemeth hard to be borne, God can send vs another farre more grievous, to trie his, and teach them obedience. a Which came not of impatience, but declareth that the children of God are not insensible like blocks, but that in their patience they feele affliction, and griefe of mind: yet they keepe a meane herein, and rebell not against God, as y wicked doe. * Eccles. 5. 14. 1. tim. 6. 7. b That is, into the belly of the earth, which is the mother of all. c Hereby he confesseth that God is iust and good, although his hand be sore vpon him. d But declared that God did all things according to iustice and equitie.

a That is, the Angels, as Cha. 1. 6. b Reade Chap. 2. 6. c That is, the Angels, as Cha. 1. 6. d He proueth Iobs integritie by, this that he ceased not to feare God when his plagues were grievously vpon him. e That is, when thou hadst nought against him or, when thou wast not able to bring thy purpose to passe. f Hereby hee meant that a mans owne skin is dearer vnto him than any other mans. f Meaning, his owne person.

6 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Loe, hee is in thine hand, but saue this life.

7 ¶ So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with sore ^hboyles from the sole of his foote vnto his crowne.

8 And he tooke a ⁱ pot (hard to scarpe him, and he fate downe among the ashes.

9 Then sayd his ^kwife vnto him, Doeſt thou ^lcontinue yet in thine vprightness? ^mBlasphe me God, and die.

10 But hee sayd vnto her, Thou speakeſt like a foolish woman: what ⁿ shall we receiue good at the hand of God, and not ^o receiue euill? In all this did I not Iob sinne with his lips.

11 Now when Iobs three ^p friends heard of all (his euill) that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

12 So when they lift vp their eyes a farre off, they knew him not: therefore they lift vp their voices and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and sprinkled ^q dust vpon their heads toward the heauen.

13 So they ſate by him vpon the ground ſeuē dayes, and ſeuē nights, and none spake a word vnto him: for they saw, that the griefe was very ^r great.

g Thus Satan can goe no further in punishing, then God hath limited him. h This sore was most vehement, wherewith also God plagued the Egyptians, Exo. 9. 9. and threatneth to punish the rebellious people, Deut. 28. 27. for that this temptation was most grievous: for if Iob had merited Gods fauour by the vehemencie of his disease, he might haue thought that God had cast him off. i As destitute of all other help & means, & wonderfully afflicted with the sorrow of his disease. k Satan vsed the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam. l Meaning, what gainest thou to curse God, seeing he thus plague thee, as though he were thine enemy? This is the most grievous temptation of the faithfull, when their faith is assailed, and when Satan goeth about to perſwade them, that they trust in God in vaine. m For death was appointed to the blasphemer, and so thee meant this: hee should bee ſooner rid out of his paine. n That is, to be patient in aduersitie, as we reioyce when he sendeth prosperitie, and so to acknowledge him to be both mercifull and iust. o He so bridled his affections, that his tongue through impatiencie did not murmur against God. p Which were men of authoritie, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, & came to comfort him, but when they saw how he was visited, they conceived an euill opinion of him, as though he had been but in hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his finnes. q This was also a ceremony, which they vsed in those countreys, as the renting of their clothes in signe of sorrow, &c. r And therefore thought that he would not haue hearkened to their counsell.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth, and curseth the day of his birth. 11 Hee desireth to die, as though death were the ende of all mans miserie.

Afterward, ^a Iob opened his mouth, and ^bcurſed his day.

2 And Iob cried out, and sayd,

3 Let the ^c day perish, wherein I was born, and the night when it was sayd, There is a man childe conceived.

4 Let that day be darkeneſſe, let not God ^d regard it from aboue, neither let the light shine vpon it,

5 But let darkeneſſe, and the ^e shadowe of death ſtaine it: let the cloude remaine vpon it, and let them make it fearefull as a bitter day.

6 Let darkeneſſe poſſeſſe that night, let it not be ioyned vnto the dayes of the yeere, nor let it come into the count of the moneths.

7 Yea, deſolate be that night, and let no ioy be in it.

a The ſeuē dayes ended, Chap. 3. v. 3. b Here Iob be- ginneth to feele his great imper- fection, in this battell betweene the ſpirit and the fleſh, Rom. 7. 18. and after a man- ner yeeldeth, yet in the end he get- teth victorie, though he was in the meane time greatly wounded. c Men ought not to be ware of their life, and curſe it becauſe of the infirmities that it is ſubiect vnto, but becauſe they are giuen to ſinne and rebellion againſt God. d Let it be put out of the number of daies, and let it not haue the light of the ſunne, ſeparate it from the night. e That is, moſt obſcure darkeneſſe, which maketh them afraid of death, that are in it.

8 Let them that curſe the day (being ^f ready to renew their mourning) curſe it.

9 Let the ſtarres of that twilight be dimme through darkeneſſe of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it ^g ſee the dawning of the day.

10 Becauſe it ſhut not vp the doores of my mothers wombe, nor hid ſorrow from mine eyes.

11 ^h Why died I not in the birth? or why died I not, when I came out of the wombe?

12 Why did the knees preuent mee? and why did I ſucke the breasts?

13 For ⁱ ſhould I now haue ^j lien and bene quiet, I ſhould haue ſlept then, and bene at reſt.

14 With the Kings and counſellers of the earth, which haue builded themſelues ^k deſolate places:

15 Or with the Princes that had gold, and haue filled their houſes with ſiluer.

16 Or why was I not hid, as an vntimely birth, either as infants, which haue not ſeene the light?

17 The wicked ^l haue there ceaſed from their tyrannie, and there they that laboured valiantly, are at reſt.

18 The ^m priſoners reſt together, and heare not the voice of the oppreſſour.

19 There are ſmall and great, and the ſer- uant ⁿ free from his maſter.

20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in miſerie? and ^o life vnto them that haue heauie hearts?

21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen ſearch it more then trea- ſures:

22 Which ioy for gladneſſe, and reioyce, when they can finde the graue.

23 Why is the light giuen to the man whoſe way is ^p hid, and whom God hath hedged in?

24 For my ſighing commeth before I eate, and my roarings are powdered out like the water.

25 For the thing I ^q feared, is come vpon me, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, neither had I quietneſſe, neither had I reſt, ^r yet trouble is come.

f Which curſe the day of their birth, let them lay that curſe on this night. g Let it be al- ways night, and neuer ſee day. h For, the yonglings of the morning. i This and that which followeth, declareth that while man giueth place to his paſ- ſions, he is not able to ſtay, nor keepe meaſure, but ſineth head- long into all euill, except God call him backe. j The vehemencie of his afflictions made him to utter theſe words, as though death were the ende of all miſe- ries, & as if there were no life af- ter this, which he ſpeaketh not as though it were ſo, but the in- firmities of his diſeaſe cauſed him to burſt out into this error of the wicked. k He noteth the ambition of theſe, which ſeeke their pleaſure, as it were, change the order of nature, and build in moſt barren places, becauſe they would hereby make their names immor- tal. l That is, by death the cru- elty of the tyrants hath ceaſed. m All they that ſuſtaine any kind of calamity and miſerie in this world: which he ſpeaketh after the iudgement of the fleſh. n He ſheweth that the benefices of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyfull, and the conſcience quiet- ted. o That ſeech not how to come out of his miſeries, becauſe he dependeth not on Gods prouidence. p In my pro- ſperity I looked euer for a fall, as is come now to paſſe. q The feare of troubles that ſhould enſue, cauſed my proſperity to ſeeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Iob is reprehended of impatiencie, 7 and vniuſtice, 17 and of the preſumption of his owne righteouſneſſe.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and ſayd,

2 If wee aſſay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieued? but ^a who can withhold himſelfe from ſpeaking?

3 Beholde, thou haſt taught many, and ^b haſt ſtrengthened the weary hands.

4 Thy

a Seeing this thine impati- encie. b Thou haſt comforted others in their afflictions, and canſt not now comfort thy ſelfe.

c Thou haſt comforted others in their afflictions, and canſt not now comfort thy ſelfe.

d Thou haſt comforted others in their afflictions, and canſt not now comfort thy ſelfe.

e Thou haſt comforted others in their afflictions, and canſt not now comfort thy ſelfe.

4 Thy words haue confirmed him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the weake knees.

5 But now it is come vpon thee, and thou art grieved: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Is not this thy feare, thy confidence, thy patience, and the vprightnesse of thy wayes?

7 Remember, I pray thee: who euer perished, being an innocent? or where were the vpright destroyed?

8 As I haue seene, they that plow iniquitie, and sowe wickednesse, reape the same.

9 With the blast of God they perish, and with the breath of his nostrils are they consumed.

10 The roaring of the Lion, and the voice of the Lionesse, and the teeth of the Lions whelpes are broken.

11 The Lion perisheth for lacke of pray, and the Lions whelpes are scattered abroad.

12 But a thing was brought to me secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a little thereof.

13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and dread, which made all my bones to tremble.

15 And the winde passed before mee, and made the haire of my flesh to stand vp.

16 Then stood one, and I knew not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in silence heard I a voyce, saying, 17 Shall man bee more iust then God? or shall a man bee more pure then his maker?

18 Behold, he found no stedfastnesse in his seruants, and laid folly vpon his Angels.

19 How much more in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moth?

20 They be destroyed from the morning vnto the euening: they perish for euer, without regard.

21 Doth not their dignitie goe away with them? do they not die, and that without wisdom?

22 I He proueth that if God did punish the innocent, the creature should bee more iust then the Creator, which were a blasphemie. m If God finde imperfection in his Angels, when they are not maintained by his power, how much more shall he lay folly to mans charge, when hee would iustifie himselfe against God? n That is, in his mortall body, subiect to corruption. 2. Corinth. 5.1. o They be dead continually before their eyes, and dayly approaching toward them. p No man for all this doeth consider it. q That is, before that any of them were wile as to thinke on death.

CHAP. V.

1. 2. Eliphaz sheweth the difference betweene the children of God and the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 4 Gods power who destroyeth the wicked, and deliuereth his.

CALL now, if any will answer thee, and to which of the Saints wilt thou turne?

2 Doublesse anger killeth the foolish, and enuie slayeth the idiot.

3 I haue seene the foolish well rooted, and suddenly I cursed his habitation, saying,

4 His children shall be farre from saluation, and they shall be destroyed in the gate, and none shall deliuer them.

5 The hungry shall eate vp his harvest: yea, they shall take it from among the thorns, and the thirstie shall drinke vp their substance.

6 For miserie cometh not forth of the dust, neither doeth affliction spring out of the earth.

7 But man is borne vnto trauell, as the sparkes flie vpward.

8 But I would inquire at God, and turne my talke vnto God:

9 Which doeth great things & vnsearchable, and marueilous things without number.

10 He giueth raine vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the streetes.

11 And setteth vp on hie them that be low, that the sorrowfull may bee exalted to saluation.

12 He scattereth the deuises of the craftie: so that their handes cannot accomplish that which they doe enterprise.

13 He taketh the wife in their craftinesse, and the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.

14 They meete with darkenesse in the day time, and grope at noone day, as in the night.

15 But hee saueh the poore from the sword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the violent man.

16 So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquitie shall stop her mouth.

17 Behold, blessed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almighty.

18 For he maketh the wound, and bindeth it vp: he smiteth, and his hands make whole.

19 Hee shall deliuer thee in fixe troubles, and in the seuenth the euil shall not touch thee.

20 In famine hee shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.

21 Thou shalt bee hid from the scourge of the tongue, and thou shalt not bee afraid of destruction when it commeth.

22 But thou shalt laugh at destruction and dearch, and shalt not bee afraid of the beast of the earth.

23 For the stones of the filde shall bee in league with thee, and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt know, that peace shall be in thy tabernacle, and thou shalt visit thine habitation, and shalt not sinne.

25 Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy seede shall bee great, and thy posteritie as the graspe of the earth.

4 His children shall be farre from saluation, and they shall be destroyed in the gate, and none shall deliuer them.

5 The hungry shall eate vp his harvest: yea, they shall take it from among the thorns, and the thirstie shall drinke vp their substance.

25 Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy seede shall bee great, and thy posteritie as the graspe of the earth.

e Though God sometimes suffer the fathers to passe in this world, yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked children.

f By publique judgement they shall bee condemned, and none shall pite them.

g Though there be but two or three eares left in the hedges, yet these shall bee taken from him.

h That is, the earth is not the cause of barrennesse and mans miserie, but his owne sinne.

i Which declarereth that sinne is euill in our corrupt nature: for before sinne it was not subiect to paine and affliction.

k If I suffered as thou dost, I would seeke vnto God.

l He counselleth Iob to humble himselfe vnto God, to whom all creatures are subiect, and whose workes declare that man is inexcusable, except hee glorifie God in all his workes.

m He sheweth by particular examples, what the workes of God are.

n In things plaine and euident they shew themselves fooles in stead of wise men.

o This declarereth that God punisheth the worldly wife, as hee threatened Deut. 28.

p That is, hee that humbleth himselfe before God.

q He comparereth the slander of the wicked to sharpe swords.

r If the wicked bee compelled at Gods workes to stoppe their mouthes, much more they that professe God.

s Hee will set trouble after trouble, that his children may not for one time, but continually trust in him: but they shall haue a comfortable issue, even in the greatest and the last, which is here called the seuenth.

z Where as the wicked lament in their troubles, thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce.

u When wee are in Gods fauour, all creatures shall serue vs.

x God shall so blesse thee, that thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to bee offended.

Jobs complaint of his friends. Mans miserie.

19 They that go to Tema, considered them, and they that go to Sheba, waited for them.

20 But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are ye like vnto it: ye haue scene my fearefull plague, and are afraid.

22 Was it because I said, Bring vnto me? or giue a reward to me of your substance?

23 And deliuer me from the enemies hand, or ransom me out of the hand of tyrants?

24 Teach me, and I will hold my tongue: & cause me to vnderstand wherein I haue erred.

25 How? Redfast are the words of righteousness: & what can any of you iustly reprove?

26 Doe ye imagine to reprove words, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the winde?

27 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and dig a pit for your friend.

28 Now therefore be content to looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there bee none iniquitie: returne, I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousness in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tongue? doeth not my mouth seele sorrowes?

30 Doe ye call it by reason? Doe ye call it by reason? I should bee thought to speake foolishly, which am now in miserie? Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatience through very sorrow, as an hypocrite, as you condemne me.

31 That which is vsauourie, shall it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

32 Such things as my soule refused to touch, as were sorrowes, are my meate.

33 Oh that I might haue my desire, and that God would graunt mee the thing that I long for.

34 That is, that God would destroy mee: that he would let his hand goe, and cut me off.

35 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorrowe, let him not spare) because I haue not denied the words of the holy One.

36 What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine end, if I should prolong my life?

37 Is my strength the strength of Rones? or is my flesh of brasle?

38 Is it not so, that there is in me no help? and that strength is taken from me?

39 Hethat is in miserie ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.

40 My brethren haue deceiued mee: as a brooke, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

41 Which are blackish with ice, and wherein the snow is hid:

42 But in time they are dried vp with heate and are consumed: and when it is hote, they faile out of their places.

43 Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish.

44 Or, wisdom, or, lawe.

45 Hee compareth those friends which comfort vs not in miserie: to a brooke, which in Summer, when we need waters, is drie, in Winter is hard frozen, and in the time of raine when we haue no need, ouerfloweth with water.

46 Hee searcheth least he should bee brought to incontinence, if his sorrowes should continue.

47 Hee I not fought to helpe my selfe as much as was possible?

48 Or, wisdom, or, lawe.

49 Hee compareth those friends which comfort vs not in miserie: to a brooke, which in Summer, when we need waters, is drie, in Winter is hard frozen, and in the time of raine when we haue no need, ouerfloweth with water.

1 They that goe into the booke of Ahab, think to find water there to quench their thirst, but they are deceiued.

2 That is, like to this brooke, which deceiue them, that think to haue water there in their need, as I looked for consolation at your hands.

3 He toucheth the worldlings, which for no occasion will giue part of their good, and much more these men, which would not giue him comfortable words.

4 Shew me wherein I haue erred, and I will correct my fault.

5 He that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they be able to persuade him by reason.

6 Doe ye call it by reason? Doe ye call it by reason? I should bee thought to speake foolishly, which am now in miserie? Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatience through very sorrow, as an hypocrite, as you condemne me.

7 This signifieth that his disease was rare and most horrible.

8 Thus he speakes in respect of the breuitie of mans life, which passeth without hope of returne.

9 In consideration whereof he desireth God to haue compassion on him.

10 If thou behold me in thine anger, I shall not be able to stand in thy presence.

11 I shall no more enjoy this mortal life.

12 Seeing I can by no other means comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

13 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

14 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

15 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

16 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

17 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

18 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

19 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

20 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

21 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

22 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

23 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

24 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

25 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

26 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

27 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

28 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

29 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

30 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

31 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

32 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and my griefe by words and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

in the bitterness of my mind.

12 Am I a sea^b or a whalefishy^c that thou keepest me in ward?

13 When I say, My couch shall relieve me, and my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation;

14 Then fearest thou me^d with dreams, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule^e chuseth rather to be strangled and to die, then to be in my bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shall not liue alway: spare me then, for my dayes are but vanitie.

17 What is man that thou doest magnifie him, & that thou settest thine heart vpon him?

18 And doest visite him euery morning, and triest him euery moment?

19 How long will it bee yet thou depart from me, thou wilt not let mee alone whiles I may swallow my spittle.

20 I haue sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee? O thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set mee as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe.

21 And why doest thou not pardon my trespasses and take away mine iniquitie? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

22 Hee declareth the mighty power of God, and that man's righteousness is nothing.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Bildad sheweth that Job is a sinner, because God punisheth the wicked, and preserveth the good.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

2 How long wilt thou talke of these things? and how long shall the words of thy mouth be as a mighty winde?

3 Doth God peruert iudgement? or doth the Almighty subuert iustice?

4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, and he hath sent them into the place of their iniquities.

5 For if thou wilt early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almighty, 6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely he will awake vnto thee, and he will make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.

7 And though thy beginning bee small, yet thy later end shall greatly increase.

8 Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.

9 (For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow.)

10 Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and utter the words of their heart?

11 Can a rush grow without myre? or can the grass grow without water?

12 Though it were in green and not cut,

13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shall be cut off, and his trust shall be as the house of a spider.

15 He shall lean vpon his house, but it shall not stand: he shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.

16 The tree is green before the sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof.

17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are folded about the house of stones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, and it denie saying, I haue not seene thee, 19 Behold, it will reioyce by this meane, that it may grow in another mold.

20 Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will hee take the wicked by the hand.

21 Till hee haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lips with ioy.

22 They that hate thee, shall be clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

CHAP. IX.

1 Job declareth the mighty power of God, and that man's righteousness is nothing.

Then Job answered, and said,

2 I know verely that it is so: for how should man compare vnto God be iustified?

3 If he would dispute with him, He could not answere him one thing of a thousand.

4 Hee is wise in heart, and mighty in strength: who hath beene fierce against him, and hath prospered?

5 He remoueth the mountaines, and they feelee not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.

6 Hee remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.

7 He commandeth the sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres; as vnder a signet.

8 Hee himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, & walketh vpon the height of the sea.

9 He maketh the stars Arcurus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South.

10 He doeth great things, and vnsearchable: yea, marueilous things without number.

11 Lo, when hee goeth by mee, I see him not: and when hee passeth by I perceiue him not.

12 Behold, when hee taketh a pray, who can make him to restore it? who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

13 God will not withdraw his anger, and the most mighty helps doe stoupe vnder him.

How should I be able to answer him by eloquence? where by he noteth his friends, that al- though they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart that which they spoke.

14 How much lesse shall I answer him? or how should I finde out my words with him?

15 For though I were iust, yet could I not answer, but I would make supplication to my Iudge.

16 If I crie, and he answer me, yet would I not beleue, that he heard my voice.

17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth my^m without cause.

18 He will not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternesse.

19 If I speake of strength, behold, he is strong: if I speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to plead?

20 If I would iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne me: if I would be perfit, he shall iudge me wicked.

21 Though I were perfit, yet I know not my soule: therefore a shorke is my life.

22 This is one point: therefore I said, Hee destroyeth the perfit and the wicked.

23 If the scourge should suddenly say, should God laugh at the punishment of the innocent?

24 The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: he couereth the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where is he? or who is he?

25 My dayes haue bene more swift then a poste: they haue fled, and haue seene no good thing.

26 They are passed as with the most swift ships, and as the eagle that flieth to the pray.

27 If I say, I will forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort me, 28 Then I am afraid of al my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.

29 If I bee wicked, why labour I thus in vaine?

30 If I wa^h my selfe with snow water, and purge my hands inost cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the pit, and mine owne clothes shall make me filthy.

32 For hee is not a man as I am, that I should answer him, if wee come together to iudgement.

33 Neither is there any vmpire that might lay his hand vpon vs both.

34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare astonish me:

35 Then will I speake, and feare him not: but because I am not so, I hold me still.

36 That can shew the contrary? u^h thinke not to fall into these afflictions, but my sorowes bring me to these manifest infirmities, and my conscience condemneth me. x Why doth not God destroy me at once? thus he speaketh according to the infirmities of the flesh. y Though I seeme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God. z Whatsoeuer I would v^e to couer my filthinesse with, shall disclose me so much more. a Which might make an accord betwene God and mee, speaking of impatience, and yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him. b Signifying that Gods iudgements keepe him in awe.

CHAP. X.

1 Job is wearie of his life, and setteth out his fragilitie before God. 20 Hee deserveth him to stay his hand. 22 A description of death.

MY soule is cut off: though I liue: I will leaue my complaint vpon my selfe, and will speake in the bitternesse of my soule.

2 I wil say vnto God, Condemne me not: shew me, wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Thinkest thou it good to oppresse me, and to cast off the labour of thine hands, and to fauour the counsell of the wicked?

4 Hast thou carnall eyes? or dost thou see as a man seeth?

5 Are thy dayes as mans dayes? or thy yeeres, as the time of man,

6 That thou inquirest of mine iniquitie, and searchest out my sinne?

7 Thou knowest that I cannot do wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

8 Thine hands haue made mee, and fashioned me wholly round about, and wilt thou destroy me?

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as the clay, and wilt thou bring mee into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not powred me out as milke, and turned me to cruds like cheese?

11 Thou hast clothed mee with skinn and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast giuen mee life, and grace: and thy visitation hath preferred my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I know that it is so with thee.

14 If I haue sinned, then thou wilt straitly looke vnto me, and wilt not hold me guiltlesse of mine iniquity.

15 If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto me: if I haue done righteously, I will not plit vp mine head, being ful of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne and shew thy selfe marueilous vpon mee.

17 Thou renewest thy plagues against mee, and thou increasest thy wrath against mee: changes and armies of sorowes are against me.

18 Wherefore then hast thou brought mee out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me.

19 And that I were as I had not been, but brought from the wombe to the graue!

20 Are not my dayes few? let him cease and leaue off from me, that I may take a little comfort,

21 Before I goe and shall not returne, even to the land of darknesse and shadow of death:

22 Into a land, I say, darke as darknesse it selfe, and into the shadow of death, where is none order, but the light is there as darknesse.

1 Job being sore assaulted in this battell betwene the flesh and the spirit, burleth out into these afflictions, wishing rather short dayes then long paine. 2 That is, diuersitie of diseases and in great abundance: shewing that God hath infinite meane to punish man. 3 Hee witheth that God would leaue off his affliction, considering his great miserie and the breuitie of his life. 4 He speaketh thus in the person of a sinner, that is overcome with passions & with the feeling of Gods iudgements, & therefore cannot apprehend in that state the mercies of God & comfort of the resurrection. 5 No distinction between light and darknesse, but where all is very darknesse it is still.

CHAP.

CHAP. XI.

1. Job is mightily rebuked of Zophar. 2. God is incomprehensible. 3. He is merciful to the repentant. 4. Their assurance that line godly.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,

2 Should not the multitude of words be answered? or should a great talker be justified?

3 Should men hold their peace at thy lies? and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast said, My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But, oh that God would speake and open his lips against thee!

6 That he might shew thee the secrets of wisdom, how thou hast despised double, according to right: knowe therefore that God hath forgotten thee, for thine iniquitie.

7 Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou finde out the Almighty to his perfection?

8 The heavens are his, what canst thou do? it is deeper then hee, how canst thou know it?

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea,

10 If he cut off and shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man would bee wise, though man new borne is like a wild asse colt.

13 If thou prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him:

14 If iniquitie bee in thine hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy Tabernacle.

15 Then truly shalt thou lift vp thy face without spot, & shalt be stable, & shalt not feare.

16 But thou shalt forget thy misery, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bold, because there is hope: and thou shalt digge pits, and shalt lie downe safely.

19 For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea, many shall make sute vnto thee.

20 But the eyes of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shall be sorrow of minde.

21. He sheweth that contrary things shall come vnto them that doe not repent.

CHAP. XII.

1. Job accuseth his friends of ignorance. 2. Hee declareth the might, and power of God, 17 and how hee changeth the course of things.

Then Job answered, and said, 2 Indeed because that ye are the people onely, wisdom must die with you.

3 But I haue vnderstanding as well as you, and am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

4 I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he heareth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorne.

5 He that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

6 The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safety that prouoke God, whom God hath enriched with his hand.

7 Aske now the beastes, and they shall teach thee, and the fowles of the heauen, and they shall tell thee:

8 Or speake to the earth, and it shall shew thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hath made these?

10 In whose hand is the soule of every liuing thing, and the breath of all mankind.

11 Dost not the eares discern the word, and the mouth taste meate for it selfe?

12 Among the ancients is wisdom, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

13 With him is wisdom and strength, he hath counsell and vnderstanding.

14 Behold, hee will breake downe, and it cannot be built: hee shattereth a man vp, and he cannot be loosed.

15 Behold, hee withholdeeth the waters, and they drie vp: but when he sendeth them out, they destroy the earth.

16 With him is strength and wisdom: he that is deceived, and that deceiueth are his.

17 He causeth the counsellors to go as spoiled, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 Hee looeth the collar of Kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle.

19 He leadeth away the princes as a pray, and ouerthroweth the mighty.

20 Hee taketh away the speech from the faithful counsellors, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancients.

21 He pouerish contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mighty weake.

22 Hee discovereth the deepe places from their darknesse, and bringeth forth the shadow of death to light.

23 He increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 He taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wilderness out of the way.

25 They grope in the dark without light: & he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

1. He causeth that their words haue no credit, which is when he will punish sinne. m In this discourse of Gods wonderfull works Job sheweth that whatsoever is done in this world both in the order and change of things is by Gods will and appointment: wherein he declareth that he thinketh well of God, and is as able to see forth his power in words, as they that reasoned against him, were.

CHAP. XIII.

1. Job compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The penitent shall be saved, and the hypocrite condemned. 20 He prayeth vnto God that hee would not handle him rigorously.

N 2 Loe,

Let mine eye haue scene all this: mine eare hath heard, and vnderstood it.

I know all as much as you know: I am not inferiour vnto you.

But I will speake to the Almighty, and I desire to dispute with God.

For indeede ye forge lies, and all you are physicians of a value.

Oh, that you would hold your tongue, that is might be imputed to you for wisdom!

Now heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips.

Will ye speake wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

Will ye accept his person? or will ye contend for God?

Is it well that hee should seeke of you?
will you make a lie for him, as one lieth for a man?

He will surely reprove you, if ye doe secretly accept any person.

Shal not his excellencie make you afraid?
and his feare fall vpon you?

Your memories may be compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of clay.

Hold your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what will.

Wherefore doe I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in mine hand?

Loe, though hee slay me, yet wil I trust in him, and I will reprove my wayes in his fight.

Hee shall be my saluation also: for the hypocrite shall not come before him.

Hearc diligently my wordes, and marke my talke.

Behold now: if I prepare me to iudge-ment, I know that I shall be iustified.

Who is hee, that will pleade with me?
for if I now hold my tongue, I die.

But doe not these two things vnto me?
then will I not hide my selfe from thee.

Withdrow thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraid.

Then call thou, and I will answere: or let me speake, and answere thou me.

How many are mine iniquities and sinnest? shew me my rebellion and my sinne.

Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and ta-kest me for thine enemy?

Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the drie stubble?

For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse the iniquities of my youth.

Thou puttest my feet also in the stocks, and lookest narrowly vnto all my pathes, and makest the print thereof in the heeles of my feete.

Such one consumeth like a rotten thing, and as a garment that is motheaten.

Thou makest mee thy prisoner, and dost so presse me, that I cannot stirre hand nor foote.

Job describeth the shortnesse and miserie of the life of man.
14 Hope putteth the godly. 22 The conclusion of mans life.

MAn that is borne of a woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble.

He shooteth forth as a flowre, and is cut downe: hee vaniseth as a shadow, and continueth not.

And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such one, and causest me to enter into iudge-ment with thee.

Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse? there is not one.

Are not his daies determined? the number of his moneths is with thee: thou hast appointed his bounds, which he cannot passe.

Turne from him that he may cease vntill his desired day, as an hireling.

For there is hope of a tree, if it bee cut downe, that it wil yet sprout, and the branches thereof will not cease.

Though the roote of it waxe old in the earth, and the stocke thereof bee dead in the ground,

Yet by the sent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughes like a plant.

But man is like, and dieth, and man perissheth, and where is he?

As the waters passe from the Sea, and as the flood decayeth and drieth vp,

So man sleepeeth and riseth not: for hee shall not wake againe, nor bee raised from his sleepe, till the heauen be no more.

Oh that thou wouldest hide mee in the grauet, and keepe me secret, vntill thy wrath were past, and wouldest giue me terme, and remember me.

If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I waite, till my changing shall come.

Thou shalt call me, and I shall answere thee: thou louest the worke of thine owne hands.

But now thou numbrest my steps, and dost not delay my sinnes.

Mine iniquitie is sealed vp, as in a bag, and thou addest vnto my wickednes.

And surely as the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, and the rocke that is remoued from his place:

As the water breaketh the stones, when thou ouerflowest the things which grow in the dust of the earth, so thou destroyest the hope of man.

Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: hee changeth his face when thou castest him away.

And he knoweth not if his sonnes shall be honourable, neither shall hee vnderstand concerning them, whether they shall be of low degree.

But while his flesh is vpon him, hee

a For although he knew that God had a witness, which was manifest in his ordinary working, and another in his secret counsel yet he would vnder his affliction to God, because he was not able to vnderstand why he did thus punit him. b. Ten doe not well apply your medicine to the disease. c. He condemns in their vaine, which had no knowledge, and that regarded they to comfort him, but alway graued on Gods iustice as though it was not evidently scene in Iob, except they had vnderstoden the probation thereof. d. Your face shall come to nothing. e. Is not this a manifest signe of mine affliction, and that I doe not complain without cause, fearing that I am thus tormented as though I should reare mine owne flesh, and put my life in danger? f. Whereby he declareth that he is not an hypocrite, as they charged him. g. That is, cleared, and not cast off for my sinnes, as you reason. h. To proue that God doth thus punish me for my sinnes. i. If I defend not my cause, every man will condemne me. k. He sheweth what these two things are. l. His pangs thus moue him to reason with God, not denying but that he had sinned: but he desired to vnderstand what were his great sinnes that had defared such rigour, wherein he offended that he would know a cause of God why he did punish him. m. Thou punishest me now for the faults that I committed in my youth. n. Thou makest mee thy prisoner, and dost so presse me, that I cannot stirre hand nor foote. t. Ebr. resten.

is, that when fraille as a creature,

God should not

CHAP. XV.

Eliphaz the Temanite, because hee ascribed wisdom, and power to himselfe. 15. He describeth the curse that shall come vpon the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,

1 Shall a wise man speake wordes of the wind, and fill his belly with the East wind?

2 Shall hee dispute with words not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

3 Surely thou hast cast off feare, and restrained prayer before God.

4 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquity, seeing thou hast chosen the rogue of the crafty.

5 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips testify against thee.

6 Art thou the first man that was borne? and wast thou made before the hills?

7 Hast thou heard the secret counsell of God, & doest thou restraîne wisdom, to thee?

8 What knowest thou that we know not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?

9 With vs are both ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

10 Seeme the consolations of God, & small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?

11 Why doth thine heart take thee away, and what doe thine eyes meane, 12 That thou anwerest to God at thy pleasure, & bringest such words out of thy mouth?

13 What is man, that he should be cleane? and he that is borne of woman, that hee should be iust?

14 Behold, hee found no stedfastnesse in his Saints: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

15 How much more is man abominable, & filthy, which drinketh iniquity like water?

16 I will tell thee, heare mee, and I will declare that which I haue seene:

17 Which wise men haue tolde, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

18 To whome alone the land was giuen, and no stranger passed through them.

19 The wicked man is continually as one that trauaileth of childe, and the number of yeeres is hid from the tyrant.

20 A sound of feare is in his eares, and in his prosperitie the destroyer shall come vpon him.

21 He beleueth not to returne out of darknesse: for he seeth the sword before him.

22 Hee wandereth so and fro for bread where he may: hee knoweth that the day of da:kenesse is prepared at hand.

23 Affliction and anguish shall make him afraid: they shall preuaile against him as a king ready to the battell.

25 For hee hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almighty.

26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, and against the most thick part of his shield, 27 Because hee hath couered his face with his fatnesse, and hath collops in his flanke.

28 Though he dwell in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, 29 Hee shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall hee prolong the perfection thereof in the earth.

30 He shall neuer depart out of darknesse: the flame shall drie vp his branches, and hee shall goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 Hee beleueth not that he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shall be his change.

32 His branch shall not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day.

33 God shall destroy him as the vine her sower grape, and shall cast him off, as the Oliue doeth her flower.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shal be desolate, and fire shal deuoure the houses of bribes.

35 For they conceiue mischief, and bring forth vanitie, and their belly hath prepared decciite.

gathereth grapes before they be ripe. x Which were built or maintained by poyling, and bribery. y And therefore all their vaine deuires shall turne to their owne destruction.

CHAP. XVI.

Iob moued by the importunitie of his friends, 7 Counteth in what extremity hee is, 19 And saith God to witnesse of his innocencie.

But Iob answered, and said, 2 I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shal there be none end of words of a wind? or what maketh thee bold so to answer?

4 I could also speake as ye doe: (but would God your soule were in my soules stead) I could keepe you company in speaking, and could shake mine head at you.

5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should alswage your sorrow.

6 Though I speake my sorrow I cannot bee asswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?

7 But now hee maketh mee weary: O God, thou hast made all my Congregation desolate.

8 And hast made me full of wrinkles which is a witnesse thereof, and my leannesse riseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face.

9 His wrath hath torne me, and hee hateth me, and gnasheth vpon me with his teeth: mine enemy hath sharpened his eyes against me.

God, h That is destroyed most of my family. i In token of sorrow and griefe. k That is, God by his wrath: and in this diuersion of words and high stile, he expresseth how grievous the hand of God was vpon him.

10 They

g That is, hee was so puffed vp with great prosperitie and abundance of all things, that he forgate God: noting that Iob in his felicitie had not the true feare of God.

r Though hee build, and repaire ruinous places to get him time, yet God shall bring all to nought, and turne his great prosperitie into extreme misery.

f Meaning that his sumptuous buildings should neuer come to perfection. e He standeth so in his owne conceit, that hee will giue no place to good counsell, therefore his owne pride shall bring him to destruction.

u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe. x Which were built or maintained by poyling, and bribery. y And therefore all their vaine deuires shall turne to their owne destruction.

a Which serueth for vaine ostentation, and for no true comfort. b For Eliphaz did reply against Iobs answere. c I would you felt that which I doe.

d That is, mocke at your miserie as you doe at mine. e In this were in my power, yet would I comfort you, and not doe as yee doe to me.

f If they would say, Why doest thou not then comfort thy selfe? he answered, that the iudgements of God are more heauie, then he is able to asswage either by words or silence.

g Meaning, That is, God by his wrath: and in this diuersion of words and high stile, he expresseth how grievous the hand of God was vpon him.

1 That is, hath handled me most contemptuously: for so fitting on the cheek signified, 1 King. 22. 24. mar. 14. 65. no They have led me whither they would. n His manifold afflictions, o I am wounded to the heart. p Meaning, his glory was brought low. q Signifying, that he is not able to comprehend the cause of this his grievous punishment. r That is, vnto, and with- out hypocrite. s Let my sinne be knowne if I be such a sinner as mine aduersaries accuse me, and let me find no fauour. t Though man condemne me, yet God is witness of my cause. u Vnto paines words in stead of true consolation. x Thus by his great torments he is carried away, and brasteth out into passions, and speaketh vnto himselfe, as though God should intreat me more gently, seeing he hath but a short time here to liue.

10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon mee, and smitten me on the cheeke in reproch: they gather themselues together against me.

11 God hath deliuered mee to the vniuersall, and hath made me to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked.

12 I was in wealth, but hee hath brought me to nought, he hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe.

13 His arches compass me round about: he setteth my reines, and doeth not spare, and powreth my gall vpon the ground.

14 Hee hath broken mee with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a Giant.

15 I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skinne, and haue abased mine home vnto the dust.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes, 17 Though there bee no wickednesse in mine hands, and my prayer be pure.

18 O earth, couer not thou my blood; and let my crying finde no place.

19 For loe, now my witness is in the heauen, and my record is on high.

20 My friends speake eloquently against mee: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might plead with God, as man with his neighbour!

22 For the yeeres accounted come, and I shall goe the way, whence I shall not returne.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob saith that he consumeth away, and yet doeth patiently abide it. 10 Hee exhorteth his friends to repentance, 13 shewing that hee looketh but for death.

MY breath is corrupt: my dayes are cut off, and the graue is ready for me.

2 There are none but mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in their bitternesse.

3 Lay downe now and put mee in suretie for thee: who is hee, that will touch mine hand?

4 For thou hast hid their heart from vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not set them vpon high.

5 For the eyes of his children shall faile, that speaketh flattery to his friends.

6 He hath also made me a byword of the people, and I am as a Tabret before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dimme for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadow.

8 The righteous shall be astonished at this, and the innocent shall be moued against the hypocrite.

a In steade of comfort, being now at deathes doore, he had but them that mocked at him, and discouraged him b I see still that they seeke but to vex me. c He reasoneth with God as a man beside himselfe to the intent that his cause might be brought to light d And answer for hee? e That these mine afflictions are thy iust iudgements, though man know not the cause. f He that flattereth a man, and onely iudgeth him happy in his prosperity, shall not himselfe onely, but in his posteritie be punished. g God hath made all the world to speake of me, because of mine afflictions. h That is, as a continuall sound in their eares. i To wit, when they see the godly punished, but in the end they shall come to vnderstanding, and know what shall bee the reward of the hypocrite.

9 But the righteous will hold his way, and hee whose hands are pure, shall increase his strength.

10 All you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shall not find one wise among you.

11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart

12 Have changed the night for the day, and the light that approached, for darkenesse.

13 Though I hope, yet the graue shall bee mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke.

14 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.

15 Where is then now mine hope? or who shall consider the thing that I hoped for?

16 They shall goe downe into the bottom of the pit: surely it shall lie together in the dust.

peritie faile, which you say, are onely signes of Gods fauour: but seeing that these things perishe, I see mine hope in God, and in the life euertlasting.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rehearseth the paines of the vnfaythful and wicked. Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

2 When wilt thou make an end of your words? because vs to vnderstand, and then wee will speake.

3 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, and are vile in your sight?

4 Thou art as one that reareth his soule in his anger, shall the earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remooued out of his place?

5 Yea, the light of the wicked shall bee quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.

6 The light shall be darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.

7 The steppes of his strength shall be restrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe.

8 For he is taken in the net by his feete, and he walketh vpon the snares.

9 The grenne shall take him by the heele, and the thiefe shall come vpon him.

10 A snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.

11 Fearefulnesse shall make him afraid on euery side, and shall driue him to his feete.

12 His strength shall bee as famine: and destruction shall be ready at his side.

13 It shall deuoure the inner parts of his skin, and the first borne of death shall deuoure his strength: or as the fowle word signifieth, his members or parts.

14 His hope shall be rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the King of feare.

15 Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not his) and brimstone shall bee scattered vpon his habitation.

16 His rootes shall be dried vp beneath, and about shall his branch be cut downe.

k That is, will not be discouraged, considering that the godly are punished as well as the wicked. l Iob speaketh to them three, that came to comfort him. m That is, haue brought me sorrow in stead of comfort. n Though I should hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie, as our discourse pretendeth. o I haue no more hope in father, mother, sister or any worldly thing: for the dust and worms shall be to me in stead of them. p All worldly hope, and profit. q Which come your felicitie, as Chap. 12. a. b Whom you take to be but beasts, as Chap. 11.7. c That is, like a mad man. d Shall God change the order of nature for thy sake by dealing with thee otherwise then he doth with all men? e When the wicked is in his prosperity, then God changeth his state: and this is his ordinarie working for their finnes. f Meaning, that the wicked are in continuall danger. g That which should nourish him, shall be consumed by famine. h That is, some strong and violent death shall consume his strength: or as the fowle word signifieth, his members or parts. i That is, with most great feare. k Meaning, not truly come by. l Though all the world would fauour him, yet God would destroy him and his.

18 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall have no name in the street.

19 They shall drive him out of the light into darkness, and chase him out of the world.

20 He shall neither haue sonne nor nephew among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

21 The posteritie shall be astonished at his day, and feare shall come vpon the auoient.

22 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Iob answered his friends, and said, I have heard of thee, but now I see thee. Thou hast said, I will not see thee, for thou art a wicked man, and thou shalt be punished.

2 But Iob answered and said, How long will yee vex me, my soule, and torment me with words?

3 Yee haue now ten times reproched me, and are not ashamed: yee are impudent to ward me.

4 And though I had indeed erred, mine error remaineth with me: I shall not be able to returne.

5 But indeed if yee wil aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproach.

6 Know now, that God hath souerthi own me, and hath compassed me with his net.

7 Behold, I cry out of violence, but I haue none answer: I cry, but there is no iudgement.

8 He hath hedged vp my way that I cannot passe, and he hath set darknesse in my paths.

9 He hath spoiled me of mine honor, and taken the crowne away from mine head.

10 He hath destroyed me on euery side, and I am gone: and he hath remooued mine hope like a tree.

11 And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

12 His armies came together, and made their way vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle.

13 Hee hath remooued my brethren farre from me, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.

14 My neighbors haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

15 They that dwel in mine house, and my maids tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.

16 I called my seruant, but hee would not answer, though I prayed him with my mouth.

17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine owne body.

18 The wicked also despised me, and when I rose, they spake against me.

19 All my secret friends abhorred mee, and they whom I loued, are turned against me.

20 My bone cleaueth to my skinne and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the skin of my teeth.

21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue pitie vpon me, (O yee my friends) for the hand of God hath touched me.

22 Why doe yee persecute me, as a God, and are not satisfied with my flesh?

23 Oh that my wordes were now written! oh that they were written euen in a booke.

24 And grauen with an iron pen in lead, or in stone for euer!

25 For I am sure, that my redeemer liueth, and he shall stand the last on the earth.

26 And though after my skin wormes destroy this body, yet shall I see God in my flesh.

27 Whom I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall behold, and none other for me, though my reins are consumed within me.

28 But yee said, Why is he persecuted? And there was a deepe matter in me.

29 Be ye afraid of the sword: for the sword will be auenged of wickednesse, that yee may knowe that there is a iudgement.

Herein Iob declareth plainly that hee had a full hope, that both the soule and body should enjoy the presence of God in the last resurrection. Though his friends thought that he was but persecuted of God for his finnes, yet he declareth that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the trial of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for others. God will be auenged of this hasty iudgement, whereby you condemne me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth, that the wicked and the courteous shall haue a short end, 22 though for a time they flourish.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,

1 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause mee to answer, and therefore I make haste.

2 I haue heard the correction of my reproach: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answere.

3 Knowest thou not this of old? and since God placed man vpon the earth,

4 That the reioicing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrits is but a moment?

5 Though his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, & his head reach vnto the clouds,

6 Yet shall he perish for euer, like his dung, and they which haue seene him, shall say, where is he?

7 He shall flee away as a dreame, and they shall not find him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night.

8 So that the eye which had seene him, shall doe so no more, and his place shall see him no more.

9 His children shall flatter the poore, and his hands shall restore his substance.

10 His bones are full of the sin of his youth, and he shall lie downe with him in the dust.

11 When wickednesse was sweete in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue,

12 And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, 13 Then his meate in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the mids of him.

14 He hath deuoured substance, and he shall vomit it: for God shall draw it out of his belly.

Seeing I haue these iust causes to complaine, and am condemned, not as an hypocrite, specially yet which should comfort mee: I am not comforted, nor is it noted, enough that God doth punish me, except you by reproches increase my sorrow. To see my body punished, and accept ye trouble my minde. He protesteth that notwithstanding his passions, his religion is perfect, & that he is not a blasphemer, as they iudged him. I doe not for iustitie my selfe before the world, but I know that I shall come before the great Iudge, who shall be my deliuerer and sauour. Herein Iob declareth plainly that hee had a full hope, that both the soule and body should enjoy the presence of God in the last resurrection. Though his friends thought that he was but persecuted of God for his finnes, yet he declareth that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the trial of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for others. God will be auenged of this hasty iudgement, whereby you condemne me.

He declareth that two things moued him to speake: to wit, because Iob seemed to touch him, & because he thought hee had knowledge sufficient to confute him. His purpose is to proue Iob to be a wicked man, and an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his prosperitie into aduersitie. Whereas the father through ambition and tyranny oppressed the poore, the childre through pouertie and miserie shall seeke fauour at the poore. So that the thing, which he hath taken away by violence, shall be restored againe by force. Meaning, that he shall cary nothing away with him, but his sin. Aspoison that is sweete in the mouth bringeth destruction when it cometh into the body: so all vice at the first is pleasant, but afterward God turneth it to destruction.

g Hee compa-
reth euill goetern goods to the ve-nime of Aspes, which serpene is most dangerous:
noting that Iobs great riches were not truly come by, and therefore God did plague himselfe for the same.

h Though God
gine to all other abundance of his blessings, yet he shall haue no part thereof.
i That is, that rauners and spoilers of the poore shall enioy theirs: but for a time: for after God will take it from them & cause them to make restitution, to that it is but an exchange: and k He shall leaue nothing to his posteritie.

l The wicked shall neuer bein rest: for one wicked man shall seek to destroy another.

m Somewhat vpon the flesh, alluding to Iob, whose flesh was smitten with a scab.

n Some reade, of the quier.

o All feare and sorrow shall light vpon him, when he thinketh to escape.

p That is, fire from heauen, or the fire of Gods wrath.

q Meaning, the children of the wicked shall flowe away like riuers, and be dispersed in diuers places.

r Thus God will plague the wicked,
f Against God, thinking to excuse himselfe, and to escape Gods hand.

16 Hee shall sucke the gall of Aspes, and the vipers tongue shall slay him.

17 Hee shall not see the riuers, nor the floods and streames of hony and butter.

18 Hee shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: uen according to the substance shall be his exchange, and hee shall enioy it no more.

19 For he hath ridone many, he hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoiled houses which he builded not.

20 Surely hee shall feele no quietnesse in his body, neither shall hee reserue of that which he desired.

21 There shall none of his meate be left:
therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When hee shall be filled with his abundances, hee shall be in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall aslaie him.

23 Hee shall be about to fill his belly, but God shall send vnto him his fierce wrath, and shall cause to raise vpon him, enen vpon his meate.

24 Hee shall flee from the iron weapons, and the bow of Steele shall strike him thorow.

25 The arrow is drawen out, and commeth forth of the body, and shineth of his gall, so feare commeth vpon him.

26 All darkenesse shall be hid in his secret places: the fire that is not blowen, shall deu-oure him, and that which remaineth in his Tabernacle, shall be destroyed.

27 The heauen shall declare his wickednes, and the earth shall rise vp against him.

28 The increase of his house shall go away:
it shall flow away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage that hee shall haue of God, for his words.

CHAP. XXI.

7 Iob declareth how the prosperity of the wicked maketh them proud, 15 Informeth that they blaspheme God. 16 Their destruction is at hand. 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperitie.

BUt Iob answered, and sayd, 2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this shall be in stead of your consolations.

3 Suffer me, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it were so, how should nor my spirit be troubled?

5 Marke me, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your mouth.

6 Euen when I remember, I am afraid, and feare taketh holde on my flesh.

7 Wherefore doe the wicked liue, and waxe olde, and grow in wealth?

8 Their seede is established in their sight with them, & their generatio before their eyes.

a Your diligent marking of my wordes shall be to me a great consolation.
b As though he would say, I doe not talke with man, but with God, who will not answere me, and therefore my mind must needs be troubled.
c Hee chargeth them, as though they were not able to comprehend this his feeling of Gods iudgement, and exhorteth them therefore to silence.
d Iob proueth against his aduersari-es, that God punisheth not straightwayes the wicked, but oft times giueth them long life and prosperitie: so that we must not iudge God iust or vniust by the things that appeare to our eye.

9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendereth, and faileth not:
their cow calueth, and casteth not her calfe.

11 They send forth their children like sheepe, and their sonnes dance.

12 They take the tabret and haape, and re-ioyce in the sound of the organs.

13 They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly they goe downe to the graue.

14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for wee desire not the knowledge of thy wayes.

15 Who is the Almighty, that wee should serue him? and what profit should we haue, if we should pray vnto him?

16 Lo, their wealth is not in their hand:
therefore let the counsell of the wicked be farre
from me.

17 How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he will diuide their liues in his wrath.

18 They shall be as stubble before the wind, and as chaffe that the storme carrieth away.

19 God will lay vpon the sorrow of the father for his children: when hee rewardeth him hee shall know it.

20 His eyes shall see his destruction, and hee shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his moneths is cut off?

22 Shall any teach God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things?

23 One dieth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.

24 His breasts are full of milke, & his bones runne full of marrow.

25 And another dieth in the bitterness of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

26 They shall sleepe both in the dust, and the wormes shall couer them.

27 Behold, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises, wherewith ye doe me wrong.

28 For ye say, Where is the princes pleasure? and where is the Tabernacle of the wicked dwelling?

29 May ye not aske them that goe by the way? and ye cannot deny their signes.

30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of destruction, and they shall be brought forth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shall declare his way to his face?
& who shall reward him for that he hath done?

32 Yet shall hee be brought to the graue,
and remaine in the heape.

33 The slimie valley shall be sweete vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.

ing in your answers there remaine but lies?

they reason only by that which is seen by common experience, the wicked that hate dealt withall, then they that

The wicked oppresse, and are destroyed.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Job describeth the wickedness of man, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked. 12 How all things are governed by Gods providence. 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

a Thus Job speaketh in his passions, and after the judgement of the Just, that is, that he seeth out the things that are done at times, neither yet hath a peculiar care over all, because he punisheth not the wicked, nor rewardeth the goodly.
b When he punisheth the wicked, and rewardeth the good.
c And for cruelty and oppression dare not show their faces.
d That is, spare no diligence.
e He and his live by robbing and murdering.
f Meaning the poor man.
g Signifying, that one wicked man will not spoile another, but for necessity.
h The poor are driven by the wicked into rocks and holes, wherethey cannot lie drie for the raine.
i That is, they so poyse and pill the poore widow, that shee cannot have to sustaine her selfe that she may be able to give her child sucke.
k That is, his garment, wherewith he should be covered or clad.
l In such places which are appointed for that purpose: meaning that these that labour for the wicked, are pined for hunger.
m For the great oppression and extortion.
n Cry out and call for vengeance.
o God doth not condemne the wicked, but seemeth to passe over it by his long silence.
p That is, Gods word, because they are reprooved thereby.
q By these particular vices and the licence therunto, he would prove that God punisheth not the wicked, and rewardeth the just.
r He fleeth to the waters for his succour.
s They thinke that all the world is bent against them, & dare not go by the high way.
t As dry ground is neuer full with waters, so will they never cease sinning, till they come to the grave.
u Though God suffer the wicked for a time, yet their end shall be most vile destruction, and in this point Job commeth to himselfe, and sheweth his confidence.

HOW should not the times be hid from the Almighty, seeing that they which know him, see not his daies? Some remove the hand maker, that Job the flocks and feed thereof. 4 They lead away the ass of the fatherlesse, and take the widows ease to pledge. 5 They make the poore to turne out of the way, to that the poore of the earth hide themselves together. 6 Behold, others as wilde asses in the wilderness, goe forth to their businesse, and rise early for a pray: the wilderness giveth him and his children food. 7 They reape his provision in the field, but they gather the lates vintage of the wicked. 8 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without covering in the cold. 9 They are wet with the showers of the mountaines: and they embrace the rocke for want of a covering. 10 They plucke the fatherlesse from the breast, and take the pledge of the poore. 11 They cause him to go naked without clothing, and take the gleaming from the hungry. 12 They that make oyle betweene their wals, & tread their wine presses, suffer thirst. 13 Men cry out of the cite, and the soules of the slaine cry out: yet God doth not charge them with folly. 14 These are they that abhorre the light: they knowe not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof. 15 The murderer riseth early and killeth the poore and the needie: and in the night he is as a thiefe. 16 The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight and saith, No eye shall see mee, and disguiseth his face. 17 They dig through houses in the darke, which they marked for themselves in the day: they knowe not the light. 18 But the morning is even unto them as the shadow of death: if one knowe them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death. 19 He is swift vpon the waters: their portion shall be cursed in the earth: he will not behold the way of the vineyards. 20 As the drie ground and heate consume the snow waters, so shall the grave the sinners. 21 The pitifull man shall forget him: the worme shall feede his sweetnesse: hee shall bee no more remembred, and the wicked shall bee broken like a tree.

21 He doth evil to the barren, that doeth not beare, neither doeth he good to the widowe. 22 He draweth aliother mightie by his power, and when he riseth up, none is sure of life. 23 Though men give him assurance to bee in safety, yet his eyes are vpon their waies. 24 They are exalted for a little, but they are gone, and are brought lowe as all others: they are destroyed, and cut off as the top of an care of corn. 25 But it is not so, where is he? or who will proue me a liar, and make my words of no value?

CHAP. XXV.

25 Bildad proueth that in man is strength, and without strength before God.

Then answered Bildad the Shunite, and said, 2 Power and feare is with him, that maketh peace in his high places. 3 Is there any number in his armies? and vpon whom shall not his light arise? 4 And how may a man be iustified with God? or how can he be cleane, that is borne of woman? 5 Behold, he wil giue no light to the moon, and the starres are vncleane in his sight. 6 How much more man, a worme, even the sonne of man, which is but a worme? 7 Fight, which is given them, much less can man have any excellencie, but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

26 Job sheweth that man cannot helpe God, and proueth it by his miracles.

But Job answered, and said, 2 Whom helpest thou? him that hath no power? sauest thou the arme that hath no strength? 3 Whom counsellest thou? him that hath no wisdom? thou shewest right well as the thing is. 4 To whom doest thou declare these words? or whose spirit commeth out of thee? 5 The dead things are formed vnder the waters, and neere vnto them. 6 The graue is naked before him, and there is no couering for destruction. 7 He stretcheth out the North over the empty place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing. 8 He bindeth the waters in his clouds, and the cloude is not broken vnder them. 9 He holdeth backe the face of his throne: and spreadeth his cloud vpon it. 10 Hee hath set bounds about the waters, vntill the day and night come to an end. 11 The pillars of heauen tremble & quake at his reproofe. 12 The sea is calme by his power, & by his

North pole. h That is, he hideth the heauen, which are called his throne. i So long as this world endureth. k Not that heauen hath pillars to vpholde it, but he speaketh by a similitude, as though he would say, The heauen is like is not able to abide his reproch.

vnder-

1 Which is a figure of the wicked, laboured like a serpent, because of the crookedness of his wayes: which we see daily with our eyes, declare his great power and providence, how much more would they appear, if we were able to comprehend all his workes?

CHAP. XXVII.

The constancie and perfectness of Iob. 13. The reward of the wicked, and of the tyrants.

Moreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

1 The liuing God hath taken away my iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitterness.

2 Yes so long as my breath is in mee, and the Spirit of God in my nostrils, 3 My lips surely shall speake no wickednesse, and my tongue shall vter no deceit.

4 God forbid that I should iustifie you: vntill I die, I will neuer take away mine innocencie from my selfe.

5 I will keepe my righteousnesse, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reprocue me of my dayes.

6 Mine enemy shall be as the wicked, and he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.

7 For what hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule?

8 Will God heare his crie, when trouble corameth vpon him?

9 Will hee see his delight on the Almighty? will he call vpon God at all times?

10 I will teach you what is in the hand of God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almighty.

11 Behold, all ye your selues haue seene it: why then doe you thus vanish in vanitie?

12 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almighty.

13 If his children be in great number, the sword shall destroy them, and his posterity shall not be satisfied with bread.

14 His remnant shall bee buried in death, and his widowes shall not weepe.

15 Though hee should heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay, 16 He may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall diuide the siluer.

17 He buildeth his house as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

18 When the rich man sleepeth, hee shall not bee gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

19 Terrours shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall cary him away by night.

20 The East winde shall take him away, and he shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place.

21 And God shall cast vpon him, & not spare, though he would faine flee out of his hand.

22 Every man shall clap their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisdom of God is inscarchable.

The siluer surely hath his veine, and the golde his place, where they take it.

2 Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasle is molten out of the stone.

3 God putteth an end to darkenesse, and he trieth the perfection of all things: he setteth a bond of darknesse, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the inhabitant, and the waters are forgotten of the foot, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the same earth commeth bread, and vnder it as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place of Saphirs, and the dust of it is golde.

7 There is a path which no foule hath known, neither hath the kites eye seene it.

8 The lions whelpes haue not walked it, nor the lion passed thereby.

9 He putteth his hand vpon the rocks, & ouerthroweth the mountaines by the roots.

10 He breaketh riuers in the rocks, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods, that they do not ouerflow, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.

12 But where is wisdom found? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth saith, It is not in me: the sea also saith, It is not with me.

15 Gold shall not be giuen for it, neither shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not be valued with the wedge of golde of Ophir, nor with the precious Onix, nor the Saphir.

17 The gold nor the crystall shall be equall vnto it, nor the exchange shall be for plate of fine golde.

18 No mention shall be made of corall, nor of the iagabith: for wisdom is more precious then pearles.

19 The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure golde.

20 Whence then commeth wisdom? and where is the place of vnderstanding, 21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, & is hid from the foules of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, Wee haue heard the fame thereof with our eares, 23 But God vnderstandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdeth the ends of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen, 25 To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When hee made a decree for the raine,

a His purpose is to declare that man may attaine in this world to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehend the wisdom of God.

b There is nothing but it is compassed within certain limits, and hath an end, but Gods wisdom.

c Meaning him that dwelleth thereby.

d Which a man cannot waite thorow.

e That is, come, and vnderneath is brimstone of cole, which easily concealeth fire.

f He alludeth to the mines and secrets of nature, which are vnder the earth, whereinto neither foules nor beasts can enter.

g After that he hath declared the wisdom of God in the secrets of nature, he describeth his power.

h Though Gods power and wisdom may be vnderstood in earthly things, yet his heavenly wisdom cannot be attained vnto.

i It is too high a thing for a man to attaine vnto in this world.

k It can neither be bought for golde nor precious stones, but is only the gift of God.

l Which is thought to be a kind of precious stone.

m Meaning, that there is no natural means, whereby man might attaine to the heavenly wisdom: which he meaneth by the foules, that flie hie.

n He maketh God only the author of this wisdom, and the giuer thereof.

CHAP. XXIX.

Iob complained of the prosperity of the time past. 7. 21
His authority, 12. justice and equity.

Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

Oh that I were as in times past, when God preferred me.

When his light shined vpon mine head:
and when by his light I walked thorow the darkenesse.

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth: when Gods promise was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almighty was yet with me;
and my children round about me:

6 When I washed my paths with butter, & when the rock powred me out riuers of oile:

7 When I went out to the gate, when to the iudgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seate in the streete.

8 The yong men saw me, and hid themselues, and the aged arose and stood vp:

9 The princes stayed talke, and laide their hand on their mouth.

10 The voice of princes was hid, and their tongue cleaued to the roofof their mouth:

11 And when the seare heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye saw me, it gaue witness to me.

12 For I deliuered the poore that cryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him:

13 The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon mee, and I caused the wi-dowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put on iustice, and it couered me: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blind, and I was the feet to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knewe not the cause, I sought it out diligently,

17 I brake also the chawes of the vrighteous man, and pluckt the pray out of his teeth.

18 Then I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the sand.

19 For my roote is spread out by the water, and the dowe shall lie vpon my branch.

20 My glory shall renue toward me, and my bow shall be restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto mine men gaue eare, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my wordes they replied not, and my talke dropped vpon them.

23 And they waited for me, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth as for the latter raine.

24 If I laughed on them, they beleueed it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance to fall.

25 I appointed out their way, and did sit as chiefe, and dwelt as king in the army, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

Iob complaineth that he is contempt of the most concepsible, 11. 21 Because of his aduersitie and affliction.

23 Death is the house of all flesh.

Now they that are yonger then I, mock me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to ser with the dogs of my flockes.

2 For whereto should the strength of their hand haue serued mee, seeing age perished in them?

3 For pouertie and famine they were solitary, fleeing into the wilderness, which is darke, desolate and waste.

4 They cut vp nettles by the bushes, and the iuniper rootes was their meat.

5 They were chased forth from among men: they shouted at them as at a thiefe.

6 Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes.

7 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselves.

8 They were the children of foolles and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

9 And now am I their song, and I am their talke.

10 They abhorre mee, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

11 Because that God hath loosed my cord, and humbled me, they haue loosed the bridle before me.

12 The youth rise vp at my right hand:
they haue pusht my feete; and haue trode on me on the paths of their destruction.

13 They haue destroyed my pathes: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe.

14 They came as a great breach of waters, and vnder this calamitie they come on heaps.

15 Feare is turned vpon me: and they pursue my soule as the wind, and mine health passeth away as a cloude.

16 Therefore my soule is now powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken holde on me.

17 It pierceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.

18 For the great vehemency is my garment changed, which compaffeth me about as the coller of my coat.

19 He hath cast me into the myre, and I am become like ashes and dust.

20 When I cry vnto thee, thou doest not heare me, neither regardest me, when I stand vp.

21 Thou turnest thy selfe cruelly against me, and art enemie vnto me with the strength of thine hand.

22 Thou takest me vp and causest mee to ride

^r They were afraid to offend me, and caused me to be angry.
^s I had them as commandment.

^a That is, mine estate is changed, and whereas before the ancient men were glad to doe me reuerence, the yong men now contemne me.

^b Meaning, so be my dependance on to keep my dogs.

^c That is, their fathers did not famine before they came to age.

^d Or, mockers, Iob saith that these that mocked him in his affliction, were like to their fathers, wicked, and lewd follows, such as he here describeth.

^e They make songs of me, and mocke at my miserie.

^f God hath taken from me the force, credit and authority, wherewith I kept them in subjection.

^g He said that the yong men when they saw him, hid themselues, as Chap.
29. 8. and now in his misery they were impudent and licentious.

^h That is, they fought by all means how they might destroy me.

ⁱ They made none to helpe them.

^k By my cala-mitie they took an occasion against me.

^l My life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead.

^m Meaning, sorrow.

ⁿ That is, God hath brought me into contempt.

mence of his affliction, whereby ride vpon the wind, and makest my strength to faile.

23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.

24 Doubtlesse none can stretch his hand vnto the graue, though they crie in his destruction.

25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauinesse for the poore?

26 Yet when I looked for good, euill came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darknesse.

27 My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.

28 I went mourning, without sunne: I stood vp in the congregation, and cried.

29 I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.

30 My skinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heate.

31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voice of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

Iob reciteth the innocencie of his liuing, and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to bee the life of the faithfull.

I Made a couenant with mine eyes, why then should I thinke on a maide?

2 For what portion should I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on hie?

3 Is not destruction to the wicked, and strange punishment to the workers of iniquity?

4 Doeth not he behold my wayes, and tell all my steps?

5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceit,

6 Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know mine vpnightnesse.

7 If my step hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands,

8 Let me sowe, and let another eate: yea, let my plants be rooted out.

9 If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue laid waite at the doore of my neighbour,

10 Let my wife grind vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her:

11 For this is a wickednesse, and iniquity to be condemned.

12 Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure to destruction, and which shall roote out all mine increase.

13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my maide, when they did contend with me, 14 What then shall I doe when God standeth vp? and when he shal visite me, what shall I answer?

15 He that hath made mee in the wombe, hath he not made him? hath not he alone fashioned vs in the wombe?

16 If I restrained the poore of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow to faile,

17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, and the fatherlesse hath not eaten thereof,

18 (For from my youth he hath growen vp with me, as with a father, and from my mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her.)

19 If I haue seene any perish for want of clothing, or any poore without couering,

20 If his loynes haue not blessed mee because hee was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe,

21 If I haue lift vp mine hand against the fatherlesse, when I saw that I might helpe him in the gate, 22 Let mine arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone.

23 For Gods punishment was a fearefull vnto me, and I could not be deliuered from his highnesse.

24 If I made gold mine hope, or haue said, to the wedge of gold, Thou art my confidence,

25 If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much,

26 If I did behold the sunne, when it shined, or the moone walking in her brightnesse,

27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth did kisse mine hand,

28 (This also had bene an iniquitie to bee condemned: for I had denied the God above)

29 If I reioyced at his destruction that hated me, or was moued to ioy when euill came vpon him,

30 Neither haue I suffered my mouth to sinne, by wishing a curse vnto his soule, 31 Did not the men of my tabernacle say, Who shall giue vs of his flesh? wee cannot be satisfied.

32 The stranger did not lodge in the street, but I opened my doores vnto him, that went by the way.

33 If I haue hid my sinne, as Adam, concealing mine iniquity in my bosome, 34 Though I could haue made afraid a great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families did feare mee: so I kept silence, and went not out of the doore.

35 Oh that I had some to heare me! behold my signe that the Almighty will witnesse for mee: though mine aduersary should write a booke against me, 36 Would not I take it vpon my shoulder, and bind it as a crowne vnto me?

37 I will tell him the number of my goings, and goe vnto him as to a Prince.

38 If my land drie against me, or the furrowes thereof complaine together,

39 If I haue eaten the fruites thereof without siluer: or if I haue griued the soules of the matters thereof,

1 He was moued to shew pity vnto seruants, because they were Gods creatures as he was, m By long waiting for her requell.

n He nourished the fatherlesse and maintained the widow cause.

o To oppress him and doe him iniurie. p Let me not in pieces. q I refrained not from sinning for feare of men, but because I feared God. r If I was proud of my worldly prosperity and felicitie, which is meant by the shining of the sunne and brightnesse of the moone. s If mine owne doings delighted me. t By putting confidence in any thing but in him alone. u My seruants moued me to be reuenged of mine enemy, yet did I neuer wish him hurt. x And not confessed it freely: whereby it is euident that he iustified himselfe before men and not before God. y That is, I reuerenced the most weake and contemned, and was afraid to offend them. z I suffered them to speake euill of me, and went not out of my house to reuenge it. a This is a sufficient token of my righteousness, that God is my witnesse and will iustifie my cause. b Should not this booke of his accusations be a praise and commendation to mee? c I will make him a count of all my life, without feare. d As though I had withheld their wages that laboured in it. e Meaning, that he was no briber nor extortioner.

40 Lettiffles grow in stead of wheate, and cockle in the stead of barley.

THE WORDES OF JOB ARE ENDED.

CHAP. XXXII.

f That is, the talke which he had with his three friends.

g Elihu was inflid in his own eyes.

a Which came of Buz the sonne of Nahor Abrahams brother. b Or, as the Chaldee paraphrast readeth, Abram. c By making himselfe innocent, and by charging God of rigour. d That is, the three mentioned before.

e Meaning, the ancient, which have experience. f It is a speciall gift of God that man hath vnderstanding, and commeth neither of nature, nor by age.

g To prouethat Iobs affliction came for his finnes.

h And flatter your flues, as though you had overcome him.

i To wit, Iob. k He vseth almost the like arguments, but without taunting, and reproches.

l I have concealed in my minde great store of reasons, m I will neither haue regard to riches, credit, nor authoritie, but will speake the very truth.

2 Elihu reprooueth Iob of folly. 8 Age maketh not a man wise, but the spirit of God.

SO these three men ceased to answer Iob, because he esteemed himselfe iust.

2 Then the wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because he iustified himselfe more then God.

3 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not finde an answer, and yet condemned Iob.

4 (Now Elihu had waited till Iob had spoken: for they were more ancient in yeeres then he.)

5 So when Elihu saw, that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

6 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel, the Buzite answered, and said, I am young in yeeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to shew you mine opinion.

7 For I said, The dayes shall speake, and the multitude of yeeres shall teach wisedome.

8 Surely there is a spirit in man, but the inspiration of the Almighty giueth vnderstanding.

9 Great men are not alway wise, neither doe the aged alway vnderstand iudgement.

10 Therefore I say, Heare me, and I will shew also mine opinion.

11 Behold, I did waite vpon your words, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you sought out reasons.

12 Yea, when I had considered you, loe, there was none of you that reprooued Iob, nor answered his words:

13 Left ye should say, We haue found wisedome: for God hath cast him downe, and no man.

14 Yet hath he not directed his words to me, neither will I answer him by your words.

15 Then they fearing, answered no more, but left off their talke.

16 When I had waited (for they spake not, but stood still and answered no more.)

17 Then answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.

18 For I am full of matter, and the spirit within me compelleth me.

19 Behold, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the new bottels that braft.

20 Therefore will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will answer.

21 I will not now accept the person of man, neither will I giue titles to man.

22 For I may not giue titles, lest my Maker shoud take me away suddenly.

name, as to call a foole a wise man: meaning, that hee would not cloke the truth flatter men.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that Gods hath diuers means to instruct man, and to draw him from sinne. 19 He afflicteth man and suddenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered giueth thanks to God.

W Herefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke, and hearken vnto all my words.

2 Behold now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.

3 My words are in the vprightness of mine heart, and my lips shal speake pure knowledge.

4 The Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath giuen me life.

5 If thou canst giue mee answer, prepare thy selfe, and stand before me.

6 Behold, I am according to thy wish in Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.

7 Behold, my terrour shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand be heauie vpon thee.

8 Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voice of thy words.

9 I am cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.

10 Loe, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemy.

11 Hee hath put my feet in the stocks, and looketh narrowly vnto all my pathes.

12 Behold, in this hath thou not done right: I will answer thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why dost thou strue against him? for he doth not giue account of all his matters.

14 For God speaketh once or twise, and one seeth it not.

15 In dreames and visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, and they sleepe vpon their beds,

16 Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which he had sealed,

17 That he might cause men to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might hide the pride of man, 18 And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.

19 He is also stricken with sorrow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is sore.

20 So that his life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meat.

21 His flesh faileth that it cannot be seene, and his bones which were not seene, clatter.

22 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life to the buriers.

23 If there be a messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand to declare vnto man his righteousness,

24 Then will hee haue mercie vpon him, and will say, Deliuer him, that hee goe not to the land of forgetfulness.

25 He sheweth that it is a iure token of Gods mercy toward sinners, when he causeth his word to be preached vnto them. p That is, the minister shall by preaching of the word pronounce vnto him the forgiveness of his finnes.

n The Hebrew word signifieth to change the flatter men.

a I confesse the power of God, and am one of his sheeple: thou oughtest to beare me. b Because Iob had wished to dispute his cause with God, Chap. 16. 31. Iob said he might doe it without feare, Elihu saith, he will reason in Gods stead, whom he needeth not to feare, because he is a man made of the same matter that hee is.

c I will not handle thee roughly as these others haue done. d He repeateth Iobs words, whereby he reproved his innocencie in diuers places, but specially in the 13. 16. & 10. Chap. e The cause of his iudgements is not alwayes declared to man. f Though God by sundry examples of his iudgements speake vnto man, yet there is on thereof is not known: yea and though God should speake, yet he is not vnderstood. g God saith he speaketh commonly, either by visions to teach vs the cause of his iudgements, or els by afflictions: or by his messengers. h That is, determined to send vpon them. i He sheweth what end God sendeth afflictions: to beate downe mans pride, & to turne him from euill. k That is, his painefull and miserable life. l To them that shall burie him. m A man sent of God to declare his will. n A singular man and as one chosen out of a thousand, which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: and when in mans righteousness standeth, which is though the iustice of Iesus Christ and faith therein. o He sheweth that it is a iure token of Gods mercy toward sinners, when he causeth his word to be preached vnto them. p That is, the minister shall by preaching of the word pronounce vnto him the forgiveness of his finnes.

downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

25 Then shall his flesh bee as fresh as a childes, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.

26 He shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, and hee shall see his face with ioy: for he wil render vnto man his righteoufnesse.

27 He looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and peruerterd righteoufnes, and it did not profit me, 28 He wil deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.

29 Lo, all these things will God worke twice on thrise with a man, 30 That hee may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.

31 Marke well, O Iob, and heare me: keepe silence, and I will speake.

32 If there bee matter, answer mee, and speake: for I desire to iustifie thee.

33 If thou hast not, heare mee: hold thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

C H A P. XXXIII.

1 Elihu chargeth Iob, that hee called himselfe righteous.

2 Hee sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements.

3 God deserveth the mighty. 30 By him the hypocrite reioiceth.

Moreouer Elihu answered, and said, 1 Heare my wordes, ye wise men, and hearken vnto mee, yee that haue knowledge.

2 For the eare trieth the wordes, as the mouth tasteth meate.

3 Let vs seeke iudgement among vs, and let vs know among our selues what is good.

4 For Iob hath said, I am righteous, and God hath taken away my iudgement.

5 Should I lie in my right? my wound of the arrow is grieuous without my sinne.

6 What man is like Iob, that drinketh scornefulnesse like water?

7 Which goeth in the company of them that worke iniquitie, and walketh with wicked men?

8 For he hath said, It profiteth a man nothing that he should walke with God.

9 Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wisdom, God forbid that wickednesse should be in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty.

10 For hee will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way.

11 And certainly God will not doe wickedly, neither wil the Almighty peruert iudgement.

12 Whom hath hee appointed ouer the earth beside himselfe? or who hath placed the whole world?

13 If he set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit and his breath, 14 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

15 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this and hearken to the voice of my words.

16 Shall hee that hateth iudgement, gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?

17 Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou art wicked? or to princes, Yee are vngodly?

18 How much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, and regardeth not the rich, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his hands.

19 They shall die suddenly, and the people shall bee troubled at midnights, and they shall passe soorth and take away the mightie without hand.

20 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he setteth all his goings.

21 There is no darkenesse nor shadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.

22 For he will not lay on man so much, that he shall enter into iudgement with God.

23 Hee shall breake the mightie without seeking, and shal set vp other in their stead.

24 Therefore shall he declare their works: he shall turne the night, and they shall be destroyed.

25 Hee striketh them as wicked men in the places of the seers.

26 Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes:

27 So that they haue caused the voice of the poore to come vnto him, and hee hath heard the crie of the afflicted.

28 And when hee giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it bee vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?

29 Because the hypocrite doth reigne, and because the people are snared.

30 Surely it appertaineth vnto God to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

31 But if I see not, teach thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more.

32 Will hee performe the thing through thee? for thou hast reproued it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I, now speake what thou knowest.

33 Let men of vnderstanding tell mee, and let a wise man hearken vnto me.

34 Iob hath not spoken of knowledge: neither were his words according to wisdom.

35 I desire that Iob may be tried vnto the end, touching the answers for wicked men.

36 For he addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: he clappeth his hands among vs, and multiplieth his words against God.

we may answer him and all the wicked that shall vse such arguments. e Hee standeth stubbornly in the maintenance of his cause.

C H A P. XXXV.

6 Neither doeth godlinesse profite, or vngodlinesse hurt God, m If God were not iust, how could he gouerne the world?

n If man of nature feare to speake euill of such as haue power, then much more ought they to be afraid to speake euill of God.

o When they looke not for it, p The messengers or visitation that God shall send.

q God doth not add man above measure, so that he should haue occasion to contend with him.

r For all his creatures are at hand to serue him, so that he needeth not to seeke for any other armie.

s Make them manifest that they are wicked. t Declare the things that were hid.

u Meaning, openly in the sight of all men.

x By their cruelty and extortion.

y When tyrants sit in the throne of iustice, which vnder preence of executing iustice are but hypocrites, and oppress the people, it is a signe that God hath drawn backe his countenance and fauour from that place.

z Only it belongeth to God to moderate his corrections, and not vnto man.

a Thus Elihu speaketh in the person of God, as it were mocking Iob, because he would be wiser then God.

b Wil God vse thy counsell in doing his works?

c Thus he speaketh in the person of God, as though Iob should chuse and reuile affliction at his pleasure.

d That he may speake as much as he can, that God, but man: 13 The wicked cry vnto God, and are not heard.

Elisha spake moreouer, and said, Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast said, I am more righteous then God? For thou hast said, What profiteth it thee, and what auaileth it me, so purge me from my sinne?

4 Therefore will I answere thee, and thy companions with thee.

5 Looke vnto the heauen, and see and behold the cloudes, which are higher then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou against him; yea, when thy finnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou bee righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiveth he at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednesse may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousness may profit the sonne of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed, to crie, which crie out for the violence of the mighty.

10 But none saith, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beasts of the earth, and giueth vs more wisdom then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they crie because of the violence of the wicked, but he answereth not.

13 Surely God will not heare vanitie, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, yet judgement is before him, trust thou in him.

15 But now because his anger hath not visited, nor called to count the euill with great extremite, 16 Therefore Job openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth words without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elisha sheweth the power of God, 6 And his iustice, 9 And wherefore hee punisheth. 13 The propertie of the wicked.

Elihu also proceeded and said,

2 Suff'r me a little, and I will instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe

3 I will fetch a my knowledge a farre off, and will attribute righteousness vnto my Maker.

4 For truly my wordes shall not be false, and he that is perfect in knowledge, speaketh with thee.

5 Behold, the mightie God casteth away none that is mightie and valiant of courage.

6 He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 Hee withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with Kings in the throne, where hee placed them for euer: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters, and tried with the cords of affliction, 9 Then will hee shew them their worke, and their finnes, because they haue bene proud.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 If they obey and serue him, they shall end their dayes in prosperitie, and their yeeres in pleasures.

12 But if they wil not obey, they shall passe by the sword; and perish without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites of heart increase the wrath: for they cal not when he bindeth them.

14 Their soule dieth in youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

15 Hee deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so would hee haue taken thee out of the streight place into a broad place and not shut vp beneath: and that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie maintaine all things.

18 For Gods wrath is, lest hee should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.

19 Will hee regard thy riches? hee regardeth not gold, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 Bee not carefull in the night, how hee destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heed: looke not to piniquity: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.

22 Behold, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold.

25 All men see it, and men behold it a farre off.

26 Behold, God is excellent, and we know him not, neither can the number of his yeeres be searched out.

27 When hee restraineth the drops of water, the raine powreth downe by the vapour thereof, 28 Which raine the clouds do drop, and let fall abundantly vpon man.

29 Who can knowe the diuisions of the clouds, and the thunders of his tabernacle?

30 Behold, he spreadeth his light vpon it, and couereth the bottome of the sea.

31 For thereby he iudgeth the people, and giueth meate abundantly.

32 Hee couereth the light with the clouds, and commandeth them to goe against it, thereof. y Hee sheweth that the raine hath double vse: the one, that it declare the land fruitfull. z That is, one cloud to dash against another.

^a The cold vapour sheweth him: that is, the cloud of the heat of the sun, which being taken in the cold cloud, mounteth vp toward the place where the fire is, and so anger is kindled: that is, noyle and thunder claps.

CHAP. XXXVII.

² Elihu prooueth that the vnsearchable wisdom of God is manifest by his works, ⁴ As by the shouders, ⁶ The snow, ⁹ The whirlewinde, ¹¹ And the raine.

AT this also mine heart is ^aastonied, and is moued out of his place.

² Heare the ^bfound of his voice, and the noyle that goeth out of his mouth.

³ He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.

⁴ After it a noyle foundeth: he thundreth with the voice of his maiestie, and he will not stay ^cthem when his voice is heard.

⁵ God thundreth marueilously with his voice: hee worketh great things, which wee know not.

⁶ For he saith to the snow, Be thou vpon the earth: ^dlikewise to the small raine and to the great raine of his power.

⁷ With the force thereof he ^eshuteth vp euery man, that all men may know his worke.

⁸ Then the beasts goe into the denne, and remaine in their places.

⁹ The whirlewind commeth out of the South, and the cold from the ^fNorthwind.

¹⁰ At the breath of God the frost is giuen, and the breadth of the waters ^gis made narrow.

¹¹ He maketh also the cloudes to ^hlabour, to water the earth, and scattereth the cloud of his light.

¹² And it is turned about by his gouernement, that they may doe whatsoeuer he commandeth them vpon the whole world:

¹³ Whether it be for ^kpunishment, or for his land, or of mercy, he causeth it to come.

¹⁴ Hearken vnto this, O Iob: stand and consider the wonderous workes of God.

¹⁵ Diddest thou know when God disposed them? and caused the ^llight of his cloud to shine?

¹⁶ Hast thou knowen the ^mvariety of the cloud, and the wonderous workes of him, that is perfite in knowledge?

¹⁷ Or how thy clothes are ⁿwarme, when he maketh the earth quiet through the South wind?

¹⁸ Hast thou stretched out the heauens, which are strong, and as a molten ^oglasse?

¹⁹ Tell vs what we shall say vnto him: for we cannot dispose ^pour matter because of ^qdarknesse.

²⁰ Shall it be ^rtold him when I speake? or shall man speake when he shall be ^sdestroyed?

²¹ And now men see not the light, ^twhich shineth in the clouds, but the wind passeth and cleanseth them.

²² The ^ubrightnesse commeth out of the North: the praise thereof is to God, which is terrible.

²³ It is the Almighty: we cannot find him out: hee is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iustice: he ^vafflicteth not.

²⁴ Let men therefore feare him: for hee will not regard any that are wise in their owne conceit.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

¹ God speaketh to Iob, and declareth the weaknesse of man in the consideration of his creatures, by whose excellencie the power, iustice and providence of the Creator is knowne.

Then answered the Lord vnto Iob out of the ^awhirlewind, and said, ² Who is this that ^bdarkeneth the counsell by words without knowledge?

³ Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I ^cwil demand of thee, & declare thou vnto me.

⁴ Where wast thou when I laid the ^dfoundations of the earth? declare, if thou hast vnderstanding.

⁵ Who hath layd the measures thereof, if thou knowest, or who hath stretched the line ouer it:

⁶ Whereupon are the foundations thereof set: or who layd the corner stone thereof:

⁷ When the starres of the morning ^epraised mee together, and all the ^fchildren of God reioyced:

⁸ Or ^gwho hath shut vp the sea with doores, when it issued and came forth as out of the wombe:

34 Moreouer, the Lord spake vnto Iob, and sayd,

35 Is this to learne, to striue with the Almighty? he that reprooueth God, let him answer to it.

36 ¶ Then Iob answered the Lord, saying,

37 Behold, I am vile: what shall I answer thee? I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth.

38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answer no more, yea twice, but I will proceed no further.

CHAP. XL.

How weak mans power is, being compared to the workes of God: 10. Whose power appeareth in the creation, and governing of the great beasts.

A Gaine the Lord answered Iob out of the whirlewind, and sayd,

2 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demand of thee, & declare thou vnto me.

3 Wilt thou disanull a my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne mee, that thou mayest be justified?

4 Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voice like him?

5 Decke thy selfe now with b maiestie and excellencie, and aray thy selfe with beauty and glory.

6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and behold euery one that is proud, and abase him.

7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him lowe: and destroy the wicked in their place.

8 Hide them in the dust together, and bind c their faces in a secret place.

9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can d saue thee.

10 ¶ Behold now e Behemoth (whom I made f with thee) which eateth g grasse as an ox.

11 Behold now, his strength is in his loines, and his force is in the nauill of his belly.

12 When he taketh pleasure, his tayle is like a cedar: the sinewes of his stones are wrapt together.

13 His bones are like stauies of brasse and his small bones like stauies of yron.

14 He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: h he that made him will make his sword to approach vnto him.

15 Surely the mountaines bring him forth grasse, where all the beasts of the field play.

16 Lieth he vnder the trees in the couert of the reede and fennes?

17 Can the trees couer him with their shadow? or can the willowes of the riuier compasse him about?

18 Behold, he spoyleth the riuier, k and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can draw vp l or den into his mouth.

19 He taketh it with his eyes, and thrusteth his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him.

20 ¶ Canst thou draw out l Liuiathan with an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?

21 Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose? canst thou pearce his iawes with an angle?

22 Wil he make many m prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire?

23 Will he make a couenant with thee? and wilt thou take n him as a seruant for euer?

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bind him for thy maides?

25 Shal the companions banquet with him? shall they diuide him among the Merchants?

26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skin? or the fishpanier with his head?

27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember o the battell, and doe no more so.

28 Behold, p his hope is in vaine: for shall not one perish at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLI.

By the greatnesse of this monster Liuiathan God sheweth his greatnesse, and his power, which nothing can resist.

NOne is so fierce that dare stirre him vp. Who is hee then that can stand a before mee?

2 Who hath preuented mee that I should b make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.

3 I will not keepe silence c concerning c his parts, nor d his power nor his comely proportion.

4 Who can discouer the face d of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double e bridle?

5 Who shall e open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about.

6 The maiestie of his scales is like strong shields, and are sure sealed.

7 One is set to another, that no wind can come betweene them.

8 One is ioyned to another: they sticke together, that they cannot be sundred.

9 His niesings g make the light to shine, and his eyes are like the eyelids of the morning.

10 Out of his mouth goe lampes, and sparkes of fire leape out.

11 Out of his nostrils commeth out smoke, as out of a boyling pot or cauldron.

12 His breath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.

13 In his necke remaineth strength, and h labour is reiected before his face.

14 The members of his bodie are ioyned: they are strong in themselves, and cannot be moued:

stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.

20 The darts are counted as strawe: and he laugheth at the shaking of the speare.

21 Sharpe stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the myre.

22 Hee maketh the depth to be boyle like a pot, and maketh the sea like a pot of oyntment.

23 Hee maketh a path to shine after him, one would thinke the depth as an hoare head.

24 In the earth there is none like him: hee is made without feare.

25 Hee beholdeth all his things: hee is a king ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Iob. 9 He prayeth for his friends. 12 his goods are restored double vnto him. 13 His children, age and death.

Then Iob answered the Lord, and said,

2 I know that thou canst do all things, and that there is no thought hid from thee.

3 Who is he that hideth counsell without knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, even things too wonderfull for me, and which I knew not.

4 Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake:
I wil demande of thee, and declare thou vnto mee.

5 I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 ¶ Now after that the Lord had spoken these words vnto Iob, the Lord also said vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of mee the thing that is right, like my seruant Iob.

8 Therefore take vnto you now seven bullockes, and seven rammes, and goe to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shal pray for you: for I will accept him, least I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of mee the thing, which is right, like my seruant Iob.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite, went and did according as the Lord had sayd vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

10 ¶ Then the Lord turned the captiuitie of Iob, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as hee had before,

11 Then came vnto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had beene of his acquaintance before, and did eate bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euil, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a piece of money, and euery one an earring of gold.

12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for he had fourteen thousand sheepe, and fixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand shee asses.

13 He had also seven sonnes, and three daughters.

14 And he called the name of one Jemimah, and the name of the second Keziah, and the name of the third Keren-happuch.

15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

16 And after this liued Iob an hundreth and forty yeeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, even foure generations.

17 So Iob died, beeing olde, and full of dayes.

THE

THE PSALMES OF DAVID.

THE ARGUMENT.

This booke of Psalmes is set forth unto us by the holy Ghost to be esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things are contained that appertaine to true felicity, as well in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge and heavenly wisdom are here set open for us, so that thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great and his Maiesie of God, here we may see the brightnesse thereof shine most clearly. If we would seeke his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schoole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his inestimable bounty, & approach neere thereunto, and fill our hands with that treasure, here we may have a most lively, and comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, and how to attaine to life everlasting, here is Christ our only Redeemer, and Mediator most evidently described. The rich man may learne the true use of his riches. The poore man may find full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall know the true ioy, and how to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how they ought to praise God when he sendeth them deliverance. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shall see how the hand of God is ever against them, and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he bridlETH them, inasmuch as they cannot touch an haire of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, here wee have most present remedies against all tentations, and troubles of minde and conscience, so that being well practised therein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, live in the true feare, and love of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is layd up for all them that love the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

PSALME. I.

Whether it was David, or any other that gathered the Psalms into a booke, it seemeth hee did set this Psalme first in manner of a Preface, to exhort all godly men to studie, and meditate the heavenly wisdom. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they bee blessed, which give themselves wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures. 4 And that the wicked contempters of God, though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

Blessed is the man that doth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seate of the scorner.

2 But his delight is in the Law of the Lord, and in his Law doeth he meditate day and night.

3 For hee shall be like a tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruit in due season: whose lease shall not fade: so whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper.

4 The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe which the winde drieth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the iudgement, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, & the way of the wicked shall perish.

PSAL. II.

1 The Prophet David reioyceth, that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his Kingdom for ever, & aduance it euent to the end of the world, 10 And therefore exhorteth Kings and rulers, that they would humbly submit themselves vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herein is figured Christs kingdom.

Why doe the heathen rage, and the people murmure in vaine?

2 The kings of the earth band themselves, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

3 Let vs breake their bands, and cast their cordes from vs.

4 But he that dwelleth in the heauen, shall laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision.

5 Then shall hee speake vnto them in his wrath, and vex them in his fore displeasure, saying,

6 Euen I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holy mountaine.

But tremble when they feele Gods wrath. Doth approve and prosper, like as not to know, is to reprocure and reiect.

The conspiracie of the Gentiles, the murmuring of the Iewes, & power of Kings cannot preuaile against Christ.

Act. 4. 25. For, appointed. Thus the wicked say, that they will cast off the yoke of God & of his Christ. Pre. 1. 26. Gods plagues will declare that in resisting his Christ, they fought against him.

d To shew that my vocation to the kingdom is of God.
e That is to say, as touching mans knowledge because it was the first time that David appeared to be elected of God. So it is applied to Christ in his first coming and manifestation to the world.
f Not only the Jews but the Gentiles also.
g He exhorteth all rulers to repent in time.
h In signe of homage.
i When the wicked shall say, Peace and rest, seeming yet to be but in the mid way of their purposes, then shall destruction suddenly come.
1. Thess. 5. 3.

7 I will declare the decree: that is, the Lord hath said vnto me. Thou art my sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aske of me, and I shall giue thee the heauen for thine inheritance, and the ends of the earth for thy possession.

9 Thou shalt crush them with a scepter of yron, and breake them in pieces like a potters vessel.

10 Be wise low therefore, ye kings: bee learned ye iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lord in feare and reioyce in trembling.

12 Kisse the sonne, lest he be angry, and ye perish in the way, when his wrath shall suddenly burne, blessed are all that trust in him.

When the wicked shall say, Peace and rest, seeming yet to be but in the mid way of their purposes, then shall destruction suddenly come.

PSAL. III.

David driven forth of his kingdom, was greatly tormented in minde for a sinne against God. And therefore calleth vpon God, and waueth bold through his promises against the great villings and terrours of his enemies, yet against death it selfe, which he saw present before his eyes. Finally he reioyceth for the good success, that God gave him, and all the church.

A Psalm of David when hee fled from his sonne Absalom.

Lord, how are mine aduersaries increased? how many rise against me?

2 Many say to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God. Selah.

3 But thou, Lord art a buckler for me: my glory, and the lifter vp of mine head.

4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voice, & he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.

5 I laid me downe and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord sustained mee.

6 I will not bee afraid for ten thousand of the people, that should beset me round about.

7 O Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheek bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

8 Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing vpon thy people. Selah.

PSAL. IIII.

When Saul persecuted him, hee called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promise, and therefore boldly reproo- neth his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion, 7 And finally preferreth the fauour of God before all worldly treasures.

To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalm of David.

Heare me when I call, O God of my righteousness: thou hast set me at libertie, when I was in distresse: haue mercie vpon me, and hearken vnto my prayer.

2 O ye sonnes of men, how long will ye turne my glory into shame, louing vanitie, and seeking lies? Selah.

a Among them that were appointed to sing the Psalmes, and to play on the instruments, one was appointed chiefly to set the tune, and to begin: who had the charge, because he was most excellent, and he began this Psalm on the instrument called Neginoth or a tune so called. b Thou that art the defender of my iust cause. c Both of minde and body. d Yee that thinke your selves noble in this world. e Though your enterprises please you neuer so much, yet God will bring them to nought.

PSAL. V.

David oppressed with the crueltie of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisite it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous success, hee conceiveth comfort. 13 Concluding that when God shall deliver him, others also shall be partakers of the same mercies.

To him that excelleth vpon Neginoth. A Psalm of David.

Heare my words, O Lord: vnderstand my meditation.

2 Hearken vnto the voyce of my crie, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.

3 Heare my voice in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct mee vnto thee, and I will wait.

4 For thou art not a God that loueth wickednesse: neither shall euill dwell with thee.

5 The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord wil abhorre the bloody man and deceitfull.

7 But I will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.

8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousness, because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.

9 For no constancie is in their mouth: within, they are very corruption: their throat is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And let al them that trust in thee, reioice and triumph for euer, & couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy Name reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt blesse the righteous, and with fauour wilt compasse him, as with a shield.

Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world! which hast set thy glory about the heauens.

Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou ordeined strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest kill the enemy, and the auenger.

When I behold thine heauens, euen the works of thy fingers, the moone and the starres which thou hast ordained,

What is man, say I, that thou art mindful of him? and the sonne of man, that thou visitest him?

For thou hast made him little lower then God, and crowned him with glory and worship.

Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his feete:

All sheep and oxen: yea, and the beasts of the field:

The foules of the aire, and the fish of the sea, and that which passeth through the paths of the seas.

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world!

I will praise the Lord with my whole heart: I will speak of all thy marvellous workes.

I will be glad and reioyce in thee: I will sing praise to thy Name, O most High.

For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shall fall and perish at thy presence.

For thou hast maintained my right and my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudgeth right.

Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for ever and ever.

O enemy, destructions are come to a perpetuall end, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memoriall is perished with them.

But thou Lord || shall sit for ever: he hath prepared his throne for iudgement.

For he shall iudge the world in righteousness, and shall iudge the people with equitie.

The Lord also will bee a refuge for the poore, a refuge in due time, even in affliction.

And they that know thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed them that seeke thee.

Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: shew the people his workes.

For when hee maketh inquisition for blood, hee remembreth it, and forgetteth not the complaint of the poore.

Hau mercie vpon me, O Lord: consider my trouble, which I suffer of them that hate me, thou that liftest me vp from the gates of death.

That I may shew all thy praises within the gates of the daughter of Zion, and reioyce in thy saluation.

PSAL. X.

He complaineth of the fraude, rapine, tyrannie, and all kindes of wrong, which worldly men vse, assigning the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, and therefore setting apart all feare and reuerence towards God, thinke they may doe all things without controuling. 15. Therefore hee calleth vpon God to send some remedie against these desperate evils, 16. And in length comforteth himselfe with hope of deliuerance.

Why standest thou farre off, O Lord, and hidest thee in due time, even in affliction?

The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.

For the wicked hath made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the conctious blesseth himselfe: he contemneth the Lord.

The wicked is so proud that he seeketh not for God: hee thinketh alwayes, There is no God.

His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are hid about his sight: therefore || defendeth he all his enemies.

His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and fraud: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquitie.

He lieth in wait in the villages: in the secret places doeth hee murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

He lieth in waite secretly, even as a lyon in his den: he lieth in wait to spoile the poore: he doth spoile the poore, when he draweth him into his net.

Hee croucheth and boweth: therefore heapes of the poore doe fall by his might.

He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth away his face, and will neuer see.

Arise, O Lord God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

Wherefore doth the wicked contemne God? hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

Yet thou hast seene it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou mayest take it into thine hands: the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.

Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: search his wickednesse, and thou shalt finde none.

The Lord is King for euer and euer: the heathen are destroyed sooth of his land.

Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou bende thine eare to them.

PSAL. XI.

This Psalm containeth two parts. In the first David sheweth how hard assaults of tentations hee sustained, and in how great anguish of minde he was, when Saul did persecute him. 4. Then next he reioyceth that God sent him succour in his necessitie, declaring his iustice as well in governing the good and the wicked men, as the whole world.

PSAL. XIII.

He describeth the perverse nature of man, which were so grown to insensibleness, that God was brought to utter contempt. 7 For the which thing, although he was greatly grieved, yet being perswaded, that God would send some present succour, he comforteth himselfe and others.

e Though the wicked prouoked me to doe euill for euill, yet thy worde kept me backe.

f He was assured that God would not refuse his request.

* 2. Sam. 22.

a He vseth this diuinitie of names to shew that as the wicked haue many names to lure, so God hath many wayes to helpe.

b For none can obtaine their requests of God, that ioyne not his glory with their petition.

c He speaketh of the dangers and malice of his enemies, from the which God had deliuered him.

d For, as the cables of the wrath of God against his enemies after he had heard his prayers.

e He sheweth how horrible Gods iudgements be albe it the wicked.

^f Darknesse signifieth the wrath of God, as the cleavelight signifieth Gods favour. ^g This is described at large, Psal. 104. ^h As a King angrie with the people, will not shew himselfe unto them. ⁱ Thunder, lightning, and hail. ^k His lightnings.

downe, and ^f darknesse was vnder his feete. 10 And hee rode vpon ^g Cherub and did flie, and hee came flying vpon the wings of the wind.

11 He made darknesse his ^h secret place, and his pavilion round about him, ⁱ even darknesse of waters, and cloudes of the ayre.

12 At the brightnesse of his presence his clouds passed, hailestones and coales of fire.

13 The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the Higheft gaue ^j his voice, hailestones and coles of fire.

14 Then he sent out ^k his arrowes and scattered them, and hee increased lightnings and destroyed them.

15 And the chanel of waters were scene, and the ^l foundations of the world were discovered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrils.

16 He hath sent downe from above and taken mee: hee hath drawn mee out of many ^m waters.

17 He hath deliuered me from my ⁿ strong enemy, and from them which hate me: for they were ^o too strong for me.

18 They preuented me in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 Hee brought me soorth also into a large place: he deliuered me because he fauored me.

20 The Lord rewarded mee according to my righteousnesse: according to the purenes of mine hands he recompensed me:

21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

22 For all his Lawes were before mee, and I did not cast away his ^p commaundements from me.

23 I was vpriight also with him, and haue kept me from my ^q wickednesse.

24 Therefore the Lord rewarded me according to my righteousnesse, and according to the purenesse of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the ^r godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the vpriight man thou wilt shew thy selfe vpriight.

26 With the pure thou wilt shew thy selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shew thy selfe froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt ^s cast downe the proud lookes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will lighten my darknesse.

29 For by thee I haue ^t broken through an host, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wal.

30 The way of God is ^u incorrupt: the word of the Lord is tried in the fire: hee is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my ^v way vpriight.

33 Hee maketh my feete like Hindes feete, and setteth me vpon mine ^w high places.

34 Hee teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bowe of ^x brasie is broken with mine ^y Or, steels. armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen mee the ^z shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath staied me, and thy ^a louing kindnesse hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder me, and mine heeles haue not slid.

37 ^b I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe til I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feete.

39 For thou hast girded mee with strength to battell: them, that arose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast ^c giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate mee.

41 They ^d cried, but there was none to saue them, ^e even vnto the Lord, but hee answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did tread them flat as the clay in the streetes.

43 Thou hast deliuered mee from the contentions of the people: thou hast made me the head of the ^f heathen: a people, ^g whome I haue not ^h known, shall serue mee.

44 As soone as they heare, they shall obey me: the strangers shall ⁱ be in subiection to me.

45 Strangers shall ^j shrinke away, and feare in their priue chambers.

46 Let the Lord liue, and blessed bee my strength, and the God of my saluation bee exalted.

47 ^k It is God that giueth me power to auenge me, and subdueth the people vnder me.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, ^l even thou hast set mee vp from them, that rose against mee: thou hast deliuered mee from the ^m cruell man.

49 Therefore ⁿ I will praise thee, O Lord, among the nations, & wil sing vnto thy Name.

50 Great deliuerances giueth he vnto his King, and sheweth mercie to his anointed, ^o even to Dauid, and to his ^p seede for euer.

PSAL. XIX.

^q To the intent hee might moue the faithfull to a deeper consideration of Gods glory, hee setteth before their eyes the most exquisite workmanship of the heauens with their proportion and ornaments: 8 And afterward calleth them to the Law, wherein God hath revealed himselfe more familiarly to his chosen people. The which peculiar grace by commending the Law he setteth forth more at large.

^r To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

^s He ^a heauens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth the worke of his hands.

2 ^b Day vnto day vttereth the same, and night vnto night teacheth knowledge.

^c The continuall successe of the day and the night is sufficient to declare Gods power and goodnesse.

^b To defend me from dangers.

^c He attributeth the beginning, continuance and increase in well doing onely to Gods fauour.

^d Dauid declarereth that he did nothing besides his vocation, but was stirred vp by Gods spirit to execute his iudgements.

^e Thou hast giuen them into mine hands to be slaine.

^f They that reiect the crye of the afflicted, God will also reiect them, when they crye for help: for either paine or feare cause those hypocrites to crye.

^g Which dwel round about me.

^h The kingdom of Christ is in Dauids kingdom prefigured, who by the preaching of his word bringeth all to his subiection.

ⁱ Or, lie: signifying a subiection constrained and not voluntary.

^k Feare shall cause them to be afraid and come soorth of their secret holes and holds to seeke pardon.

^l That is, Saul, who of malice persecuted him.

^m This prophesie appertaineth to the kingdom of Christ, and vocation of the Gentiles, as Rom 15.9.

ⁿ This did not properly appertaine to Salomon, but to Iesus Christ.

^a Rom. 1.20.

^b He reprocherh vnto man his ingratitude, seeing the heauens, which are dumbe creatures, set forth Gods glory.

c The heauens are a schoolema-ster to all nations, be they neuer so barbarous.

d The heauens are as a line of great capitall letters to shew vnto vs Gods glory.

e Or, valle. The manner was that the bride and bridegrome should stand vnder a vail together, and after come forth with great solemnitie and reioicing of the assembly.

f Though the creatures cannot serue, yet this ought to be sufficient to leade vs vnto him.

g So that all mans inventions and intentions are lies.

h Every one without exception.

i Except Gods word be esteemed about all worldly things, it is contemned.

k For God accepteth our in-deuour, though it be farre vnperfect.

l Then there is no reward of duetie, but of grace: for where sinne is, there death is the reward.

m Which are done purposely and of malice.

n If thou suppress my wicked affections by thine holy spirit.

o That I may obey thee in thought, word and deede.

3 There is no speach nor language, where their voice is not heard.

4 Their line is gone forth through all the earth, & their words into the ends of the world: in them hath he set a tabernacle for the sunne.

5 Which commeth forth as a bridegrome out of his chamber, and reioyceth like a mightie man to runne his race.

6 His going out is from the ende of the heauen, & his compasse is vnto the ends of the same, and none is hid from the heate thereof.

7 The Law of the Lord is perfit, conuerting the soules: the testimonie of the Lord is sure, and giueth wisdom vnto the simple.

8 The statutes of the Lord are right and reioyce the heart: the commaundement of the Lord is pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes.

9 The feare of the Lord is cleane, and indureth for euer: the iudgments of the Lord are truth: they are righteous altogether.

10 And more to be desired then gold, yea, then much fine gold: sweeter also then honie and the honiecombe.

11 Moreouer by them is thy seruant made circumspect, and in keeping of them there is great reward.

12 Who can vnderstand his faults? cleanse me from secret faults.

13 Keepe thy seruant also from presumptuous sinnes: let them not reigne ouer mee: so shall I bee vp-right, and made cleane from much wickednesse.

14 Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer.

n If thou suppress my wicked affections by thine holy spirit.

CHAP. XX.

1 A prayer of the people vnto God, that it would please him to heare their King, and receiue his sacrifice which hee offered before he went to battell against the Ammonites.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.
The Lord heare thee in the day of trouble: the name of the God of Iakob defend thee:

2 Send thee helpe from the Sanctuary, and strengthen thee out of Zion.

3 Let him remember all thine offerings, and turne thy burnt offerings into ashes. Selah:

4 And graunt thee according to thine heart, and fulfill all thy purpose:

5 That we may reioyce in thy saluation, and set vp the banner in the Name of our God, when the Lord shall performe all thy petitions.

6 Now know I that the Lord will helpe his anointed, and will heare him from his Sanctuary by the mightie helpe of his right hand.

7 Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but wee will remember the Name of the Lord our God.

8 They are brought downe and fallen, but we are risen, and stand vp-right,

9 Saue Lord: let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

P S A L. XXI.

1 Dauid in the person of the people praisth God for the victory, attributing it to God, and not to the strength of man. wherein the holy Ghost directeth the faithfull to Christ, who is the perfection of this kingdome.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

The King shall reioyce in thy strength, O Lord: yea, how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation!

2 Thou hast giuen him his hearts desire, and hast not denied him the request of his lips. Selah.

3 For thou diddest preuent him with liberal blessings, and diddest set a crowne of pure gold vpon his head.

4 He asked life of thee, and thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer.

5 His glory is great in thy saluation: dignitie and honour hast thou laide vpon him.

6 For thou hast set him blessings for euer: thou hast made him glad with the ioy of thy countenance.

7 Because the King trusteth in the Lord, and in the mercy of the most High, hee shall not slide.

8 Thine hand shall find out all thine enemies, and thy right hand shall finde out them that hate thee.

9 Thou shalt make them like a fierie oven in time of thine anger: the Lord shall destroy them in his wrath, & the fire shal deuour them.

10 Their fruit shall thou destroy from the earth, and their seed from the children of men.

11 For they intended euil against thee, and imagined mischief, but they shal not preuaile.

12 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bow shalt thou make ready against their faces.

13 Be thou exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing and prayse thy power.

P S A L. XXII.

1 Dauid complained because hee was brought into such extremities, that he was past all hope, but after hee had rehearsed the sorowes and griefes, wherewith he was vexed,

10 He recovereth himselfe from the bottomlesse pit of tentations, and groweth in hope. And here vnder his owne person he setteth forth the figure of Christ, whom he did foresee by the spirit of prophesie that hee should maruelously, and strangely be deiected, and abased, before his Father should raise and exalt him againe.

To him that excelleth vpon. Ayeleth Hah-shahar, A Psalme of David.

MY God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me, and art so far from mine health, and from the words of my roaring?

2 O my God, I crie by day, but thou hearest not, and by night, but I haue no audience.

3 But thou art holy, and doest inhabite the praises of Israel.

the place of praying, even the Tabernacle: or els it is so called, because he gaue the people continually occasion to praise him, h Let the King be able to deliuer vs by thy strength when we seeke vnto him for succour.

a When he shall overcome his enemies and so be assured of his vocation.

b Thou declarest thy liberal fauour toward him before hee prayed.

c Dauid did not only obtaine life but also assurance that his posteritie should reigne for euer.

d Thou hast made him thy blessings to others, and a perpetual example of thy fauour to euer.

e Here he describeth the power of Christs kingdome against the enemies thereof.

f This teacheth vs patiently to endure the crosse till God destroy the aduerary.

g They laid as it were their nets to make Gods power to giue place to their wicked enterprises.

h As a snake to shoot at.

i Maintaine thy Church against thine aduersaries, that we may haue ample occasion to praise thy Name.

10 Or, the hind of the morning, and this was the name of some common song.

a Here appeareth that horrible conflict, which he sustained betwene faith and desperation.

b Being tormented with extreme anguish.

10 Or, I call for me.

c He meaneth

Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou diddest deliuer them.

They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they called in thee, and were not confounded.

But I am like a worme, and not a man: a shame vnto thee, and the contempt of the people.

All they that see me, haue me in derision: they make mocke at me, and nod the head, saying,

He trusted in the Lord, let him deliuer him: let him saue him, seeing he loueth him.

But thou diddest drawe mee out of the wombe: thou gauest me hope, euen at my mothers breasts.

To I was cast vpon thee: euen from the wombe: thou art my God from my mothers belly.

Be not farre from me, because trouble is neere: for there is none to helpe me.

Many yong buls haue compassed mee: mighty bulles of Bashan haue closed mee about.

They gape vpon me with their inoueries, and ramping and roaring lion.

I am like a water powered out, and all my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like waxe: it is molten in the mids of my bowels.

My strength is dried vp like a pot heard, and my tongue cleaueth to my iawes, and thou hast brought me into the dust of death.

For dogges haue compassed me, and the assembly of the wicked haue inclosed me: they pearced mine hands and my feete.

I may tel all my bones: yet they behold, and looke vpon me.

They part my garments among them, and cast lots vpon my vesture.

But bee not thou faire off; O Lord, my strength: hasten to helpe me.

Deliuer my soule from the sword: my desolate soule from the power of the dogge.

Saue mee from the Lions mouth, and answere me in sauing me from the hornes of the Unicorne.

I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the mids of the Congregation will I praise thee, saying,

Praise the Lord, yee that feare him: magnifie yee him, all the seede of Iaakob, and feare yee him all the seede of Israel.

For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the poore: neither hath he hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard.

My prayse shall bee of thee in the great Congregation: my P voves wil I performe before them that feare him.

The poore shall eate and be satisfied: they that seeke after the Lord, shall praise him: your heart shall liue for euer.

All the ends of the world shall remember themselves, and turne to the Lord: and all the kindes of the nations shall worship before thee.

For the kingdome is the Lords, and hee ruleth among the nations.

All they that bee fat in the earth, shall eate and worship: all they that go downe into the dust, shall bow before him, euen hee that cannot quicken his owne soule.

Their seede shall serue him: it shall be counted vnto the Lord for a generation.

They shall come, and shall declare his righteousness vnto a people that shal be borne, because he hath done it.

Meaning, the posteritie, which the Lord keepeth as a feede to the Church to continue his praise among men. u That is, God hath fulfilled his promise.

PSAL. XXIII.

Because the Prophet had proued the great mercies of God at diuers times, and in sundry manner, he gathereth a certaine assurance, fully perswading himselfe that God will continue the very same goodnesse towards him for euer.

A Psalme of David.

The Lord is my shepheard; I shall not want.

He maketh me to rest in greene pasture, and leadeth me by the still waters.

He restoreth my soule, and leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his Names sake.

Yea, though I should walke through the valley of the shadow of death, I will feare no euill: for thou art with mee; thy rod and thy staffe, they comfort me.

Thou doest prepare a table before mee in the sight of mine aduersaries: thou doest anoint mine head with oyle, and my cup runneth ouer.

Doubtlesse kindnesse and mercie shall follow me all the dayes of my life, and I shal remaine a long season in the house of the Lord.

maner of great feasts. g Hee seceeth not his felicitie in the pleasures of this world, but in the feare and seruice of God.

PSAL. XXIII.

Albeit the Lord God hath made, and governeth all the world, yet toward his chosen people his gracious goodnesse doeth most abundantly appeare, in that among them hee will haue his dwelling place. Which though it was appointed among the children of Abraham, yet onely they doe enter aright into this Sanctuaries, which are the true worshippers of God, purged from the sinfull filth of this world.

Finally he magnifieth Gods grace for the building of the Temple, so the end he might stirre vp all the faithfull to the true seruice of God.

A Psalme of David.

The earth is the Lords, and all that therein is: the world and they that dwell therein.

For hee hath founded it vpon the seas: and established it vpon the floods.

Who shall ascend into the mountaine of the Lord, and who shal stand in his holy place?

Euen he that hath innocent hands, and a pure hearr: which hath not lift vp his mind vnto vanitie, nor sworne deceitfully.

He shal receiue a blessing from the Lord & righteousness from the God of his saluation.

Dist. 10. 14. 128. 24. 1. 29. 10. 21. a He noeth two things: the one that the earth to mans iudgement seemeth about the waters: and next, that God miraculously preferreth the earth, that it is not drowned with the waters, which naturally are about it.

For hee hath founded it vpon the seas: and established it vpon the floods.

Who shall ascend into the mountaine of the Lord, and who shal stand in his holy place?

Euen he that hath innocent hands, and a pure hearr: which hath not lift vp his mind vnto vanitie, nor sworne deceitfully.

He shal receiue a blessing from the Lord & righteousness from the God of his saluation.

PP 3 6 This

b Though circumcission separate the carnall seeds of Iaakob from the Gentiles, yet he that feareth God is the true Iaakob and the very Israelite.
c Dauid desireth the building up of the Temple, wherein the glorie of God should appeare, and vnder the figure of this Temple, he also prayeth for the spiritual Temple which is eternall, because of the promise which was made to the Temple, as it is written, Psalms 132. 14.

6 This is the generation of them that seeke him, of them that seeke thy face, this is Iaakob. Selah.

7 Lift vp your heads yee gates, and be ye lift vp yee euery thing doores, and the King of glorie shall come in.

8 Who is this King of glorie? the Lord strong and mightie, euen the Lord mightie in battell.

9 Lift vp your heads, yee gates, and lift vp your selues, yee euery thing doores, and the king of glorie shall come in.

10 Who is this King of glorie? the Lord of hosts, he is the King of glorie. Selah.

PSAL. XXV.

1 The Prophetion had with the consideration of his sinnes, and also grieved with the cruell malice of his enemies, 6 Prayeth to God most feruently to haue his sinnes forgiven, 7 Especially for as he had committed in his youth. He be- ginneth euery verse according to the Hebrew letters, two or three except.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Vnto thee, O Lord, lift I vp my soule.

2 My God, I trust in thee: let mee not bee confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer me.

3 So all that hope in thee, shall not bee ashamed: but let them bee confounded, that transgresse without cause.

4 Shew me thy wayes, O Lord, and teach me thy paths.

5 Leade me forth in thy trueth, and teach mee: for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee doe I trust all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bene for euer.

7 Remember not the sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou mee, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord.

8 Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will he teach sinners in the way.

9 Them that be meeke, will he guide in iudgement, and teach the humble his way.

10 All the pathes of the Lord are mercie and trueth vnto such as keepe his couenant and his testimonies.

11 Forth by Names sake, O Lord, be mercifull vnto mine iniquity, for it is great.

12 What man is he that feareth the Lord? him will he teach in the way that he shal chuse.

13 His soule shall dwell at ease, and his seede shall inherite the land.

14 The secret of the Lord is revealed to them that feare him: and his couenant to giue them vnderstanding.

15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for he will bring my feete out of the net.

16 Turne thy face vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: for I am desolate and poore.

17 The sorrowes of mine heart are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.

18 Looke vpon mine affliction and my trouble, and forgive all my sinnes.

19 Behold mine enemies, for they are many, and they hate me with cruell hatred.

20 Keepe my soule, and deliver me: let mee not be confounded, for I trust in thee.

21 Let mine vprightnesse and equitie pre- serue me: for mine hope is in thee.

22 Deliver I praye O God, out of all his troubles.

PSAL. XXVI.

1 Dauid oppressed with many tribunes, finding no helpe in the world, calleth for aide from God: and offered of his integritie to ward Saul, desireth God to bee his iudge, and to defend his innocencie. 6 Finally he maketh mention of his sacrifice, which hee will offer for his deliuerance, and desireth to bee in the company of the faithfull in the Congregation of God, where hee was banished by Saul, promising integritie of life, and open praises, and thanksgiving.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Iudge mee, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my trust hath been also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide.

2 Proue me, O Lord, and trie me: examine my reines, and mine heart.

3 For thy louing kindnesse before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy trueth.

4 I haue not haunted with vaine persons, neither kept companie with the dissemblers.

5 I haue hated the assembly of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked.

6 I will wash mine hands in innocencie, O Lord, and compass thine altar.

7 That I may declare with the voice of thanksgiving, and set forth all thy wonderous workes.

8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloody men.

10 In whose hands is wickednes, and their right hand is full of bribes.

11 But I will walke in mine innocencie: redeeme me therefore, and be mercifull vnto me.

12 My foote standeth in vprightnesse: I will praise thee, O Lord, in the Congregations.

PSAL. XXVII.

1 Dauid maketh this Psalme being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the praises and thanksgiving annexed: 6 Wherein we may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of all his enemies, 7 And also the end wherefore hee desireth to liue and to be deliuered, onely to worship God in his Congregation.

A Psalme of Dauid.

The Lord is my light and my saluation, whom shal I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shal I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon me to eate vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoste pitched against mee, mine heart should not be afraid: though warre be raised against me, I will trust in this.

a I put not my trust in any worldly thing.
b That thou wilt eate away mine enemies, which are thy rods.
c Retraunce in the faith of thy promise, that I trauel not on any side.
d Constantly and against all tentations.
e He confesseth that his manifold sinnes were the cause that his enemies did thus persecute him, desiring that the cause of the euill may be taken away, so the intent that the effect may cease.
f That is, call them to repentance.
g He will gouerne and comfort them that are truly humbled for their sinnes.
h And for none other respect.
i Meaning the number is very small.
k He will direct such with his spirit to follow the right way.
l He shall prosper both in spiritual and corporall things.
m His counsell contained in his word whereby he declareth that he is the protector of the faithfull.
n My griefe is increased because of mine enemies cruelty.

The greater that his afflictions were, and the more that his enemies increased, the more neerer felt hee God helpe.
For as much as I haue bene vnto thy face, righteously reward me.
He hath to God to be the Iudge of his innocencie, seeing there is no equitie among men.
My very afflictions and inward motions of the heart.
He desireth what pleased him, that he did not recompence will for will.
d He declareth that they cannot walke in simplicitie before God, that delight in the company of the wicked.
e I will fence thee with a pure affliction, and with the godly that sacrifice vnto thee.
f Deliuery me not in the countenance of the wicked.
g Whole cruell hands doe execute the malicious desires of their hearts.
h I am protected from mine enemies by the power of God, and therefore will praise him openly.

a Because hee was assured of good successe in all his dangers, and that his saluation was surely laide vpon God he feared not the tyrannies of his enemies.
b That God will deliuer me, and giue my faith the victorie.

4 One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, even that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the daies of my life, to behold the beautie of the Lord, and to visite his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pavillion shall he hide me, and set mee vp vpon a rocke.

6 And now shall hee lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle, sacrifices of ioy: I will sing and praise the Lord.

7 Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I cry: haue mercy also vpon me, and heare me.

8 When thou saydest, Seeke yee my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from me, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure: shouldest been my succour, leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 Though my father and my mother should forsake mee, yet the Lord will gather me vp.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Giue me not vnto the lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnessers risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelly.

13 I should haue fainted, except I had beleened to see the goodnes of the Lord in the land of the liuing.

14 Hope in the Lord: be strong, and hee shall comfort shine heart, and trust in the Lord.

P S A L. XXVIII.

Being in great feare and heaviness of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, he desireth to be rid of them, and crieth for vengeance against them. and at length assured himselfe, that God hath heard his prayer. 9 Patience wherewith he commendeth all the faithfull.

A Psalme of David.

Vnto thee, O Lord, doe I cry: O my strength, be not deafe toward me, least if thou answer me not, I be like them that goe downe into the pit.

2 Heare the voice of my petitions, when I cry vnto thee, when I hold vp mine hands toward thine holy Oracle.

3 Draw mee not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquity: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

4 Regard them according to their deeds, and according to the wickednesse of their inuentions: recompense them after the work of their hands: render them their reward.

5 For they regard not the workes of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands: therefore breake them downe, and build them not vp.

6 Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voice of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength and my shield, he helpe in his heart, his mouth was opened to sing his praises.

P S A L. XXIX.

The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the world, (which for the most part thinke there is no God) 3 As the least to feare him for the thunders and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11 And though thereby God threatneth sinners, yet is he alwayes mercifull to his, and moueth them thereby to praise his Name.

A Psalme of David.

Glue vnto the Lord, ye sonnes of the mighty: giue vnto the Lord glory & strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary.

3 The voice of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glory maketh it to thunder: the Lord is vpon the great waters.

4 The voyce of the Lord is mighty: the voyce of the Lord is glorious.

5 The voice of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

6 He maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also & Shiron like a yong vnicorne.

7 The voyce of the Lord diuidenth the flames of fire.

8 The voyce of the Lord maketh the wilderness to tremble: the Lord maketh the wilderness of Kadesh to tremble.

9 The voyce the Lord maketh the hinds to calue, and discovereth the Forrests, therefore in his Temple doeth every man speake of his glory.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the flood, and the Lord doth remaine King for euer.

11 The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lord shall blesse his people with peace.

Though the wicked are nothing moued with these sights, yet the faithfull praise God. k To moderate the rage of the tempest and waters, that they destroy not all.

P S A L. XXX.

When David was deliuered from great danger, he reuiued thanks to God, exhorting others to doe the like, & to learne by his example, that God is rather mercifull then seuer, and rigorous towards his children. 7 And also that the fall from prosperitie to aduersitie is sudden. 8 This done, he returneth to prayer, promising to praise God for euer.

A Psalme or song of the dedication of the house of David.

I Will magnifie thee, O Lord: for thou hast exalted me, and hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

2 O Lord my God, I cried vnto thee, and thou hast restored me.

P S A L. XXXI.

1 Dauid deliuered from some great danger: first hee saith what meditation hee had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his sinnes being ready to take him.
2 Then he affirmeth that the fauour of God is alwayes ready to those that feare him. 20 Finally hee exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God and to loue him, because hee preferreth strength with them, as they may see by his example.

neuer bee confounded: deliuer me in thy righteousnesse.
2 Bow down thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer me: be vnto me a strong rocke, and an house of defence to saue me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my forteffe:
therefore for thy Names sake direct mee and guide me.

4 Draw me out of the net, that they haue laid priuily for me: for thou art my strength.

5 Into thine hand I commend my spirit:
for thou hast redeemed mee: O Lord God of truth.

6 I haue hated them that giue themselves to deceitfull vanities: for I trust in the Lord.

7 I will be glad and reioyce in thy mercy:
for thou hast seene my trouble: thou hast known my soule in aduersities.

8 And thou hast not shut me vp in the hand of the enemy, but hast set my feet at large.

9 Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord: for I am in trouble: mine eie, my soule and my bellie are consumed with griefe.

10 For my life is wasted with heauinesse, and my yeas with mourning: my strength fai-

6 Thy righteousness is like the mightie mountaines: thy iudgements are like a great deepe: thou, Lord, doest saue man and beast:

7 How excellent is thy mercie, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadow of thy wings.

8 They shall be satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuers of thy pleasures:

9 For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light:

10 Extend thy louing kindnesse vnto them that know thee, and thy righteousness vnto them that are vpright in heart.

11 Let not the foot of pride come against mee, and let not the hand of the wicked man moue me.

12 Here they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

13 Let not the proud aduance himselfe against mee, neither the power of the wicked drine me awaie.

14 That is, in their pride wherein they flatter themselves,

PSAL. XXXVII.

This Psalme containeth exhortation and consolation for the weak, that are grieved at the prosperitie of the wicked, and the affliction of the godly. 7 For how prosperously flower the wicked doe line for the time, he doeth affirme their felicitie to be vaine and transitorie, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the end they are destroyed as his enemies. 11 And how miserably that the righteous seemeth to line in the world, yet his ende is peace, and hee is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked, and preferred.

A Psalme of David.

1 Fret not thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euill doers.

2 For they shall soone be cut downe like grasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe.

3 Trust thou in the Lord and do good: dwel in the land, & thou shalt be fed assuredly.

4 And delite thy selfe in the Lord, and he shall giue thee thine hearts desire.

5 Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe.

6 And he shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light, and thy iudgement as the noone day.

7 Wait patiently vpon the Lord, & hope in him: fret not thy selfe for him which prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe.

8 Cease from anger, and leaue off wrath: fret not thy selfe also to doe euill.

9 For euill doers shall be cut off, and they that wait vpon the Lord, they shall inherite the land.

10 Therefore a little while, and the wicked shall not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found.

11 When God suffereth the wicked to prosper, it seemeth to the flesh that he fauoureth their doings. Iob 21. 7, &c. Meaning, except he moderate his afflictions, he shall lead to doe as they doe. He correcteth the impatience of our nature, which cannot abide till the fulnesse of Gods time come.

11 But meeke men shall possesse the earth, and shall haue their desire in the multitude of peace.

12 The wicked practise against the iust, and gnasheth his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shall laugh him to scorne: for he seeth that his day is coming.

14 The wicked haue drawn their sword, and haue bent their bow, to call downe the poore and needie, and to slay such as be of vpright conuersation.

15 But their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shall be broken.

16 A final thing vnto the iust man is better then great riches to the wicked and mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shall be broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lord knoweth the daies of vpright men, and their inheritance shall be perpetuall.

19 They shall not bee confounded in the perillous time, and in the dayes of famine they shall haue enough.

20 But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shall be consumed as the fat of lambs: euen with the smoke shall they consume away.

21 The wicked borroweth & payeth not againe: but the righteous is merciful & giueth.

22 For such as be blessed of God, shall inherite the lande, and they that be cursed of him shall be cut off.

23 The paths of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.

24 Though he fall, he shall not be cast off, for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue beene young, and am olde: yet I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.

26 But he is euer merciful and lendeth, and his seed enjoyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euill and doe good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his Saints: they shall be preferred for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shall be cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherite the land, and dwell therein for euer.

30 The mouth of the righteous wil speake of wisdom, and his tongue wil talke of iudgement.

31 For the Law of God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But the Lord will not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is iudged.

34 Waite thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, and thou shalt inherite the land: when the wicked men shall perish thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, & spreading himselfe like a greene Bay tree.

1. The godly are assured that the power and crafts of the wicked shall not preuaile against them, but fall on their owne necks, and therefore ought patiently to abide in Gods time, and in the meane while be still in their fins, & offer vp their treasures as a sacrifice of their obedience. 2. For they are daily fed, as with Manna from heauen, & haue sufficient when the wicked haue dear enough, but are hunger. 3. God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, and by what means to deliuer them. 4. For God will giue them contented mindes, and that which shall be necessary. 5. They shall vaine away suddenly: for they are fed for the day of laughter. 6. God so turneth him with his blessing, that he is able to help others. 7. God prospereth the faithful, because they walke in his waies with an vpright conscience. 8. When God doth exercise his faith with diuers tentations. 9. Though the iust man die, yet Gods blessings are extended to his posteritie, and though God suffer some iust man to lacke temporall benefits, yet he recompenseth him with spirituall treasures. 10. They shall continually be preferred vnder Gods wings, and haue at least inward rest. 11. These three points are required of the faithful, that their talke be godly, that Gods Law be in their heart, and that their life be vpright. 12. For though it be sometime expedient both for Gods glory and their saluation, yet he will approve their cause, & reuenge their wrong.

For his sake recover my strength, before I go hence and be not k For his sake would destroy him yearly: whereby we the how hard it is for the very Saints to keepe a measure in their words, when death and despair affaile them.

P S A L. XL.

David delivered from great danger, doeth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliverance, & commendeth his providence towards all mankind. 1 Then David becometh to give himselfe wholly to Gods service, & so declareth how God is truly worshipped. 14 Afterward he singeth thankes and praises God: and finally complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for ayde and succour.

To him that excolleth. A Psalme of David. I waited patiently for the Lord, and he inclined vnto me, and heard my crye.

2 He brought me also out of the horrible pit, out of the myrie clay, and set my feet vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And hee hath put in my mouth a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it and feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, and regardeth not the proud, nor such as turne aside to lies.

5 O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are more then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou didst not desire: for mine eares hast thou prepared burnt offering, & mine offering hast thou not required.

7 Then said I, Loe, I come: for in the roll of the booke is written of me,

8 I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy Law is within mine heart.

9 I have declared thy righteousness in the great Congregation: loe I will not reframe my lips, O Lord, thou knowest.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousness within mine heart, but I haue declared thy truth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy truth from the great congregation.

11 Withdraw not thou thy tender mercie from me, O Lord: let thy mercie & thy truth alway preferre me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed mee: my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon me, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are more in number then the haire of mine head: therefore mine heart hath failed me.

13 Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer me: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them be confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let all them, that seeke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee: and let them that loue thy saluation, say alway. The Lord be praised. k As touching the iudgement of the flesh, I was verily destitute of all counsell: yet faith inwardly moued mine heart to pray. l Hee delieth that Gods mercy may contend for him against the rage of his enemies. m Let the same shame and confusion light vpon them, which they intended to bring vpon mee.

be glad in thee: and let them that loue thy saluation, say alway. The Lord be praised.

17 Though I be poore and needy, the Lord thinketh on me: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

P S A L. XLI.

David, being grievously afflicted, blesteth them that pittie his case. 9 And complaineth of the treason of his vnto friends and familiars, as came to passe in Iudas, Iohn 13. 18 After, hee feeling the great mercies of God gently chastising him, and not suffering his enemies to triumph against him, 13 singeth most hearty thankes vnto God.

To him that excolleth. A Psalme of David. Blessed is hee that iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserue him aliuie: he shalbe blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the bed of sorrow: thou hast turned all his bed in his sicknesse.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercie vpon mee: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies speake euil of me, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish?

6 And if he come to see mee, he speaketh lies, but his heart heapeeth iniquitie within him, and when he commeth forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: enen against me doe they imagine mine hurt.

8 A mischief is light vpon him, and hee that lieth, shall no more rise.

9 Yea, my familiar friend, whom I trusted, which did eate of my bread, hath lifted vp the heele against me.

10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercie vpon me, and raise me vp: so I shall reward them.

11 By this I know that thou fauourest me, because mine enemy doth not triumph against me.

12 And as for me, thou vpholdest mee in mine integritie, and doest set mee before thy face for euer.

13 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel world without end. So be it, enen so be it.

i Shewing mee euident signes of thy Fatherly providence, k By this repetition he stirreth vp the faithfull to praise God.

P S A L. XLII.

The Prophet grievously complaineth, that being lessed by his persecutors, he could not bee present in the Congregation of Gods people, protesting that although he was separated in body from them, yet his heart was thitherward affectioned. 7 And last of all he sheweth, that he was not so farre overcome with these sorrowes and thoughtes, 8 But that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

To him that excolleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korab.

As the Hart braieth for the riuers of water, so panteth my soule after thee, O God.

liures of thirst and panting, he sheweth his seruent desire to serue God in his Temple.

n As the faithfull alwayes praise God for his benefites: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

a Not condemning him as accused, who the God doth viliue, knowing that there are diuers causes, why God layeth his hand vpon vs: yea, and afterward he re- search vs.

b When for sorrow and griefe of minde he casteth himselfe vpon his bed.

c Then hath refreshed him in his sickbed, and sent him comfort.

d That is, carie me, and cannot haue their euill hate quenched but with my precious death.

e For pretending to comfort me, he conspireth my death in his heart, and braggeth thereof.

f The enemies thought by his sharpe punishment, that God was become his mortall enemy.

g Ebr. the men of my peace.

h As David felt this falsehood, and as it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn 13. 18. so shall his members continually procure the same.

i Meaning, either in prosperitie of life, or in the true feare of God against all censations.

a As a treasure to bee kept of them, which were of the Leuites.

b By these similitudes of thirst and panting, he sheweth his seruent desire to serue God in his Temple.

My soule thirsteth for God, even for the living God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God?

My teares haue bene my meate day and night, while I say daily vnto mee, Where is thy God?

When I remembered these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, & led them into the house of God with a voice of singing, and praise, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.

Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and yaguet within me? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.

My God, my soule is cast downe within me, because I remember thee, from the land of Iorden, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar.

One deepe calleth another deepe by the noyse of thy water spoues: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me.

The Lord will grant his louing kinde- nesse in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, even a prayer vnto the God of my life.

I will say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten me? why go I mourning, when the enimie oppresseth me?

My bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reioyce of me, saying dayly vnto mee, Where is thy God?

Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within me? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: hee is my present helpe, and my God.

as God will certainly deliuer him.

PSAL. XLIII.

Hee prayeth to bee deliuered from them which conspire against him, that hee mighte ioyfully praise God in his holy congregation.

Iudge me, O God, and defend my cause against the ynnocent people: deliuer me from the deceitfull and wicked man.

For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put mee away? why goe I so mourning, when the enimie oppresseth me?

Send thy light and thy truth: let them leade me: let them bring mee vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles.

Then will I goe vnto the altar of God, even vnto the God of my ioy and gladnesse: and vpon the harpe will I giue thanks vnto thee, O God, my God.

Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within me? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks, hee is my present helpe, and my God.

as God will certainly deliuer him.

PSAL. XLIIII.

The faithful remember the great mercy of God toward his people. 9 After, they complaine, because they feele it ment. 27. After they alludge the couenant made with Abraham, for the keeping whereof they shew what grieuous things they suffered. 23. Finally they pray vnto God not to contemne their affliction, seeing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

We haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue tolde vs the workes that thou hast done in their dayes, in the old time:

How thou hast driuen out the heathen with thine hand, and planted them: how thou hast destroyed the people, and caused them to grow.

For they inherited not the land by their owne sword, neither did their owne arme saue them: but thy right hand, and thine arme and the light of thy countenance, because thou diddest fauour them.

Thou art my King, O God: send helpe vnto Iakob.

Through thee haue wee thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy Name haue we troden downe them that rose againe vs.

For I doe not trust in my bowe, neither can my sword saue me.

But thou hast saued vs from our aduersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.

Therefore wil we praise God continually, and will confesse thy Name for euer. Selah.

But now thou art farre off, and putteth vs to confusion, & goest not forth with our armies.

Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersarie, and they which hate vs, spoile for themselves.

Thou giueth vs as sheepe to be eaten, and dost scatter vs among the nations.

Thou sellest thy people without gaine, and dost not increase their price.

Thou makest vs a reproch to our neighbours, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.

Thou makest vs a prouerbe among the nations, and a nodding of the head among the people.

My confusion is dayly before me, and the shame of my face hath couered me,

For the voice of the slanderer and rebuker, for the enimie and auenger.

All this is come vpon vs; yet doe wee not forget thee, neither deale wee falsly concerning thy couenant.

Our heart is not turned backe, neither our steps gone out of thy paths, Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of dragons, and couered vs with the shadow of death.

If wee haue forgotten the Name of our God, They boast not of their vertues, but declare that they rest vpon God in the middle of their afflictions: who punished not now their finnes, but by hard afflictions called them to the consideration of the heavenly ioyes. Or, whales: meaning the bottomlesse seas of tribulations. Here we see the power of faith, which can be ouercome by no perils.

God,

c As others take pleasure in eating and drinking, he was altogether giuen to weeping.

d That is, how I led the people to serue thee in thy Tabernacle, and now seeing my contrary state, I die for sorrow.

e Though he sometimes grieues at the sight of the flesh, yet he is not cast downe, for he is grounded on Gods promises, and knoweth the victorie.

f That is, when I remember thee in this land of my banishment, among the mountaine.

g Affliction came to this vpon me, that I felt my selfe as ouerwhelmed with griefe, where there is no ende of our miserie, till God be pacified, and send remedie.

h He assureth himselfe of Gods helpe in time to come.

i That is, I am most grievously tormented.

k This repetition doeth declare that Dauid did not overcome a once: to teach vs to bee constant, forasmuch as God will certainly deliuer him.

a This Psalme seemeth to haue bene made by some excellent Prophet for the use of the people, when the Church was in extreme miserie, either at their returne from Babylon, or vnder Antiochus, or in such like affliction.

c To wit, our fathers.

d Of Canaan, e That is, our fathers.

f Gods free mercie and loue is the onely fountaine and beginning of the Church, Deut. 4. 37.

g Because thou art our King, therefore deliuer thy people from their miserie.

h Because they and their forefathers made bech one Church, they apply that to themselves, which before they did attribute to their fathers.

i As they confessed before, that their strength came of God, so now they acknowledge that this affliction came by his iust judgement.

j Or, as their pleasure.

k Rem. 8. 36.

l Knowing God to be author of this calamitie, they remore not, but seeke remedie at his hands, who wounded them.

q Or, whales: meaning the bottomlesse seas of tribulations. Here we see the power of faith, which can be ouercome by no perils.

^p They shew that they honour God aright, because they trusted in him alone.

^q They take God to witness, that they were upright in him.

^r The faithful make this their comfort, that the wicked punish them not for their finnes, but for Gods sake, Mat. 5. 10.

^s Pet. 4. 14. There is no hope of recovery, except thou put to thine hand, and raise vs vp.

God, & holden vp our hands to a strange god, 21 Shall not God search this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart.

22 Surely for thy sake are we slain continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

23 Vp, why sleepest thou, O Lord? awake, be not farre off for euer.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face? and forgettest our miserie and our affliction?

25 For our soule is beaten down vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.

26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy mercies sake.

Which is the onely and sufficient ranke to deliuer both body and soule from all kinde of slaerie and miserie.

PSAL. XLV.

1 The maiestie of Salomon, his honour, strength, beautie, riches, and power are praised, and also his marriage with the Egyptian being an heathen woman is blessed, 10 If shee can renounce her people and the loue of her country, and giue her selfe wholly to her husband. Vnder the which figure the wonderfull maiestie and increase of the kingdome of Christ and his Church his spouse now taken of the Gentiles is described.

^a To him that excelleth on a Shoshannim a song of loue to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Mine heart will utter forth a good matter: I will intreate in my workes of the King: my tongue is as the penne of a swift writer.

2 Thou art fairer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for euer.

3 Gird thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mightie, to wit thy worship and thy glory,

4 And prosper with thy glory: ride vpon the worde of truth and of meekenesse and of righteousness: so thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.

5 Thine arrowes are sharpe to pearce the heart of the Kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee.

6 Thy throne, O God, is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousness.

7 Thou louest righteousness, and hatest wickednesse, because God, even thy God hath anoynted thee with the oyle of gladnesse aboue thy fellowes.

8 All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and cassia, when thou comest out of the yuorie palaces, & where they haue made thee glad.

9 Kings daughters were among thine honourable wines: vpon thy right hand did stand the Queene in a vesture of gold of Ophir.

10 Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people, and thy fathers house.

11 So shall the King haue pleasure in thy beautie: for hee is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him.

12 And the daughter of Tyrus with the rich of the people, shall doe homage before thy face with presents.

13 The Kings daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of broidred gold.

14 She shall bee brought vnto the King in raiment of needle worke: the virgines that follow after her, and her companions shall bee brought vnto thee.

15 With ioy and gladnesse shall they bee brought, and shall enter into the Kings palace.

16 In stead of thy fathers shall thy children be: thou shalt make them princes through all the earth.

17 I will make thy Name to bee remembered through all generations: therefore shall the people giue thanks vnto thee world without end.

PSAL. XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thanksgiving for the deliuerance of Ierusalem, after Sennacherib with his armie was drinen away, or some other like sudden and marueilous deliuerance by the mighty hand of God. 8 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefite, doeth exhort the faithfull to giue themselves wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection they shall be safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because this is his delight to assuage the rage of the wicked, when they are most busie against the iust.

3 Though the waters thereof rage, and be troubled, and the mountaines shake at the surges of the same. Selah.

4 Yet there is a Riuer, whose streame shall make glad the citie of God: even the Sanctuary of the Tabernacles of the most High.

5 God is in the mids of it: therefore shall it not be mooued: God shall helpe it very early.

6 When the nations raged, and the kingdomes were mooued, God thundred, and the earth melted.

7 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iakob is our refuge. Selah.

8 Come, and behold the works of the Lord, what defolations hee hath made in the earth.

4 He hath chosen our inheritance for vs: euen the glory of Iacob whome hee loued. Selah.

5 God is gone vp with triumph, euen the Lord, with the sound of the trumpet.

6 Sing praises to God, sing praises: sing prayes vnto our King, sing prayes.

7 For God is the King of all the earth: sing praises euen to that hath vnderstanding.

8 God reigneth ouer the heathen: God sitteth vpon his holy throne.

9 The princes of the people are gathered vnto the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the world belong to God: he is greatly to be exalted.

PSALM XLVIII.

1 A notable deliuerance of Ierusalem from the hand of many Kings is mentioed, for the which shanges are given to God, and the state of that citie is praised, that hath God so presently at all times ready to defend them. The Psalm seemeth to be made in the time of Ahas, Iehoshaphat, Asa, or Ezechiah: for in their times chiefly was the citie by forraigne princes assaulted.

Great is the Lord, and greatly to be prayed in the citie of our God, euen vpon his holy mountaine.

2 Mount Zion, lying Northward, is faire in situation: it is the ioy of the whole earth, and the citie of the great King.

3 In the palaces thereof God is knowne for a refuge.

4 For loe, the kings were gathered, and went together.

5 When they saw it, they marueiled: they were attonied, and suddenly driuen backe.

10 O God, according to thy Name, so is thy praise vnto the worlds end: thy right hand is full of righteousnesse.

11 Let mount Zion reioyce, and the daughters of Iudah bee glad, because of thy iudgements.

12 Compassie about Zion, and goe round about it, and tell the towres thereof.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The holy Ghost calleth all men to the consideration of mans life, 7 Shewing them not to bee most blessed, that are most wealthy, and therefore not to be feared: but contrariwise he listeth vpon our minds to consider how all things are ruled by Gods providence: 14 Who as hee iudgeth these worldly misers to euilllasting torments, 15 So doth hee preferre his, and will reward them in the day of the resurrection, 2. Thes. 1. 6.

g To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Hear, this, all ye people: giue eare, all ye that dwell in the world,

2 As well low as he, both rich and poore.

3 My mouth shall speake of wisdom, and the meditation of mine heart is of knowledge.

4 I will encline mine eare to a parable, and utter my graue matter vpon the harpe.

5 Wherefore should I feare in the euill dayes, when iniquitie shall compassie me about, as at mine heeles?

6 They trust in their goods, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches.

7 Yet a man can by no meanes redeeme his brother: he cannot giue his ransom to God.

8 (So precious is the redemption of their soules, and the continuance for euer)

9 That hee may liue still for euer, and not see the graue.

10 For he seeth that wise men die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, and leaue their riches for others.

11 Yet they thinke, their houses, and their habitations shall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, and call their lands by their names.

12 But man shall not continue in honour: he is like the beasts that die.

13 This their way uttereth their foolishnes: yet their posterity delight in their talke. Selah.

14 Like sheepe they lie in graue: death deuoureth them, and the righteous shall haue domination ouer them in the morning: for

Or, labour that their name may bee famous in earth. h As touching the death of the body. i They speake and doe the same thing that their fathers did. k As they are gathered into the fold, so shall they bee brought to the graue. l Because they haue no part of life euilllasting. m Christs coming is as the morning, when the elect shall reigne with Christ their head ouer the wicked.

a Here is figured Christ, vnto who all his should giue willing obedience, and who would shew himselfe terrible to the wicked. b He hath made the lawes, who were the keepers of the Law and Prophets, scoolemasters to the Gentiles, that they should with gladnesse obey them. c God hath chosen vs about all other nations to enjoy a most glorious inheritance. d He doth alude vnto the trumpets that were blown at solemne feasts: but he doth further signifie the triumph of Christ and his glorious ascension into the heauens. e He requireth that vnderstanding be ioynd with singing, lest the Name of God bee prophaned with vaine crying. f He praiseth Gods highnesse, for that hee ioyneeth the great princes of the world (whom he calleth shields) to the worship of his Church.

a Some put this difference betweene a song, and Psalm, saying that it is called a song, when there is no instrument, but the voice: and the Psalm, the contrary. The song of the Psalm is when the instruments begin, and the voice followeth. The Psalm of the song, the contrary. b Albeit God shew his wonders through all the world, yet he will be chiefly prayed in his Church. c Because the word of saluation came thence to all them that should beleeue. d Except God were the defence thereof, neither situation nor munition could preuaile. e They conspired & went against Gods people. f The enemies were afraid at the sight of the citie. g That is, of Cilicia, or of the sea called Mediterranean. h To wit, of our fathers, so haue we proued: or, God hath performed his promise.

i In all places where thy Name shall be heard of, men shall praise thee, when they heare of thy marvellous workes. k Let Ierusalem and the cities of Iudah reioyce for thy iust iudgements against thine enemies. l For in this outward defence and a Hee will extract how God gouerneth the world by his providence, which cannot be perceived by the iudgement of the flesh. b Though wickednesse reigne and enemies rage, feeling Gods will execute his iudgements against the wicked in time conuenient. c To trust in riches is meere madnesse, seeing they can neither restore life, nor prolong it. d That is, so rare, or not to be found, as prophetic was precious in the dayes of Eli. e Meaning, it is impossible to liue for euer, although that life and death are onely in Gods hands. f In that that death maketh no difference betweene the persons. g That is, not to their children, but to strangers. Yet the wicked profite therein by these examples, but still dreame an immortality in earth. h As touching the death of the body. i They speake and doe the same thing that their fathers did. k As they are gathered into the fold, so shall they bee brought to the graue. l Because they haue no part of life euilllasting. m Christs coming is as the morning, when the elect shall reigne with Christ their head ouer the wicked.

15 But God shall deliuer my soule from the power of the graue: for hee will receiue me. Selah.

16 Bee not thou afraid when one is made rich, and when the glory of his house is increased.

17 * For hee shall take nothing away when hee dieth: neither shall his pompe descend after him.

18 For while hee liued, † hee reioyced himselfe: and men wil praise thee when thou makest much of thy selfe.

19 † He shall enter into the generation of his fathers, and they shall not liue for euer.

20 Man is in honour, and vnderstandeth not: he is like to the beasts that perish.

Or, because hee hath receiued me. * Job 27. 19. † I shall be blessed in his soule. n The flatterers praise them that liue in delights and pleasures. Or, his soule. o And not paste the terme appointed for life. p Both they and their fathers shall liue here but a while, and at length die for euer. q He condemneth mans ingratitude, who hauing receiued excellent gifts of God, abuse them like a beast to his owne condemnation.

P S A L L.

1 Because the Church is alway full of hypocrites, 8 which doe imagine that God will bee worshipped with outward ceremonies onely, without the heart: and especially the Iewes were of this opinion, because of their figures and ceremonies of the Law, thinking that their sacrifices were sufficient, 21 Therefore the Prophet dooth reprove this grosse error, and pronounceth the Name of God to bee blasphemed, where holiness is set in ceremonies. 22 For hee declareth the worship of God to be spiritual, whereof are two principall parts, innocency, and thanksgiving.

A Psalm of Asaph.

THE God of gods, euen the Lord hath spoken, and called the earth from the rising vp of the sunne vnto the going downe thereof.

2 Out of Zion, which is the perfection of beautie, hath God shined.

3 Our God shal come & shal not keepe silence: a fire shal deuoure before him, & a mighty tempest shal be mooued round about him.

4 He shall call the heauen aboue, and the earth to iudge his people.

5 Gather my Saints together vnto mee, those that make a couenant with me with sacrifice.

6 And the heauens shall declare his righteousness: for God is Iudge himselfe. Selah.

7 Heare, O my people, and I will speake: heare, O Israel, and I will testify vnto thee: for I am God, euen thy God.

8 I will not reprove thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offerings, that haue not bene continually before me.

9 I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goates out of thy folds.

10 For all the beasts of the forest are mine, and the beasts on a thousand mountaines.

11 I know all the foules on the mountaines: and the wilde beasts of the field are mine.

12 If I bee hungry, I will not tell thee: for the world is mine, and all that therein is.

13 Will I eate the flesh of buls? or drinke the blood of goates?

a Who was either the author, or a chief finger, so whom it was committed, b To please against his stumbling people before heauen and earth. c Because God had chosen it to haue his Name there called upon, and also his image shined there in the doctrine of the law. d As when God gaue his Law in mount Sinai, he appeared terrible with thunder and tempest, so will hee appeare terrible to take account for the keeping thereof. e As witnesses against the hypocrites. f God in respect of his elect, calleth his whole body holy, Saints, and his people. g Which should know that sacrifices are feales of the couenant betweene God and his people, and not set religion therein. h For I passe not for sacrifices, accepteth the true sacrifice, which is to conuerse your faith in my promises. i Though hee did delight in sacrifice, yet had hee no neede of mens helpe thereunto. k Though mans life for the infirmities thereof hath neede of food, yet God, whose life quickeneth all the world, hath no neede of such means.

14 Offer vnto God praise, and pay thy vowes vnto the most High.

15 And call vpon mee in the day of trouble: so wil I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie me.

16 But vnto the wicked said God, What hast thou to do to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldest take my couenant in thymouth, 17 Seeing thou hatest to be reformed, and hast cast my words behind thee?

18 For when thou seekest a thiefe, thou runnest with him, and thou art partaker with the adulterers.

19 Thou giuest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgettest deceit.

20 Thou protestest, and speakest against thy brother, and slanderest thy mothers sonne.

21 These things hast thou done, and I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest thou was like thee: but I wil reprove thee, and I set them in order before thee.

22 Oh consider this, yee that forget God, lest I teare you in pieces, and there be none that can defend you.

23 Hee that offereth praise, shall glorifie me: and to him that disposeth his way aright, wil I shew the saluation of God.

f As God hath appointed. t That is, declare my selfe to be his Sauour.

I Shew thy selfe mindful of Gods benefites by thanksgiving. m Why doest thou come to be of my people and talkest of my couenant, seeing thou art but an hypocrite? n And to liue according to my word. o He sheweth what are the fruits of them that contemne Gods word. p He noteth the cruelty of hypocrites, which spare not in their talke or iudgement. q I will write all thy wicked deeds in a rolle, and make thee to read and acknowledge them whether thou wilt or no. r Vnder the which is contained faith and inuocation.

1 When David was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan, for his great offences, hee did not onely acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his naturall corruption and iniquitie, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posteritie. 7 Therefore first hee desireth Gods forgiveness, 10 And to renew in him his holy Spirit, 13 With promise that he wil not be vnmindful of those great graces. 18 Finally fearing lest God would punish the whole Church for his fault, hee requireth that hee would rather increase his graces toward the same.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, when the Prophet Nathan came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba.

H Aue mercie vpon me, O God, according to thy louing kindnesse: according to the multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities.

2 Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquitie, and cleanse me from my sinne.

3 For I know mine iniquities, and my sinne is euer before me.

4 Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, and done euill in thy sight, that thou mayest be iust when thou speakest, and pure when thou iudget.

5 Behold, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hath my mother conceiued me.

6 Behold, thou louest truth in the inward affections: therefore hast thou taught me wisdom in the secret of mine heart.

11 Cast mee not away from thy presence, and take not thine holy Spirit from me.

12 Restore to mee the ioy of thy saluation, and stablish me with thy free Spirit.

13 Then shall I teach thy wayes vnto the wicked, & sinners shall be conuerted vnto thee.

14 Deliuer me from blood, O God, which art the God of my saluation, and my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousness.

15 Open thou my lips, O Lord, and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.

16 For thou desirest no sacrifice, though I would giue it: thou delightest not in burnt offering.

1 David describeth the arrogant tyrannie of his aduersarie Doeg: who by false surmises caused Ahimelech with the rest of the Priests to bee slaine. 5 David prophesieth his destruction, 6 And encourageth the faithfull to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are most sharpe against his aduersaries. 9 And finally he rendreth thanks to God for his deliuerance. In this Psalme is lively set forth the kingdome of Antichrist.

2 Thy tongue imagineth mischief, and is like a sharpe rasor, that cutteth deceitfully.

3 Thou doest loue euill more then good, and lies more then to speake the truth. Selah.

4 Thou louest all words that may destroy, O deceitfull tongue!

5 So shall God destroy thee for euer: he shall take thee and plucke thee out of thy tabernacle, and droot thee out of the land of the liuing. Selah.

6 The righteous also shall see it, and feare, and shall laugh at him, saying,

4 My soule is among lions: I lie among the children of men, that are set on fire: whose teeth are speares and arrows, and their tongue a sharpe sworde.

5 Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboute the heauen, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

6 They haue laid a net for my steps: my soule is pressed downe: they haue digged a pit before me, and are fallen into the middes of it. Selah.

7 Mine heart is ^hprepared, O God, mine heart is prepared: I will sing and giue praise.

8 Awake my ⁱtongue, awake viole and harpe: I will awake earely.

9 I will prayse thee, O Lorde, among the people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

10 For thy mercie is great vnto the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the ^kcloudes.

11 Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboute the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

PSAL. LVIII.

1 He describeth the malice of his enemies the flatterers of Saul, who both secretly and openly sought his destruction, from whom he appealeth to Gods iudgement, 10 Shewing that the iust shall reioyce, when they see the punishment of the wicked to the glory of God.

To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of David on Michiam.

IS it true? O ^aCongregation, speake ye iustly? O sonnes of men, iudge ye vprightly?

2 Yea, rather ye imagine mischief in your heart: ^byour handes execute crueltie vpon the earth.

3 The wicked ^care strangers from the wombe: euen from the belly haue they erred, and speake lyes.

4 Their poyson is euen like the poyson of a serpent: like the deafe ^dadder that stoppeth his eare.

5 Which heareth not the voyce of the enchanter, though he be most expert in charming.

6 Breake their ^eteeth, O God, in their mouthe: breake the iawes of the yong lions, O Lord.

7 Let them ^fmelt like the waters, let them passe away: when he shooteth his arrowes, let them be as broken.

8 Let him consume like a snail that melteth, and like the vntimely fruite of a woman, moment can destroy their force whereof they brag.

that hath not seene the sunne.

9 ^gAs raw flesh before your pots feele the fire of thornes: so let him carie them away as with a whirlewinde in his wrath.

10 The righteous shall ^hreioyce when he seeth the vengeance: hee shall wash his feet in the ⁱblood of the wicked.

11 And men shall say, ^kVerely there is fruit for the righteous: doubtlesse there is a God that iudgeth in the earth.

great. k Seeing God governeth all by his prouidence, he must needs put difference betweene the godly and the wicked.

CHAP. LIX.

1 David being in great danger of Saul, who sent to slay him in his bed, prayeth vnto God. 3 Declareth his innocence, and their furie. 5 Desiring God to destroy all those that sinne of malicious wickednesse. 11 Whom though hee keepe alive for a time to exercise his people, yet in the ende hee will consume them in his wrath. 13 That hee may be knowne to be the God of Iakob to the ende of the world. 16 For this he singeth praises to God, assured of his mercies.

To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of David on a Michiam. When Saul sent and they did watch the house to kill him.

O My God, ^bdeliuer mee from mine enemies: defend me from them that rise vp against mee.

2 Deliuer me from the wicked doers, and saue me from the bloody men.

3 For loe, they haue laid wait for my soule: the mighty men are gathered against mee, not for mine ^coffence, nor for my sinne, O Lord.

4 They runne and prepare themselves without a fault on my part: arise therefore to assist me, and behold.

5 Euen thou, O Lord God of hostes, O God of Israel, awake to visite all the heathen, and be not ^dmercifull vnto all that transgresse maliciously. Selah.

6 They go to and fro in the euening: they barkelike ^edogs, and goe about the citie.

7 Behold, they ^fbragge in their talke, and swordes are in their lips: for, Who, say they, doeth heare?

8 But thou, O Lord, shalt haue them in derision, and thou shalt laugh at all the heathen.

9 Hee is strong: but I will waite vpon thee: for God is my defence.

10 My mercifull God will ^hpreuent me: God will let me see my desire vpon mine enemies.

11 Slay them ⁱnot, lest my people forget it: but scatter them abroad by thy power, and put them downe, O Lord our shield.

12 For the sinne of their mouth, and the words of their lips: and let them be ^ktaken in their pride, euen for their periurie and lies, that they speake.

13 ^lConsume them in thy wrath: consume them that they be no more: and let them know that God ruleth in Iakob, euen vnto the ends of the world. Selah.

k That in their misery and shame they may bee as glasses and examples of Gods vengeance. l When the time shall come, and when they haue sufficiently sinned for an example of thy vengeance vnto other.

g As flesh is taken raw out of the pot before the water seeth: so he deliuereth God to destroy their enterprises before they bring them to passe.
h With a pure affection.
i Their punishment & slaughter shall bee to a Reade Psal. 14.

b Though his enemies were euen at hand to destroy him, yet he assured himselfe that God had wayes enow in his hand to deliuer him.
c For I am innocent to them-wards, and haue not offended them.
d Seeing it appertaineth to Gods iudgements to punish the wicked, he desired God to execute his vengeance on the reprobate, who maliciously persecute his Church.
e He compareth their cruelty to hungry dogs, shewing that they are neuer weary in doing euill.
f They boast openly of their wicked doings, and every word is as a sword for they neither feare God nor are ashamed of men.
g Though Saul haue neuer so great power, yet I know that thou dost bridle him: therefore will I patiently hope on thee.
h He will not faile to succour me, when neede requireth.
i Altogether, but by little and little, that the people, seeing oftentimes thy iudgements may be mindfull of thee.

k So that the wicked shall see thy power, and the godly thy mercy.

a To wit of Ziph. 1. Sam. 23. 14. b Though he was both hungry and in great distress, yet he made God his sufficiency, and about all meate and drink. c In this matter I exercise my selfe in the contemplation of thy power and glorie, as if I were in thy Sanctuary. d The remembrance of thy fauour is more sweete vnto me then all the pleasures & dainties of the world. e He assureth himselfe by the spirit of God to haue the gift of constancy. f He propheseth of the destruction of Saul and them that take his part, whose bodies shall not be buried, but be deuoured with wilde beasts. g All I sweare by God aright, or professe him, shall reioyce in this worthy King.

a In that he calleth to God with his voice, it is a signe that his prayer was vehement, and that his life was in danger. b That is, from their secret malice. c To wit, their outward violence. d False reports and slanders. e To be without feare of God, and reuerence of man, is a signe of reprobation. f The more that the wicked see Gods children in miserie, the more bold and impudent are they in oppressing them. g There is no way for secret and subtil to doe hurt, which they inuented not for his destruction.

12 And to thee, O Lord, mercie: for thou rewardest euery one according to his worke.

PSAL. LXIII.

1 David after he had been in great danger by Saul in the desert of Ziph, made this Psalme. 2 wherein he giueth thanks to God for his wonderful deliuerance, in whose mercies he trusted euen in the midst of his miseries. 3 Prophecying the destruction of Gods enemies. 11 And conuincing his hearers to all other trust in the Lord.

g A Psalme of David, When hee was in the wilderness of Iudah.

O God, thou art my God, early will I seeke thee: my soule^b thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a barren and drie land without water.

2 Thus^c I behold thee as in the Sanctuary, when I beheld thy power and thy glory.

3 For thy louing kindesse is better then life: therefore my lips shall praise thee.

4 Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy Name,

5 My soule shall be satisfied, as with^d marrowe and fatnesse, and my mouth shall praise thee with ioyfull lips.

6 When I remember thee on my bed, and when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches.

7 Because thou hast been my helper, therefore vnder the shadowe of thy wings will I reioyce.

8 My soule^e cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpl oldeth me.

9 Therefore they that seeke my soule to destroy it, they shall goe into the lowest parts of the earth.

10 They shall cast him downe with the edge of the sword, and they shall bee a portion for Foxes.

11 But the King shall reioyce in God and all that sweare by him shall reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lies, shall be stopped.

PSAL. LXIII.

1 David prayeth against the furie and false reports of his enemies. 7. He declareth their punishment and destruction. 10 To the comfort of the iust and the glory of God.

g To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

Hear my^a voice, O God, in my prayer: preferue my life from feare of the enemy.

2 Hide mee from the^b conspiracie of the wicked, and from the^c rage of the workers of iniquitie.

3 Which haue whet their tongue like a sword, and shotte for their arrowes^d bitter words:

4 To shoote at the vpight in secret: they shoote at him suddenly, and feare not.

5 They encourage themselues in a wicked purpose: they commune together to lay snares priuily, and say, Who shall see them?

6 They haue sought out iniquities, and haue accomplished that which they sought out, euen euery one & his secret thoughts, and the depth of his heart.

7 But God will shoote an arrow at them suddenly: their strokes shall be at once.

8 They shall cause their owne tongue to fall vpon them: and whosoever shall see them, shall flee away.

9 And all men shall see it, and declare the worke of God, and they shall vnderstand, what he hath wrought.

10 But the righteous shall bee glad in the Lord, and trust in him: and all that are vpight of heart, shall reioyce.

PSAL. LXV.

1 A praye and thanksgiving vnto God by the faithfull, who are signified by Zion. 4. For the chusing, preservation and gouernance of them. 9 And for the plentiful blessings poured forth vpon all the earth, but specially toward his Church.

g To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of David.

O God, praise waiteth for thee in Zion, and vnto thee shall the vow be performed.

2 Because thou hearest the prayer, vnto thee shall all^b flesh come.

3 Wicked deeds^c haue preuailed against me: but thou wilt be mercifull vnto our transgressions.

4 Blessed is he, whom thou chusest and causest to come to thee: he shall dwell in thy courts, and we shall be satisfied with the pleasures of thine house, euen of thine holy Temple.

5 O God of our saluation, thou wilt^d answer vs with fearefull signes in thy righteousnes, O thou the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farre off in the^e sea.

6 Hee stablisheth the mountaines by his power: and is girded about with strength.

7 He appeareth the^f noise of the seas, and the noise of the waues thereof, and the tumults of the people.

8 They also that dwell in the vttermost parts of the earth, shall be afraid of thy signes: thou shalt make the^g East and the West to reioyce.

9 Thou^h visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou makest it very rich: theⁱ Riuer of God is full of water: thou preparest them corne: for so thou appointest^j it.

10 Thou^k waterest abundantly the furrowes thereof: thou causest the^l raine to descend into the valleys thereof: thou makest it soft with showres, and blestest the bud thereof.

11 Thou crownest the yeere with thy goodnesse, and thy steps drop fatnesse.

12 They drop vpon the pastures of the wilderness: and the hilles shall be compassed with gladnesse.

13 The pastures are clad with sheepe: the valleys also shall be couered with corne: therefore they shoute for ioy, and sing.

PSAL. LXVI.

1 He prouoketh all men to praise the Lord, and to consider his workes. 6 Hee setteth forth the power of God to affray the rebels. 10 And sheweth how God hath deliuered Israel from great bondage and afflictions. 23 Hee promi-

b To see Gods benefits in euery mans eyes, and how he hath caught them in their owne snares. i When they shall consider that he will be fauourable to them, as he was to his seruant David.

a Thou giest daily new occasions to thy Church to praise thee. b Not only the Jewes, but also the Gentiles in the Kingdoms of Christ. c He importeth it to his fauour, and to the fauour of the people, that God who was accustomed to afflict them, withdraw his face from them. d Those will declare thy praise to be the praise of thy Church, in destroying their enemies, as thou didst in Israel. e As of all barbarous nations and farre off. f He sheweth that there is no part nor creature in the world, which is not gouerned by Gods power and providence. g Euen in the going forth of the morning and of the evening. h To wit, with raine. i That is, Shiloah, or frame. j Thou hast appointed the earth to bring forth food to man, by this description he sheweth that all the order of nature is a testimony of Gods loue toward vs, who cause all creatures to ferue our necessities. l That is, the dumb creatures shall not only reioyce for a time for Gods benefits, but shall continually sing.

Job to give sacrifice, 16. And prayeth all men in prayer who God hath done for him, and to praise his Name.

To him that excelleth. A Song or Psalme.

Rehome in God, all ye inhabitants of the earth.

1 Sing forth the glory of his name: make his praises glorious.

2 Say vnto God: How terrible are they thy workes, through the greatness of thy power, that thine enemies be in subjection vnto thee.

3 All the world shall worship thee, adding vnto thee every king of thy Name. Selah.

4 Come and behold the workes of God:
hee is terrible in his doing toward the sonnes of men.

5 He hath turned the sea into drie lande:
they passed through the river on foot: there did we reioyce in him.

6 He ruled the world with his power: his eyes beheld the nations: the rebellious shall not exalt themselves. Selah.

7 Praise our God, ye people: and make the voice of his praise to be heard.

8 Which holdeth our soules in life, and suffereth not our feete to slip.

9 For thou, O God, hast pronounced, thou hast tried vs as silver is tried.

10 Thou hast brought vs into the snare, and hast strait chained vpon our loines.

11 Thou hast caused men to ride ouer our heads: wee went into fire and into water, but thou broughtest vs out into a weathy place.

12 I will goe into thine house with burnt offerings, and will pay thee my vowes.

13 Which my lips haue promised, and my mouth hath spoken in mine affliction.

14 And will offer vnto thee the burnt offerings of fat rammes with incense: I will prepare bullockes and goats. Selah.

15 Come and hearken all ye that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my soule.

16 I called vnto him with my mouth, and he was exalted with my tongue.

17 If I regard wickednesse in mine heart, the Lord will not heare me: neither will he call me by his name.

18 But God hath heard me, and considered the voice of my prayer.

19 Praised bee God, which hath not put backe my prayer: nor his mercie from me.

20 I delight in wickednes, God will not heare me: but if I confesse, thou wilt heare me, O Lord.

21 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

22 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

23 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

24 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

25 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

26 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

27 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

28 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

29 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

30 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

31 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

32 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

33 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

34 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

35 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

36 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

37 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

38 Thy prayer is heard, O Lord, and
thy voice is heard in the house of prayer.

2 That they may know thy way vpon earth, and thy saving health among all nations.

3 Let the people praise thee, O God: let all the people praise thee.

4 Let the people be glad and reioyce: for thou shalt iudge the people righteously, and gouerne the nations vpon the earth. Selah.

5 Let the people praye thee, O God: let all the people praye thee.

6 Then shall the earth bring forth her increase, and God, our God shall blisse vs.

7 God shall blisse vs, and all the endes of the earth shall feare him.

PSALM LXVIII.

In this Psalme David setteth forth as in a glasse the won-derfull mercies of God toward his people.

Who by all manners and wayes of prayer declared himselfe to them.

15 And therefore Gods Church by reason of his promise, grace and vittories doeth itselfe without comparison all mightily singe.

24 Hee exhorteth therefore all men to praise God for ever.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of song of David.

God will arise, and his enemies shall bee scattered: they also that hate him, shall flee before him.

2 As the smoke vanisheth, so shall thou drive them away: and as waxe melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God.

3 But the righteous shall be glad, and re-ioyce before God: yea, they shall leape for ioy.

4 Sing vnto God, and sing praises vnto his Name: exalt him that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name: lah, and reioyce before him.

5 He is a Father of the fatherlesse, and a Iudge of the widowes, even God in his holy habitation.

6 God maketh the solitary to dwell in families, and deliuereth them that were prisoners in stocks: but the rebellious shall dwell in a dry land.

7 O God, when thou wentest forth before thy people: when thou wentest through the wildernesse, (Selah)

8 The earth shooke, and the heauens dropped at the presence of this God: even Sinai was moued at the presence of God, even the God of Israel.

9 Thou, O God, sentest a gracious raine vpon thine inheritance, and thou didst refresh it when it was weary.

10 Thy Congregation dwelled therein:
for thou, O God, hast of thys goodnesse prepared it for the poore.

11 The Lord gaue matter to the women to tell of the great armie.

12 Kings of the armies did flee: they did flee, and the that remained in the house, diuided the spoile.

13 The fashion then was, that women sang songs after the victory, as Miriam, Deborah, Iudith and others. The pray was so great that not onely the souldiers, but women also had part therof.

Dauids enemies.

1 Though God suffer his Church for a time to lie in blacke darkness, yet he will restore it and make it most shining and white.
2 In the land of Canaan where his Church was, Zion this Church of God doth excell all worldly things, not in pompe and outward shew, but by the inward grace of God, which there remaineth, because of this dwelling there.
3 Why boast ye of your strength & beauty against this dwelling of God.
4 As God overcame the enemies of his Church, tooke them prisoners, & made them tributaries, so Christ, which is God manifested in flesh, subdued Satan and sinned vnder vs, and gaue vnto his church most liberall gifts of his spirit, Ephe. 4.8.
5 In most extreme dangers God hath infinite waies to deliuer his.
6 As he deliuered his Church once from Og of Bashan, & other tyrants, & from the dangers of the red sea, so will he still doe as oft as needfullie requireth.
7 This is in the blood of that great slaughter, where dogs shall lap blood.
8 That is, how thou, which art chief king goest out with thy people, to warre and against them the victory.

16 Why leape yee, ye high mountaines? as for this Mountaine, God delighteth to dwell in it: yea, the Lord will dwell in it for euer.
17 The clarets of God are twenty thousand thousand Angels, and the Lord is among them as in the Sanctuary of Sinai.
18 Thou art gone vp on high: thou hast led captiuitie captiue, and receiued gifts for men: yea, euen the rebellious hast thou led, that the Lord God might dwell there.
19 Praised be the Lord euen the God of our saluation, which bladeth vs dayly with benefites. Selah.
20 This is our God, euen the God that saueth vs: and to the Lord God belong the issues of death.
21 Surely God will wound the head of his enemies, and he haire pate of him that walke in his finnes.
22 The Lord hath sayd, I will bring my people againe from Bashan: I will bring them againe from the depths of the Sea.
23 That thy foot may be dipped in blood, and the tongue of thy dogges in the blood of the enemies, euen in it.
24 They haue seene, O God, thy goings, the goings of my God, and my King which art in the Sanctuary.
25 The fingers went before, and the players of instruments after: in the mids were the maides playing with timbrels.
26 Praise ye God in the assembles, and the Lord, ye that are of the fountaine of Israel.
27 There was a little Benjamin with their ruler, and the princes of Iudah with their assemblie, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.
28 Thy God hath appointed thy strength: stablish, O God, that which thou hast wrought in vs.
29 Out of thy Temple vpon Ierusalem: and Kings, shall bring presents vnto thee.
30 Destroy the company of the spearmen, and multitude of the mighty bulles with the calues of the people, that a trade vnder feete pieces of siluer: scatter the people that delight in warre.
31 Then shall the princes come out of Egypt: Ethiopia shall haste to stretch her hands vnto God.

34 Ascribe the power to God: for his maiestie is vpon Israel, and his strength is in the cloudes.
35 O God, thou art a terrible out of thine holy places: the God of Israel bee that giueth strength & power vnto the people: praised be God.

PSAL. LXIX.

1 The complaints, prayers, fervent zeale and great anguish of Dauid is set forth as a figure of Christ and all his members: 21 The malicious crueltie of the enemies, 22 And their punishment also, 26 Where Iudas and such traitors are accused, 30 How gathereth courage in his affliction, and offereth prayers vnto God, 33 Which are more acceptable then all sacrifices: whereof all the afflicted may take comfort, 35 Finally how doth prouoke all creatures to praises, prophesying of the kingdome of Christ, and the preservation of the Church, where all the faithfull, 37 And their seeds shall dwell for euer.

A Psalme of Dauid.

S Aue me, O God: for the waters are entred euen to my soule.
2 I stick fast in the deepe myre, where no stay is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.
3 I am weary of crying: my throte is drie: mine eyes faile, whiles I waite for my God.
4 They that hate me without a cause, are more then the haire of mine head: they that would destroy me, and are mine enemies falsely, are mighty, so that I restored that which I tooke not.
5 O God, thou knowest my foolishnesse, and my faults are not hid from thee.
6 Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hosts, be ashamed for me: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.
7 For thy sake haue I suffered reproofe: shame hath couered my face.
8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes.
9 For the zeale of thine house hath eaten me, & the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.
10 I wept and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe.
11 I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them.
12 They that late in the gate, spake of me, and the drunkards sang of me.
13 But Lord, I make my prayer vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercie: O God, heare me in the truth of thy saluation.

2 Then shall hee iudge thy people in righteousness, and thy poore with equitie.

3 The ^d mountaines and the hills shall bring peace to the people by iustice.

4 He shall ^e iudge the poore of the people: he shall saue the children of the needy, and shall subdue the oppressour.

a Composed by Dauid as touching the reigne of his sonne Salomon. b Endue the King with the Spirit of wisdom and iustice, that he reigne not as doe the worldly tyrants. c To wit, to his posteritie. d When iustice reigneth, euen the places most barren, shall be enriched with thy blessings. e Hee sheweth wherefore the sword is committed to Kings: to wit, to defend the innocent, and suppress the wicked. f The people shall embrace thy true religion, when thou giuest a King, that ruleth according to thy word. g As this is true in all godly kings, so is it chiefly verified in Christ, who with his heavenly dewe maketh his Church euer to flourish. h That is, from the red sea to the sea called Syriacum, and from Euphrates forward, meaning, that Christs kingdome should be large and vniuersall.

9 They that dwell in the wilderness, shall kneele before him, and his enemies shall licke the dust.

10 The kings of Tarshish and of the Iles shall bring presents: the kings ⁱ of Sheba and Seba shall bring gifts.

11 Yea, all kings shall worship him: all nations shall serue him.

12 For he shall deliuer the poore when he crieth: the needy also, & him that hath no helper.

13 Hee shall be mercifull to the poore and needy, & shall preserue the soules of the poore.

14 He shall redeeme their soules from deceit and violence, and ^j deare shall their blood be in his sight.

15 Yea, he shall liue, and vnto him shall they giue of the ^k gold of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, and dayly blesse him.

16 An handfull of corne shall bee sowne in the earth, ^l euen in the top of the mountaines, and the ^m fruit thereof shall shake like the trees of Lebanon: and the children shall flourish out of the cite like the grasse of the earth.

and their tongue walketh through the earth.

10 Therefore his people turne hither : for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.

11 And they say, How doeth God know it, nor is there knowledge in the most High?

12 Loe, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches.

13 Certainly I haue cleansed mine heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie.

14 For daily haue I bene punished, and chained euery morning.

15 If I say, I will iudge thus, behold the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed.

16 Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for me.

17 Vntill I went into the Sanctuary of God: then vnderstood I then end.

18 Surely thou hast set them in slippery places, and castest them downe into desolation.

19 How suddenly are they destroyed, perished, and horribly consumed,

20 As a dreame when one awaketh: O Lord, when thou raisest vs vp, thou shalt make their 21 Certainly mine heart was vexed and I was pricked in my reins:

22 So foolishly was I and ignorant: I was a beast before thee.

23 Yet I was alway with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou wilt guide me by thy counsell, and afterward receiue me to glory.

25 Whom haue I in heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.

God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for euer.

trees, was renowned, as one, that brought a thing to perfection:

6 But now they breake downe the carued worke thereof with axes and hammers.

7 They haue cast thy Sanctuary into the fire, and rasedit to the ground, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name.

8 They said in their hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land,

9 We see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth how long.

10 O God, how long shall the aduersarie

14 Thou brakest the head of Liuiathan in pieces, and gauest him to be meate for the people in the wilderness.

15 Thou brakest vp the fountaine and riu-er: thou driedst vp mighty riuers.

16 The day is thine, and the night is thine:
thou hast prepared the light and the sunne.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth:
thou hast made summer and winter.

ness of his affliction, and his grievous temptations: 6 Where-tion, 11 And the continuall course of Gods workes in the PSALM LXXVIII.

He sheweth how God of his mercie chose his Church of the posteritie of Abraham, 3. Reprehending the stubborn rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not onely understand, 11. That God of his free mercie made his covenant with their ancestors, 17. But also seeing them so malicious and perverse, might bee ashamed and so turne wholly to God. In this Psalm the holy Ghost hath comprehended, as it were, the summe of all Gods benefites, to the intent this ignorant and rude people might see in few words the effect of the whole historie of the Bible.

A Psalm to gaue instruction committed to Asaph.

Hear my doctrine, O my people: incline your eares vnto the words of my mouth.

2 I will open my mouth in a parable: I will declare high sentences of old,

3 Which we haue heard and knowen, and our fathers haue told vs.

4 Wee will not hide them from their children, but to the generation to come wee will shew the praises of the Lord, his power also, and his wonderfull workes that he hath done:

5 How he established a testimony in Iacob, and ordeined a Law in Israel, which hee commanded our fathers, that they should teach their children:

6 That the posteritie might know it, and the children, which should be borne, should stand vp, and declare it to their children:

7 That they might see their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God, but keepe his commandments:

8 And not to be as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithfull vnto God.

9 The children of Ephraim being armed and shooting with the bow, turned backe in the day of battell.

10 They kept not the couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Law.

11 And forgate his Actes, and his wonderfull workes that he had shewed them.

12 Hee did marueilous things in the fight of their fathers in the land of Egypt: euen in the field of Zoan.

13 He diuided the sea, & led them through: he made also the waters to stand as an heape.

14 * In the day time also he led them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 * He claue the rockes in the wilderness, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

16 * He brought floods also out of the stonie rocke, so that hee made the waters to descend like the riuers.

17 Yet they sinned still against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wilderness, 18 And tempted God in their hearts in requiring meate for their lust.

19 * They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wilderness?

20 * Behold, hee smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can he giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was not angrie, and the fire was kindled in Iacob, and also wrath came vpon Israel.

22 Because they beleueed not in God, and trusted not in his helpe.

23 Yet hee had commanded the clouds aboue, and had opened the doores of heauen, 24 And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen.

25 * Man did eate the bread of Angels: hee sent them meate enough.

26 He caused the East wind to passe in the heauen, and through his power hee brought in the South wind.

27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered fowle as the fard of the sea.

28 And he made it fall in the mids of their campe, euen round about their habitations.

29 So they did eate and were well filled: for he gaue them their desires.

30 They were not turned from their lust, but the meate was yet in their mouthes, 31 When the wrath of God came, euen vpon them, and shew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

32 For all this, they sinned still, and beleueed not his wonderous workes.

33 Therefore their dayes did hee consume in vanitie, and their yeeres hastily, 34 And when he slew them, they sought him, and they returned, and sought God early.

35 And they remembred, that God was their strength, & the most high God their redeemer.

36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their heart was not vpriight with him: neither were they faithful in his couenant.

38 Yet, hee being mercifull, forgave their iniquity, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

39 For hee remembred that they were flesh: yea, a wind that passeth and commeth not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wilderness? and grieue him in the desert?

41 Yea, they returned and tempted God, and limited the Holy one of Israel.

42 They remembred not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemy.

k Their wicked malice could be overcome by no benefites, which were great and many. l Then to require more then is necessarie, and to separate Gods power from his will is to tempt God.

m Thus when we giue place to sinne, we are moued to doubt of Gods power except he will alwayes be ready to serue our lust.

n That is, in his fatherly prouidence, whereby he careth for his and prouideth sufficiently.

o So that they had that, which was necessarie and sufficient: but their lust made them to couet that which they knew God had denied them.

p God vsed the meane of the wind to teach them, that all elements were at his commandment, and that no distance of place could let his working.

q Such is the nature of concupiscence, that the more it hath, the more it lusteth.

r Though other were not spared, yet chiefly they suffered, which trusted in their strength against God.

s Thus sinne by continuance maketh men insensible, so that by no plagues they can be amended.

t Such was their hypocrisie, that they sought vnto God for feare of punishment, though in their heart they loued him not.

u Whatsoeuer commeth not from the pure fountaine of the heart is hypocrisie.

x Because hee would euer haue some remnant of a Church to praise his Name in earth, hee suffered not their finnes to overcome his mercy.

y That is, they tempted him oft times. z As they all doe that measure the power of God by their capacitie. a The forgetfulness of Gods benefites is the roote of rebellion & all vice.

43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt and his wonders in the field of Zoan;
44 And turned their rivers into blood, and their floods, that they could not drinke.
45 He sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and frogges, which destroyed them.
46 Hee gaue also their fruits vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the grasshopper.
47 He destroyed their vines with haile, and their wilde figgetrees with the hailestone.
48 He gaue their cattell also to the haile, and their flockes to the thunderbolts.
49 He cast vpon them the fiercenesse of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of euill Angels.
50 Het made a way to his anger: he spared not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence.
51 And smote all the first borne in Egypt, euen the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham.
52 But he made his people to goe out like sheep, and led them in the wilderness like a flock.
53 Yea he caried them our safely, and they feared not, in the Sea covered their enemies.
54 And he brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuary: euen to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchased.
55 Hee cast out the heathen also before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their Tabernacles.
56 Yet they tempted and prouoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies.
57 But turned backe, and deale falsely like their fathers: they turned like a deceitful bow.
58 And they prouoked him to anger with their high places, and moued him to wrath with their graven images.
59 God heard this, and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel.
60 So that hee forooke the habitation of Shilo, euen the Tabernacle where he dwelt among men, 61 And deliuered his power into captiuitie, and his beauty into the enemies hand.
62 And he gaue vp his people to the sword, and was angry with his inheritance.
63 Theire deuoured their chosen men, and their maidens were not praised.
64 Their Priests fell by the sword, and their widowes lamented not.
65 But the Lord awaked as one out of sleep, & as a strong man after his wine crieth out, 66 And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetuall shame.
67 Yet hee refused the Tabernacle of Ioseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:

68 But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which he loued.
69 And hee built his Sanctuary as an high palace, like earth, which he stablished for euer.
70 Hee chose David also his seruant, and tooke him from the sheepsfolds.
71 Euen from behind the Ewes with yong brought he him to feede his people in Iaakob, and his inheritance in Israel.
72 So hee fed them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.

PSAL. LXXIX.

The Israelites complaining to God for the great calamities and oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies. 8. And confessing their sinnes, flee to Gods mercies with full hope of deliuerance. 10. Because their calamities were, ioyed with the contempt of his Name. 13. For the which they promise to be thankfull.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they defiled, and made Ierusalem heapes of stones.
The dead bodies of thy seruants haue they giuen to be meate vnto fowles of the heauen, and the flesh of thy Saints vnto the beasts of the earth.
Their blood haue they shed like waters round about Ierusalem, and there was none to burie them.
Wee are a reproch to our neighbours, euen a scorn and derision vnto them that are round about vs.
Lord how long wilt thou be angry, for euer? shall thy ielousie burne like fire?
Powre but thy wrath vpon the heathen that haue not knowen thee, and vpon the kingdoms that haue not called vpon thy Name.
For they haue deuoured Iaakob, and made his dwelling place desolate.
Remember not against vs the former iniquities, but make haste and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great misery.
Helpe vs, O God of our saluation, for the glorie of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be mercifull vnto our sinnes for thy Names sake.
Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? let them be knowen among the heathen in our sight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruants that is shed.
Let the sighing of the prisoners come before thee: according to thy mighty arme preferue the children of death.
And render to our neighbors seven fold into their bosome their reproche wherewith they haue reproched thee, O Lord.
So we thy people, and sheepe of thy pasture shall praise thee for euer: and from generation to generation we will set forth thy praise.

PSAL. LXXX.

A lamentable prayer to God to helpe the miseries of his Church,

b. This worde signifieth a confused mixture of flies and venemous wormes. Some take it for all sorts of serpents: some for all wild beasts. c. He repeateth not here all the miracles that God did in Egypt, but certain which might be sufficient to convince the people of malice and ingratitude. d. So called either of the effect, that is, of punishing the wicked: or else because they were wicked spirits whom God permitted to vex men. e. The first borne are so called, as Gen. 49. 3. f. That is, Egypt, for it was called Mizraim or Egypt, of Mizraim, that was the sonne of Ham. g. That is, they had none occasion to feare, forasmuch as God destroyed their enemies, and deliuered them safely. h. Meaning, Canaan, which God had consecrated to himselfe and appointed to his people. i. Nothing more displeaseth God in the children, then when they continue in that wickednesse, which their fathers had begun. k. By seruing God otherwise then he had appointed. l. For their ingratitude he suffered the Philistines to take the Arke, which was the signe of his presence, from among them. m. The Arke is called his power and beauty because thereby he defended his people, and beautifully appeared vnto them. n. They were suddenly destroyed, 1 Sam. 4. 10. o. They had no marriage songs, that is, they were not married. p. Either they were slaine before or taken prisoners of their enemies, and so were forbidden. q. Because they were drunken in their sinnes, they iudged Gods patience to be a slumbering as though he were drunken: therefore he answering their beastly iudgement, saith he will awake and take sudden vengeance. r. Shewing that hee spared not altogether the Israelites, though he punished their enemies.

f. By building the Temple and establishing the kingdom, he declared that the signes of his favour were among them. g. He sheweth wherein a King chargeable standeth, to wit, to provide faithfully for his people, to guide them by counsell and defend them by power. a. The people cried vnto God against the barbarous tyrannies of the Babylonians: who spoiled Gods inheritance, polluted his Temple, destroyed his religion, and murdered his people. b. The Prophet sheweth to what extremities God suffered sometime his Church to fall, to exercise their faith before hee set to his hand to deliuer them. c. Their friends and kindred durst not baite them for feare of the enemies. d. Whereof some came of Abraham, but were degenerate: and others were open enemies to thy religion, but they both laughed at our miseries. e. Will thou utterly consume vs for our sinnes, before thou takest vs to mercy? f. Which we and our fathers haue committed. g. And stay not till we haue recompensed for our sinnes. h. Seeing wee haue none other Saviour, neither can we helpe ourselves, and also by our saluation thy Name shall be praised: therefore, O Lord, helpe vs. i. Who though in respect of God they were iustly punished for their sinnes, yet in consideration of their cause, were vniuilly murdered. k. Which were captiues among their enemies, and could looke for nothing but death. l. Wee ought to desire no benefit of God, but on this condition to praise his Name, 1 Sa. 43. 22.

3 Turne vs againe, O God, and cause thy face to shine that we may be saued.

4 O Lord God of hosts, how long wilt thou be angry against the prayer of thy people?

5 Thou hast fedde them with the bread of teares, and given them reares to drinke with great measure.

6 Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themselves.

7 Turne vs againe, O God of hosts: cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saued.

8 Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.

9 Thou madest roome for it, and diddest caule it to take roote, and it filled the land.

10 The mountaines were covered with the shadow of it, and the boughes thereof were like the goodly cedars.

11 She stretched out her branches vnto the Sea, and her boughes vnto the Riuer.

12 Why hast thou then broken downe her hedges, so that all they which passe by the way have plucked her?

13 The wilde bore out of the wood hath destroyed it, and the wilde beastes of the field have eaten it vp.

14 Returne wee beseech thee, O God of hosts: looke downe from heauen & behold and visit this vine, 15 And the vineyard, that thy right hand hath planted, and the yong vine, which thou madest strong for thy selfe.

16 It is burnt with fire, and cut downe: and they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance.

17 Let thine hand be vpon the man of thy right hand, and vpon the sonne of man, whom thou madest strong for thine owne selfe.

18 So wil not we go backe from thee: reuine thou vs, and we shall call vpon thy Name.

19 Turne vs againe, O Lord God of hosts: cause thy face to shine and we shall be saued.

PSAL. LXXXI.

1 An exhortation to praise God both in heart and voyce for his benefits, 8 And to worship him onely. 11 God condemneth their ingratitude. 12 And sheweth what great benefits they have lost through their owne malice.

To him that excelleth vpon Githith.

A Psalme committed to Asaph.

SING joyfully vnto God our strength: sing

2 Cloud vnto the God of Iacob,

3 Take the song and bring forth the timbrell, the pleasant harpe with the viole.

4 Blowe the trumpet in the new moone, euen in the time appointed at our feast day.

5 For this is a statute for Israel, and a Law of the God of Iacob.

6 Hee set this in Ioseph for a testimony, when he came out of the land of Egypt, where I heard a language, that I vnderstood not.

7 I haue withdrawn his shoulder from the burden, and his hands haue left the pots.

8 Thou calledst in affliction and I deliuered thee, and answered thee in the secret of the thunder: I proued thee at the waters of Meribah: Selah.

9 Heare, O my people, & I wil protest vnto thee: O Israel, if thou wilt hearken vnto me,

10 And wilt haue no strange god in thee, neither worship any strange god, 11 (For I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt:) open thy mouth wide and I will fill it.

12 But my people would not heare my voyce, and Israel would none of me.

13 So I gaue them vp vnto the hardnesse of their heart, and they haue walked in their own counsels.

14 Oh that my people had hearkened vnto me, and Israel had walked in my waies.

15 I would soone haue humbled their enemies, and turned mine hand against their aduersaries.

16 The haters of the Lord should haue bin subiect vnto him, and their time should haue endured for euer.

17 And God would haue fed them with the fat of wheat, and with honie out of the rocke would I haue sufficed thee.

18 God by his word calleth all, but his secret electiō appointeth who shall heare with fruit. 19 If their finnes had not letted, 20 If the Israelites had not broken couenant with God, he would haue given them victory against their enemies. 21 That is, with most fine wheat and abundance of honie.

PSAL. LXXXII.

1 The Prophet declaring God to be present among the Iudges and Magistrates, 2 Reprooeth their partialitie, 3 And exhorteth them to doe iustice. 5 But seeing none amendment, 8 Hee desireth God to vnder take the matter and execute iustice himselfe.

A Psalme committed to Asaph.

GOD standerth in the assembly of gods: he iudgeth among gods.

2 How long will yee iudge vniustly, and accept the persons of the wicked? Selah.

P S A L. LXXXIII.

1 The people of Israel pray vnto the Lord to deliver them from their enemies both at home and as farre off, which imagined nothing but their destruction. 9 And they desire that all such wicked people may, according as God was accustomed, be stricken with the stormie tempest of Gods wrath. 18 That they may knowe that the Lord is most High vpon the earth.

A song or Psalme committed to Asaph.

Keepe not thou silence, O God: bee not still, and chafe not, O God.

2 For loe, thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee, haue lifted vp the head.

3 They haue taken crafty counsell against thy people, and haue consulted against thy secret ones.

4 They haue said, Come, and let vs cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.

5 For they haue consulted together in heart, and haue made a league against thee:

6 The tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims:

7 Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistims with the inhabitants of Tyre:

8 Asshur also is ioyned with them: they haue bin an aide to the childre of Lot. Selah.

9 Doe thou to them as vnto the Midianites: as to Sisera and as to Iabin at the riuier of Kishon.

10 They perished at En-dor, and were dongue for the earth.

11 Make them, euē their princes like Oreb and like Zeeb: yea all their princes like Zebah, and like Zalmunna.

12 Which haue said, Let vs take for our possession the habitations of God.

13 O my God, make them like vnto a wheele, and as the stubble before the winde.

14 As the fire burneth the faggots, and as the flame setteth the mountaines on fire.

15 So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them afraid with thy storme.

16 Fil their faces with shame, that they may seeke thy name, O Lord.

17 Let them be confounded & troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish.

18 That they may know that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, euē the most High ouer all the earth.

1 Because the reprobate could by no meanes be amended, he prayeth that they may be vnto the destroyed, be vnstable, and led with all winds. m That is, be compelled by thy plagues to confesse thy power. n Though they beleue not, yet they may proue by experience, that it is in vaine to resist against thy counsell in establishing thy Church.

1 David driven forth of his country, 2 Desires most ardently to come againe vnto the tabernacle of the Lord and the assembly of the Saints to praise God, 4 Pronouncing them blessed that may so doe. 6 Then he praiseth the courage of the people, that passe through the wilderness so as to assemble themselves in Zion. 10 Pleading with praise of this matter, and confidence of Gods goodness lies vnder the Psalme.

To him that excelleth vpon Gittith. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

O Lord of hostes, how amiable are thy Tabernacles!

2 My soule longeth, yea, and fainteth for the courts of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God.

3 Yea, the Sparrow hath found her an house, and the swallow a nest for her, where she may lay her yong: euē by thine altars, O Lord of hostes, my King and my God.

4 Blessed are they that dwell in thine house: they will euer praise thee. Selah.

5 Blessed is the man, whose strength is in thee, and in whose heart are thy wayes.

6 They going through the vale of Baca, make Welles therein: the raine also couereth the pooles.

7 They goe from strength to strength, till euery one appeare before God in Zion.

8 O Lord God of hosts: heare my prayer: hearken, O God of Iakob. Selah.

9 Behold, O God, our shield, and looke vpon the face of thine Anointed.

10 For a day in thy Courts is better then a thousand other where: I had rather be a doore keeper in the house of my God, then to dwell in the Tabernacles of wickednesse.

1 Because God withdrew not his rods from his Church after their returne from Babylon, first they put him in mind of their deliuerance, to the intent that he should not leaue the worke of his grace vnperfected. 3 Next, they complaine of their long affliction. 8 And thirdly, they reioyce in hope of felicitie promised. 9 For their deliuerance was a figure of Christs kingdome, vnder the which should be perfit felicitie.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

O Lord, thou hast beene a fauourable vnto thy Land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iakob.

2 Thou hast forgiven the iniquitie of thy people, and couered all their finnes. Selah.

3 Thou hast withdrawn all thine anger, and hast turned back fro the fiercenes of thy wrath come into iudgement. c Not onely in withdrawing thy rod, but in forgiving our finnes, and in touching our hearts to confesse them.

d As in times past they had felt Gods mercie, so now being oppressed by the long continuance of sin, they pray vnto God that according to his nature he would be mercifull vnto them. e He condescendeth to our infirmities, or commeth onely of Gods mercie. f He will kind all prosperitie to his Church, when he hath fully comforted them. g He will by his power overcome the sinners that stand before him, that they returne not to like offences. h Though for a time God thus correcteth them with his rod, yet vnder the kingdome of Christ they should haue peace and joy. i Justice shall then flourish and haue free course and passage in every place.

4 Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and release thine anger towards vs.

5 Wilt thou be angrie with vs for euer? and wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another?

6 Wilt thou not turne againe, and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee?

7 Shew vs thy mercie, O Lord, and grant vs thy saluation.

8 I will hearken what the Lord God will say: for he will speake peace vnto his people, and to his Saints, that they turne not againe to folly.

9 Surely his saluation is neere to them that feare him: that glory may dwell in our land.

10 Mercie and truth shall meete: righteousness and peace shall kisse one another.

11 Truth shall bud out of the earth, and righteousness shall looke downe from heauen.

12 Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increafe.

A Prayer of Dauid.

Incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare mee: for I am poore and needy.

2 Preferue thou my soule, for I am mercifull: my God saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.

3 Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I cry vpon thee continually.

4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou, Lord, art good and mercifull, and of great kindnesse vnto all them, that call vpon thee.

6 Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, and hearken to the voyce of my supplication.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none that can doe like thy workes.

9 All nations whom thou hast made, shall come and worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great, and doest wonderful things: thou art God alone.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy truth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.

12 I will praise thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy 15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God, and mercifull, slow to anger, and great in kindnes and truth.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

1 With many words doth the Prophet praise the goodnesse of God. 23 For his Testament and covenant, that hee had made betweene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the Sonne of Dauid. 34 Then doth hee complaine of the great ruine, and desolation of the kingdom of Dauid, so that to the outward appearance the promise was broken. 46 Finally, he prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnesse of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promises.

A Psalm to giue instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite.

I will sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth wil I declare thy truth from generation to generation.

2 For I said, Mercie shall be set vp for euer: thy truth shalt thou establish in the very heauens.

3 I haue made a covenant with my chosen: I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant, 4 Thy seed will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

a Though the horrible confusion of things might cause them to despair of Gods fauour, yet the manifold examples of his mercies cause them to trust in God, though to mans iudgement they saw none occasion. b As he that surely beleueh in heart. c As thine invisible heauen is not subiect to any alteration and change: so shall the truth of thy promise be vnchangeable. d The Prophet sheweth what was the promise of God, whereon he grounded his faith.

5 O Lord, euen the heauens shall prayse thy wondrous worke: yea, thy truth in the Congregation of the Saints.

6 For who is equal to the Lord in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the sonnes of the gods?

7 God is very terrible in the assembly of the Saints, and to bee reuerenced aboue all, that are about him.

8 O Lord God of hosts, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy truth is about thee?

9 Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mightie arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laid the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the North and the South: Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.

13 Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thine hand, and high is thy right hand.

14 Righteousnesse and equitie are the stablishment of thy throne: mercie and truth go before thy face.

15 Blessed is the people that can reioyce in thee: they shall walke in the light of thy countenance, O Lord.

16 They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousness shall they exalt themselves.

17 For thou art the glorie of their strength, and by thy fauour our hornes shall be exalted.

18 For our shield appertaineth to the Lord, and our King to the holy one of Israel.

19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto thine Holy one, and saidest, I haue laide helpe vpon one that is mightie: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people.

20 I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oyle haue I anoynted him.

21 Therefore mine hand shall be established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him.

22 The enemy shall not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him.

23 But I will destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

24 My truth also and my mercie shall be with him, and in my Name shall his horn be exalted.

25 I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the floods.

26 He shall crie vnto me, Thou art my Father, my God and the rocke of my saluation.

42 Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce.

43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sword, and hast not made him to stand in the battell.

44 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the ground.

45 The daies of his youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Selah.

46 Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy selfe, for euer? shall thy wrath burne like fire?

47 Remember of what time I am: wherefore shouldest thou create in vaine all the children of men?

48 What man liueth and shal not see death? shall he deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Selah.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before vs the eternall fauour of God toward his, 3 Who are neither admonished by the breuitie of their life; 7 Nor by his plagues to be thankful, 12. Therefore Moses prayeth God to turne their hearts, and continue his mercies toward them, and their posteritie for euer.

A prayer of Moses the man of God.

Lord, thou hast been our habitation from generation to generation.

2 Before the mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euermore to euermore thou art our God.

3 Thou turnest man to destruction: againe thou saiest, Returne ye sonnes of Adam.

4 For a thousand yeares in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

5 Thou hast overflowed them: they are as a sleepe: in the morning he groweth like the graspe.

6 In the morning it flourisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.

7 For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger: we haue spent our yeeres as a thought.

10 The time of our life is threescore yeeres and ten, and if they be of strength, fourescore yeeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorrow: for it is cut off quickly and we flee away.

11 Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger.

12 Teach vs so to number our dayes, that we may apply our hearts vnto wisdom.

13 Returne (O Lord, how long?) and be pacified toward thy seruants.

14 Fill vs with thy mercy in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes.

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill.

16 Let thy worke be scene toward thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their children.

17 And let the beautie of the Lord our God be vpon vs, and direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct thou the worke of our hands.

m Meaning, wilt thou be angry? n Or, take comfort in thy seruants. o Euen thy mercy, which is thy chiefest worke. p As Gods promises appertaine as well to their posteritie as to them, so Moses prayeth for the posteritie. q Meaning, that it was obscured, when he ceased to doe good to his Church. r For except thou guide vs with thine holy Spirit, our enterprises can haue no good successe.

1 Here is described in what assurance he liueth, that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himselfe wholly to his protection in all tentations. 14 A promise of God to those that loue him, know him, and trust in him, to deliuer them, and giue them immortall glory.

Who so dwelleth in the secret of the most High, shall abide in the shadow of the Almighty.

2 I will

a Thus the Scripture vnto call the Prophets.

b Thou hast been as an house and defence vnto vs in all our troubles and troubles now this foure hundredth yeeres.

c Thou hast chosen vs to be thy people before the foundations of the world were laid.

d Moses by lamenting the frailty & shortnes of mans life, moueth God to pitty.

e Though man thinke his life long, which is in deed most short, yea, though it were a thousand yeeres: yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth but three houres.

f Thou takest them away suddenly as with a flood.

g Thou callest vs by thy rods to consider thy shortnesse of our life, and for our sins thou abridgest our dayes.

h Our daies are not only short, but miserable, forasmuch as our sinnes daily provoke thy wrath.

i Meaning, according to the common state of life.

k If mans life for the breuitie be miserable, much more if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they, which feare thee, onely know.

l Which is, by considering the shortnesse of our life, and by meditating the heavenly ioyes.

m Meaning, wilt thou be angry? n Or, take comfort in thy seruants. o Euen thy mercy, which is thy chiefest worke. p As Gods promises appertaine as well to their posteritie as to them, so Moses prayeth for the posteritie. q Meaning, that it was obscured, when he ceased to doe good to his Church. r For except thou guide vs with thine holy Spirit, our enterprises can haue no good successe.

a Hee maketh God his defence and trust, shall perceiue his protection to be a most true safeguard.

b Being assured of this protection, on, he prayeth vnto the Lord. c That is, Gods help is most ready for vs, whether Satan as saile vs secretly, which he calleth a snare or openly, which is here meant by the pestilence. d That is, his faithfull keeping of promise to helpe thee in thy necessitie. e The care that God hath ouer his, is most sufficient to defend them from all dangers. f The godly that haue some experience of Gods iudgements against the wicked euen in this life, but fully they shall see it at that day, when all things shall be reuealed. g God hath not appointed euery man one Angel, but many to be ministers of his providence to keep his and defend them in their vocation, which is the way to walk in without tempting God. h Thou shalt not onely be preferred from all euil, but ouercome it, whether it be secret or open. i To assure the faithfull of Gods protection hee bringeth in God to confirme the same. k For he is contented with that life, that God giueth: for by death the shortnesse of this life is recompensed with immortalitye.

2 I will say vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortress: he is my God, in him will I trust.
3 Surely hee will deliuer thee from the snare of the hunter, and from the noysofme pestilence.
4 He will couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.
5 Thou shalt not be afraid of the feare of the night, nor of the arrow that flieth by day:
6 Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darknesse, nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day.
7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee.
8 Doubtlesse with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.
9 For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the most High for thy refuge.
10 There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy Tabernacle.
11 For hee shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee in all thy wayes.
12 They shall beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not, by foot against a stone.
13 Thou shalt walke vpon the lion & aspe: the young lion, and the dragon shalt thou tread vnder feete.
14 Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because he hath knowen my Name.
15 He shall call vpon mee, and I will heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.
16 With long life will I satisfie him, and shew him my saluation.

P S A L. XCII.

1 This Psalm was made to be sung on the Sabbath, to stirre vnto the people to acknowledge God, and to praise him in his workes: the Prophet reioyceth therein. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider that the vngodly, when hee is most flourishing, shall most speedily perish. 12 In the end is described the felicitie of the iust, planted in the house of God to praise the Lord.

g A Psalm or song for the Sabbath day.

a Which teacheth that the vse of the Sabbath standeth in praising God, and not onely in ceasing from worke. b For Gods mercy and fidelitie in his promises toward his, binde them to praise him continually both day and night. c These instruments were then permitted, but at Christs coming abolished. d He sheweth what is the vse of the Sabbath day: to wit, to meditate Gods workes. e That is, the wicked consider not Gods workes, nor his iudgements against them, and therefore most iustly perish.

I is a good thing to praise the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most High,
2 To declare thy louing kindnesse in the morning, and thy truth in the night,
3 Vpon an instrument of ten strings, and vpon the viole, with the song vpon the harpe.
4 For thou, Lord, hast made mee glad by thy workes, and I will reioyce in the workes of thine hands.
5 O Lord, how glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughts are very deepe.
6 An vnwise man knoweth it not, and a foole doeth not vnderstand this,

7 (When the wicked grow as the grass, and all the workers of wickednes doe flourish) that they shall be destroyed for euer.
8 But thou, O Lord, art most High for euer more.
9 For loe, thine enemies, O Lord: for loe, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of iniquitie shall be destroyed.
10 But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the Vnicorne, and I shall bee anointed with fresh oyle.
11 Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my wish against the wicked, that rise vp against me.
12 The righteous shall flourish like a palmie tree, and shall grow like a Cedar in Lebanon.
13 Such as be planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the Courts of our God.
14 They shall bring forth fruit in their age: they shall be fat and flourishing.
15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

P S A L. XCIII.

1 Hee praiseth the power of God in the creation of the world, and beatech downe all people which lift them vp against his maiestie, 5 And prouoketh to consider his promises.

The Lord reigneth, and is clothed with maiestie: the Lord is clothed, and girded with power: the world also shall be established, that it cannot be moued.
2 Thy throne is established of old: thou art from euertlasting.
3 The floods haue lifted vp, O Lord: the floods haue lifted vp their voice: the floods lift vp their waues.
4 The waues of the Sea are marueilous through the noise of many waters, yet the Lord on High is more mightie.
5 Thy testimonies are very sure: holines becommeth thine House, O Lord, for euer.

a As God by his power and wisdom hath made and gouerneth the world: so must the same be our defence against all enemies and dangers. b Wherein thou fittest and gouernest the world. c Gods power appeareth in raising the furious waters. d Besides Gods power and wisdom in creating & gouerning, his great mercy also appeareth in that he hath giuen his people his word and covenants.

P S A L. XCIII.

1 He prayeth vnto God against the violence and arrogancie of tyrants, 10 Warning them of Gods iudgements. 12 Then doeth hee comfort the afflicted by the good issue of their afflictions, as he felt in himselfe, and did see in others, and by the ruine of the wicked, 23 Whom the Lord will destroy.

O Lord God the auenger, O God the auenger, shew thy selfe cleerely.
2 Exalt thy selfe, O Iudge of the world, and render a reward to the proud, 3 Lord how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph?
4 They prate and speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vaunt themselves.
5 They smile down thy people, O Lord, and trouble mine heritage.
6 They slay the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherlesse.

a Whose office it is to take vengeance on the wicked. b Shew by effect that thou art Iudge of the world to punish the wicked. c That is, brag of their crueltie, an oppressor, or esteeme themselves about all other. d Seeing the Church was then to fore oppressor, that ought not to seeme strange to vs, if we see it so now, and therefore we must call to God, to take our cause in hand.

not to seeme strange to vs, if we see it so now, and therefore we must call to God, to take our cause in hand,

^a He sheweth that they are deluded in religion, forasmuch as they feared not God, but gave themselves wholly to do wickedly.

^b He sheweth that it is impossible, but God should have, and vnderstand their wickedness. ^c If God punish whole nations for their sinnes, it is more folly for my conscience, or else a few to thinke that God will spare them. ^d God hath care over his an-chastish them for their wealth, that they should not perish for ever with the wicked. ^e God will restore the state and government of things to their right vie, and then the godly shall follow him cheerfully.

^f He complaineth of them, which would not helpe him to resist the enemies: yet was assured that Gods helpe would not faile. ^g When I thought there was no way but death. ^h In my trouble and distress I ever found thy presence helpe. ⁱ Though the wicked iudges pretend iustice in oppressing the Church, yet they haue not that authority of God. ^k It is a great token of Gods iudgement, when the purpose of the wicked is broken, but most, when they are destroyed in their owne malice.

^a He sheweth that Gods seruice standeth not in dead ceremonies, but chiefly in the sacrifice of praise & thanksgiving. ^b When the Angels (who in respect of men are thought as gods) are nothing in his sight: much less the idoles which mans rauidnesseth. All things are gouerned by his ouersight. By these three words he signifieth one thing:

7 Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Isakob regard it.

8 Vnderstand ye nowise among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wise?

9 He that ^f planted the eare, shall he not heare? or he that formed the eye, shall he not see?

10 Or he that chastiseth the nations, shall he not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, shall he not know?

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanitie.

12 Blessed is the man whom thou ^b chastisest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Law, 13 That thou mayest giue him rest from the dayes of euill, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lord will not faile his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 For iudgement shall returne to iustice, and all the vpright in heart shall follow after it.

16 Who will rise vp with me against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquity?

17 If the Lord had not holpen me, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I said, My foote slideth, thy mercie, O Lord, stayed me.

19 In the multitude of my ^m thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioiced my soule.

20 Hath the throne of iniquitie ⁿ fellowship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a law?

21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood.

22 But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the rocke of mine hope.

23 And he wil recompense them their wickednesse, and ^o destroy them in their owne malice: yea, the Lord our God shall destroy them.

Sing ^a vnto the Lord a new song: sing vnto the Lord, all the earth.

2 Sing vnto the Lord, and praise his Name: declare his saluation from day to day.

3 Declare his glory among all nations, and his wonders among all people.

4 For the Lord is ^b great and much to be praised: he is to be feared about all gods.

5 For all the gods of the people are ^c idoles: but the Lord ^d made the heauens.

^a The Prophet sheweth that the time shall come, that all nations shall haue occasion to praise the Lord for the reuailing of his Gospel. ^b Seeing he will reuaise himselfe to all nations contrary to their owne expectation, they ought all to worship him contrary to their owne imaginations, and onely as he hath appointed. ^c Or, vanities. ^d Then the idoles or whatsoever made not the heauens, are not God. ^e God cannot be knowne, but by his strength and glory: the signes whereof appeare in his Sanctuary. ^f As by experience yee see that it is onely due vnto him. ^g By offering vp your selues wholly vnto God, declare that you worship him onely. ^h He prophesieth that the Gentiles shall be partakers with the Iewes of Gods promise.

c. He is thus described, to keep his enemies in feare, which commonly con- taine Gods power. d. This feare bringeth not the wicked to true obedience, but maketh them to runne away from God. e. He signifieth that Gods iudgements are in a readinesse to destroy the idolaters. f. Let all that which is esteemed in the world, fall down before him. g. The Iewes shall have occasion to reioyce that the Gentiles are made partakers with them of Gods fauour. h. He requirerh two things of his children: the one that they desist vice, the other, that they put their trust in God for their deliuerance. i. Though Gods deliuerance appeare not suddenly, yet it is sowne and layde vp in store for them. k. Be mindfull of his benefites, and onely trust in his defence.

2 Gloues and darknesse are round about him: righteousness and iudgement are the foundation of his throne.
3 There shall goe a fire before him, and burne vp his enemies round about.
4 His lightnings gaue light vnto the world: the earth saw it and was afraid.
5 The mountaines melted like waxe at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.
6 The heauens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory.

8 Zion heard of it, and was glad: and the daughters of Iudah reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord.
9 For thou, Lord, art most High above all the earth: thou art much exalted above al gods.
10 Ye that loue the Lord, hate euill: hee preferueth the soules of his Saints: he will deliuer them from the hand of the wicked.

1 An earnest exhortation to all creatures to praise the Lord for his power, mercy & fidelity in his promise by Christ, 10 By whom he hath communicated his saluation to all nations.

A Psalme.

Sing vnto the Lord a new song: for he hath done marvellous things: his right hand and his holy arm haue gotten him the victory.
2 The Lord declared his saluation: his righteousness hath he reuealed in the sight of the nations.
3 Hee hath remembered his mercie and his truth toward the house of Israel: all the endes of the earth haue seene the saluation of our God.
4 All the earth, sing yee lowde vnto the Lord: crie out and reioyce, and sing prayfes.
5 Sing praise to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voice.
6 With shalmes and sound of trumpets sing lowde before the Lord the King.
7 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the world, and they that dwell therein.
8 Let the floods clap their hands, and the mountaines reioyce together.

PSAL. XCIX.

1 Hee commendeth the power, equitie and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles, 5 And prouoketh them to magnifie the same and to serue the Lord, 6 Following the example of the ancient Fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

a That is, some song newly made in token of their wonderfull deliuerance by Christ. b He preferueth his Church miraculously. c For the deliuerance of his Church. d God was moued by none other meanes to gather his Church of the Iewes and Gentiles, but because he would performe his promise. e By this repetition and earnest exhortation to giue prayfes with instruments, and also of the dumme creatures, he signifieth that the world is neuer able to praise God sufficiently for their deliuerance.

The Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: he sitteth betweene the Cherubims, let the earth be moued.
2 The Lord is great in Zion, and he is high about all the people.
3 They shall praise thy great and fearfull Name (for it is holy)
4 And the Kings power shall loue iudgement: for thou hast prepared equity: thou hast executed iudgement and iustice in Iakob.
5 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his footstool: for he is holy.
6 Moses & Aaron were among his Priests, and Samuel among such as call vpon his name: these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.
7 Hee spake vnto them in the cloudie pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the Law that he gaue them.
8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a fauourable God vnto them, though thou diddest take vengeance for their inuentions.

1 Dauid describeth what government hee will obserue in his house and kingdome. 5 He will punish and correct by rooting forth the wicked, 6 and cherishing the godly persons.

A Psalme of Dauid.

I will sing mercy and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, will I sing.
2 I will doe wisely in the perfect way, till thou comest to me: I will walke in the vprightnesse of mine heart in the middes of mine house.
3 I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the worke of them that fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me.
4 A froward heart shall depart from mee: I will know none euill.

dome and vprightnesse being a private man. c Hee sheweth that Magistrates doe not their duties, except they be enemies to all vice.

a When God delineth his Church, all the enemies shall haue cause to tremble. b Though the wicked rage against God, yet the godly shall praise his Name and mighty power. c That is, before his Temple of Arke, where he promised to heare when they worshipped him, as now he promisseth his spirituall presence, whereof his Church is assembled. d Vnder these three he comprehendeth the whole people of Israel, with whom God made his promise. e For the more liberally that God dealeth with his people, the more doth he punish them that abule his benefites.

a He propheseth that Gods benefite in calling the Gentiles, shall be so great, that they shall haue wonderful occasion to praise his mercy and reioyce. b He chiefly meaneth, touching the spirituall regeneration, whereby we are his sheepe and people. c He sheweth that Dauid considered what manner of King he would be when God should place him in the throne, promising openly that he would be mercifull and iust. b Though as yet thou desirest to place me in the Kingly dignity, yet will I giue myselfe to witnesse that I am a private man. c Hee sheweth that Magistrates doe not their duties, except they be enemies to all vice.

d In promising to punish their vice, which are most pernicious in them that are about Kings, he declarerth that he will punish all. e He sheweth what is the true vice of the sword: to punish the wicked, and to maintain the good. f Magistrates must immediately punish vice, lest it grow to further incontinence: and if heathen Magistrates are bound to doe this, how much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God?

5 Him that priuily slandereth his neighbour, will I destroy: him that hath a proude looke and high heart, I cannot suffer.

6 Mine eyes shall bee vnto the faithfull of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfit way, he shall serue me.

7 There shall no deceitfull person dwell within mine house: he that telleth lies, shall not remaine in my sight.

8 Betimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of iniquitie from the citie of the Lord.

and if heathen Magistrates are bound to doe this, how much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God?

1 It seemeth that this prayer was appointed to the faithful to pray in the captiuitie of Babylon. 16 A consolation for the building of the Church. 18 Whereof followeth the praise of God to be published to all posterity. 22 The conuersion of the Gentiles. 28 And the stabilitie of the Church.

A prayer of the afflicted, when he shall bee in distresse, and poure forth his meditation before the Lord.

Lord, heare my prayer, and let my cry come vnto thee.

2 Hide not thy face from mee in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto mee: when I call, make haste to heare me.

3 For my dayes are consumed like smoke, and my bones are burnt like an herth.

4 Mine heart is finitten and withereth like grasse, because I forgate to eate my bread.

5 For the voyce of my groning my bones doe cleaue to my skinn.

6 I am like a pellicane of the wilderness: I am like an owle of the deserts.

7 I watch and am as a sparow alone vpon the house top.

8 Mine enemies reuile me dayly, and they that rage against me, haue sworn against me.

9 Surely I haue eaten ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping.

10 Because of thine indignation, and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe.

11 My dayes are like a shadow that fadeth, and I am withered like grasse.

12 But thou, O Lord, doest remaine for euer, and thy remembrance from generation to generation.

13 Thou wilt arise and haue mercie vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercy thereon, for the appointed time is come.

14 For thy seruants delight in the stones thereof, and haue pitie on the dust thereof.

15 Then the heathen shall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the Kings of the earth thy glorie.

16 When the Lord shall build vp Zion, and shall appeare in his glory, 17 And shall turne vnto the prayer of the desolate, and not despise their prayer.

That is, when he shall haue drawn his Church out of the darkenesse of death.

18 This shall be written for the generation to come: and the people, which shall be created, shall praise the Lord.

19 For hee hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuary: out of the heauen did the Lord behold the earth, 20 That hee might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the children of death.

21 That they may declare the name of the Lord in Zion, and his praise in Ierusalem, 22 When the people shall be gathered together, and the kingdomes to serue the Lord.

23 He abated my strength in the way, and shortned my dayes.

24 And I said, O my God, take mee not away in the mids of my dayes: thy yeeres endure from generation to generation.

25 Thou hast aforetime layd the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands.

26 They shall perishe, but thou shalt endure: euen they all shall waxe olde as doeth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed.

27 But thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not faile, 28 The children of thy seruants shall continue, and their seed shall stand fast in thy sight.

A Psalm of Dauid.

MY soule, praise thou the Lord, & all that is within me, praise his holy Name.

2 My soule praise thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites.

3 Which forguieth all thine iniquities, and healeth all thine infirmities.

4 Which redeemeth thy life from the graue, and crowneth thee with mercy and compassions,

5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: & thy youth is renewed like the Eagles.

6 The Lord executeth righteousness and iudgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his wayes knowne vnto Moses, and his works vnto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is full of compassion and mercie, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse.

9 He will not alway chide, neither keepe his anger for euer.

P S A L. CIII.

An excellent Psalme to praise God for the creation of the world, and the gouernance of the same by his maruelous prouidence, 35 Wherein the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminisheth his blessings.

My soule, praise thou the Lord: O Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art^a clothed with glory and honour.

2 Which couereth himselfe with light as with a garment, and spreadeth the heauens like a curtaine.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which^b maketh the spirits his messengers, and a flaming fire his ministers.

5 He sitteth the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shal neuer moue.

6 Thou coueredst it with the^c deepe as with a garment: the^d waters would stand aboute the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voice of thy thunder they haste away.

8 And the mountaines ascend, and the valleys descend to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bound, which they shal not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth.

10 He sendeth the springs into the valleys, which runne betweene the mountaines.

11 They shall giue drinke to all the^e beasts of the field, and the wild asses shal quench their thirst.

12 By these^f springs shall the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 Hee watereth the mountaines from his chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruit of thy works.

14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattel, and herbe for the vse of^h man, that hee may bring forth bread out of the earth,

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make the face to shine, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted,

17 That the birds may make their nestes there: the storke dwelleth in the firre trees.

18 The high mountaines are for the goats:
the rocks are a refuge for the conies.

19 Hee appointed theⁱ moone for certaine seasons: the sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darknesse, and it is night, wherein all the beasts of the Forrest creepe foorth.

21 The lions roare after their pray, and seeke their meat^j at God.

22 When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their denues.

23 Then goeth forth man to his worke, and to his labour vntill the euening.

24 O Lord, how^k manifold are thy works!
in wisdom thou hast made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is this sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beasts and great.

26 There goe the ships, yea, that^l Liuiathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 All these waite vpon thee, that thou mayest giue them food in due season.

28 Thou giuest it to them, and they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things.

29 But if thou^m hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they die and returne to their dust.

30 Againe, if thouⁿ send forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renewest the face of the earth.

31 Glory bee to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his works.

32 Hee looketh on the earth and it trembleth: hee toucheth the mountaines, and they smoke.

33 I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I will praise my God, while I liue.

34 Let my words be acceptable vnto him:
I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners be^o consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there bee no more:
O my soule, praise thou the Lord. Praise yee
the Lord.

1 Hee prayeth the singular grace of God, who bath of all the people of the world chosen a peculiar people to himselfe, and having chosen them, neuer ceaseth to doe them good; euen for his promise sake.

Praise the Lord, and call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people.

2 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, and talke of all his wonderous workes.

3 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the heart of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.

4 Seeke the Lord and his strength: seeke his face continually.

5 Remember his marueilous workes, that he hath done, his wonders & the iudgements of his mouth.

6 Ye seede of Abraham his seruant, yee children of Iaakob, which are his elect.

7 He is the Lord our God: his iudgements are through all the earth.

8 He hath alway remembered his couenant and promise, that he made to a thousand generations.

9 Euen that which he made with Abraham, and his oath vnto Izhak:

10 And since hath confirmed it to Iaakob for a law, and to Israel for an euerlasting couenant, 11 Saying, Vnto thee will I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance.

12 Albeit, they were few in number, yea, very few, and strangers in the land,

13 And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdome to another people,

14 Yet suffered hee no man to doe them wrong, but reprooued Kings for their fakes, saying, 15 Touch not mine anointed, and doe my Prophets no harme.

16 Moreover, he called a famine vpon the land, and vtterly brake the staffe of bread.

17 But he sent a man before them: Ioseph was sold for a slaue.

18 They held his feete in the stockes, and he was laid in Irons, 19 Vntil his appointed time came, and the counsell of the Lord had tried him.

20 The King sent and loosed him: euen the Ruler of the people deliuered him.

21 He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance, 22 That he should bind his princes vnto his will, and teach his Ancients wisdom.

23 Then Israel came to Egypt, and Iaakob was a stranger in the land of Ham.

24 And he increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours.

25 Hee turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants.

26 Then sent hee Moyses his seruant, and Aaron whom hee had chosen.

27 They shewed among them the mes- sage of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham.

28 Hee sent darknesse, and made it darke: and they were not disobedient vnto his com- mission.

29 He turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.

30 Their land brought forth frogs, euen in their Kings chambers.

31 He spake, and there came swarmes of flies, and lice in all their quarters.

32 He gaue them haile for raine, & flames of fire in their land.

33 He smote their vines also and their figge trees, and brake down the trees in their coasts.

34 Hee spake and the grasshoppers came, and caterpillers innumerable,

35 And did eate vp all the grasse in their land, and deuoured the fruit of their ground.

36 He smote also all the fift borne in their land, euen the beginning of all their strength.

37 He brought them forth also with siluer and gold, and there was none feeble among their tribes.

38 Egypt was glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them.

39 He spread a cloud to bee a couering, and fire to giue light in the night.

40 They asked, and hee brought quailles, and he filled them with the bread of heauen.

41 Hee opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the dry places like a riuer.

42 For he remembered his holy promise to Abraham his seruant, 43 And he brought forth his people with ioy, and his chosen with gladnesse.

44 And gaue them the lands of the hea- then, and they tooke the labours of the people in possession.

45 That they might keep his statutes, and obserue his Lawes, Praise ye the Lord.

uour of thy people: visit me with thy saluation,

5 That I may see the felicity of thy chosen, and reioyce in the ioy of thy people, and glory with thine inheritance.

6 We haue^d sinned with our fathers: wee haue committed iniquity, and done wickedly.

7 Our fathers vnderstood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembred they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euē at the red Sea.

8 Neuerthelesse he^e saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be known.

9 And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dried vp, and he led them in the deepe, as in the wilderness.

10 And he saued them from the aduersaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enimie.

11 * And the waters covered their oppressours: nor one of them was left.

12 Then beleueed they his wordes, and sang prayse vnto him.

13 But incontinently they forgot his works: they waited not for his^e counsell, 14 But lusted with concupiscence in the wilderness, and tempted God in the desert.

15 Then he gaue them their desire, but he sent^h leanness into their soule.

16 They enuied Moses also in the tents, and Aaron the holy one of the Lord.

17 Therefore the earth opened andⁱ swallowed vp Dathan, and couered the company of Abiram.

18 And the fire was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt vp the wicked.

19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.

20 Thus they turned their^k glory into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.

21 They forgate God their Sauour, which had done great things in Egypt;

22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, and fearefull things by the red Sea.

23 Therefore hee minded to destroy them, had^l not Moses his chosen stand in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, lest hee should destroy them.

24 Also they contemned that^m pleasant land, and beleueed not his word, 25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkened not vnto the voice of the Lord.

26 Thereforeⁿ he lifted vp his hand against them, to destroy them in the wilderness, 27 And to destroy their seede among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countreyes.

28 They ioyned themselues also vnto^o Baal-peor, and did eate the offerings of the dead.

29 Thus they^p prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.

30 But^r Phinhas stood vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was stayed.

31 * And it was^s imputed vnto him for righteousness from generation to generation for euer.

32 They angered him also at the waters of^t Meribah, so that^u Moses was punished for their sakes, 33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnaduisedly with his lips.

34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them;

35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their works,

36 And serued their idols, which were their ruine.

37 Yea, they offered their^v sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, 38 And shed innocent blood, euē the blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.

39 Thus were they stained with their owne workes, and went^w a whoring with their owne inuentions.

40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance.

41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lords ouer them.

42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.

43 Many a^x time did he deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therfore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.

44 Yet he saw when they were in affliction, and he heard their cry

45 And he remembered his couenant toward them, and^y repented according to the multitude of his mercies, 46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.

47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and^z gather vs from among the heathen, that we may praise thine holy Name, and glorie in thy praise.

48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord,

P S A L. CVII.

The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lord, and gathered vnto him, to giue thanks. 9 For this mercifull providence of God, governing all things at his good pleasure, 20 Sending good and euill, prosperity and aduersitie to bring men vnto him, 42 Therefore as the righteous thereat reioyce, so shall the wicked haue their monthes stopped.

10 They that dwell in darknesse and in the shadowe of death, being bound in miserie and yron.

11 Because they^d rebelled against the words of the Lord, and despised the counsell of the most High.

12 When he humbled their heart with heauinesse, then they fell downe and there was no helper.

13 Then they^e cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.

14 He brought them out of darknesse, and out of the shadowe of death, and brake their bands asunder.

15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

16 For he hath broken the^f gates of brass, and braist the barres of yron asunder.

17 Fooles by reason of their transgression, and because of their iniquities are afflicted.

18 Their soule abhorreth all meat, and they are brought to deaths doore.

19 Then they crie vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuereth them from their distresse.

20 He sendeth his word & healeth them, and deliuereth them from their^g graues.

21 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

22 And let them offer sacrifices of^k praise, and declare his workes with reioycing.

23 They that go downe to the^l sea in ships, and occupie by the great waters, 24 They see the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe.

25 For he commandeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it listeth vp the waues thereof.

26 They mount vp to the heauen, and descend to the deepe, so that their soule^m melteth for trouble.

27 They are tossed to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and all theirⁿ cunning is gone.

28 Then they crie vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresse.

29 He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still.

30 When they are^o quieted, they are glad, and he bringeth them vnto the hauen, where they would be.

31 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

32 And let them exalt him in the^p Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the Elders.

33 He turneth the floods into a wilderness, and the springs of waters into drinesse,

34 And a fruitfull land into || barrennesse for the wickednes of them that dwell therein.

35 Again he^q turneth the wilderness into pooles of water, and the drie land into water springs.

36 And there he placeth the hungry, and they build a citie to dwell in,

37 And sow the fields and plant vineyards, which bring forth fruitfull^r increase.

38 For hee blesteth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattell, 39 Again, men are diminished, & brought low by oppression, euill and sorrow.

40 He powreth^s contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way.

41 Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of sheepe.

42 The^t righteous shall see it, and reioyce, and all iniquity shall stop her mouth.

43 Who is wise that he may obserue these things? for they shall vnderstand the louing kindnesse of the Lord.

PSAL. CVIII.

This Psalme is composed of two other Psalmes before, the seven and fiftieth, and the sixtieth. The matter here contained is. 1 That David giueth himselfe with heart and voice to prayse the Lord, 7 And assureth himselfe of the promise of God concern'g his kingdome ouer Israel, and his power against other nations. 11 Who though he seeme to forsake vs for a time, yet he alone wil in the end cast d. wne our enemies.

A Song or Psalme of David.

O God mine heart is^a prepared, so is || my tongue: I will sing and giue prayse.

2 A wake viose and harpe: I will awake early.

3 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the^b people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

4 Forthy mercie is great about the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes.

5 Exalt thy selfe, O God, about the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

6 That

o Though before every drop seemed to fight one against another, yet at his commandment they are as still, as though they were frozen.

p This great benefit ought not onely to be considered particularly, but magnified in all places and assemblies.

q For the lone that he beareth to his church he changeth the order of nature for their commodity.

r Continually increase and yeerely.

s As God by his prouident, doth exalt men, so doeth he also humble them by afflictions to know themselves.

t For their wickednes and tyranny he causeth the people and subiects to contemne them.

u They, whose faith is lightened by Gods Spirit, shall reioyce to see Gods iudgements against the wicked and vrgodly.

a His earnest affection declareth that he is free from hypocrisy, and that sluggishnes stayeth him not.

b Or, my glory, because it chiefly setteth forth the glory of God.

c He prophesie of the calling of the Gentiles: for except they were called, they could not here the goodness of God.

c Let all the world see thy iudgements, in that thou art god ouer all and so confesse that thou art glorious.

d When God by his benefits maketh vs partakers of his mercies, he admonisheth vs to be earnest in prayer, to desire him to continue and finish his graces. e As hee hath spoke to Samuel concerning me, so will he shew himselfe constant and holy in his promise to these nations following shall be subject vnto me. Psalm 60. 8 f From the first verse of this Psalm, vnto the last, read the exposition in the 1x. Psalm, and first verse.

6 That thy beloued my bee deliuered: ^d help with thy right hand and heare me.

7 God hath spoken in his holines: therefore I will reioice, I shall diuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead shall be mine, and Manasseh shall be mine: Ephraim also shall be the strength of mine head: Iuda is my lawgiuer.

9 Moab shall be my washpot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shooe: vpon Palestina will I triumph.

10 Who will leade me into the strong citie? who will bring me vnto Edom?

11 Wilt not thou, O God, which haddest forsaken vs, and didst not go forth O God, with our armies?

12 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we shal doe valiantly: for he shall tread downe our enemies.

2 S A L. CIX.

1 David being falsly accused by flatterers vnto Saul, prayeth God to helpe him and to destroy his enemies. 8 And vnder them hee speaketh of Iudas the traitour vnto Iesus Christ, and of all the like enemies of the children of God: 27 And desireth so to be deliuered, that his enemies may knowe the worke to be of God. 30 Then doth he promise to giue prayes vnto God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

H Oldne t thy tongue, o God of my praise.

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceit are opened vpon mee: they haue spoken vnto me with a lying tongue

3 They compassed mee about also with words of hatred, and fought against me without a cause.

4 For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, ^b but I gaue my selfe to prayer.

5 And they haue rewarded mee euill for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersarie stand as his right hand.

7 When he shall be iudged, let him be condemned, and let his prayer be turned into sin.

8 Let his dayes bee few: and let another take his charge.

9 Let his children bee fatherlesse, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children bee vagabonds and beg and seeke bread, comming out of their places destroyed.

11 Let the extortioner catch all that he hath, and let the strangers spoile his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercie vnto him: neither let there bee any to shew mercie vpon his fatherlesse children.

13 Let his posterity bee destroyed, and in the generation following let their name bee put out.

14 Let the iniquitie of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done away.

15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memorial from the earth

16 Because he remembered not to shew mercy, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorrowfull hearted to slay him.

17 As he loued cursing, so shal it come vnto him, and as he loued not blessing, so shal it be farre from him.

18 As he clothed himselfe with cursing like a raiment, so shal it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle where with he shall be alway girded.

20 Let this be the reward of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of them that speake euill against my soule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according to thy Name: deliuer me (for thy mercy is good)

22 Because I am poore and needie, & mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I depart like the shadow that declineth, and am shaken off as the grasshopper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fatnesse.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heads.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: ^c saue me according to thy mercy, 27 And they shall knowe, that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it.

28 Though they curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise and be confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersaries bee clothed with shame, & let them couer themselves with their confusion, as with a cloke.

30 I will giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my mouth, and praise him among the multitude.

31 For hee will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that would ^c condemne his soule.

P S A L. CX.

1 David prophesieth of the power and everlasting kingdome giuen to Christ. a. And of his Priesthood, which should put an end to the Priesthood of Levi.

A Psalm of David.

The Lord sayd vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntill I make thine enemies thy footstool

2 The Lord shall send the rod of thy power out of Zion: be thou ruler in the mids of thine enemies.

3 Thy people shall come willingly at the time of assembling ^c thine armie in holy beauty: the youth of thy wombe shall bee as the morning dew.

h He sheweth that God accometh to plague them after a strange sort that shew themselves cruell toward other. i Thus giueth the Lord to euery man thing, wherein he desireth, that the reprobate cannot accuse God of wrong, when they are giuen vp to their lusts and reprobate mindes. k For being distressed of man help, he fully trusted in the Lord, that he would deliuer him. l As thou art named mercifull, gracious & long suffering, so shew thy selfe in effect. m Meaning, that he hath no flay, nor assurance in this world. n For hunger, that came of sorrow, hee was leane, and his naturall moisture failed him. o The more grievous that Sathan afflicted him, the more earnest and instant was he in prayer. p They shall gaine nothing by cursing me. q Not onely in confelling it secretly in my selfe but also in declaring it before all the congregation. r Hereby he sheweth that he had not to doe with them that were of little power, but with judges and princes of the world.

a Though all the world condemne me, yet thou wilt approue mine innocencie, & that is a sufficient praise to me. b To declare that I had none other refuge, but thee, in whom my conscience was at rest. c Whether it were Doeg or Saul, or some familiar friend I had betrayed him, he prayeth not of priuate affectio, but moued by Gods Spirit, that God would take vengeance vpon him. d As to the elect all things turne to their profit: so to the reprobate, euē those things that are good, turne to their damnation. e This was chiefly accomplished in Iudas, Act. 1. 20 f He declareth that the curse of God lieth vpon the extortioners, who thinking to enrich their children by their vnlawfull gotten goods, are by Gods iust iudgement depriued of all. g Thus punisheth the Lord to the third and fourth generation the wickednesse of the parents in their wicked children.

a Iesus Christ in the two & twenty of Matthe, verse 44 giueth the interpretation hereof, & sheweth that this can not properly be applied vnto David, but to himselfe. b And thence it shall stretch through all the world, and this power chiefly standeth in the preaching of his word. c By thy word thy people shall be afflicted, and to thy Church. d He sheweth that the figure of Christ was both King and Priest: to the effect cannot be accomplished in any King saue onely in Christ, Hebr. 7. 26

PSAL. CXI.

¹ He giveth thanks to the Lord for his mercifull workes toward his Church, ¹⁰ And declareth wherein true wisdom and right knowledge consisteth.

g Prayse ye the Lord.

^a The Prophet declareth that he will praise God but primarily, and openly, and that from the heart, as he that consecrath himself wholly and only unto God.

I Will^a prayse the Lord with my whole heart in the assemblie & Cōgregation of the iust.
3 The workes of the Lord are^b great, and ought to bee sought out of all them that loue them.

3 His worke is beautifull and glorious, and his righteousness endureth for euer.
4 He hath made his wonderfull workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is mercifull and full of compassion.

5 Hee hath giuen^c a portion vnto them that feare him: he will euer be mindefull of his couenant.

6 He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes, in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The^d works of his hands are truth and iudgement: all his statutes are true.

8 They are established for euer and euer, and are done in truth and equitie.

9 He sent redemption vnto his people: he hath commaunded his couenant for euer: holy and fearefull is his Name.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue^f them, haue good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

^e They onely are wise, that feare God, and none haue vnderstanding, but they that obey his word. ^f To wit, his commandments, as verie 7.

PSAL. CXII.

¹ He prayseth the felicitie of them that feare God, ¹⁰ And condemneth the cursed state of the contemners of God.

g Prayse ye the Lord.

^a He meaneth that reuerent feare, which is in the children of God, which causeth them to delight onely in the word of God.

Blessed is the man that^a feareth the Lord, and delighteth greatly in his commandments.

3^b Riches and treasures shal be in his house, and his righteousness endureth for euer.

4 Vnto the^c righteous ariseth light in darkness: he is mercifull and full of compassion and righteous.

5 A good man is mercifull and^d lendeth, and will measure his affaires by iudgement.

6 Surely he shall neuer be moued: but the righteous shall bee had in euerlasting remembrance.

^d He sheweth what is the fruit of mercie, to lend freely and not for gaine, and so to measure his doings, that he may be able to helpe where neede requireth, and not to belowe al on himselfe.

7 He will not be afraid of euill tidings: for his heart is fixed, and beleueth in the Lord.

8 His heart is established: therefore he will not feare, vntill hee see his desire vpon his enemies.

9 He hath^e distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousness remaineth for euer: his^f horne shall be exalted with glory.

10 The wicked shall see it, and bee angry: he shall gnash with his teeth, and consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

8 The blessings of God vpon his children shall cause the wicked to die for enuie.

¹ An exhortation to prayse the Lord for his providence, 7 In that that contrary to the course of nature be worketh in his Church.

Prayse, O ye seruants of the Lord, prayse the Name of the Lord.

2 Blessed bee the Name of the Lord from henceforth and for euer.

3 The Lords Name is praised from the rising of the sunne, vnto the going downe of the same.

4 The Lord is high above all^b nations, and his glory about the heauens.

5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high!

9 Who abaseth himselfe to behold things in the heauen and in the earth!

1 A prayer of the faithfull oppressed by idolatrous tyrants, against whom they desire that God would succour them, 9 Trusting most constantly that God will preserve them in this their need, seeing that he hath adopted and received them to his favour, 18 Promising finally that they will not be unmindfull of so great a benefit, if it would please God to heare their prayer, and deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

Not vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glory, for thy louing mercy, and for thy truthes sake.

P S A L. CXVI.

1 David being in great danger of Saul in the desert of Maon, preceiuing the great and inestimable loue of God toward him, magnifieth such great mercies, 13 And protesteth that he will be thankefull for the same.

I loue the Lord, because he hath heard my voice and my prayers.

2 For he hath inclined his eare vnto mee, when I did call vpon him b in my dayes.

3 When the snares of death compassed me, and the griefes of the graue caught me: when I found trouble and sorow.

b When the wicked see that God accomplisheth not his promise as they imagine, they thinke there is no God.

c No impediments can let his worke, but he vseth euen the impediments to serue his will.

d Seeing that neither the matter, nor the forme can commend the idoles, it followeth y there is nothing, why they should be esteemed.

e He sheweth what great vanitie it is to aske helpe of them which not onely haue no helpe in them, but lacke sense & reason.

f As much without out sense as blocks & stones.

g For they were appointed by God as instructors of faith and religion for others to follow.

h That is, he will continue his graces toward his people.

i And therefore doeth still gouerne and continue all things therein.

k And they declare ynough his sufficiency, so that the world serueth him nothing, but to shew his fatherly care toward men.

l Though the dead set fourth Gods glory, yet he meaneth heere, that they praye him not in his Church and congregation.

4 Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, saying, I beseech thee, O Lord, deliuer my soule.

5 The Lord is e mercifull and righteous, and our God is full of compassion.

6 The Lord preserveth the simple: I was in misery, and he saued me.

7 Returne vnto thy rest, O d my soule: for the Lord hath bene beneficiall vnto thee.

8 Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eyes from teares, and my feet from falling.

9 I shall e walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.

10 I beleueed, therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled.

11 I said in my s feare, All men are liers.

12 What shall I render vnto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?

13 I will b take the cup of saluation, and call vpon the Name of the Lord.

14 I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people.

15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints.

16 Behold, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handmaid: thou hast broken my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee a sacrifice of praise, and will call vpon the Name of the Lord.

78 Let the proud be ashamed: for they haue dealt wickedly, and falsely with me: but I will not be confounded in thy precepts.

79 Let such as feare thee, O Lord, turne vnto mee, and they shall know thy testimonies.

80 Let mine heart be vpbright in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

81 My soule fainteth for thy saluation: yet I waite for thy word.

82 Mine eyes faile for thy promise, saying, When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am like a bottle in the smoke: yet doe I not forget thy statutes.

84 How many are the dayes of thy seruants? When wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me?

85 The proud haue digged pits for mee, which is not after thy Law.

86 All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsely: helpe me.

87 They had almost consumed mee vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts.

88 Quicken mee according to thy louing kindnesse: so shall I keepe the testimonie of thy mouth.

89 O Lord, thy word endureth for euer in heauen.

90 Thy truth is from generation to generation: thou hast layd the foundation of the earth, and it abideth.

91 They continue vnto this day by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants.

92 Except thy Law had been my delihte, I should now haue perished in mine affliction.

93 I will neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou hast quickened me.

94 I am thine, saue me: for I haue sought thy precepts.

95 The wicked haue waited for me to destroy me: but I will confider thy testimonies.

96 I haue scene an ende of all perfection: but thy commandement is exceeding large.

97 Oh how loue I thy Law! it is my meditation continually.

98 By thy commandements thou hast made me wiser then mine enemies: for they are cuer with me.

99 I haue had more vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation.

100 I vnderstood more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts.

101 I haue refrained my feete from euery euill way, that I might keepe thy word.

102 I haue not declined from thy iudgements: for thou didst teach me.

103 How sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth: yea, more then hony vnto my mouth.

104 By thy precepts I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the wayes of falsehood.

105 Thy word is a lanterne vnto my feete, and a light vnto my path.

me: yet are thy commandements my delight.

144 The righteousness of thy testimonies is euertlasting: graunt me vnderstanding, and I shall liue.

K O P H.

145 I haue cried with my whole heart:
heare me, O Lord, and I will keepe thy statutes.

146 I called vpon thee: saue me, and I will keepe thy testimonies.

147 I preuented the morning light, and cried: for I waited on thy word.

148 Mine eyes preuent the night watches to meditate in thy word.

149 Heare my voice according to thy louing kindnes: O Lord, quicken me according to thy iudgement.

150 They draw neere, that follow after malice, and are farre from thy Law.

151 Thou art neere, O Lord: for all thy commandements are true.

152 I haue known long since by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer.

O Lord, and giue me vnderstanding according vnto thy word.

170 Let my supplication come before thee, and deliuer me according to thy promise.

171 My lips shall speake praise, when thou hast taught me thy statutes.

172 My tongue shall intreate of thy word:
for all thy commandements are righteous.

173 Let thine hand helpe mee: for I haue chosen thy precepts.

174 I haue longed for thy saluation, O
Lord, and thy Law is my delight.

175 Let my soule liue, and it shall praise thee, and thy iudgement shall helpe me.

These were people of Arabia, which came of Ishmael, Gen. 25. 18. f That is, of the Meschites. g He declareth what he meaneth by Meshech, and Kedar to wit, the Iralites, which had degenerate from their godly fathers, and hated and contemned against the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXI.

This Psalme teacheth that the faithfull ought only to looke for helpe at God. f Whom they doth maintaine, preserve and prosper his Church.

A Song of degrees.

I will lift vp mine eyes vnto the mountaines, from whence mine helpe shall come.

Mine helpe cometh from the Lord, which hath made the heauen and the earth.

He will not suffer thy foote to slip, for he that keepeth thee, will not slumber.

Behold, he that keepeth Israel, will neither slumber nor sleepe.

The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shadow at thy right hand.

The sunne shall not smite thee by day, nor the moone by night.

The Lord shall preserve thee from all euill: he shall keepe thy soule.

The Lord shall preserve thy going out, and thy comming in from henceforth and for euer.

d Whatsoeuer thou doest enterprise shall haue good successe.

PSAL. CXXII.

David reioyceth in the name of the faithfull, that God hath accomplished his promise, and placed his Arke in Zion. f For the which hee giueth thanks, g And prayeth for the prosperity of the Church.

A Song of degrees, or Psalme of David.

Reioyce, when they said to me, We will goe into the house of the Lord.

Our feete shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem.

Ierusalem is builded as a citie, that is compact together in it selfe.

Whereunto the Tribes, euen the Tribes of the Lord goe vp according to the testimony to Israel, to praise the Name of the Lord.

For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of David.

Pray for the peace of Ierusalem: let them d All the tribes according to Gods conenant shall come and pray there. e In whose house God placed the throne of Iustice, and made it a figure of Christs kingdome.

prosper that loue thee.

Peace be within thy walls, and prosperitie within thy palaces.

For my brethren and neighbours sakes I will wish thee now prosperitie.

Because of the House of the Lord our God, I will promise thy wealth.

PSAL. CXXIII.

A prayer of the faithfull, which were afflicted either in Babylon or vnder Antiochus by the wicked worldlings and contemners of God.

A Song of degrees.

Lift vp mine eyes to thee, that dwellest in the heauens.

Behold, as the eyes of seruants looke vnto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a maiden vnto the hand of her mistresse: so our eyes wait vpon the Lord our God vntill he haue mercie vpon vs.

Haue mercie vpon vs, O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs: for wee haue suffered too much contemp.

Our soule is filled too full of the mocking of the wealthy, and of the despitefulness of the proud.

nings of the wicked, there is alway helpe aboue, if with hungry desires they call for it.

PSAL. CXXIII.

The people of God escaping a great perill, doe acknowledge themselves to be deliuered, not by their owne force, but by the power of God. f They declare the greatness of the power of God. g And praise the Name of God.

A Song of degrees, or Psalme of David.

If the Lord had not bene on our side, (may Israel now say.)

If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs,

They had then swallowed vs vp quick, when their wrath was kindled against vs.

Then the waters had drowned vs, and the streame had gone ouer our soule:

Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule.

Praised be the Lord, which hath not giuen vs as a pray vnto their teeth.

Our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the snare of the fowlers: the snare is broken, and we are deliuered.

Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hath made heauen and earth.

PSAL. CXXV.

Hee describeth the assurance of the faithfull in their afflictions, g And desireth their wealth, f And the destruction of the wicked.

A Song of degrees.

They that trust in the Lord, shall bee as mount Zion, which can not be removed, but remaineth for euer.

As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lord about his people from henceforth and for euer.

For the rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous, least the righteous put forth their hand vnto wickednesse.

ness, yet this crosse shall not so rest vpon them that it should driue them from hope.

f The fauour of God prospereth both with and without. g Not onely for mine owne sake, but for all the faithfull.

a He compareth the condition of the godly to seruants that are distressed of all helpe, assuring that when all other helpes fail, God is euer at hand and will himselfe. b He declareth that when the faithfull are so full, that they can no more endure the oppressions and scornings of the wicked, there is alway helpe aboue, if with hungry desires they call for it.

a He sheweth that God was ready to helpe at neede, and that there was none other way to be saved, but by his onely meane. b So vnable were we to resist. c He vseth most proper similitudes to expresse the great danger that the Church was in, and out of the which God miraculously deliuered them. d For the wicked did not onely furiously rage against the faithfull, but craftily imagined to destroy them.

a Though the world be subiect to mutations, yet the people of God shall stand sure, and be defended by Gods providence. b Though God suffer his to be vnder the crosse, least they should embrace wickedness, yet this crosse shall not so rest vpon them that it should driue them from hope.

4 Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that bee good and true in their hearts.

5 But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, them shall the Lord leade with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shall be vpon Israel.

PSALM CXXVII

1 This Psalm was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and sheweth that the means of their deliverance was wonderful after the seuentie yeeres of captiuitie foretold by Ierem. 18, chap. 17, 12, and 29, 10.

A Song of degrees, or Psalm of David.

W HEN the Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, we were like them that dreame.

2 Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with ioy: then said they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them.

3 The Lord hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce.

4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the riuers in the South.

5 They that sowe in teares, shall reape in ioy.

6 They went weeping and caried precious seede: but they shall returne with ioy and bring their sheaues.

PSALM CXXVIII

1 He sheweth that the whole estate of the world, both domesticall and politicall standeth by Gods mere prouidence and blessing. 2 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especiall grace and gift of God.

A Song of degrees, or Psalm of Salomon.

EXCEPT the Lord build the house, they labour in vaine that build it: except the Lord keepe the citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine.

2 It is in vaine for you to rise early and to lie downe late, and cate the bread of sorrow: but hee will surely giue rest to his beloued.

3 Behold, children are the inheritance of the Lord, and the fruit of the wombe his reward.

4 As are the arrows in the hand of the strong man: so are the children of youth.

5 Blessed is the man, that hath his quiver full of them: for they shall not bee ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

PSALM CXXVIII

1 Hee sheweth that blessednesse appertaineth not to all vniuersally, but to them onely that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

A Song of degrees.

BLESSED is euery one that feareth the Lord, and walketh in his wayes.

2 When thou catest the labours of thine hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall be well with thee.

3 Thy wife shall be as the fruitfull vine on the sides of thine house, and thy children like the oliue plants round about thy table.

4 Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord.

5 The Lord out of Zion shall blesse thee, and thou shalt see the wealth of Ierusalem all the dayes of thy life.

6 Yea, thou shalt see thy childrens children, and peace vpon Israel.

with this gift. d Because of the spirituall blessing, which God hath made to his Church, these temporall things shall be granted. e For except God blessed his Church publicly, this priuie blessing were not long.

PSALM CXXIX

1 Hee acknowledgeth the Church to be in tribulation, though it be afflicted. 2 For by the righteous Lord it shall be delivered.

6 And the enemies for all their glorious shew, shall suddenly be destroyed.

A Song of degrees.

THEY haue oftentimes afflicted mee from my youth (maye Israel now say.)

2 They haue oftentimes afflicted mee from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me.

3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrowes.

4 But the righteous Lord hath cut the cordes of the wicked.

5 They that hate Zion shall be all ashamed and turned backward.

6 They shall be as the grasse on the house tops, which withereth afore it commeth forth.

7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hand, neither the gleaner his lap.

8 Neither they, which goe by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, We blesse you in the Name of the Lord.

confused with heate of Gods wrath. because they are not grounded in godly humilitie. d That is, the wicked shall perish, and none shall passe for them.

PSALM CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomlesse miseries doe cry vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes and see vnto Gods mercie.

A Song of degrees.

OF the deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.

2 Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to the voice of my prayers.

3 If thou, O Lord straightly markest iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand?

4 But mercie is with thee, that thou maiest be feared.

5 I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his word.

6 My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning.

7 Let Israel waite on the Lord: for with the Lord is mercie, and with him is great redemption.

8 And he shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

PSALM

c Hee desireth God to purge his Church from hypocrites, and such as haue no zeale of the truth.

a Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible, and therefore took away all excuse of ingratitude. b He sheweth how the godly ought to reioyce, when God gathereth his Church or deliuereth it.

c If the infidels confesse Gods wonderfull worke, the faithfull can neuer shew themselves sufficiently thankfull.

d It is no more impossible to God to deliuer his people, then to cause the riuers to runne in the wilderness and barren places. e That is, leade which was leaue and deare meaning, that they which trusted in Gods promise to returne, had their desire.

a That is, gouerne and dispose all things pertaining to the family.

b The publike estate of the commonwealth c Which watch and ward, and are also magistrates, and rulers of the citie.

d Either that which is gotten by hard labour, or eaten with griefe of minde.

e Not exempting them from labour, but making their labours comfortable, and as it were a rest.

f That is, indued with strength and vertues from God: for these are signes of Gods blessings, and not the number. g Such children shall be able to stop their aduersariies mouths, when their godly hit is maliciously accused before Iudges.

a Being in great distress and sorrow.

b He declareth that we cannot be iust before God, but by forgiveness of sinnes.

c Because of nature thou art mercifull: therefore the faithfull reuerence thee.

d He sheweth to whom the mercie of God doth appertaine: to Israel, that is, to the Church, and not to the reprobate.

e Let the Church appeare in Priests and the people.

f As thou madest promise to David, so I will performe it to thee.

g Shall aske for their people may be graued. h Because was spirituall place: for he with my people.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 Dauid charged with ambition and greedie desire to raigme, protesteth his humilitie and modestie before God, and teacheth all men what they should doe.

A Song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

Lord, mine heart is not haucie, neither are mine eyes loftie, neither haue I walked in great matters and hid from me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one wained from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is wained.

3 Let Israel wait on the Lord from henceforth and for euer.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 The faithfull grounding on Gods promise made vnto Dauid, desire that he would establish the same, both as touching his posteritie, and the building of the Temple, to pray there as was foretolden.

A Song of degrees.

Lord, remember Dauid with all his affliction.

2 Who sware vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mightie God of Iakob, saying,

3 I will not enter into the Tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet or bed,

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye-lids to slumber,

5 Vntill I find out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mightie God of Iakob.

6 Lo, we heard of it in Ephrathah, and found it in the fields of the forrest.

7 We will enter into his Tabernacles, and worship before his footestool.

8 Arise, O Lord, to come into thy rest, thou, and the Arke of thy strength.

9 Let thy Priests be clothed with righteousness, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy seruant Dauids sake refuse not the face of thine Annoynted.

11 The Lord hath sworne in trueth vnto Dauid, and he will not shrinke from it, saying, Of the fruite of thy bodie will I set vpon thy throne.

12 If thy sons keepe my couenant, and my testimonies, that I shal teach them, their sonnes also shall sit vpon thy throne for euer.

13 For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and loved to dwell in it, saying, 14 This is my rest for euer: here will I dwell, for I haue a delight therein.

15 I will surely blesse her vitales, and will satisfie her poore with bread, 16 And will clothe her Priests with saluation, and her Saints shall shoute for ioy.

17 There will I make the home of Dauid to bud: for I haue ordained a light for mine Annoynted.

18 His enemies will I clothe with shame, but on him his crowne shall flourish.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 This Psalme containeth the commendation of brotherly amity among the seruants of God.

A Song of degrees or Psalme of Dauid.

Behold, how good and how comely a thing it is brethren to dwell together.

2 It is like to the precious oyntment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which went downe on the border of his garments:

3 And as the dew of Hermon, which falleth vpon the mountains of Zion: for there the Lord appointed the blessing and life for euer.

These lines shew the commoditie of brotherly loue. b The oyntment was a figure of the graces, which come from Christ the head vnto his Church. c By Hermon and Zion he meaneth the plenusfull countrey about Ierusalem. d Where there is such concord.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 He exhorteth the Leuites watching in the Temple to praise the Lord.

A Song of degrees.

Behold, praise ye the Lord, all ye seruants of the Lord, yee that by night stand in the house of the Lord.

2 Lift vp your hands to the Sanctuary, and praise the Lord.

3 The Lord that hath made heauen and earth, blesse thee out of Zion.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 Hee exhorteth all the faithfull, of what state soeuer they be to praise God for his marueilous workes, 21 And specially for his graces toward his people, wherein he hath declared his maiestie, 25 to the confusion of all idolaters and their idoles.

Prayse ye the Lord.

Praise the Name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praise him.

2 Ye that stand by the house of the Lord, and in the courts of the House of our God,

3 Praise ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing prayes vnto his Name, for it is a comely thing.

4 For the Lord hath chosen Iakob to himselfe, and Israel for his chiefe treasure.

5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.

6 Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, that did hee in heauen and in earth, in the sea, and in all the depths.

P S A L. CXXXVII.

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, lined in great anguish and sorrow of heart: the which grieue the Caldeans did so little pittie, 3 That they rather increased the same daily with taunts, reproches and blasphemies against God. 7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who provoked the Babylonians against them, 8 And moued by the Spirit of God, prophesie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously.

BY the riuers of Babel wee sate, and there we wept when we remembered Zion.

2 Wee hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in the mids thereof.

3 Then they that led vs captiues, requirred of vs songs and mirth, when wee had hanged vp our harps, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion.

4 How shall we sing, said we, a song of the Lord in a strange land?

5 If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play.

6 If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roofof my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my chiefe ioy.

7 Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Ierusalem, which said, Rase it, rase it to the foundation thereof.

8 O daughter of Babel, worthy to be destroyed, blessed shall he be that rewardeth thee, as thou hast serued vs.

9 Blessed shall he be that taketh and dasheth thy children against the stones.

was so grieuous, that no ioy could makethem glad, except it were restored. f According as Ezek. 25. 13, and Ieremie 49. 7. verse prophesied: and Obadias, verse 10. sheweth that the Edomites, which came of Esau, conspired with the Babylonians against their brethren and kinsfolke. g When thou didst visite Ierusalem h He alludeth to Isaias prophesie, Chapter 13, and 16. verse, promising good successe to Cyrus and Darius, whom ambition moued to fight against Babylon: but God vised them as his rods to punish his enemies.

P S A L. CXXXVIII.

1 David with great courage praiseth the goodnesse of God toward him, the which is so great, 4 That it is known to forraigne Princes, who shall praise the Lord together with him. 6 And hee is assured to haue like comfort of God in the time following, as he hath had heretofore.

A Psalm of David.

I Will praise thee with my whole heart: even before the gods will I praise thee.

2 I will

g In our greatest affliction and seruitude, when we looked for nothing less then to haue had any succour, h Seeing that God prouideth euen for the beasts, much more hath he care ouer his i Seeing that all ages haue had most plaine testimonies of Gods benefits.

a That is, we abode along time and albeit that the country was pleasant, yet could it not stay our teares, nor turne vs from the true seruice of our God.

b To wit, of that country. c The Babylonians spake thus in mocking vs, as though by our silence we should signifie that we hoped no more in God. d Albeit the faithfull are touched with their particular griefs yet the common sorrow of the Church is most grieuous vnto them, and is such as they cannot but remember and lament. e The decay of Gods religion in their country.

f Though dauid was an heretick, yet it serueth thine eye as well as the light. h Thou hast made me in all parts, and therefore must needs know me. i Considering the wonderful works in forming me, I cannot but praise thee, and feare thy mightie power.

a By this repetition he sheweth that the least of Gods benefits binde vs to thanksgiving: but chiefly his mercie, which is principally declared toward his Church.
b This was a common kind of thanksgiving, which the whole people vsed, when they had received any benefit of God, as 2. Chron. 7. 6. and 20. 31. meaning that God was not onely mercifull to their fathers, but also continued the same to their posteritie. c Gods mercifull prouidence toward man appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefly in that that he deliuered his Church from the thraldome of their enemies. d In doing such a worke as was neuer done before, nor that any other could doe. e Where for the space of fortie yeeres he shewed infinite and most strange wonders. f Declaring thereby that no power nor authority was so deere vnto him, as the loue of his Church.

b Both the Temple and ceremonial service at Christ's coming were abolished: so that now God will be worshipped only in spirit and truth.
 c. Thou hast strengthened me against mine outward and inward enemies.
 d. All the world shall confess that thou hast wonderfully performed thy promise.
 e. Distance of place cannot hinder God to show mercy to his, and to judge the wicked, though they think that he is farre off.
 f. Though mine enemies rage never so much, yet the Lord, which hath begun his worke in mee, will continue his grace to the ende.

2 I wil worship toward thine holy Temple, and praise thy Name; because of thy loving kindness: and for thy truth: for thou hast magnified thy Name about all things by thy word.

3 When I called, then thou heardest mee, and hast increased strength in my soule.

4 All the Kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they have heard the wordes of thy mouth.

5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord is great.

6 For the Lord is high: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proud he knoweth a farre off.

7 Though I walke in the mids of trouble, yet wilt thou reuile me: thou wilt stretch forth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue me.

8 The Lord will performe his worke toward me: O Lord, thy mercy endureth for euer: forsake not the workes of thine hands.

9 The Lord, which hath begun his worke in mee, will continue his grace to the ende.

P S A L. CXXXIX.

1 David to cleanse his heart from all hypocrisie, sheweth that there is nothing so hid, which God seeth not. 13 Which he confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After, declaring his Zeale and feare of God, he protesteth to be enemy to all them that contemne God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

O Lord, thou hast tried me & knowne me. 2 Thou knowest my sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought afar off.

3 Thou compassest my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes.

4 For there is not a word in my tongue, but loe, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord.

5 Thou holdest me strait behinde and before, and layest thine hand vpon me.

6 Thy knowledge is too wonderfull for mee: it is so high that I cannot attaine vnto it.

7 Whither shall I goe from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?

8 If I ascend into heauen, thou art there: if I lie downe in hell, thou art there.

9 Let me take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the vttermost parts of the sea:

10 Yet thither shall thine hand leade me, and thy right hand hold me.

11 If I say, Yet the darknesse shall hide me, cuen the night shall be as light about me.

12 Yea, the darknesse hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darknesse and light are both alike.

13 For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe.

14 I wil praise thee, for I am fearefully and wonderously made: maruileous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well.

15 My bones are not hidde from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and fashioned beneath in the earth.

16 Thine eyes did see me, when I was without forme: for in thy booke were all things written, which in continuance were fashioned, when there was none of them before.

17 How deare therefore are thy thoughts vnto mee, O God: how great is the summe of them!

18 If I should count them, they are more, then the sand: when I wake, I am still with thee.

19 Oh that thou wouldest slay, O God, the wicked and bloody men, to whom I say, Depart ye from me:

20 Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine.

21 Doe not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and doe not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee?

22 I hate them with an vnfaigned hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies.

23 Try me, O God, and know mine heart: proue me, and know my thoughts, 24 And consider if there be any way of wickednesse in me, and leade me in the way for euer.

He was subiect to sinne, yet was hee not giuen to wickednesse, and to proue God by rebellion. q That is, continue thy fauour towards mee to the end.

1 David complaineth of the crueltie, falshood and iniuries of his enemies. 2 Against the which he prayeth vnto the Lord, and assureth himselfe of his helpe and succour. 12 Wherefore he proueth the iust to praise the Lord, and so assure themselves of his iustitiā.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

Deliver me, O Lord, from the euill man: preserve me from the cruell man:

2 Which imagine euill things in their heart, and make warre continually.

3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a Serpent: Adders poison is vnder their lips. Selah.

4 Keepe me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked: preserve me from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steps to slide.

5 The proud haue laide a snare for me, and spread a net with cordes in my pathway, and set grinneth for me. Selah.

6 Therefore I said vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voice of my prayers.

7 O Lord God the strength of my saluation, thou hast couered mine head in the day of battell.

8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord: performe not his wicked thought, lest they be proud. Selah.

PSAL. CXLI.

David being grieuouly persecuted vnder Saul, openly fleeth vnto God to haue succour. Desiring him to bridle his afflictions, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

A Psalme of David.

Lord, I call vpon thee: haile thee vnto mee: heare my voyce, when I crie vnto thee.

Let my prayer be directed in thy sight as incense, and the lifting vp of mine hands as an euening sacrifice.

Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the doore of my lips.

Incline not mine heart to euill, that I should comm i wicked workes with men that worke iniquitie: and let mee not eate of their delicates.

Let the righteous smite me: for that is a benefit: and let him reprocue me, and it shall be a precious oyle, that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall euen pray in their miseries.

When their Iudges shall be cast downe in stonie places, they shall heare my wordes, for they are sweet.

Our bones lie scattered at the graues mouth, as hee that heweth wood, or diggeth in the earth.

But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule desitute.

Keep me from the snare, which they haue laid for mee, and from the grennes of the workers of iniquitie.

Let the wicked fall into his nets together, whiles he escape.

Dauid was miraculously deliuered out of many deaths, as 1. Cor. 1. 9. 10. Into Gods nettes, whereby hee catcheth the wicked in their owne malice. k So that none of them escape.

PSAL. CXLII.

The Prophet either asonied with feare, nor carried away with anger, nor forced by desperation, would kill Saul, but with a quiet mind directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserve him.

A Psalme of David, to giue instruction, and a prayer, when he was in the caue.

I cried vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I prayed vnto the Lord.

I poured out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

I sought out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

I sought out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

I sought out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

I sought out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

I sought out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

I sought out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

I sought out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

Though my spirit was in perplexitie in mee, yet thou knewest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily laid a snare for me.

I looked vpon my right hand, and behelde; but there was none that would know mee: all refuge failed me, and none cared for my soule.

Then cried I vnto thee, O Lord, and said, Thou art mine hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing.

Hearken vnto my crie, for I am brought very low: deliuer me from my persecuters, for they are too strong for me.

Bring my soule out of prison, that I may praise thy Name: then shall the righteous come about me, when thou art beneficial vnto me.

PSAL. CXLIII.

An earnest prayer for remission of finnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruely persecute him by Gods iust iudgement. 8 He desireth to be restored to grace. 10 To be gouerned by his holy spirit, that hee may spend the remnant of his life in the true feare and seruice of God.

A Psalme of David.

Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my supplication: and answer me in thy truth, and thy righteousness.

(And enter not into iudgement with thy seruants: for in thy sight shall none that liueth, be iustified.)

For the enemy hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath laid me in the darknesse, as they that haue bene dead long agoe.

And my spirit was in perplexitie in mee, and mine heart within me was amased.

Yet doe I remember the time past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the works of thine hands.

I stretch forth mine handes vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirly land. Selah.

Heare me speedily, O Lord, for my spirit faileth: hide not thy face from mee, else I shall be like vnto them that goe downe into the pit,

Let me heare thy louing kindnesse in the morning, for in thee is my trust: shew me the way, that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

Deliuere mee, O Lord, from mine enemies: for I hid me with thee.

Teach me to do thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good spirit leade me vnto the land of righteousness.

Quicken mee, O Lord, for thy Names sake and for thy righteousness bring my soule out of trouble.

ly Spirit counsel me how to come forth of these great cares and troubles. I hid my selfe vnder the shadowe of thy wings, that I might bee defended by thy power. k Hee confesseth that both the knowledge and obedience of Gods will cometh by the spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his word, giueth vnderstanding by his spirit, and frameth our hearts by his grace to obey him. 1 That is, iustly, and righteously, so soone as we decline from Gods will, we fall into error.

13 And for thy mercy ^a I lay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule:
for I am thy ^b seruant.

14 My life wholly vnto thee, and trusting in thy protection.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 Hee praileth the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingdome refused, and for his victories obtained, 5 Demanding helpe and the destruction of the wicked,
6 Promising to acknowledge the same with songs of praise, 13 And declaring wherein the felicity of any people consisteth.

A Psalm of David.

Blessed be the Lord my strength, which teacheth mine hands to fight, and my fingers to battell.

2 Hee is my goodnesse and my fortresse, my tower and ^c my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my ^b people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou ^a regardest him? or the sonne of man that thou thinkest
vpon him?

4 Man is like to vanitie: his dayes are like a shadow, that vanisheth.

5 Bow thine heauens, O Lord, and come downe: touch the mountaines and they shall smoke.

6 Cast forth the lightning, and scatter them: shoot our thine arrowes, and consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great ^e waters, and from the hand of strangers.

8 Whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand ^e of falshood.

9 I will sing a ^h newe song vnto thee, O God, and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, and an instrument of ten strings.

10 It is he that giueth deliuerance vnto Kings, and rescueth David his ⁱ seruant from the hurtfull sword.

11 Rescue mee, and deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanity, & their right hand is a right hand of falshood:

12 That our ^k sonnes may be as the plants growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the simi-litude of a palace:

13 That our ⁱ corners may be full and abounding with diuers sorts, and that our sheep may bring forth thousands, and ten thousand in our streets:

14 That our ^m oxen may be strong to labour: that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our streets.

15 Blessed are the people, that be ⁿ so, yea, blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Psalm was composed when the kingdome of David florished. 1 Wherein he describeth the wonderfull prouidence of God, as well in governing man, as in preserving all the rest of his creatures. 17 Hee praileth God for his iustice and mercie, 18 But especially for his louing kindnesse toward those that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him:
21 For the which he promisseth to praise him for euer.

A Psalm of David of praise.

O My God and King, ^a I wil extoll thee, and will blesse thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I will blesse thee daily, and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

3 Great is the Lord, and most worthy to be praised, and his greatnesse is incomprehensible.

4 Generation shall praise thy workes vnto generation, and declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beauty of thy glorious Mafestie, and thy wonderfull workes,

6 And they shall speake of the power of thy feareful acts, and I wil declare thy greatnesse.

7 They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnesse, and shall sing aloud of thy righteousness.

8 The Lord is gracious and ^a mercifull, slow to anger, and of great mercy.

9 The Lord is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his workes.

10 All thy workes praise thee, O Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee,

11 They shew the glory of thy kingdome, and speake of thy power,

12 To cause his ^e power to be known to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renoume of his kingdome.

13 Thy ^k kingdome is an euertasting kingdome, and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.

14 The Lord vpholdeth all ^h that fall, and lifteth vp all that are ready to fall.

15 The eyes of ⁱ all waite vpon thee, and thou giuest them their meate in due season.

16 Thou openest thine hand, and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure.

17 The Lord is ^k righteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his workes.

18 The Lord is neere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in ⁱ trueth.

19 Hee will fulfill the ^m desire of them that feare him: he also will heare their cry, and will saue them.

20 The Lord preferueth all them that loue him: but he will destroy all the wicked.

21 My mouth shall speake the praise of the Lord, and all ⁿ flesh shall blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

not onely for that he is beneficiall to all his creatures, but also in that he iustly punisheth the wicked, and mercifully examineth his by the crosse, giuing them strength, and deliuering them. l Which onely appertaineth to the iust: and this ver-tue is contrary to infidelitie, doubting, impatientie and murmuring. m For they

1 The Prophet praiseth the bountie, wisdom, power, justice and providence of God vpon all his creatures, 3 But specially vpon his Church, which hee gathereth together after their dispersion, 19 Declaring his word and iudgements n As before hee called Gods secret working in all his creatures his word:

so hee inuermeth here by his word, the doctrine of life euerslasting, which hee hath left to his Church, as a most precious treasure. o The cause of this difference is Gods free mercy, which hath elected his in his Sonne Christ Iesus to saluation: and his iust

THE PROVERBES OF SALOMON.

THE ARGUMENT.

The wonderfull loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these brieue sentences, which partly containe doctrine & partly maners, and also exhortations to both: whereof the nine first Chapters are as a Preface full of graue sentences and deepe mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the Parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewel to the Church, of those three thousand parables mentioned, 1. King. 4. 32. and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons seruants, and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1. The power and vse of the word of God. 7. Of the feare of God and knowledge of his word. 10. Wee may not consent to the enticings of sinners. 20. Wisdom complaineth that shee is contemned. 24. The punishment of them that contemne her.

2. To know wisdom, and instruction, to vnderstand the words of knowledge,

3. To receiue instruction to doe wisely, by iustice and iudgement and equitie,

4. To giue vnto the simple, sharpnesse of wit, and to the child knowledge & discretion.

d. By liuing iustly, and rendering to euery man that which hee oweth him. e. To such as haue no discretion to rule themselves.

5. A wise man shall heare, and increase in learning, and a man of vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels,

6. To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wise, and their darke sayings.

7. The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdom and instruction.

8. My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching.

To wit, the wicked which haue not the feare of God.

11 If they say, Come with vs, wee will lay waite for blood, and lie priuily for the innocent without a cause:

12 Wee will swallow them vp alive like a graue euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit:

13 Wee shall finde all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoile:

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: wee will all haue one^m purse:

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: rehaîne thy foot from their^m path.

16 For their feet runne to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainly^{as} without cause the net is spread before the eyes of all that haue wing:

18 So they lay waite for blood, and lie priuily for^m their lines.

19 Such^{are} the wayes of euery one that is greedie of gaine: he would take away the life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ Wisdome cryeth without: she vttereth her voice in the^m streetes.

21 Shee calleth in the high streete, among the preasse in the entrings of the gates, and vttereth her words in the citie, saying,

22 O ye^f foolish, how long wil ye loue foolishnes? and the scornfull take their pleasure in scorning, and the fooles hate knowledge?

23 (Turne you at my correction: loe, I will powre out my minde vnto you, and make you vnderstand my words)

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regard,

25 But ye^a haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction,

26 I will also laugh at your destruction, and mocke when your feare commeth.

27 When^a your feare commeth like sudden desolation, and your destruction shal come like a whirlewinde: when affliction and anguish shal come vpon you,

28 Then shall they call vpon me, but I will not answere: they shall seeke mee early, but they shall not^a finde me, 29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord.

30 They would none of my counsell, but despised all my correction.

31 Therefore shal they eate of the^m fruit of their owne wy, and be filled with their owne deuises.

32 For^a ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them.

33 But hee that obeyeth me, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

34 ¶ Wisdome exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 Shee is giuen of God. 10 She preferueth from wickednesse.

35 ¶ The word of God giueth life. 5 Trust in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 22 To them that follow the word of God, all things shall succede well.

36 ¶ The word of God giueth life. 5 Trust in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 22 To them that follow the word of God, all things shall succede well.

46 ¶ The word of God giueth life. 5 Trust in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 22 To them that follow the word of God, all things shall succede well.

MY sonne, if thou wilt receiue my words, and^a hide my commandments with thee,

2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdom, and incline^a thine heart to vnderstanding,

3 (For if thou callest after knowledge, and cryest for vnderstanding:

4 If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for^a treasures,

5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, and find the^a knowledge of God.

6 For the Lord giueth wisdom, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderstanding:

7 Hee^{||} preferueth the state of the righteous: hee is a shielde to them that walke vp-rightly,

8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and hee preferueth the way of his Saints)

9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousness, and iudgement, and equitie, and euery good path.

10 ¶ When wisdom entreteth into thine heart, and knowledge delighteth thy soule,

11 Then shall^f counsell preferue thee, and vnderstanding shall keepe thee,

12 And deliuer thee from the euill way, and from the man that speaketh froward things,

13 And from them that leaue the^a wayes of righteousness to walke in the wayes of darkness:

14 Which reioyce in doing euill, and delight^a in the frowardnesse of the wicked, 15 Whose wayes are crooked, and they are lewde in their pathes.

16 And it shal deliuer thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her words.

17 Which forsaeketh the^a guide of her youth, and forgetteth the^a couenant of her God.

18 Surely her^m house tendeth to death, and her paths vnto^a the dead.

19 All they that goe vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they holde of the wayes of life.

20 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.

21 For the iust shall dwell in the^a land, and the vp-right men shall remaine in it.

22 But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressours shall be rooted out of it.

23 ¶ The word of God giueth life. 5 Trust in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 22 To them that follow the word of God, all things shall succede well.

a Long life is the blessing of God, which he giueth to his seruants, as it is written in the 120th psalm.

b By miracle and power, as when the Lord opened the eyes of the blind man, and made him see.

c These things are as sweet precious jewels, which the Lord giueth to his seruants, as it is written in the 120th psalm.

d By this we see the benefit of the law, which is to be a rule of life, and to be a guide to the right way.

e As was commanded in the Law, for 13. 19. Deut. 10. 1. and by this we see the benefit of the law, which is to be a rule of life, and to be a guide to the right way.

f For to the faithful distribution God giueth his grace, and by this we see the benefit of the law, which is to be a rule of life, and to be a guide to the right way.

g For to the faithful distribution God giueth his grace, and by this we see the benefit of the law, which is to be a rule of life, and to be a guide to the right way.

h Meaning that he that is wise, shall be able to overcome all his enemies, and to be victorious over them.

i Which bringeth forth such fruit, that they that eat thereof, shall live, and shall be able to overcome all their enemies, and to be victorious over them.

k He that is wise, shall be able to overcome all his enemies, and to be victorious over them.

l For when God destroyeth the wicked, he will leave them as a snare, and they shall be caught in their own net.

m Not only from them, but from the power of the wicked, which have need of the life thereof.

n That is, put to death, as it is written in the 120th psalm.

dayes and the yeeres of life, & thy prosperity.

3 Let not ^b mercy and truth forsake thee: bind them on thy ^c necke, and write them vpon the table of thine ^d heart.

4 So shalt thou find fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.

5 ¶ Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdom.

6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.

7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and depart from euill.

8 So health shall be vnto thy ^e nauell, and marow vnto thy bones.

9 ¶ Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first ^f fruits of all thine increase.

10 So shall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy presses shall ^g burst with new wine.

11 ¶ My sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieved with his correction.

12 ¶ For the Lord correcteth him, whom he loueth, euen as the father ^h doeth the child in whom he delighteth.

13 Blessed is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.

14 For the marchandise thereof is better then the marchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.

15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of dayes is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and glory.

17 Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperity.

18 She is a tree ⁱ of life to them that lay hold on her, & blessed is he that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wisdom hath laid the foundation of the earth: and hath stablished the heauens through vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and the cloudes drop downe the dew.

21 My sonne, let not ^j these things depart from thine eyes, but obserue wisdom, and counsell.

22 So shall they be life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy ^k necke.

23 Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way: and thy foote shall not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not be afraid: and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shall be sweete.

25 Thou shalt not feare for ^l any sudden feare, neither for the destruction of the wicked, when it commeth.

26 For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, and shall preserve thy foote from taking.

27 ¶ Withhold not the good from ^m the owners thereof, though there bee power in thine hand to doe it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Goe and come againe, and to morrow will I giue thee, if thou ⁿ haue it.

29 ¶ Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing he doeth dwell ^o without feare by thee.

30 ¶ Striue not with a man causelesse, when he hath done thee no harme.

31 ¶ Be not ^p enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.

32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his ^q secret is with the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but hee blesteth the habitation of the righteous.

34 With the scornful ^r he scorneth, but he giueth grace vnto the humble.

35 The wise shall inherit glory: but fooles dishonour, ^s though they be exalted.

CHAP. IIIL

1 Wisdom and her fruits ought to be searched. 14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the word of God the heart, eyes, and course of life must be guided.

HEARE, O ye children, the instruction of a father, and giue care to learne vnderstanding.

2 For I do giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my law.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and ^t deare in the sight of my mother.

4 When ^u he taught me, and said vnto me, Let thine heart hold fast my words: keepe my commandments, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisdom: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the wordes of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, and she shall keepe thee: loue her, and she shall preterue thee.

7 ^v Wisdom is the beginning: get wisdom therefore: and aboute all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: shee shall bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.

9 Shee shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, yea, she shall giue thee a crowne of glory.

10 ¶ Heare, my sonne, and receiue my words, and the yeeres of thy life shall be many.

11 I haue ^w taught thee in the way of wisdom, & led thee in the paths of righteousness.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be ^x strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take hold of instruction, and leaue not: keepe her, for she is thy life.

14 ¶ Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.

15 Auoid it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they cannot ^y sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth except they cause ^z some to fall.

17 For they eat the bread of ^a wickednesse, and drinke the wine of violence.

V u

18 But

n That is, put to death, as it is written in the 120th psalm.

o Desire not to be like vnto him.

p That is, his covenant and faithfulness, which is bid and feared from the world, for he will shew by his plagues, that their scorn shall turne to their owne destruction, as Chap. 1. 26.

a He speaketh this in the person of a Preacher and minister, which is as a father vnto the people, as Chap. 1. 8.

b In Hebrew it is Only: for though he had three others, as 1. Chron. 3. 5. yet so tenderly the loued Salomon, that he was vnto her, as her only sonne.

c Meaning, Dauid his father.

d He sheweth that we must first begin at Gods word, if so be we will that other things prosper with vs, contrary to the iudgement of the world, which make it their last studie, or els, care not for it at all.

e Salomon declareth what care his father had to bring him vp in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids protestation.

f Thou shalt walke at liberty without offence.

g Meaning, that to doe euill, is more proper and naturall to the wicked, then to sleepe, eate, or drinke.

h Gotten by wicked meanes and cruell oppression.

18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light that shineth more and more vnto the perfect day.

19 The way of the wicked is as the darknesse: they know not wherein they shall fall.

20 ¶ My sonne, hearken vnto my words, incline thine care vnto my sayings.

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the mids of thine heart.

22 For they are life vnto those that finde them, and health vnto all their flesh.

23 Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for thereout cometh life.

24 Put away from thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.

25 Let thine eyes behold the right, and let thine eye lids direct thy way before thee.

26 ¶ Ponder the path of thy feete; and let all thy wayes be ordered aright.

27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but remoue thy foote from euill.

1 Signifying, that the godly increase dayly in knowledge and perfection, till they come to full perfection, which is, when they shall be joynted to their head in the heauen.

2 That is, they shall have health of body, vnder the which all other things promised in the law are contained.

3 For as the heart is either pure or corrupt, so is the whole course of mans life.

4 Keepe a measure in all thy doings.

CHAP. V.

Whoredome forbidden. 9 And prodigallitie. 15 He will let a man to liue on his labours, and to helpe others, 18 To loue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their owne wickednesse.

MY sonne, hearken vnto my wisdom, and incline thine care vnto my knowledge,

2 That thou mayest regard counsell, and thy lips obserue knowledge.

3 For the lips of a strange woman drop as an hony combe, and her mouth is more soft then boyle.

4 But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharpe as a two edged sword.

5 Her feete goe downe to death, and her steps take hold on hell.

6 She weigheth not the way of life: her paths are vnknoweable: thou canst not know them.

7 Hear, yemenow therefore, O children, and depart not from the words of my mouth.

8 Keepe thy way farre from her, and come not neere the doore of her house,

9 Lest thou giue thine honour vnto others, and thy yeeres to the cruell:

10 Lest the stranger should be filled with thy strength, and thy labours be in the house of a stranger,

11 And thou mourne at thine end, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy body)

12 And say, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!

13 And haue not obeyed the voyce of them that taught me, nor inclined mine care to them that instructed me!

14 I was almost brought into all euill in the mids of the Congregation and assembly.

15 ¶ Drinke the water of thy cisterne, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne Well.

16 Let thy fountaines flow forth, and the riuers of waters in the streets.

17 But let them be thine, even thine onely, and not the strangers with thee.

18 Let thy fountaine be blessed, & reioyce with the wife of thy youth.

19 Let her bee as the louing hinde and pleasant roe: let her breasts satisfie thee at all times, and delight in her loue continually.

20 For why shouldst thou delight, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?

21 For the wayes of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and hee pondereth all his paths.

22 His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the coards of his owne sinne.

23 He shall die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray through his great folly.

24 Because hee will not giue care to Gods word, and be admonished.

1 He forbiddeth vs not to become suretie one for another, according to the rule of charity, but that we consider for whom and after what sort, so that the credit may not be defrauded.

2 If the word of God cannot instruct thee, yet learne at the little pittie: to labour for thy selfe, and not to burden others.

3 He expreth lively the nature of the sluggards, which though they sleepe neere so long, yet haue neuer enough, but euer seeke occasions thereunto.

4 That is, suddenly, and when thou lookest not for it.

5 It shall come in such sort as thou art not able to resist it.

6 He sheweth to what inconuenience the idle persons and sluggards come, by calling them vthriftie, or the men of Belial, & slanderous.

7 Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednesse.

CHAP. VI.

Instruction for surties. 6 The slothfull and swinish is stirred to worke. 12 He describeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the word of God. 24 To stand vnto the

MY sonne, if thou be surety for thy neighbour, and hast stricken hands with the stranger,

2 Thou art snared with the words of thy mouth: thou art even taken with the words of thine owne mouth.

3 Doe this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, goe, and humble thy selfe, and sollicite thy friends.

4 Giue no sleepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eye lids.

5 Deliuer thy selfe as a Doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.

6 ¶ Goe to the pissmire, O sluggard: be-hold her wayes, and be wise.

7 For she hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler,

8 Preparereth her meate in the summer, and gathereth her food in haruest.

9 How long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggard? when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe?

10 ¶ Yet a litle sleepe, a litle slumber, a litle folding of the hands to sleepe.

11 Therefore thy pouerty commeth as one that trauaileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

12 The vnthrifty man and the wicked man walketh with a froward mouth.

13 He maketh a signe with his eyes: he signifieth with his feet: he is instructed with his fingers, 14 Lewd things are in his heart: he imagineth euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions.

15 Therefore

1 He forbiddeth vs not to become suretie one for another, according to the rule of charity, but that we consider for whom and after what sort, so that the credit may not be defrauded.

2 If the word of God cannot instruct thee, yet learne at the little pittie: to labour for thy selfe, and not to burden others.

3 He expreth lively the nature of the sluggards, which though they sleepe neere so long, yet haue neuer enough, but euer seeke occasions thereunto.

4 That is, suddenly, and when thou lookest not for it.

5 It shall come in such sort as thou art not able to resist it.

6 He sheweth to what inconuenience the idle persons and sluggards come, by calling them vthriftie, or the men of Belial, & slanderous.

7 Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednesse.

8 Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednesse.

9 Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednesse.

10 Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednesse.

11 Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednesse.

12 Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednesse.

15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: he shal be destroyed suddenly without recovery.

16 ¶ These fixe things doth the Lord hate: yea, his soule abhorreth seuen:

17 The haucie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that shed innocent blood,

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, ^bfeete that be swift in running to mischief,

19 A false witnesse that speaketh lies, and him that raiseth vp contentions among || brethren.

20 ¶ My sonne, keepe thy fathers commandement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction.

21 Binde them alway vpon thine ⁱ heart, and ties them about thy necke.

22 It shall leade thee, when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee.

23 For the ^k commandement is a lanterne, and instruction a light: and ^l corrections for instruction are the way of life, 24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from the flattery of the tongue of a strange woman.

25 Desire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her ^m eye lids.

26 For becaufe of the whorish woman ⁿ a man is brought to a morsell of bread, and a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.

27 ^a Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt?

28 Or can a man goe vpon coales, and his feete not be burnt?

29 So hee that goeth in to his neighbours wife, shall not be innocent, whosoever toucheth her.

30 Men doe not ^o despise a thiefe, when he stealeth, to satisfie his ^p soule, because hee is hungry.

31 But if he be found, he shall restore seuen folde, or he shall giue all the substance of his house.

32 But he that committeth adulterie with a woman, he ^q is destitute of vnderstanding: he that doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule.

33 He shall find ^r a wound and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away.

34 For ielousie is the rage of a man: therefore he will not ^s spare in the day of vengeance.

35 Hee cannot beare the sight of any ran- some: neither will he consent, though thou augment the gifts.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wisdom and to the words of God, 5 Which will preserve vs from the harlot, 6 Whose maners are described.

MY sonne, keepe my words, and hide my commandements with thee.

2 Keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue, and mine instruction as the

^a apple of thine eyes.

3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto wisdom, Thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding thy kinswoman,

5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, ^b from the stranger that is smooth in her words.

6 ¶ ^b As I ^c was in the window of mine house, I looked through my window,

7 And I saw among the foolles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding,

8 Who passed through the streete by her corner, and went toward her house,

9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be ^c blacke and darke.

10 And behold, there met him a woman with an harlots || behauiour, and || subtil in heart.

11 (She ^d is babbling and loud: whose feet cannot abide in her house.

12 Now ^e she is without, now in the streetes, and lieth in wait at every corner)

13 So she caught him and kissed him, and ^f with an impudent face said vnto him, 14 I haue ^e peace offerings: this ^f day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore came I forth to meete thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee.

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, || carpets and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cinamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleasure in dalliance.

19 For ^g mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off.

20 He hath taken ^h with him a bag of siluer, and will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeeld, and with her flattering lips she entiled him.

22 And he followed her straightwayes, as an ⁱ ox that goeth to the slaughter, and ^h as a foole to the stocks for correction, 23 Till a dart strike through his liuer, as a bird hasteth to the snare, not knowing that ⁱ he is in danger.

24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the words of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her waies: wander thou not in her paths.

26 For she hath caused many to fall downe wounded, and the ^j strong men are all slaine by her.

27 Her house is the way ^k vnto the graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

 Chap. 1. 20. a Salomon declareth that man is cause of his owne perdition, and that he can pretend no ignorance, forasmuch as God calleth to all men by his words, and by his works to follow vertue and to flee from vice, b Where the people did most resort, & which was the place of iustice.*

c Meaning, that the word of God is easie vnto all, that haue a desire vnto it, and which are not blinded by the prince of this world, d That is, except a man haue wisdom, which is true knowledge of God, he can neither be prudent nor good counsellor, e So that hee that doeth not hate euill, feareth not God, f Whereby he declareth that honours, dignity or riches come not of mans wisdom, or industry, but by the prouidence of God, g That is, study the word of God diligently, and with a desire to profit, h Signifying, that he chiefly meaneth the spirituall treasures and heavenly riches, i For there can be no true iustice or iudgement, which is not directed by this wisdom.

k He declareth hereby the diuinitie and eternitie of this wisdom, which he magnifieth and praiseth through this Booke: meaning thereby the eternall Sonne of God Iesus Christ our Sauiour, whom Saine John calleth the Word that was in the beginning, Iohn 1. 1.

DOeth * not wisdom crie? and vnderstanding utter her voyce:
 2 She standeth in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths.
 3 She cryeth beside the gates before the citie at the entry of the doores, 4 O men, I call vnto you, and utter my voyce to the children of men.
 5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdom, and ye, O fooles, be wise in heart.
 6 Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes shall teach things that be right.
 7 For my mouth shall speake the truth, and my lips abhorre wickednesse.
 8 All the words of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdnesse, nor frowardnesse in them, 9 They are all plain to him that will vnderstand, and streight to them that would find knowledge.
 10 Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine gold.
 11 For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.
 12 I wisdom dwell with ^d prudence, and I find forth knowledge and counsels.
 13 The feare of the Lord is to hate euil: as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewd things, I doe hate.
 14 I haue counsell and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength.
 15 By me kings reign, and princes decree iustice.
 16 By me Princes rule, and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.
 17 I loue them that loue me: and they that seeke me early, shall find me.
 18 Riches and honour are with me: ^h euen durable riches and righteousness.
 19 My fruit is better then gold, ^{euen} then fine gold, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.
 20 I cause to walke in the way of righteousness, and in the mids of the paths of iudgement, 21 That I may cause them that loue mee, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures.
 22 The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was ^k before his works of olde.
 23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning and before the earth.
 24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.
 25 Before the mountaines were settled: and before the hilles, was I begotten.
 26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.

27 When hee prepared the heauens, I was ^l there, when he set the compasse vpon the deepe:
 28 When hee established the cloudes above, when he confirmed the fountaines of the deepe:
 29 When hee gaue his decree to the Sea, that the waters should not passe his commandment: when he appointed the foundations of the earth,
 30 Then was I with him as ^m a nourisher, and I was daily his delight, reioicing alway before him, 31 And tooke my ⁿ solace in the compasse of his earth: and my delight is with the children of men.
 32 Therefore now hearken, O children, vnto mee: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes:
 33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth me, watching dayly at my gates, and giuing attendance at the posts of my doores.
 34 For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord.
 35 But he that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: & all that hate me, loue death.

l He declareth the eternitie of the Son of God, which is meant by this word wisdom, who was before all time, & euer present with the Father, m Somereade, a chiefe worker, signifying Iesus Christ Iesus, was equal with God his Father, & created, preferred and still worketh with him, as Iohn 1. 17, n Whereby is declared that the work of the creation was no paine but a solace vnto wisdom of God, o By earth hee meaneth man, which is I work of God in whom wisdom tooke pleasure: in so much as for mans sake the Diuine wisdom tooke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, and filled vs with vn-

CHAP. IX.

2 Wisdom calleth all to her feast. 7 The corner will not be corrected. 10 The feare of God. 13 The conditions of the hart lot.
Wisdom hath built her house, and hewen out her seven pillars.
 2 She hath killed her vitailles, drawn her wine, and prepared her table.
 3 She hath sent forth her ^d maidens, and crieth vpon the highest places of the city, saying,
 4 Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, shee saith, 5 Come, and eat of my ^f meat, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawn.
 6 Forsake your way, ye foolish, and ye shall liue: and walke in the way of vnderstanding.
 7 He that reproveth a scorne, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a blot.
 8 Rebuke not a ^h scorne, least hee hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, and hee will loue thee.
 9 Giue admonition to the wife, and he will be the wiser: teach a righteous man, and he will increase in learning.
 10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, is ⁱ vnderstanding.
 11 For thy dayes shall be multiplied by me, incorrigible, which Christ calleth dogs and swine: or he speaketh this in comparison, not that the wicked should not be rebuked, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope of profit. i He sheweth what true vnderstanding is, to know the will of God in his word, which is meant by holy things.

a Christ hath prepared him a Church, b That is, many chiefe sayes and principal parts of his Church, as were the Patriarks, Prophets, Apostles, Pastors and Doctors, c He compareth wisdom with great princes, that keepe open house for all that come, d Meaning true preachers, which are not infected with mans wisdom, e He that knoweth his owne ignorance, and is voyd of malice, f By the meat and drinke is meant the word of God and the ministrations of the Sacraments, whereby God nourisheth his seruants in his house, which is the Church, g For the wicked will contemne him and labour to defame him, h Meaning, them that are and

h. Those that have the chiefe profit and commoditie that cometh by the foolish woman, are the wicked preachers, who counterfeit the word of God, as we seareth ver. 16. which were the words of the true preachers, as ver. 16. but their doctrine is but as stollen waters: meaning that they are but some traditions, which are more pleasant to the flesh than the word of God: & therefore they themselves boast thereof.

and the yeeres of thy life shall be augmented.
12 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for thy selfe, and if thou be a scorner, thou alone shalt suffer.

13 A foolish woman is troublesome: she is ignorant, and knoweth nothing.

14 But she sitteth at the doore of her house on a seat in the hie places of the citie, crying: To call them that passe by the way, that goe right on their way, saying:

16 Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, she saith also,

17 Stollen waters are sweete, and hid bread is pleasant.

18 But he knoweth not, that the dead are there, & that her ghefts are in the depth of hell.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter and all that follow vnto the thirtieth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which he calleth Parables, to follow vertue, and flee vice: and sheweth also what profite commeth of wisdom, and what hinderance proceadeth of foolishness.

THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

A Wife sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauinesse to his mother.

2 The treasures of a wickednesse profite nothing: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

3 The Lord will not famish the soule of the righteous: but he casteth away the substance of the wicked.

4 A slothfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 He that gathereth in summer, is the son of wisdom: but he that sleepeth in haruest, is the sonne of confusion.

6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of the wicked.

7 The memoriall of the iust shall be blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rotte.

8 The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in talke shall be beaten.

9 Hee that walketh vprightly, walketh boldly: but hee that peruerteth his wayes, shall be known.

10 Hee that winketh with the eye, worketh sorow, and he that is foolish in talke, shall be beaten.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a wellspring of life: but iniquity couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: but loue couereth all trespasses.

13 In the lips of him that hath vnderstanding, wisdom is found, and a rod shall be for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdom.

14 Wise men lay vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.

15 The rich mans goods are his strong citie: but the feare of the needy is their pouertie.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.

17 He that regardeth instruction, is in the way of life: but hee that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.

18 He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth slander, is a foole.

19 In many wordes there cannot want iniquitie: but he that refraineth his lips, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iust man is a fined siluer: but the heart of the wicked is little worth.

21 The lips of the righteous doe feed many: but fooles shall die for want of wisdom.

22 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he doeth adde no sorrowes with it.

23 It is as a pastime to a foole to do wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will grant the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whirle-winde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundation.

26 As vineger is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthfull to them that send him.

27 The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the yerres of the wicked shall be diminished.

28 The patient abiding of the righteous shall be gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquity.

30 The righteous shall neuer be removed: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shall be fruitfull in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.

32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

CHAP. XI.

False balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfit weight pleaseth him.

2 When pride commeth, then commeth shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.

3 The vprightnesse of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnesse of the transgressours shall destroy them.

4 Riches auaille not in the day of wrath: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousness of the vpright shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednesse.

6 The righteousness of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressors shall bee taken in their owne wickednesse.

h And so maketh him bold to doe euill, whereas pouertie brideth the poore from many euill things.

i For they speake truth and edifie many by exhortations, admonition and counsel. Meaning, that all worldly things bring care and sorow, whereas they that seele the blessings of God, haue none.

l He is but a trouble, & grieffe to him that seeth him about any businesse. m The time of their prosperitie shall be short, because of their great fall, though they seeme to liue long.

n They enioy in this life by faith and hope, their euerlasting life.

o Vnder this word he condemneth all false weights, measure and deceit.

p Ebr. haue. b When man forgetteth himselfe, and thinketh to be exalted aboue his vocation, then God bringeth him to confusion.

23 A wise man concealeth knowledge but the heart of the fool publisheth foolishness.

24 The hand of the diligent shall beare rule: but the idle shall be vnder tribute.

25 Heatnes is the heart of man doth bring it downe: but a good word reioyceth it.

26 The righteous is more excellent then his neighbour: but the way of the wicced will deceiue them.

27 The deceitfull man roseth not: that he isooke in blunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious.

28 Life is in the way of righteousness: and in that path way there is no death.

CHAP. XIII.

A Wife sonne will obey the instruction of his father: but a scorner wil beare no rebuke.

2 A man shall eat good things by the fruit of his mouth: but the soule of the trespassers shall suffer violence.

3 He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: but he that openeth his lips, destruction shall be to him.

4 The sluggard lusteth, but his soule hath nought: but the soule of the diligent shall haue plentie.

5 A righteous man hateth lying wordes: but the wicked causeth slander and shame.

6 Righteousnesse preferueth the vpright of life: but wickednesse ouerthroweth the sinner.

7 There is that maketh himselfe rich, and hath nothing, and that maketh himselfe poore, hauing great riches.

8 A man will giue his riches for the ransom of his life: but the poore cannot heare the reproch.

9 The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked shall be put out.

10 Only by pride doth man make contention: but with the well aduised is wisdom.

11 The riches of vanitie shall diminish: but he that gathereth with the hand shall encrease them.

12 The hope that is referred, is the fainting of the heart: but when the desire cometh, it is as a tree of life.

13 He that despiseth the word, hee shall be destroyed: but he that feareth the commandement, hee shall be rewarded.

14 The instruction of a wise man is as the wellspring of life, to turne away from the snares of death.

15 Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated.

16 Euery wise man will worke by knowledge: but a foole will spread abroad folly.

17 A wicked messenger falleth into euil: but a faithfull ambassadour is preferuation.

18 Pouertie and shame is to him that refuseth instruction: but hee that regardeth correction, shall be honoured.

19 A desire accomplished delighteth the soule: but it is an abomination to foolles to depart from euill.

20 He that walketh with the wise, shall be wise: but a companion of foolles shall be afflicted.

21 Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto the righteous God will recompense good.

22 The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his children: and the riches of the sinner is laid vp for the iust.

23 Much foode is in the field of the poore: but the field is destroyed without discretion.

24 He that spareth his rodde, hateth his sonnes: but he that scourgeth him, chasteneth him betime.

25 The righteous catcheth to the contentation of his minde: but the belly of the wicked shall want.

CHAP. XIV.

A Wife woman buildeth her house: but the foolish destroyeth it with her owne hands.

2 He that walketh in his righteousness, feareth the Lord: but hee that is lewd in his wayes, despiseth him.

3 In the mouth of the foolish is the rod of pride: but the lips of the wise presterue them.

4 Where none oxen are, there the cribbe is emptie: but much increase cometh by the strength of the ox.

5 A faithfull witnesse will not lie: but a false record will speake lies.

6 A scorner seeketh wisdom, and findeth it not: but knowledge is easie to him that will vnderstand.

7 Depart from the foolish man, when thou perceiuest not in him the lips of knowledge.

8 The wisdom of the prudent is to vnderstand his way: but the foolishnesse of the foolles is deceit.

9 The foole maketh a mocke of sinne: but among the righteous there is fauour.

10 The heart knoweth the bitterness of his soule, and the stranger shall not meddle with his ioy.

11 The house of the wicked shall be destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shall flourish.

12 There is a way that seemeth right to a man: but the issues thereof are the wayes of death.

13 Euen in laughing the heart is sorowfull, and the ende of that mirth is heauinesse.

14 The heart that declineth, shall bee satiate with his owne wayes: but a good man shall depart from him.

21 The sinner despiseth his neighbour: but he that hath mercie on the poore, is blessed.
22 Doe not reuerence which imagine euill: but to them that thinke on good things, shall be mercie and fauour.
23 In all laboure there is abundance: but the calke of the lippes bringeth onely want.
24 The crowne of the wise is their riches, and the follie of the fooles is foolishnesse.
25 A faithfull witnesse deliuereth soules: but a deceiuer speaketh lies.
26 In the feare of the Lord is an assured strength, and his children shall haue hope.
27 The feare of the Lord is a wellspring of life to auoid the snares of death.
28 In the multitude of the people is the honour of a King, and for the want of people commeth the destruction of the Prince.
29 Hee that is slowe to wrath, is of great wisdom: but hee that is of an hasty minde, exalteth folly.
30 A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but enuie is the rotting of the bones.
31 * He that oppresseth the poore, reproo- ueth him that made him: but hee honoureth him, that hath mercie on the poore.
32 The wicked shall bee cast away for his malice: but the righteous hath hope in his death.
33 Wisdom resteth in the heart of him that hath vnderstanding, and is knowen in the mids of fooles.
34 Iustice exalteth a nation, but sinne is a shame to the people.
35 The pleasure of a King is in a wise ser- uant: but his wrath shall be toward him that is lewde,

CHAP. XV.

2 The tongue of the wise vseth knowledge aright: but the mouth of fooles * babbleth out foolishnesse.
3 The eyes of the Lord in euery place be- hold the euill and the good.
4 A wholesome tongue is as a tree of life: but the frowardnesse thereof is the breaking of the minde.
5 A foole despiseth his fathers instruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.
6 The house of the righteous hath much treasure: but in the reuenues of the wicked is trouble.

righteous is acceptable vnto him.
9 The way of the wicked is an abomina- tion vnto the Lord: but he loneth him that fol- loweth righteousness.
10 Instruction is euill to him that forsaketh the way, and hee that hateth correction shall die.
11 Hell and destruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the sonnes of men?
12 A scorner loueth not him that rebuketh him, neither will he goe vnto the wise.
13 * A ioyfull heart maketh a cheerefull countenance: but by the sorow of the heart the minde is heauie.
14 The heart of him that hath vnderstan- ding, seeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is fed with foolishnesse.
15 All the dayes of the afflicted are euill: but a good conscience is a continuall feast.
16 * Better is a little with the feare of the Lord, then great treasure and trouble there- with.
17 Better is a dinner of greene herbes where loue is, then a stalled oxe, and hatred therewith.
18 * An angry man stirreth vp strife: but he that is slow to wrath, appeaseth strife.
19 The way of a slothful man is as an hedge of thornes: but the way of the righteous is plaine.
20 * A wise sonne reioyceth the father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother.

CHAP. XVI.

The preparations of the heart are in man: but the answer of the tongue is of the Lord.

2 All the wayes of a man are cleane in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondreth the spirits.

3 Commit thy workes vnto the Lorde, and thy thoughts shall be directed.

4 The Lord hath made all things for his owne sake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of euill.

5 All that are proud in heart, are an abomination to the Lord: though his hand ioyne in hand, he shall not be vnpunished.

6 By mercie and truethe iniquitie shall be forgiuen, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill.

7 When the wayes of a man please the Lorde, hee will make also his enemies at peace with him.

8 Better is a little with righteousness, then great reuenues without equitie.

9 The heart of man purposeth his way: but the Lord doeth direct his steps.

10 A diuine sentence shall be in the lippes of the King: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement.

11 A true weight and balance are of the Lorde: all the weightes of the bagge are his worke.

12 It is an abomination to Kings to commit wickednesse: for the throne is stablished by iustice.

13 Righteous lippes are the delight of kings, and the King loueth him that speaketh right things.

14 The wrath of a King is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it.

15 In the light of the Kings countenance is life: and his fauoure is as a cloud of the latter raine.

16 How much better is it to get wisdom then golde? and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then siluer.

17 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, and hee keepeth his foule, that keepeth his way.

18 Pride goeth before destruction, and a high minde before the fall.

19 Better it is to be of humble minde with the lowly, then to diuide the spoiles with the proud.

20 He that is wise in his businesse, shall find good: and he that trusteth in the Lord, he is blessed.

21 The wise in heart shall bee called prudent: and the sweetnesse of the lippes shall encrease doctrine.

22 Vnderstanding is a wellspring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of fooles is folly.

23 The heart of the wise guideth his mouth wisely, and addeth doctrine to his lips.

24 Faire words are as an hony combe, sweetness to the foule, and health to the bones.

25 There is a way that seemeth right vnto man: but the issue thereof are the wayes of death.

26 The person that trauaileth, trauaileth for himselfe: for his mouth craweth it of him.

27 A wicked man diggeth vp euill, and in his lippes is like burning fire.

28 A froward person soweth strife: and a tale teller maketh diuision among princes.

29 A wicked man deceiueth his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way that is not good.

30 He shutteth his eyes to deuise wickednesse: he moueth his lips, and bringeth euill to passe.

31 Age is a crowne of glory, when it is found in the way of righteousness.

32 He that is slow vnto anger, is better then the mighty man: and he that ruleth his owne mind, is better then he that winneth a city.

33 The lot is cast into the lappe: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

Better is a drie morsell, if peace be with it, then an house full of sacrifices with strife.

2 A discreet seruant shall haue rule ouer a lewd sonne, and he shall diuide the heritage among the brethren.

3 As is the fining pot for siluer, & the furnace for gold, so the Lord trieth the hearts.

4 The wicked giueth heed to false lippes, and a liar hearkeneth to the naughty tongue.

5 He that mocketh the poore, reprocheth him that made him: and he that reioyceeth at destruction, shall not be vnpunished.

6 Childrens children are the crowne of the elders: and the glory of the children are their fathers.

7 Hee that talke becommeth not a foole, much lesse a lying talke a prince.

8 A reward is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth, whither soeuer it turneth.

9 Hee that couereth a transgression, secketh loue: but hee that repeateth a matter, separateth the prince.

10 A reproofe entreth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a foole.

11 A seditious person seeketh onely euill, and a cruell messenger shall bee sent against him.

12 It is better for a man to meeete a beare robbed of her whelpes, then a foole in his folly.

17 A friend loueth at all times: and a brother is borne for aduersitie.

18 A man destitute of vnderstanding, toucheth the land, and becommeth suretie for his neighbour.

19 Hee loueth transgression, that loueth strife: and hee that exalteth his gate, seeketh destruction.

20 The froward heart findeth no good: and he that hath a naughty tongue, shall fall into euill.

21 He that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorrow, and the father of a foole can haue no ioy.

22 A ioyfull heart causeth good health: but a sorrowfull minde dryeth the bones.

23 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the bosome to wrest the wayes of iudgement.

24 Wisdom is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the world.

25 A foolish sonne is a griefe vnto his father, and a heauinesse vnto her that bare him.

26 Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that the Princes should smite such for equitie.

27 Hee that hath knowledge, spareth his wordes, and a man of vnderstanding is of an excellent spirit.

28 Euen a foole (when hee holdeth his peace) is counted wise, and hee that stoppeth his lips, prudent.

CHAP. XVIII.

For the desire thereof he will separate himselfe to seeke it, and occupy himselfe in all wisdom.

2 A foole hath no delight in vnderstanding: but that his heart may be discovered.

3 When the wicked commeth, then commeth contempt, & with the vile man reproch.

4 The wordes of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the wellspring of wisdom is like a flowing riuier.

5 It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause the righteous to fall in iudgement.

6 A foolles lippes come with strife, and his mouth calleth for stripes.

7 A foolles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lips are a snare for his soule.

8 The wordes of a tale bearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly.

9 Hee also that is slothfull in his worke, is even the brother of him that is a great waster.

10 The name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth vnto it, and is exalted.

11 The rich mans riches are his strong citie: and as an high wall in his imagination.

12 Before destruction the heart of a man is haucie, and before glory goeth lowlinesse.

13 He that answereth a matter before he heare it, it is folly and shame vnto him.

14 The spirit of a man will susteine his infirmite: but a wounded spirit, who can beare it?

10 Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer princes.

11 The discretion of a man deferreth his anger: and his glory is to passe by an offence.

12 The kings wrath is like the roaring of a lion: but his fauour is like the dew vpon the grasse.

13 A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his father, and the contentions of a wife are like a continuall dropping.

14 House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers: but a prudent wife commeth of the Lord.

15 Slothfullnesse causeth to fall asleep, and a deceitfull person shall be affamished.

16 Hee that keepeth the commandment, keepeth his owne soule: but hee that despiseth his wayes shall die.

17 Hee that hath mercy vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen.

18 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his murmuring.

19 A man of much anger shall suffer punishment: and though thou deliuer him, yet will his anger come againe.

20 Heare counsell and receiue instructions; that thou mayest be wise in thy latter end.

21 Many deuises are in a mans heart: but the counsell of the Lord shall stand.

22 That that is to bee desired of a man, is his goodnesse, and a poore man is better then a liar.

23 The feare of the Lord leadeth to life: and hee that is filled therewith, shall continue, and shall not be visited with euill.

24 The slothfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and will not put it to his mouth againe.

25 Smite a scorner, and the foolish will beware: and reprove the prudent, and he will vnderstand knowledge.

26 Hee that destroyeth his father, or chaseth away his mother, is a lewd and shamefull childe.

27 My sonne, heare no more the instruction, that causeth to erre from the wordes of knowledge.

28 A wicked witnesse mocketh at iudgement, and the mouth of the wicked shall swallow vp iniquitie.

29 But iudgements are prepared for the scornors, and stripes for the backe of the fooles.

CHAP. XX.

Wine is a mocker, and strong drinke is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby, is not wise.

2 The feare of the king is like the roaring of a Lion: hee that prouoketh him vnto anger, sinneth against his owne soule.

3 It is a mans honour to cease from strife: but euery foole will be meddling.

4 The slothfull will not plow, because of winter: therefore shall he begge in summer, but haue nothing.

5 The counsell in the heart of a man is like deepe waters: but a man that hath vnderstanding, will draw it out.

6 Many men will boast, euery one of his owne goodnesse: but who can finde a faithfull man?

7 He that walketh in his integritie, is iust: and blessed shall his children be after him.

8 A king that sitteth in the throne of iudgement, chaseth away all euill with his eyes.

9 Who can say, I haue made mine heart cleane, I am cleane from my sinne?

10 Diuers weights, and diuers measures, both these are euen abomination vnto the Lord.

11 A childe also is known by his doings, whether his worke be pure and right.

12 The Lord hath made both these, euen the eare to heare, and the eye to see.

13 Loue not sleepe, lest thou come vnto pouertie: open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread.

15 There is gold, and a multitude of precious stones: but the lips of knowledge are a precious iewell.

16 Take his garment, that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger.

17 The bread of deceit is sweet to a man: but afterward his mouth shall bee filled with grauell.

18 Establish the thoughts by counsell: and by counsell make warre.

19 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discovereth secrets: therefore meddle not with him that flattereth with his lips.

20 He that curseth his father or his mother, his light shall be put out in obscure darknesse.

21 An heritage is hastily gotten at the beginning, but the ende thereof shall not bee blessed.

22 Say not thou, I will recompense euill: but waite vpon the Lorde, and he shall saue thee.

23 Diuers waights are an abomination vnto the Lord, and deceitfull ballances are not good.

24 The steppes of a man are ruled by the Lorde: how can a man then vnderstand his owneway?

25 It is a destruction for a man to deuoure that which is sanctified, and after the vowes to inquire.

26 A wise King scattereth the wicked, and causeth the wheele to turne ouer them.

CHAPTER XXI.

The king's heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the rivers of waters: he turneth it whither he will.

1 Every way of a man is right in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts.

2 To doe iustice and iudgement is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice.

3 A haire loose and a proude heart, which is the light of the wicked is sinne.

4 The thoughts of the diligent doe surely bring abundance: but whose euer is hasty, commeth surely to pouertie.

5 The gathering of treasures by a deceitfull tongue is vanitie tossed to and fro of them that seeke death.

6 The robberie of the wicked shall destroy them: for they haue refused to execute iudgement.

7 The way of some is peruered & strange: but of the pure man, his worke is right.

8 It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then with a contentious woman in a wide house.

9 The soule of the wicked wisheth euill: and his neighbour hath no fauour in his eyes.

10 When the scorner is punished, the foolish is wise: and when one instructeth the wise, he will receiue knowledge.

11 The righteous teacheth the house of the wicked: but God ouerthroweth the wicked for their euill.

12 He that stoppeth his eare at the crying of the poore, he shall also cry and not be heard.

13 A gift in secret pacifieth anger, and a gift in the bosome great wrath.

14 It is ioy to the iust to doe iudgement: but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquitie.

15 A man that wandereth out of the way of wisdome, shall remaine in the congregation of the dead.

16 He that loueth pastime shall be a poore man: and he that loueth wine and oyle, shall not be rich.

17 The wicked shall be a ranfome for the iust, and the transgressor for the righteous.

18 It is better to dwell in the wilderness, then with a contentious and angry woman.

19 In the house of the wise is a pleasaunt treasure and oyle: but a foolish man deuoureth it.

20 He that followeth after righteousness and mercy, shall find life, righteousness, and glory.

21 A wise man goeth vp into the city of the mighty, and casteth downe the strength of the confidence thereof.

Hee that keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soule from afflictions.

14 Proud, haughty, and scornfull is his name: that worketh in by arrogancie, wealth.

15 The desire of the slothfull slayeth him: for his hands refuse to worke.

16 Hee coueteth euermore greedily, but the righteous giueth and spareth not.

17 The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination: how much more when he bringeth it with a wicked minde.

18 A false witness shall perish: but he that heareth, speaketh continually.

19 A wicked man hardeneth his face: but the iust, he will dire his way.

20 There is no wisdome, neither vnderstanding, nor counsell against the Lord.

21 The horse is prepared against the day of battell: but the saluation is of the Lord.

CHAPTER XXII.

A good name is to be chosen aboue great riches, and louing fauour is aboue siluer and aboue gold.

1 The rich and poore meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all.

2 A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish go on still, and are punished.

3 The reward of humilitie, and the feare of God is riches, and glory, and life.

4 Thorns and snares are in the way of the froward: but hee that regardeth his soule, will depart farr from them.

5 Teach a childe in the trade of his way, and when he is old, he shall not depart from it.

6 The rich ruleth the poore, and the borrower is seruant to the man that lendeth.

7 He that soweth iniquitie shall reape affliction, and the rod of his anger shall faile.

8 He that hath a good eye, he shall be blessed: for hee giueth of his bread vnto the poore.

9 Cast out the scorner, and strife shall go out: so contention and reproch shall cease.

10 He that loueth purenes of heart for the grace of his lips, the King shall be his friend.

11 The eyes of the Lord preferue knowledge: but he ouerthroweth the words of the transgressor.

12 The slothfull man sayth, A lion is without, I shall be slaine in the street.

13 The mouth of strange women is as a deep pit: he with whom the Lord is angry shall fall therein.

14 Foolishnes is bound in the heart of a childe: but the rod of correction shall driue it away from him.

15 He that oppresseth the poore to increase himselfe, and giueth vnto the rich, shall surely come to pouertie.

22 Rob not the poore because he is poore, neither oppress the afflicted in iudgement.

23 For the Lord will defend their cause, and spoile the soule of those that spoile them.

24 Make no friendship with an angry man, neither goe with the furious man, 26 Bee not thou of them that touch the hand, nor among them that are surety for debts.

27 If thou hast nothing to pay, why canst thou that he should take thy bed vnder thee?

28 Thou shalt not remouue the ancient bounds which thy fathers haue made.

3 Be not desirous of his dainy meats: for it is a deceivable meate.

4 Trauaile not too much to bee rich: but cease from thy wisdom.

5 Wilt thou cast thine eyes vpon it, which is nothing? for riches taketh her to her wings as an eagle, and flieth into the heauen.

6 Eat thou not the bread of him that hath an euill eye, neither desire his dainy meats.

7 For as though he thought it in his heart, so will he say vnto thee, Eat and drinke: but his heart is not with thee.

8 Thou shalt vomit thy morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy sweet words.

9 Speake not in the eares of a foole: for he will despise the wisdom of thy words.

10 Remoue not the ancient bounds, and enter not into the fields of the fatherlesse.

11 For he that redeemeth them, is mighty: he will defend their cause against thee.

12 Applie thine heart to instruction, and thine eares to the words of knowledge.

13 Withhold not correction from the childe: if thou smite him with the rod, he shall not die.

14 Thou shalt smite him with the rod, and shalt deliuer his soule from hell.

15 My sonne, if thine heart be wise, mine heart shall reioyce, and I also.

16 And my reignes shall reioyce, when thy lips speake righteous things.

17 Let not thine heart be enuious against sinners: but let it bee in the feare of the Lord continually.

20 Keepe not company with drunkards, nor with gluttons.

21 For the drunkard and the glutton shall be poore, and the sleeper shall be clothed with ragges.

22 Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old.

23 Buy the trueth, but sell it not: likewise wisdom, and instruction, and vnderstanding.

24 The father of the righteous shall greatly reioyce, and he that begetteth a wife childe, shall haue ioy of him.

25 Thy father and thy mother shall be glad, and she that bare thee shall reioyce.

26 My sonne, giue mee thine heart, and let thine eyes delight in my wayes.

30 Euen to them that tarie long at the wine, to them that goe, and seeke mixt wine.

31 Looke not thou vpon the wine, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly.

32 In the end thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice.

33 Thine eyes shall looke vpon strange women, and thine heart shall speake lewde things.

34 And thou shalt bee as one that sleepeth in the mids of the Sea, and as he that sleepeth in the top of the mast.

CHAP. XXVI.

As the ſnowe in the ſummer, and as the raine in the harueſt are not meete, ſo is honour vnſeemely for a foole.

2 As the ſparrow by flying, and the ſwallow by flying escape, ſo the curſe that is cauſe- leſſe, ſhall not come.

3 Vnto the horſe belongeth a whip, to the aſſe a bridle, and a rod to the foolles backe.

4 Anſwere not a foole, ^a according to his fooliſhneſſe, leſt thou alſo be like him.

5 Anſwere a foole, ^b according to his fooliſhneſſe, leſt he be wiſe in his owne conceit.

6 He that ſendeth a meſſage by the hand of a foole, is as he that cutteth off ^c the feet and drinketh iniquity.

7 ^d As they that liſt vp the legs of the lame, ſo is a parable in a foolles mouth.

8 As the cloſing vp of a precious ſtone in an heape of ſtones, ſo is he that giueth glory to a foole.

9 ^e As a thorne ſtanding ^o vp in the hand of a drunkard, ſo is a parable in the mouth of foolles.

10 ^f The excellent that formed all things, both rewardeth the foole and rewardeth the tranſgreſſors.

11 ^g As a dog turneth againe to his owne vomit, ſo a foole turneth to his fooliſhneſſe.

12 Seeſt thou a man wiſe in his owne conceit? ^h more hope is of a foole then of him.

13 The ſlothfull man ſaith, ⁱ A lion is in the way: a lion is in the ſtreetes.

14 As the doore turneth vpon his hinges, ſo doeth the ſlothfull man vpon his bed.

15 ^j The ſlothfull hideth his hand in ^o his boſome, and it grieveeth him to put it againe to his mouth.

16 The ſluggard is wiſer in his owne conceit, then ſeuē men that can render a reaſon.

17 Hee that paſſeth by and medleth with the ſuſe that belongeth not vnto him, is as one that taketh a dogge by the eares.

18 As he that ſaineth himſelfe mad, caſteth fire brands, arrowes, and mortall things, 19 ^k So dealeth the decentfull man with his friend, and ſaith, Am not I in ſport?

20 Without wood the fire is quenched, and without a tale bearer ſtriſe ceaſeth.

21 ^l As the cole maketh burning coles, and wood a fire, ſo the contentious man is apt to kindle ſtriſe.

22 ^m The words of a tale bearer are as flatterings, and they go downe into the bowels of the belly.

23 ⁿ As ſiluer droſſe overlaid vpon a poſſeard, ſo are burning lips, and an euill heart.

24 He that hateth, wil counterſeit with his lips, but in his heart he layeth vp deceit.

25 Though hee ſpeake fauourably, beleeue him not: for there are ^o ſeuē abominations in his heart.

26 Hatred may be couered by deceit: ^p but the malice thereof ſhall bee diſcouered in the Congregation.

27 ^q Hee that diggeth a pit, ſhall fall therein, and hee that rolleth a ſtone, it ſhall returne vnto him.

28 A falſe tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flattering mouth cauſeth ruine.

CHAP. XXVII.

Beaſt not thy ſelfe of to ^a morow: for thou knoweſt not what a day may bring forth.

2 Let another man praife thee, and not thine owne mouth: a ſtranger, and not thine owne lips.

3 ^b A ſtone is heauie, and the ſand weighty: but a foolles wrath is heauier then them both.

4 Anger is cruel, and wrath is raging: but who can ſtand before ^c enuie?

5 Open rebuke is better then ſecret loue.

6 The wounds of a louer are faithfull, and the kiſſes of an enemy are ^d pleaſant.

7 ^e The perſon that is ful, deſpiſeth an hony combe: but vnto the hungry ſoule euery bitter thing is ſweete.

8 As a bird that wandreth from her neſt, ſo is a man that wandreth from his owne place.

9 As ointment and perfume reioyce the heart, ſo doeth the ſweetneſſe of a mans friend by hearty counſell.

10 Thine owne friende and thy fathers friend forſake thou not: neither enter into thy brothers ^f houſe in the day of thy calamity: for better is a neighbour that is neere, then a brother farre off.

C H A P. XXVIII.

The wicked flee when none pursueth:
but the righteous are bold as a Lion.

2 For the transgression of the land there are many princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge are allme likewise endureth long.

3 A poore man if hee oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine that leaueth no foode.

4 They that forsake the Lawe, praise the wicked: but they that keepe the law, set themselues against them.

5 Wicked men vnderstand not iudgement:
but they that seeke the Lord, vnderstand all things.

6 * Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnes, then he that peruerteth his wayes, though he be rich.

7 He that keepeth the Law, is a childe of vnderstanding: but he that feedeth the glut-tons shameth his father.

8 He that increaseth his riches by vsury and interest, gathereth them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore.

9 Hee that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his prayer shall bee abominable.

10 He that causeth the righteous to goe astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherite good things.

11 The rich man is wise in his owne conceit: but the poore that hath vnderstanding, can trie him.

12 * When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man is tried.

13 He that hideth his sinnes, shall not proper: but he that confesseth and forsaketh them, shall haue mercie.

14 Blessed is the man that feareth alway:
but hee that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill.

15 As a roaring Lyon, and an hungry Beare, so is a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but he that hateth couetousnes, shall prolong his dayes.

17 A man that doeth violence against the they shall not stay him.

18 He that walketh vprightly, shall be saued: but he that is froward in his wayes, shall ed with bread, but he that followeth the idle, shall be filled with pouerty.

20 A faithful man shall abound in blessings, and * he that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent.

for that man will transgresse for a piece of bread.

22 A man with a wicked eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not that pouerty shall come vpon him.

23 He that rebuketh a man, shall find more faour at the length, than he that flattereth with his tongue.

24 He that robbeth his father and mother, and faith, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.

25 Hee that is of a proud heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be made fat.

foole: but he that walketh in wisdome, shall

CHAP. XXX.

A Man that hardeneth his necke when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroyed and cannot be cured.

2 When the righteous are in authoritie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh.

3 A man that loueth wisdom, reioyceth his father: but he that feedeth harlots, wasteth his substance.

4 A King by iudgement maintaineth the country: but a man receiuing gifts, destroyeth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his steps.

6 In the transgression of an euil man is his snare: but the righteous doth sing & reioyce.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scorneful men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

9 If a wise man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest.

10 Bloody men hate him that is vpriight: but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward.

12 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lies, all his seruants are wicked.

13 The poore and the vsurer meete together, and the Lord lightneth both their eyes.

14 A king that iudgeth the poore in truth, his throne shall be established for ever.

15 The rod and correction giue wisdom: but a childe set at libertie, maketh his mother ashamed.

16 When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shall see their fall.

17 Correct thy sonne, and he will giue thee rest, and will giue pleasure to thy soule.

18 Where there is no vision, the people decay: but he that keepeth the Law, is blessed.

19 A seruant will not bee chastised with words: though he vnderstand, yet he will not answer.

20 Seest thou a man hasty in his matters? there is more hope of a foole, then of him.

21 Hee that delicately bringeth vp his seruant from youth, at length he will bee euen as his sonne.

22 An angry man stirreth vp strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression.

23 The pride of a man shall bring him low: but the humble in spirit shall enioy glory.

24 Hee that is partner with a thiefe, hateth his owne soule: he heareth cursing, and declareth it not.

25 The feare of man bringeth a snare: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be exalted.

26 Many doe seeke the face of the Ruler:

but every mans iudgement commeth from the Lord.

27 A wicked man is abomination to the iust, and he that is vpriight in his way, is abomination to the wicked.

16 She considereth a field, and^k getteth it: and with the fruit of her hands shee planteth a vineyard.

17 Shee girdeth her loynes with strength, and strengtheneth her armes.

18 Shee feeleth that her merchandise is good: her candle is not put out by night.

19 Shee putteth her hands to the wheele, and her hands handle the spindle.

20 She stretcheth out her hand to the poore, and putteth foorth her hands to the needy.

21 She feareth not the snow for her family: for all her family is clothed^l with scarlet.

22 She maketh her selfe carpets: fine linen and purple^m is her garment.

23 Her husband is knowne in theⁿ gates, when he sitteth with the Elders of the land.

24 She maketh^o sheetes, and selleth them, and giueth girdles vnto the merchant.

25^p Strength and honour^q is her clothing, and in the latter day she shall reioyce.

26 She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and the^r law of grace^s is in her tongue.

ECCLESIASTES, OR THE PREACHER.

THE ARGUMENT.

Solomon a Preacher, and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deccivable vanities of this world: that man should not bee addicted to any thing vnder the Sunne, but but rather inflamed with the desire of the heavenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicitie either in knowledge or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicitie consisteth in that that he is united with God, and shall enjoy his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as much as they further vs to attaine to this heavenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and cannot be found in any other saue in God alone.

C H A P. I.

2 All things in this world are full of vanity, & of none endurance. 13 All mans wisdom is but folly and griefe.

The wordes of the ^aPreacher, the sonne of Dauid King in Ierusalem.

2 ^b Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

3 What remaineth vnto man in all his ^ctrauell, which he suffereth vnder the Sunne?

4 One generation passeth, and another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for ^d euer.

5 The Sunne riseth, and the Sunne goeth down, & draweth to his place, where he riseth.

6 The ^e wind goeth toward the South, and compasseth toward the North: the wind goeth round about, and returneth by his circuit.

7 ^f All the riuers goe into the Sea, yet the Sea is not full: for the riuets go vnto the place, whence they returne, and goe.

8 All things are full of labour: man cannot vtter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

9 ^g What is it that hath been? that that shall be: and what is it that hath been done? that which shall be done: and there is no newe thing vnder the Sunne.

10 Is there any thing, wherof one may say, Behold this, it is new? it hath been already in the old time that was before vs.

11 There is no memorie of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shall be, with them that shall come after.

12 ^h I the Preacher haue been King ouer Israel in Ierusalem.

13 And I haue giuen mine heart to search, and finde out wisdom by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this fore trauaile hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, ⁱ to humble them thereby)

14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the Sunne, and behold, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit.

15 That which is ^k crooked, can none make straight: and that which faileth cannot be numbered.

16 I thought in mine heart, and sayd, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wisdom all them that haue been before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdom and knowledge.

17 And I gaue mine heart to knowe wisdom and knowledge, madnes and foolishnes, I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit.

18 For in the multitude of wisdom is much ^m griefe, and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

and knowledge cannot bee come by without great paine of bodie and minde: For when a man hath attained to the highest, yet is his mind neuer fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicitie.

C H A P. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanities. 15 The wise and the foole haue both one ende touching the bodily death.

I Said in mine heart, Goe to nowe, I will proue ^a thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?

3 I fought in mine heart ^t to giue my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in ^b wisdom, and to take hold of folly, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they ^u enjoy vnder the Sunne the whole number of the dayes of their life.

4 I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyards.

5 I haue made me gardens and ^v orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruit.

6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants and maides, and had children borne in the ^w house: also I had great possession of beeuies and sheepe about all that were before me in Ierusalem.

8 I haue gathered vnto me also siluer and gold, and the chiefe treasures of Kings and prouinces: I haue prouided mee men fingers and women fingers, and the ^x delights of the sonnes of men as a woman ^y taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

9 And I was great, and increased about all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdom ^z remained with me.

10 And what soeuer mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioiced in all my labour: and this was my ^{aa} portion of all my trauaile.

11 Then I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauell that I had laboured to do: and behold, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the Sunne.

12 ^{bb} And I turned to behold ^{cc} wisdom, and madnesse and folly: (for who is the man that ^{aa} Some vnderstand by these words, no women, but instruments of musick.

^{cc} This was the fruit of all my labour, a certaine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanitie in the next verse.

^{dd} I bethought with my selfe whether it were better to follow wisdom, or mine owne affections & pleasures, which he calleth madnesse.

^a Salomon is here called a Preacher, or one that assemblith the people, because he teacheth the true knowledge of God, and how men ought to passe their life in this transitory world.

^b He condemneth the opinions of all men that set felicitie in any thing but in God alone, seeing that in this world all things are as vanitie & nothing.

^c Salomon doth not condemne mans labour or diligence, but sheweth that there is no full contentation in any thing vnder the heauen, nor in any creature, forasmuch as all things are transitory.

^d One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth long, euen to the last day, which yet is subiect to corruption.

^e By the sunne, wind, and riuers, he sheweth that the greatest labour and longest hath an end, and therefore there can be no felicitie in this world.

^f Ecclesi. 40. 11. The sea which compasseth all the earth, filleth the veins thereof, the which pour oute springs and riuers into the sea againe.

^g He speaketh of times and seasons and things done in them which as they haue bene in times past, so come they to passe againe.

^h He proueth that if any could see attained to felicity in this world by labour and study, hee surely should haue obtained it, because he had gifts and aides of God thereunto above all other.

ⁱ Man of nature hath a desire to know, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sinne, to humble man, and to teach him to depend onely vpon God.

^k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to goe otherwise then they doe: neither can hee number the things that are committed, much lesse remedie them.

Or, compare with the King.

that it will coⁿne after the King in things, which men now haue done?)

13 Then I sawe that there is profite in wisedome, more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darkenesse.

14 * For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkenesse: yet I knowe also that the same * condition falleth to them all.

15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole. why therefore do I then labour to be more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.

16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wife, no of the foole for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And how dieth the wise man, as doth the foole?

17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne is griuous vnto me: for all is vanity and vexation of the spirit.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the Sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shall be after me.

19 And who knoweth whether he shall be wise or foolish? yet shall hee haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanity.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart a abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the Sunne, 21 For there is a man whose trauaile is in wisedome, and in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauailed herein, shall hee o giue his portion: this also is vanity and a great griefe.

22 For what hath man of all his trauaile and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne?

23 For all his dayes are sorrowes, and his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.

24 There is no profit to man, but that hee eate, and drinke, and p delight his soule with the profit of his labour: I sawe also this, that it was of the hand of God.

25 For who could eat, and who could haste to q outward things more then I?

26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight God giueth wisedome and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner hee giueth paine, to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

CHAP. III.

All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfit, and cause vs to feare him. 17. God shall iudge both the iust, and vnjust.

TO all things there is an appointed time, & a time to euery purpose vnder the heauē.

a He speaketh of this diversity of time for two causes: first, to declare that there is nothing in his world perpetual: next, to teach vs not to be grieved if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither enjoy them so long as we would wish.

2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, & a time to plucke vp that which is planted.

3 A time to slay, & a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.

4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to daunce.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.

6 A time to seeke, & a time to loose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.

8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

9 What profit hath he that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?

10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men b to humble them thereby.

11 Hee hath made euery thing beautifull in his time, also he hath set the c world in their heart, yet cannot man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end.

12 I knowe that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to do good in his life.

13 And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seech the commoditie of all his labour, this is the d gift of God.

14 I knowe that whatsoeuer God shall do, it shall be for e euer: to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.

15 What is that that hath been? that is now: and that that shall be, hath now been: for God f requireth that which is past.

16 And moreover I haue seene vnder the Sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse, and the place of iustice where was iniquitie.

17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is g there for euery purpose and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had h purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselves as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beastes are euen as one i condition vnto them. As the one dieth, so dieth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man about the beast: for all is vanitie.

20 All goe to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who k knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend upward, and the spirit of the beast descend downward to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should l reioyce in his *fa*ires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

anger.

17 Behold then, what I haue seene good, that it is comely to^o eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he trauailleth vnder the Sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him:
for this is his portion.

18 Also to every man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely he will not much remember the dayes of his^p life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

Here is an euill, which I sawe vnder the Sunne, and it is much among men:

2 A man to whom God hath giuen riches, and treasures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eate it vp: this is vanity, and this is an euill sickenesse.

3 If a man beget an hundred children and liue many yeres, and the dayes of his yeres be multiplied, and his soule be not^b satisfied with good things, and he be not^c buried, I say that an vntimely fruit is better then he.

4 For hee commeth into vanitie, and goeth into darkenesse: and his name shall be co-uered with darkenesse.

5 Also, hee hath not seene the Sunne, nor known it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if hee had liued a thousand yeres twise told, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth:
yet the^d soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that^e knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lusts: this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit.

10 What is that that hath beene? the name thereof is now named: and it is knownen that it is man, and hee cannot strue with him that is^f stronger then he.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoide the contrary.

Surely there be many things that increase vanitie: and what auaieth it a man?

2 For who knoweth what is^a good for man in the life, and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a shadow? For who can sheue vnto man what shall be after him vnder the Sunne?

3 A good name is better then a good pointment, and the day of^b death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is bitter to go to the house of^c mounning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the end of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles.

8 For like the noise of the^d thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wife man mad: and the reward destroyeth the heart.

10 The end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit is better then the proud in spirit.

11 Be not thou of an hasty spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou dost not enquire^e wisely of this thing.

13 Wisdome is good with an^f inheritance, and excellent to them that see the Sunne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadow of wise-dome, and in the shadow of siluer: but the ex-cellencie of the knowledge of wisdom giueth life to the possessours thereof.

15 Behold the worke of God: for who can make^g straight that which hee hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction^h consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should findeⁱ nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be not thou iust^m ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wickedⁿ ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldest thou perish in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay holde on^o this:
but yet withdraw not thine hand from^p that:
for hee that feareth God, shall come forth of them all.

21 Wisdome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the cite.

22 Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

25 All this haue I prooued by wisdom:
I thought I will bee wise, but it went farre
from me.

26 It is faire off, what may it be? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, behind and mine heart to knowe and to enquire and to search wisdom, and reason, and to knowe the wickednesse of folly, and the foolishnesse of madnesse.

28 And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nets and snares, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her.

29 Behold, saith the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to finde the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not: I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

31 Onely loc, this haue I found, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue sought many inuentions.

CHAP. VIII.

To obey Princes and Magistrates. 17 The workes of God passe in mans knowledge.

Who is as the wise man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisdom of a man doeth make his face to shine: and the strength of his face shall be changed.

2 I aduertise thee to take heede to the mouth of the King, and to the word of the othe of God.

3 Hastenot to goe forth of his sight:
stand not in an euill thing: for he wil doe whatsoeuer pleaseth him.

4 Where the word of the king is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 Hee that keepeth the commandement, shall know none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall know the time and iudgement.

6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the misery of man is great vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which shall be:
for who can tell him when it shall be?

8 Man is not Lord ouer the spirit to retaine the spirit, neither hath hee power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessors thereof.

9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke, which is wrought vnder the Sunne, and I saw a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt.

10 And likewise I saw the wicked buried, and they returned, & they that came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euill worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundred times, add God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it shall be well with them that feare
the Lord, and doe penitence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadow, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whom it cometh according to the worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it cometh according to the worke of the iust:

I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I praised ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the Sunne, save to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the Sunne.

16 When I applyed mine heart to knowe wisdom, and to behold the businesse that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe,

17 Then I beheld the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to know it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man know whom God loveth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his ende. 16 Wisdom ex-celleth strength.

I haue surely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an othe.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the Sunne, that there is one condition to all and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euill, and madnesse is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that they goe to the dead.

4 Surely whosoever is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dogge, then to a dead lion.

5 For the liuing know that they shall die, but the dead know nothing at all: neither haue they any more a rewarde: for their remembrance is forgotten.

carnall men, which made their belly their god, and had no pleasure but in this life,

6 Also if his loue, and their hatred, and their ennie is now perished, and they have no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the Sunne.

7 Goe, eat thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God now accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 ^aReioyce with the wife whom thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy travell wherein thou labourest vnder the Sunne.

10 All that chine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke, nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the graue whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I saw vnder the Sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance cometh to them all.

12 For neither doeth man know his time, ^bbut as the fishes, which are taken in an euill net, and as the birdes that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also seene this wisdom vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A little citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded forts against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wife man, and he deliuered the city by his wisdom: but none remembered this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisdom then strength: yet the wisdom of the poore is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The wordes of the wife are more heard in quietnesse, then the cry of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wisdom then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

^aThe difference of foolishnesse and wisdom. ^bA slanderer is like a serpent that cannot be charmed. ^cOf foolish Kings and drunken Princes. ^dAnd of good Kings and Princes.

Dead flies cause to stinke, and putrifie the ointment of the Apothecarie: so doeth a little folly him that is in estimation for wisdom, and for glory.

2 The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

4 If the spirit of him that ruleth, rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentle-nesse pacifieth great sinnes.

5 There is an euill ^athat I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Folly is set in great excellencie, and the rich set in the low place.

7 I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it, and he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 Hee that remoueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and hee that curieth wood shall be in danger thereby.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whetted the edge, hee must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdom.

11 If the serpent bite when he is not charmed: no better is a babler.

12 The wordes of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lippes of a foole deuoure himselfe.

13 The beginning of the wordes of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnesse.

14 For the foole multiplieth words, saying, Man knoweth not what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doeth weary him: for he knoweth not to goe into the city.

16 Woe to thee, O land, when thy king is a childe, and thy princes eate in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the sonne of nobles, and thy princes eate in time, for strength, and not for drunkennesse.

18 By slothfulnesse the roofof the house goeth to decay, and by the idlenesse of the hands, the house droppeth through.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but siluer answereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bedchamber: for the foule of the heauen shall carrie the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

^aTo be liberall to the poore. ^bNot to doubt of Gods providence. ^cAll worldly prosperitie is but vanitie. ^dGod will iudge all.

Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after many dayes thou shalt finde it.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the cloudes be full, they will poure forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shall be.

4 He that obserueth the winde, shall not sow, for after there is no power. ^dHe that feareth inconueniences, when need shall require, shall neuer doe his duty.

^d Meaning, that it is an euill thing when they that are in authority, faile and do not their duty. ^e They that are rich in wisdom and vertue. ^f Psal. 7. 16. ^g Prov. 26. 17. ^h Eccles. 27. 26.

^f Without wife, dome whateuer a man taketh in hand, turneth to his own hurt.

^g The ignorance and beattinesse of the wicked is such, that they know not common things, and yet will they dispute high matters. ^h That is, without wisdom and counsell. ⁱ Are giuen to their lusts and pleasures. ^k Meaning, when he is noble for vertue and wisdom, and with the gifts of God. ^l Thou canst not worke euill so secretly, but it shall be known.

^d They flatter themselves to be in Gods fauour, because they haue all things in abundance. ^e Reioyce, be merie, and spare for no cost, thus spaketh the wicked belly gods. ^f Ebr. regard the life. ^g Chap. 5. 18.

^f Thus the worldlings say to proue that all things are lawfull for them, and attribute that to chance and fortune, which is done by the providence of God. ^g That is, he doth not foresee what shall come.

^a So that hee doeth all things well and iustly, whereas the foole doeth the contrary. ^b By his doings he bewrayeth himselfe. ^c If thy superior be angry with thee, be thou discreet, and not moued.

sowe,

lowe, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones doe growe in the wombe of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sowe thy seed, and in the evening let not thine hand be idle: for thou knowest not whether thou shalt prosper, this or that, or whether both shall be alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of darkness: because they are many, all that cometh is vanity.

9 Reioyce, O young man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill to depart from thy flesh: for childhood and youth are vanity.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth, and not to deferre till age. 7 The soule returneth to God. 11 Wisdome is the gift of God, and consisteth in fearing him and keeping his commandments.

Remember now thy Creator in the dayes of thy youth, whiles the euill dayes come not, nor the yeeres appoach, wherein thou shalt say, I haue no pleasure in them:

2 Whiles the sunne is not darke, nor the light, nor the moone, nor the starres, nor the cloudes returne after the raine:

3 When the keepers of the house shall tremble, and the strong men shall bow themselves, and the grinders shall cease, because they are few, and they waxe darke that looke out by the windowes:

AN EXCELLENT SONG WHICH WAS SALOMONS.

THE ARGUMENT.

In this Song, Salomon by most sweete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfect loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithfull soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste and without reprehension. So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benefit, wherewith he doth enrich her of his pure bounty and grace without any of her deservings. Also the earnest affection of the Church, which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 The familiar talke and mysticall communication of the spiritual loue betwene Iesus Christ and his Church. 5 The domestical enemies that persecute the Church.

Let him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of the fauour of thy

4 And the doores shall be shut without by the base sound of the grinding, and he shall rise vp at the voyce of the bird: and all the daughters of singing shall be abased.

5 Also they shall be afraid of the thing, and feare shall bee in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and concupiscence shall be driven away: for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners goe about in the streete.

6 Whiles the siluer cord is not lengthened, nor the golden pew broken, nor the pitcher broken at the well, nor the wheele broken at the cisterne:

7 And dust returne to the earth as it was, and the spirit returne to God that gaue it.

8 Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher, all is vanity.

9 And the more wise the Preacher was, the more hee taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched forth, and prepared many parables.

10 The Preacher sought to finde out pleasant words, and an vpright writing, even the words of truth.

11 The words of the wife are like goades, and like nailes fastened by the masters of the assemblies, which are giuen by one ypastour.

12 And of other things besides these, my sonne, take thou heede: for there is none end in making many books, and much reading is a wearinesse of the flesh.

13 Let vs heare the ende of all: feare God, and keepe his commandments: for this is the whole dutie of man.

14 For God will bring euery worke vnto iudgement, with euery secret thing, whether it be good or euill.

3 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadowe of Christ.
8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the doves.
15 And the enemies to the foxes.

I Am the rose of the field, and the lillie of the valleys.

2 Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my loue among the daughters.
3 Like the apple tree among the trees of the Forrest, so is my welbeloued among the sonnes of men: vnder his shadow had I delight, and sate downe: and his fruit was sweete vnto my mouth.
4 He brought me into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me.
5 Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am sicke of loue.
6 His left hand is vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth embrace me.
7 Charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill the please.
8 It is the voyce of my welbeloued: behold, he cometh leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hills.

9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a young hart: loe, he standeth behinde our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing himselfe through the grates.

10 My welbeloued spake, and saide vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.

11 For behold, winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.

12 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.

13 The figge tree hath brought forth her yong figs: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a fauour: arise, my loue, my faire one, and come away.

14 My dove, thou art in the holes of the rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shewe mee thy sight, let mee heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweete, and thy sight comely.

15 Take vs the foxes, the little foxes, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.

16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lilies.

17 Vntill the day breake, and the shadows flee away: returne, my welbeloued, and be like a roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountaines of Bethel.

11 Come forth, yee daughters of Zion, & behold the king Salomon with the crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The praises of the Church. 7 She is without blemish in his sight. 9 The loue of Christ toward her.

Behold, thou art faire, my loue: behold, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doves: among thy locks thine haire is like the flocke of goats, which looke downe from the mountaine of Gilead.

2 Thy teethe are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which goe vp from the washing: which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lips are like a threed of skarlet, and thy talke is comely: thy temples are within thy locks as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thy necke is as the tower of Dauid, built for defence: a thousand shields hang therein, and all the targets of the strong men.

5 Thy two breasts are as two young roes that are twinnes, feeding among the lilies.

6 Vntill the day breake, and the shadows flie away, I will goe into the mountaine of myrrhe and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire, my loue, and there is no spot in thee.

8 Come with mee from Lebanon, my spouse, euen with mee from Lebanon, and looke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shenir, and Hermon, from the denues of the lyons, and from the mountaines of the leopards.

9 My sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke.

10 My sister, my spouse, how faire is thy loue? how much better is thy loue then wine? and the saueur of thine oynments then all spices?

11 Thy lips, my spouse, droppe as honie combs: hony and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the fauour of thy garments is as the fauour of Lebanon.

12 My sister my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp.

13 Thy plants are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweet fruits, as camphire, spike-nard,

14 Euen spikenard, and saffron, calamus, and cynamom, with all the trees of incense, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe spices, 15 O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.

16 Arise, O North, and come O South, and blow on my garden, that the spices thereof may flow out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eat his pleasant fruit.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 She heareth his voyce. 3 She confesseth her nakednesse. 10 She praiseth her husband.

I Am come into my garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine honiecombe with mine honie, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you merrie, O welbeloued.

2 I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto me, my sister, my loue, my dowe, my vndefiled: for mine head is full of dewe, and my lockes with the droppes of the night.

3 I haue put off my coate; how shall I put it on? I haue washed my feet, how shall I defile them?

4 My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and mine heart was affectioned toward him.

5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrrhe, and my fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handles of the barre.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, and past: mine heart was gone when he did speake: I sought him, but I could not find him: I called him, but hee answered me not.

7 The watchmen that went about the citie, found mee: they smote mee and wounded me: the watchmen of the wals tooke away my vaile from me.

8 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.

9 O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued, more then another louer, that thou doest so charge vs?

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddy, the chiefe of ten thousand.

11 His head is as fine gold, his lockes curled, and blacke as a rauen, 12 His eyes are like doves vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt with milke, and remaine by the full vessels.

13 His cheekes are as a bed of spices, and as sweete flowers, and his lippes like lilies

f The spouse which should be anointed of Christ, shall not finde him if she think to anoint him with her good works. i These are the false teachers, which wound the conscience with their traditions.

g She asketh of them which are godly (Iudas much as the law and saluation should come out of Zion and Ierusalem) that they would direct her to Christ.

h Thus say they of Ierusalem. i She describeth Christ to be of perfect beaurie and comeliness.

He alleudeth to the watch which keepe the temple. Or, church.

garden to the beds of spices, to feed in the garden, and to gather lilies.

2 I am my welbeloued, and my welbe-loued is mine, who feedeth among the lilies.

3 Thou art beautiful my loue, as Tirzah, comely as Ierusalem, terrible as an armie with banners.

4 Turne away thine eyes from mee: for they ouercome me: thine heart is like a flocke of goats, which looke downe from Gilead.

5 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe, which goe vp fro the washing, which euery one bring

8 But my doue is alone, and my vndefiled, she is the only daughter of her mother, and she is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue seene her, and counted her blessed, when the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue praised her.

9 Who is she that looketh forth as the morning, faire as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners!

10 I went downe to the garden of nuts, to see the fruits of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished.

11 I knew nothing, my soule set mee as the charrets of my noble people.

turne: returne that we may behold thee. What shall you see in the Shulamite, but as the company of an armie?

assured of Christ's loue toward her.

HOw beautifull are thy goings with shoes, O princes daughter: the ioynts of thy thighes are like iewels: the worke of the hand of a cunning workman.

2 Thy nauel is as a round cup that wanteth not licour: thy belly is as an heape of wheate compassed about with lilies.

3 Thy two breasts are as two yong roes that are twinnes.

4 Thy necke is like a towre of yuorie, thine eyes are like the fish-pooles in Hethbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy nose is as the towre of Lebanon that looketh toward Damascus.

5 Thine head vpon thee is as scarlet, and the bush of thine head like purple: the King is tied in the rafters.

6 How faire art thou, and how pleasant art thou, O my loue, in pleasures!

7 This thy stature is like a palme tree, and thy breasts like clusters.

8 I said, I will goe vp into the palme tree, I will take hold of her boughs: thy breasts shall now be like the clusters of the vine: and the fa-uour of thy nose like apples.

ISAIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

GOD, according to his promise, Deut. 18. 15. that he would neuer leave his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare to the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall revelation, but also to interpret and declare the Law, and to apply particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein, to the utilitie and profit of those, to whom they thought it chiefly to appertaine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Law they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine: First, to the doctrine contained briefly in the two tables: secondly, to the promises and threatenings of the Law: and thirdly, to the covenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Saviour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gave them understanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safeguard by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearly increased it then Moses, and set forth more fully Iesus Christ, in whom this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets: and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: ever applying the doctrine, as he saw that the disease of the people required. He declareth also many notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promise of the Messiah, his office and his kingdom. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vniou with the Iewes. Which are most principall points contained in this booke, and a gathering of his sermons that he preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stood vpon the Temple doore (for the manner of the Prophets was to set up the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes, that the people might the better marke it, as Isa. 8. 1. and Hab. 2. 2.) the Priests tooke it downe, and reserved it among their registers: and so by Gods providence these booke were preserved as a monument to the Church for ever. As touching his person and time, hee was of the Kings stocke (for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agree) and prophesied more then 64. yeeres from the time of Uziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in law hee was (as the Ebrewees write) and of whom hee was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets, this one thing among other is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come, as though they were now past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they could not but come to passe, because God had ordained them in his secret counsell, and so reuealed them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

2 Isaiah reprooueth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubbornesse, that neither for benefits nor punishments would amend. 11 He sheweth why their sacrifices were rejected, and wherein Gods true seruice standeth. 24 Hee prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem, 25 And of the restitution thereof.

f Though God commended thefe facrifices for a time, as aydes and exercifes of their faith: yet because the people had not faith nor repentance, God detesteth them, as Pfal. 50. 13. Jer. 6. 30. Amos 5. 22 Micah 6. 7.

z Without faith and repentance. u Your facrifices ofred in the new moones & feasts: he condemneth hereby hypocrites, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and they themfelves are void of faith and mercy.

x He fheweth, that where men begin to auarice, deceit, crueltie, and extortion which is meant by blood, there God will fhew his anger, ind not accept them, though they feeme neuer fo holy, as Chap. 59. 3.

y By this outward washing, he meaneth the Spiritual: exhorting the Jewes to repent and amend their liues. z This kind of reasoning, by the fecond Table, the Scriptures vie in many places againft the hypocrites, who pretend moft holineffe and religion in word, but when their charitie and loue toward their brethren fhould appeare, they declared at they haue neither faith nor religion. a To know if i do acufe you without caufe. b Left finners fhould pretend any rigour on Gods part, he only willett them to be pure in heart, and he wil forgiue all their finnes, were they neuer fo many or great. c He fheweth that whatfoeuer aduerfities man endureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne incredulitie and difobedience.

5 Wherefore fhould yee be smitten any more? for ye fall away more and more, the whole head is ficke, and the whole heart is heavy.

6 From the sole of the foot vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds, and swelling, and fores full of corruption: they haue not been wrapped, nor bound vp, nor mollified with oyle.

7 Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fire: ftangers deuoure your land in your prefence, and it is desolate like the overthrow of ftangers.

8 And the daughter of Zion fhall remaine like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a befieged citie.

9 Except the Lord of hofts fhad referred vnto vs, euena small remnant, we fhould haue bene as Sodom, and fhould haue bene like vnto Gomorah.

10 Heare the word of the Lord, O princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, O people of Gomorah.

11 What haue I to doe with the multitude of your facrifices, faith the Lord? I am full of the burnt offerings of rammes, and of the fatte of fed beafes: and I defire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambes, nor of goats.

12 When yee come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my courts?

13 Bring no more oblations in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto me: I cannot fuffer your new Moones, nor Sabbaths, nor folemne daies (it is iniquitie) nor folemne afsemblies.

14 My foule hateth your new moones, and your appointed feasts: they are a burden vnto me: I am wearie to beare them.

15 And when you fhall stretch out your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: and though ye make many prayers, I wil not heare: for your hands are full of blood.

16 VVafh you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your works from before mine eyes: ceffe to doe euill.

17 Learne to doe well: feeke iudgement, relieue the oppreffed: iudge the fatherlefse and defende the widow.

18 Come now, and let vs reason together, faith the Lord: though your finnes were as crimfin, they fhall bee made white as fnow: though they were red like skarlet, they fhall bee as wooll!

19 If ye consent and obey, ye fhall eate the good things of the laud.

20 But if yee refufe and be rebellious, yee fhall be deuoured with the fword: for the mouth of the Lord hath fpoken it.

21 How is the faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, and iustice lodged therein, but now they are murderers.

23 Thy Princes are rebellious and companions of theues: euery one loqueth gifts, and followeth after rewards: they iudge not the fatherlefse, neither doeth the widowes caufe come before them.

24 Therefore faith the Lord God of hofts, the Mighty one of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of mine aduerfaries, and auenge me of mine enemies.

25 Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drosse, till it be pure, and take away all thy inne.

26 And I will reftore thy iudges as at the first, and thy counsellors as at the beginning: afterward fhalt thou be called a citie of righteoufneffe, and a faithfull citie.

27 Zion fhall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in iustice.

28 And the destruction of the transgressours and of the finners fhall bee together: and they that forfake the Lord, fhall bee confumed.

29 For they fhall bee confounded for the oakes, which ye haue defired, and ye fhall be afhamed of the gardens, that ye haue chosen.

30 For ye fhall be as an oake, whose leafe fa- deth: and as a garden that hath no water.

13 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, betwene me and my vineyard.

14 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wilde grapes?

15 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe:

16 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but briers and thornes shall grow vp: I will also commaund the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

17 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hostes is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for ^h iudgement, but behold oppression: for righteousness, but behold ⁱ a crying.

18 Woe vnto them that sayne house to house, and lay field to field, till there bee no place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth.

19 This is in mine ^j eares, sayth the Lord of hostes. Surely many houses shall be desolate, ^k even great and faire without inhabitant.

20 For ten acres of vines shall yeeld one bath, and the seede of an ^l homer shall yeeld an ^m ephah.

21 ⁿ Woe vnto them, that rise vp early to follow drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntil ^o night till the wine do inflame them.

22 And the harpe and viole timbrell, and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the ^p worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

23 Therefore my people ^q is gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, and the their lustes. ^r Which are neuer wearie of their rioting and excellent pleasures: but vse all meanes to prouoke to the same. ^s They regard not the prouident care of God ouer them, nor for what ende hee hath created them. ^t That is, that certainly goe for so the Prophets vse to speake, as though the thing which shall come to passe, were done already. ^u Because they would not obey the word of God.

multitude multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore ^a hell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth, without measure, and their glory, and their multitude, and their pompe, and hee that reioyceth among them, shall descend into it.

15 And man shall be brought downe, and man shall bee humbled, even the eyes of the proud shall be humbled.

16 And the Lord of hostes shall be exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shall be sanctified in iustice.

17 Then shall ^a the lambes feed after their maner, and the stranger shall eate the desolate places of the far.

18 ¶ Woe vnto them, that draw iniquitie with ^a cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart-ropes :

19 Which say, ^a Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke, that we may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel draw neere and come, that we may know it.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, ^a and euill of good, which put darkenesse for light, and light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for sowre.

21 Woe vnto them that are ^a wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Woe vnto them that are ^a mightie to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to power in strong drinke :

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their ^a root shall bee as rottenesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the law of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and hee hath stretched out his ^a hand vpon them, & hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkeifes were torne in the middes of the streets, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And he will lift vp a signe ^a vnto the nations afarre, and will hisse vnto them from the end of the earth: and behold, they shall come hastily with speede.

27 None shall ^a faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loines be loosed, nor ^a the lachet of his shoes be broken :

28 Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, and all his bows bent: his horse hootes shall be thought like flint, and his wheelles like a whirlwinde.

29 His roaring shall be like a lion, and hee shall roare like lions whelpes: they shall roare, and lay holde of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if ^a they looke vnto the earth, behold darknesse, and sorow, and the light shall be darkened in their ^a skie.

CHAP. VI.

1 ^a Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine Maiesie. 9 He sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant reserved.

IN the yeere of the death of King Vzziah, I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an ^a high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower ^a partes thereof filled the Temple.

2 The ^a Seraphims stood vpon it: euery one had sixe wings: with twaine he couered his ^a face, and with twaine hee couered his ^a feete, and with twaine he did ^a flie.

3 And one cried to another, & said, ^a Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole world is full of his glory.

4 And the lintels of the doore cheekes ^a mooued at the voice of him that cryed, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, ^a Woe is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the middes of the people of polluted lippes: for mine eyes haue seene the King and Lord of hostes.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hand, which he had taken from the ^a altar with the tongs:

7 And he touched my mouth, and said, Lo, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquitie shall be taken away, and thy ^a sinne shall be purged.

8 Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I said, Here am I, send me.

9 And he said, Go, and say vnto this people, ^a Ye shall heare in deede, but ye shall not vnderstand: ye shall plainly see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and hee heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, how long? And he answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man: and the land be vtterly desolate, 12 And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

the Prophet, that it was not the voice of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindness that should come vpon the iowes. 1. He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because hee that was a mortall creature, and therefore had more neede to glorifie God: then the Angels, did it not: and the other, because the more neere that man approacheth to God, the more doeth he know his owne sinne and corruption. m Of the burnt offerings, where the fire neuer went out. n This declared that man cannot render true obedience to God, till hee haue purged vs. o Whereby is declared, that for the malice of man, God will not immediatly take away his word, but he will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they will not leaue their by twoe by his will, and be saved. hereby he exhorteth the ministers to do their duty, and answereth to the wicked murmures, that thought their owne malice that heart is hardened, Math. 13. 14. act 28. 26 rom 11. 8. p As hee was moued with the zeale of Gods glory, so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people.

^a Meaning the graue shall swallow vp them that shall die for hunger and thirst, and yet for all this great destruction it shall neuer be full. ^a God comforteth the poore lambs of his Church, which had bene strangers in other countries, promising that they should dwell in these places againe, whereof they had bene deprived by the far and cruell tyrants. ^a Which vs all allures, or causes, and exhortes to harden their consciences in sinne. ^a He sheweth what are the words of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgements. ^a Pat. 3. 4. ^a Which are not ashamed of sin, nor care for honesty, but are grown to desperate impietie. ^a Which are enemies of all doctrine and admonition. ^a Which are neuer wearie, but shew their strength, & brag in gluttonie and drunkenesse. ^a Both they and their posteritie, so that nothing shall be left. ^a He sheweth that God had so reprobated this people, that the dumbe creatures, if they had bene so plagued, would haue bin more sensible, and therefore his plagues must continue, till they begin to feele them. ^a He will make the Babylonians to come against them at his beck, and to fight vnder his standard. ^a They shall be prompt and lusty to execute Gods vengeance. ^a The enemies that haue none impediment. ^a Whereby is declared the crueltie of the enemies.

^k The iowes shall finde no succour. ^l In the land of Iudah. ^a God sheweth not himselfe to man in his maiestie, but according as mans capacitie is able to comprehend him: that is, by visible signes, as John Baptiste saw the holy Ghost in the forme of a dove. ^b As a Iudge ready to giue sentence. ^c Of his garment, or of his throne. ^d They were Angels, so called, because they were of a fierie colour, to signifye that they burnt in the love of God, and were light as fire to execute his will. ^e Signifying that they were not able to endure the brightness of Gods glorie. ^f Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the brightness of God in them. ^g Which thing declared the prompt obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement. ^h This oft repetition signifieth, that the holy Angels cannot satisfie themselves in praising God, to teach vs that in all our liues we should giue our felicitie to the continuall praise of God. ⁱ His glory doth not only appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, and therefore all creatures are bound to praise him. ^k Which things were to confirme q Meaning, the tenth part: or as some write, it was reuiled to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophetic, that ten Kings should come before their captiuitie, as here from Vzziah to Zedekiah. r For the fewness they shall seme to be eaten vp: yet they shall after flourish as a tree, which in winter loofeth his leaues, and seemeth to be dead, yet in summer is fresh and greene.

13 But yet in it shall be a tenth, and shall returne, and shall be eaten vp as an elme: or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy seede shall be the substance thereof.

CHAP. VII.

1 Jerusalem before. 4 Isaiah comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised.

a. King. 16. 5.

b Or, Syria.

c To wit, the second time for in the first battell Ahaz was overcome.

d Meaning the Kings house.

e That is, Israel,

f because that Tribe was the greatest, Gen. 48. 19.

g For feare,

h That is to say,

i the rest shall returne: which name Isaiah gaue his sonne, j to signifie that the rest of the people should returne out of their captiuitie.

k Which haue but a little smoke and shal quickly be quenched.

l Which was an Israelite, and as seemeth, enemy to the house of Dauid.

m Counting from the five and twentieth yeere of Vzziah, at what time Amos prophesied this thing, and now Isaiah confirmeth that the Israelites should beled into perpetual captiuitie, which thing came to passe within 10 yeeres after that Isaiah did this messige.

n For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shall be destroyed and thou preferred.

o Not to beleue Gods word without a signe, is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offereth it for the aid and helpe of our infirmitie, is to rebell against him.

p You thinke you haue doewith men when yee contemne Gods messengers: but it is God against whom you bend your flues.

q Forasmuch as thou art unworthy, the Lord for his owne promise sake will giue a signe, which shal be that Christ the Saviour of his Church and the effe& of all signes and miracles shalbe reuealed. Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none, but to him that is both God and man.

And in the dayes of * Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah king of Iudah, Rezin the king of * Aram came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah king of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but hee could not overcome it.

2 And it was tolde the house of * Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with * Ephraim: therefore his heart was * moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde.

3 ¶ Then said the Lord vnto Isaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz (thou and * Shear-iashub thy sonne) at the ende of the conduit of the vpper pool, in the path of the fullers field,

4 And say vnto him, Take heede, and bee still: feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two taitles of these smoking firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne:

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs goe vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a King in the muddes thereof, even the sonne of * Tabeal.

7 Thus sayth the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within five and * threescore yeere, Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs son. If ye beleue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath or in the height aboue.

12 But Ahaz said, I will not aske, neither will I * tempt the Lord.

13 Then he said, Heare you now, O house of Dauid, is it a small thing for you to grieve men, that ye will also grieve my God?

14 Therefore the Lord himselfe will giue you a signe. Behold, the virgine shall conceive and beare a sonne, and shee shall call his name ¶ Immanuel.

15 Butter and honie shall he eate, till hee haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the good.

16 For afore the * childe shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, & to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shalbe forsaken of both her Kings.

17 The Lord shal bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come from the day that Ephraim departed from Iudah) even the king of * Asshur.

18 And in that day shall the Lord hisse for the * flie that is at the vttermost part of the floods of Egypt, and for the Bee which is in the land of Asshur.

19 And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all bushie places.

20 In that day shall the Lord shau with a rasour that is hired, even by them beyond the Riuer, by the king of Asshur, the head and the haire of the * feete, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man * nourish a yong kow, and two sheepe.

22 And for the * abundance of milke, that they shall giue, he shall eate butter: for butter and honie shall euery one eate, which is left within the land.

23 And at the same day euery place, wherein shall be a thousand vines, shall be at a thousand pieces of siluer: so it shall be for the briars and for the thornies.

24 With arrowes and with * bow shall one come thither: because all the land shall be briars and thornes.

25 But on * all the mountaines, which shal bee digged with the matrocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briars and thornes: but they shall bee for the sending out of bullockes, and for the treading of sheepe.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The captiuitie of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must be inquired at.

Moreover, the Lord said vnto me, Take thee a * great roll, and write in it b with a mans pen, Make speede to the spoile: haste to the pray.

2 Then I tooke vnto me c faithfull witnesses to record, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the * Prophetesse, which conceived and bare a sonne. Then said the Lord to me, Call his name, ¶ Maher-shalal-hash-baz.

4 For before the * childe shall haue knowledge with the people when he set this vp vpon the dore of the Temple, albeit Vriah was a flattering hypocrite, 2. King. 16. 11. d Meaning, to his wife: and this was done in a vision. Or, make speede to the spoile: haste to the pray. e Before any child be able to speake, n Meaning, that Christ is not only God but man also, because hee shalbe nourished as other men, vntill the age of discretion.

o Not meaning Christ, but any child: for before a child can come to the yeeres of discretion, the Kings of Samaria and Syria shalbe destroyed.

p Since the time that the twelue Tribes rebelled vnder Roboam, q In whom thou hast put thy trust.

r Meaning, the Egyptians: by reason the country is bare and moist: it is full of flies, as Assyria is full of bees.

s Signifying, that no place shall be free from them. t That is, that which is from the belly downward: meaning, that he would destroy both great and small.

u He that before had a great number of cattell, shal be content with one kow and two sheepe.

x The number of men shal be so small, that a few beasts shalbe able to nourish all abundantly. y As they that go to seeke wild beasts among the bushes, z The mountaines contrary to their wont, shalbe tilled by such as shal sit to them for succour.

a That thou maist write in great letters to the intent it may be more easily read.

b Meaning, after the common fashion: because all men might read it.

c Because the thing was of great importance, he tooke these two witnesses, which were of credit ledge to cry, My father, and my mother, the shall take away the riches of Damascus & the spoile of Samaria, before the King of Asshur.

5 ¶ And the Lord spake yet againe unto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, the sonne of Remallah,

7 Now therefore, behold, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of the Ruer mighty & great, even the King of Asshur with all his glory, and he shall come vp vpon all their rivers, and go ouer all their bankes.

8 And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflowe and passe through, and shall come vp to the necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanuel.

9 Gather together in heapes, O ye people, and ye shall be broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countries: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces: girde your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to me in taking of mine hand, and taught mee, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying, 12 Say ye not, A confederacie to all them, to whom this people saith a confederacie, neither feare you their feare, nor be afraid of the.

13 Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread.

14 And he shall be as a Sanctuary: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare, and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And many among them shall stumble, and shall fall and shall be broken, and shall be snared, and shall be taken.

16 Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will waite vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iacob, and I will looke for him.

18 Behold, I and the children whome the Lord hath giuen me, are as signes and as wonders in Israel, by the Lord of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers which whisper and murmur, Should not a people enquire at their God? from the liuing to the dead?

20 To the Law, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this word: it is because there is no light in them.

21 Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall goe to and fro in it: and when he shall be hungry, he shall euen frer himselfe, and curse his king and his gods, and shall looke vpward.

22 And when hee shall looke to the earth, behold trouble, and darkenes, vexation and anguish, and he is driuen to darknes.

c They shall thinke that heauen and earth and all creatures are bent against them to trouble them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles. 6 A prophete of Christ. 14 The destruction of the ten Tribes for their pride and contempt of God.

YET the darkenesse shall not be according to the affliction, that it had when at the first he touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, nor afterward when hee was more grievous by the way of the sea beyond Iorden in Galilee of the Gentiles.

2 The people that walked in darkenesse, haue seene a great light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, vpon them hath the light shined.

3 Thou hast multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in haruelt, and as men reioyce when they diuide a spoile.

4 For the yoke of their burthen, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rodde of their oppressour hast thou broken, as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely euery battel of the warriour is with noise, and with rumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be with burning and deuouring of fire.

6 For vnto vs a childe is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernment is vpon his shoulder, and hee shall call his Name Wonderfull, Counseller, The mightie God, The euerglasting Father, The Prince of peace.

7 The increase of his gouernment & peace shall haue none ende, hee shall sit vpon the throne of David, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice, from henceforth, euen for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a word into Iacob, and it hath lighted vpon Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The bricke are fallen, but wee will build it with hewen stones: the wilde figtrees are cut downe, but wee will change them into Cedars.

rant that had kept them in cruell bondage, as thou didst deliuer them by Gideon from the Midianites, Iudg. 7. 23. i He speaketh of the deliuerance of his Church, which he hath deliuered miraculously from his enemies, but specially by the coming of Christ, of whom he prophesieth in the next verse. k The author of eternitie, and by whom the Church and euery member thereof shall be preferred for euer, and haue immortall life. l His singular loue and care for his elect. m This is another prophete against them of Samaria, which were mockers, and contempters of Gods promises and merces. n We were but weak, when the enemy ouercame vs, but wee will make our selues so strong, that wee will neither care for our enemies, nor feare Gods threatenings.

a That is, in Iudah, where they should haue had rest, if they had not thus grievously offended God. b In whom afore they put their trust.

a He comforteth the Church againe after these great threatenings, promising to restore them to great glory in Messiah.

b Where with Israel was punished, first by Tiglath Pileser, which was a light scourge in respect of that which they suffered after ward by Shalmaneser, who carried the Israelites away captiues.

c Where as the Iewes and Gentiles dwelt together by reason of these societies, which Salomon gaue to Hiram. d Which were captiue in Babylon: and the Prophet speaketh of that thing which should come to passe 60. yeeres after, as though it were now done.

e Meaning the comfort of their deliuerance.

f This captiuitie and deliuerance were figures of our captiuitie by sinne, and our deliuerance by Christ through the preaching of the Gospell, Mat. 4. 15, 16.

g Their number was greater when they went into captiuitie, then when they returned, but their ioy was greater at their returne, Hagge. 2. 10.

h Thou gapest them perfect ioy, by deliuering them and by destroying the tyrant.

11 Nevertheless the Lord will raise up the adversaries of ^aRezin against him, and ioyn his enemies together.

12 Aram before & the Philistims behind, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head and steele, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the Prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them, are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their young men, neither will hee haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh folly: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briars & thornes, and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

20 And hee shall snatch at the right hand, and bee hungrie: and hee shall eate on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eate the flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh, Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shall bee against Iudah: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked law makers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians, and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shall be saved.

WOe vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and write grieuous things,

2 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may bee their pray, and that they may spoile the fatherlesse.

3 What will ye do now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from farre? to whom will ye flee for helpe? & where will ye leaue your glorie?

4 Without me euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 O Asshur, the rod of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

6 I will send him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoile, and to take the pray, and to treade them vnder feete like the mire in the streete.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doth his heart esteeme it so: but hee imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my Princes altogether Kings?

9 Is not Calno as Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboute Ierusalem, and aboute Samaria:

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem and to the idoles thereof?

12 But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visit the fruit of the proud heart of the King of Asshur, and his glorious and proud lookes.

13 Because he saide, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therefore I haue remooued the borders of the people, & haue spoiled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, & as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall the axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith? or shall the saw exalt it selfe against him that mooueth it? as if the rod should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hostes send among his fatte men, leanness, and vnder his glory he shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall be as a fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure his thornes and his briars in one day:

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fields both soule and flesh: and he shall be as the fainting of a stander bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a childe may tell them.

20 And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Iacob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall stay vpon the Lord, the Holy one of Israel in trueth.

21 The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iacob vnto the mightie God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as others,

^a Rezin King of Syria, who was in league with Israel, was slaine by the Assyrians, after whose death, Aram, that is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were assailed by the Philistims.

^p Wickednesse, as a bellows kindleth the fire of Gods wrath, which consumeth all his obstinate enemies.

^q Though there were no foreine enemy, yet they shall destroy one another.

^r Their greedinesse shall be insatiable, so that one brother shall eate vp another, as though hee should eate his owne flesh.

^a Which write and pronounce a wicked sentence to oppress the poore: meaning that the wicked magistrates, which were the chiefe cause of mischief, should bee first punished.

^b To wit, from Assyria.

^c Your riches & authoritie, that they may be safe, & that ye may receive the againe, because they haue forsake me, some shall go into captiuitie, & the rest shall be slaine.

^e God calleth for the Assyrians to bee the executioners of his vengeance.

^f That is, the Assyrians against the Iewes, which are but hypocrites and in this first and second verse is declared the difference of the worke of God, and of the wicked in one very thing and as: for Gods intention is to chastise them for their amendment, and the Assyrians purpose is to destroy them to enrich themselves: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their owne malice it is the worke of the deuill.

^g Seeing that I haue overcome as well one citie as another, so that none could resist, shall Ierusalem be able to escape mine hands?

^h When he hath sufficiently chastised his people (for hee beginneth at his owne house) then will hee burne the rodde.

ⁱ Meaning of Sancherib.

^k Here we see, that no creature is able to do any thing, but as God appointeth him, and that they are al but his instruments to doe his worke, though the intention be diuers, as vers. 6.

^l Meaning, that God is a light to comfort his people, and a fire to burne his enemies.

^m That is, the Assyrians.

ⁿ To wit, body and soule together.

^o When the rodde is lost, & the stander bearer taken.

^p This is the end of Gods plague towards him, to bring them to him, and to forsake all trust in others.

the land of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption I decreed shall overflow with righteousness.

33 For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, even I determined in the mids of all the land.

34 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the manner of Egypt.

35 But yea a very little time, and the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

36 And the Lord of hostes shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was upon the Sea, so he will lift it vp after the manner of Egypt.

37 And at that day shall his burden be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shall be destroyed because of the anoynting.

38 He is come to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour.

39 They haue gone over the forde: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraid: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

40 Lift vp thy voyce, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

41 Madmenah is remooued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselves together.

42 Yet there is a time that hee will stay at Nob: hee shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.

43 Behold, the Lord God of hostes shall cut off the bough with feare, and they of hie stature shall be cut off, and the high shall be humbled.

44 And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mightie fall.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ borne of the roote of Iſſai. 2 His vertues and kingdom. 6 The fruits of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

BUt there shall come a rodde forth of the stocke of Iſſai, and a graffe shall grow out of his rootes.

3 And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the Spirit of wisdom and vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsell and strength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord.

4 And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for hee shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprocue by the hearing of his eares.

5 But with righteousness shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shall hee re-procue for the meeke of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rodde of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall hee slay the wicked.

6 And Iustice shall bee the girdle of his loynes, and faithfulness the girdle of his reines.

7 The wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beast together, and a little child shall leade them.

8 And the Kow and the beare shall feede: their yong ones shall lie together: and the lion shall eat straw like the bullocke.

9 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the wained child shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.

10 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holinesse: for the earth shall bee full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the sea.

11 And in that day the roote of Iſſai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shall be glorious.

12 And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people, (which shall bee left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinar, and of Hamath, and of the Iles of the Sea.

13 And he shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the world.

14 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie Iudah, neither shall Iudah vex Ephraim.

15 But they shall flee vpon the shoulders of the Philistims toward the West: they shall spoile them of the East together: Edom and Moab shall bee the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.

16 The Lord also shall utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptians sea, & with his mightie wind shall lift vp his hand ouer the riuier, and shall smite him in his seuen streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes.

17 And there shall be a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

into the land, and hath the forme of a tongue. k To wit, Nilus, the great riuier of Egypt, which entrench into the sea with seuen streames.

CHAP. XII.

A thanksgiving of the faithfull for the mercies of God.

ANd thou shalt say in that day, O Lord, I will praise thee: though thou wast angrie with mee, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest mee.

Z z 2 Behold,

h. All these properties can agree to one but one ly vnto Christ: for it is he that toucheth the hearts of the faithful, and moueth their consciences: and to the wicked he is the fauour of death, and to them that shall perish: so that all the world shall be smitten with his rod, which is his word.

c. Men because of their wicked affections are named by the names of beasts, wherein the like affections reign: but Christ by his Spirit shall reforme them, and worke in them such mutual charitie, that they shall be like lambs, louing and louing one another, and cast off all their cruell affections.

Chap. 6. 3. 5. d. It shall be in as great abundance as the waters in the sea. e. He propheseth of the calling of the Gentiles.

f. That is, his Church, which he also calleth his rest, Psal. 132. 14.

g. For God first deliuered his people out of Egypt, and now promitteth to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Persians, Caldeans and them of Antiochia, among whom they were dispersed: and this is chiefly meant of Christ, who calleth his people being dispersed through all the world.

h. Here bee described the content that shall be in his Church, & their victory against their enemies.

i. Meaning, a corner of the sea, that entrench into the land, and hath the forme of a tongue. k To wit, Nilus, the great riuier of Egypt, which entrench into the sea with seuen streames.

l. He sheweth how the Church shall praise God, when they are deliuered from their captiuitie.

CHAP. XLIII.

The burden of Babel, which is the sonne of Amor: it shall be as a high mountain.

Lift up a standard vpon the high moun-taine: lift up the voice vnto them, wagger the hand, that they may goe into the gates of the nobles.

I have commanded them, that I haue sanctified: and I haue called the mighty to my wrath, and them that reioyce in my glory.

The noise of a multitude is in the mountains, like a great people: a tumultuous voice of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hostes numbeth the hostes of the battell.

They come from a farre countrey, from the ende of the heauen: even the Lord with the weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

Howle you, for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almighty.

Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt,

And they shall be afraid, anguished and so-row shall take them, and they shall haue paine, as a woman that trauaileth: every one shall be amazed at his neighbour, and their faces shall be like flames of fire.

Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, cruell, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land waste: and hee shall destroy the sinners out of it.

For the stars of heauen and the planets thereof shall not giue their light: the Sunne shall be darkened in his going forth, and the Moone shall not cause her light to shine.

And I will visite the wickednesse vpon the world, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the proud to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants.

I will make a man more precious then gold, and will make silver as vile as a stone.
Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, and ye shall be consumed, and shall be as a burning fire.

fine gold, even a man about the wedge of gold of Ophir.

Therefore I will make the heauen, and the earth shall remouee out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hostes, and in the day of his fierce anger.

And it shall be as a chafed Doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp, every man shall come to his owne people; and hee shall one to his owne land.

Every one that is found, shall be stricken through, and whose euer layeth himselfe, shall fall by the sword.

Their children also shall bee broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoiled, and their wives rauished.

Behold, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regard silver, nor be desirous of gold.

With bowes also shall they destroy the children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the children.

And Babel the glorie of kingdomes, the beautie and pride of the Chaldeans, shall bee as the destruction of God in Sodom and Gomorrah.

It shall not bee inhabited for euer, neither shall it bee dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the shepheards make their folds there.

But Zim shall lodge there, and their houses shall bee full of Ohim: ostriches shall dwell there, and the Satyrs shall daunce there.

And Iim shall erie in their palaces, and Dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is ready to come, and the dayes thereof shall not be prolonged.

CHAP. XLIII.

The returne of the people from captiuitie. 4 The derision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the King.

29 The destruction of the Philistines.

For the Lord will haue compassion of Iakob, and will yet chuse Israel, and cause them to rest in their owne land: and the stranger shall ioyne himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iaakob.

And the people shall receiue them and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for seruants and handmaidens: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule over their oppressours.

And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy feare, and from the fore bondage, wherein thou diddest serue,

Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the king of Babel, and say, How hath the oppressour ceased? and the gold-thirstie Babel rested?

wicked, and the scepter of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continual plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did not let.

7 The whole world is at rest, and is quiet: they sing for joy.

8 Also the firre trees rejoyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art laid downe, no hewer came vp against vs.

9 Hell beneath is moued for thee to receiue thee at thy coming, raising vp the dead for thee: even all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

10 All they shall cry, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weak, also as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is brought down to the graue, and the sound of thy viol: the worme is spread vnder thee, and the worme couereth thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, sonne of the morning, and cutt downe to the ground, which diddest cast lots vpon the nations?

13 Yet thou saydest in thine heart, I will ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboute beside the starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the North.

14 I will ascend above the height of the cloudes, and I will be like the most high.

15 But thou shalt be brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee, shall looke vpon thee, and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the kingdomes?

17 He made the world as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not the house of his prisoners.

18 All the kings of the nations, even they all sleepe in glory, every one in his owne house.

19 But thou art cast out of thy graue like an abominable branch: like the raiment of those that are slaine, and thrust thorow with a sword, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feete.

20 Thou shalt not be ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, and slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renowned for euer.

21 Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquity of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 For I will rise vp against them (saith the Lord of hosts) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the sonne, and the nephew, saith the Lord:

23 And I will make it a possession to the hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hosts.

24 The Lord of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, so shall stand.

25 That I will breake to pieces Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaies will I tread him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole world, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations.

27 Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disauntle it? and his hands stretched out, and who shall turne it away?

28 In the yeere that king Ahaz died, was this burden.

29 Reioyce not, (thou whole Palestina) because the rodde of him that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the serpents root shall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruit thereof shall be a fierie flying serpent.

30 For the first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needy shall lie downe in safetie: and I will kill thy root with famine, and it shall slay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate: crie, O city: thou whole land of Palestina art dissolued, for there shall come from the North a smoke, and none shall be alone at his time appointed.

32 What shall then one answer the messengers of the Gentiles? that the Lord hath stablished Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

CHAP. XV.

A prophetic against Moab.

The burden of Moab, Surely Bar of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night.

2 Hee shall goe vp to the temple, and to Dibon to the high places to weepe: for Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all their heads shall be baldnesse, and euery beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shall they be girded with sackcloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shall crie, and Elealeh: their voice shall be heard vnto Iahaz: therefore the warriours of Moab shall shoute: the soule of euery one shall lament in himselfe.

5 Mine heart shall crie for Moab: his fugitiues shall flee vnto Zoar, as an heifer of three yeere old: for they shall goe vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Lubith: and by the way of Horonaim they shall raise vp a crie of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shall be dried vp: therefore the grasie is withered, the herbes consumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, i To hide themselves, and their goods there. k Of them that are lame. l So that they should escape the hand of God, thus will God punish the enemies of his Church.

a That is, offer a sacrifice: what by he derideth their long day, which would not repent when the Lord called them, knowing them that it is now too late, fitting the vengeance of God is upon them.

b There is no remedy, but you must live. c He sheweth what Moab should have done, when Israel their neighbour was in affliction, to whom because they would give no shadow nor comfort, they are now left comfortless.

d The Assyrians shall oppress the Israelites, but for a while.

e Meaning, Christ.

f Their vain confidence, and proud braggings shall deceive them, as Ierem. 48. 2.

g For all your mourning, yet the city shall be destroyed even unto the foundations.

h That is, the Assyrians, and other enemies.

i Meaning, that the country of Moab was now destroyed, and all the precious things thereof were carried into the borders, yea into other countries, and over the sea.

k He sheweth that their plague was so great, that it would have moved any man to lament with them, as Psal. 14. 5.

l The enemies are come upon thee, and shoute for ioy, when they carie thy commodities from thee, as Ie. em 48. 35.

m For very sorrow and compassion.

n They shall vie all means to seeke helpe of their idols, and all in vaine: for and their substance shall they bestow to the brooke of the willowes.

8 For the cry went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof unto Eglaiah, and the howling thereof unto Beer Elim.

9 Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more upon Dimon, even Elion upon him: that respecteth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVII.

End: yet a lambe to the ruler of the world from the socket of the wilderness, into the mountain of the daughter Zion.

1 For I shall be as a bird that is fled, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall be at the foorles of Arnon.

2 Gather a counsell, execute judgement: make thy shadow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray no him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab be thou their covert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner shall end: the destroyer shall be consumed, and the oppressor shall cease out of the land.

5 And in mercy shall the throne be prepared, and he shall sit upon it in steadfastness, in the Tabernacle of David, iudging, and seeking judgement, and hastening justice.

6 We have heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) even his pride, and his arrogance, and his indignation, but his lies shall not be so.

7 Therefore shall Moab howle unto Moab: every one shall howle: for the foundations of Kir-hareseth shall ye mourne, yet they shall be stricken.

8 For the vineyards of Hesbbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: the lords of the heathen have broken the principall vines thereof: they are come unto Iazer: they wandered in the wilderness: her goodly branches stretcht out themselves, & went over the sea.

9 Therefore will I weepe with the weeping of Iazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Hesbbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because upon thy summer fruits, & upon thy harvest a showing is fallen.

10 And gladnesse is taken away, and ioy out of the plentiful field: and in the vineyards shall be no singing nor showing for ioy: the treader shall not tread wine in the wine presses: I have caused the reioicing to cease.

11 Wherefore, my bowels shall sound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareseth.

12 And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be wearie of his hie places, then shall he come to his Temple to pray, but he shall not preuaile.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying: In three yeeres, at the yeeres of an hireling, and the glory of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying: In three yeeres, at the yeeres of an hireling, and the glory of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

CHAP. XVII.

1 A propheticall destruction of Damascus and Ephraim.

2 He burdeneth Damascus. Behold Damascus is taken away from being a city, for it shall be a ruinous heape.

3 The cities of Aroer shall be forsaken: they shall be for the flocks: for they shall lie there, and none shall make them afraid.

4 The munition also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the glory of the children of Israel, saith the Lord of hosts.

5 And in that day the glory of Iacob shall be impoverished, and the fatnesse of his flesh shall be made leane.

6 And it shall be as when the harvest man gathereth the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shall be as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of Rephaim.

7 Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an olive tree, two or three berries are in the top of the yppmost boughes, and foure or five in the high branches of the fruit thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

8 At that day shall a man looke to his Maker, and his eyes shall looke to the Holy one of Israel.

9 And he shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands: neither shall he looke to those things, which his owne fingers have made, as groves and images.

10 In that day shall the cities of their strength bee as the forsaking of boughes and branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall bee desolation.

11 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembered the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange vine branches.

12 In the day shalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seed to flourish: but the harvest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shall bee desperate sorrow.

13 Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sound like the noyse of the Sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a sound like the noyse of mighty waters.

14 He appointed a certaine time to punish the enemies in. p Who will observe idly the time, for the which he is hired, and for the longer, but will ever long for it.

a Read Chap. 13. b The church of Syria. c It was a country of Syria by the river Arnon. d It seemeth that the Prophet would compare the Church in declaring the destruction of these two kingdomes of Syria and Israel, when as they had conspired the overthrow of Iudah.

e The cities gloried in their multitude, and alliance with other nations, therefore he saith that they shall bee brought downe, and the Syrians also.

f Meaning of the tribes, which boasted themselves of their nobility, prosperitie, strength and multitude.

g As the abundance of corne doeth not serve the harvest man that should cut it downe, no more shall the multitude of Israel make the enemies to drinke, whom God shall appoint to destroy them.

h Which valley was plentiful and fertile.

i Because God would have his covenant stable, he promised to reuere some of this people, and to bring them to repentance.

k He sheweth that Gods corrections ever bring forth some fruit, and cause his to turne from their finnes, and to humble themselves to him.

l As the Canaanites left their cities, when God did place the Israelites there, so the cities of Israel shall no more bee able to defend their inhabitants, then beth, when God shall send the enemy to plague them.

m Which are excellent, and brought out of other countries.

n As the Lord threatneth the wicked in his Law, Leuit. 26. 16.

o The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague that was prepared against Israel by the Assyrians, which were infinite in number, and gathered of many nations.

13 The people shall make a sound like the noise of many waters: for God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shall be chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirlewind.

14 And loe, in the evening there is trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoilevs, and the lot of them that robvs.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Of the enemies of the Church. 2 And of the reuocation of the Gentiles.

OH, the land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the riuers of Ethiopia,

3 Sending ambassadours by the sea, euen in vessels of reedes vpon the waters, saying, Go, ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, vnto a terrible people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by little and little, euen troden vnder foote, whose land the floods haue spoyled.

4 All ye the inhabitants of the world and dwellers in the earth, shall see when he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when hee bloweth the trumpe, ye shall heare.

5 For so the Lord said vnto me, I wil rest and behold in my Tabernacle, as he heare drying vp the raine, and as a cloude of dew in the heate of haruest.

6 For afore the haruest when the floure is finished, and the fruit is riping in the floure, then hee shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes:

7 They shal be left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the beasts of the earth: for the foule shall summer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

8 At that time shall a present be brought vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation by little and little, euen troden vnder foote, whose land the riuers haue spoyled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

9 I will stay a while from punishing the wicked. h Which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruits: whereby hee meaneth, that he will seeme to fauour them, and giue them abundance for a time, but he will suddenly cut them off. i Not only men shall contemne them, but the brute beasts. k Meaning, that God will pise his Church, and receive that little remnant as an offering vnto himselfe.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

THe burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord rideth vpon a swift cloud, and shal come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the mids of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the the Egyptians: so euery one shal fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the spirit of Egypt shal faile in the mids of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idols, and at the Sorcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the Soothsayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruell lords, and a mightie King shal rule ouer them, saith the Lord God of hostes.

5 Then the waters of the sea shal faile, and the river shal be dried vp, and wasted.

6 And the riuers shal go farre away: the riuers of defence shalbe emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flags shal be cut downe.

7 The grasse in the riuier, and at the head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuier shal wither, and be driuen away, and be no more.

8 The fishers also shal mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuier, shall lament, and they that spread their net vpon the waters, shalbe weakened.

9 Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sorts, shal be confounded, and they that weaue nets.

10 For their nets shall bee broken, and all they that make ponds, shall be heauie in heart.

11 Surely the princes of Zoan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counsellors of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say yee vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of the ancient kings?

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen the corners of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit of errours: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomit.

15 Neither shall there bee any worke in Egypt, which the head may doe, nor the taile, the branch, nor the rush.

16 In that day shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall be afraid and feare, because of the moouing of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he shaketh quer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shall bee a feare vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shalbe afraid thereof, because of the counsell of the Lord of hostes, which he hath determined vpon it.

18 In that day shall fiue citie in the land

c As he caused the Ammonites, Moabites, and Idumeans to kill one another, when they came to destroy the Church of God, 2. Chron. 20. 23. chap. 49. 16. d Meaning, their policie, and wisdom. e He sheweth that the sea and Nilus their great river, whereby they thought themselves most sure, should not be able to defend them from his anger, but that he would send the Assyrians among them, that should keepe them vnder as slaues. f For Nilus ran into the sea by frum streames, as though they were so many riuers. g The Hebrew word is mouth, whereby they meane the spring out of the which the water gusheth as out of a mouth. h The Scriptures vse to describe the destruction of a country by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flax, fish, and such other things, whereby countreys are enriched. i Called also Tanes, a famous citie vpon Nilus. k He noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh: who perswaded the king that he was wise, and noble, and that his house was most ancient, and so he flattered himselfe, saying, I am wise. l Or, Memphis, others Alexandria, and now called the great Cairra. m The principall vpholders thereof are the chieftest cause of their destruction. n For the spirit of wisdom, he hath made them drunken and giddie with the spirit of errour. o Neither the great nor the small, the strong nor the weak.

p Considering that through their occasion the Iewes made not God their defence, but put their trust in them, and were therefore now punished, they shall feare lest the like light vpon them,

CHAP. XXI.

Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes.
The ruine of Idumea, and of Arabia.

THe burden of the desert Sea. As the whirlwinds in the South use to passe from the wilderness, so shall it come from the horrible land.

A grievous vision was shewed vnto me, The transgressor against a transgressor, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Goe vp ^a Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning thereof to cease.

Therefore are my ^b loynes filled with sorrow: sorrowes haue taken mee as the sorrowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amazed when I saw it.

Mine heart failed: fearefulnesse troubled me: the night of my pleasures hath he turned into feare vnto me.

Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch towre: eat, drinke: arise, yee princes, anoint the shield.

For thus hath the Lord said vnto mee, Goe, set a watchman, to tell what he saith.

And he saw a charer with two horsemen: a charer of an asse, and a charer of a camel: and he hearkened, and tooke diligent heed.

And he cried, A lion: my lord, I stand continually vpon the watch towre in the day time, and I am fet in my watch every night.

And behold, this mans charer commeth with two horsemen. And he answered and said, Babel is fallen: it is fallen, & all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground.

O my threshing, and the ^c corne of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you.

The burden of Dumah. Hee calleth vnto me out of Seir, Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?

The watchman said, The morning commeth, and also the night. If ye wil aske, enquire: returne and come.

The burden against Arabia. In the Forrest of Arabia shall ye tarie all night, euen in the wayes of Dedanim.

O inhabitants of the land of Tema, bring forth water to meet the thirstie, and preuent him that sleeth with his bread.

For they flee from the drawn swords, euen from the drawn sword, and from the bent bow, and from the grievousnesse of warre.

For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Yet a yere according to the yeeres of an hireling, and all the glory of Kedar shall faile.

And the residue of the number of the ^a He describeth the vnquietnesse of the people of Dumah, who were night and day in feare of their enemies, and euer ran to and fro to enquire newes. ^b For feare, the Arabians shall flee into the woods, and he appointeth what way they shall take. ^c Signifying that for feare they shall not tary to eat nor drinke. ^d He appointeth them respit for one yere only, and then they should be destroyed. ^e See Chap. 16. 14.

of Egypt ^a spake the language of Canaan, and shall ^b sweare by the Lord of hostes: one shall be called the crie of destruction.

In that day shall the altar of the Lord be in the mids of the land of Egypt, and a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

And it shall be for a signe and for a witness vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall crie vnto the Lord, because of the oppr^cssors, and he shall send them a Saviour and a great man, and shall deliuer them.

And the Lord shall be known of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, and doe sacrifice and oblation, and shall vow vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.

So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto the Lord, and he shall be intreated of them, and shall heale them.

In that day shall there bee a path from Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur.

In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and Asshur, euen a blessing in the mids of the land.

For the Lord of hostes shall blesse it, saying, Blessed bee my people Egypt and Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

By these two nations, which were then chiefe enemies of the Church, hee sheweth that the Gentiles, and the Iewes should be ioyned together in one faith and religion, and should bee all one folde vnder Christ their shepheard.

CHAP. XX.

The three yeres captiuitie of Egypt and Ethiopia described by the three yeeres going naked of Isaiah.

In the yeere that Tartan came to Ashdod, (when Sargon King of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it,

At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Goe and loofe the sackcloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote.

And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three yeeres, a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia.

So shall the king of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and olde men, naked and barefoote, with their buttocks vncouered, so the shame of Egypt.

And they shall feare, and be ashamed of Ethiopia a their expectation, and of Egypt their glory.

Then shall the inhabitant of this Ile say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither wee fled for helpe to be deliuered from the king of Asshur, and how shall we be deliuered?

In whose ayde they trusted.

Of whom they boasted and gloried.

Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with their enemies, as an Ile with waters.

^a Who was a captain of Saneherib, a King.

^b A citie of the Philistines.

^c The Hebrews write that Saneherib was so called.

^d Which signifieth that the Prophet did lament the miserie that he saw prepared before the three yeeres, that he went naked and barefooted.

^a On the Sea side betweene Iudea and Caldea was a wilderness, where by he meant Caldea.

^b That is, the ruine of Babylon by the Medes and Persians.

^c The Assyrians, and Caldeans, which had destroyed other nations, shall be overcome of the Medes and Persians, and this he prophesied an hundred yeres before it came to passe.

^d By Elam, he meant the Persians.

^e Because they shall find comfort, they shall mourne no more, or I haue caused them to cease mourning, whom Babylon had afflicted.

^f This the Prophet speaketh in the person of the Babylonians.

^g He prophesied the death of Belshazzar, as Dan. 5. 30. who in the mids of his pleasures was destroyed.

^h Whiles they are eating and drinking, they shall be commanded to raine to raine to their weapons.

ⁱ To wit, in a vision by the spirit of prophesie.

^k Meaning, charers of men of warre and charers that carried the baggage.

^l Meaning, Durian, which came from Babylon, the watchman whom Isaiah saw, told him who came toward Babylon, and the Angel declared that it should be destroyed: all this was done in a vision.

^m See 51. 8. reu. 14. 8.

ⁿ Meaning, Babylon.

^o Which was a citie of the Ishmaelites, and was so named of Dumah.

^p Gen. 25. 14. A maintenance of Idumeans.

^q For feare, the Arabians shall flee into the woods, and he appointeth what way they shall take.

CHAP. XXII.

^b The prophesie of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchad-nezzar. ^c 1. A threatning against Shebna; ^d 20. Tawuse office Eliakim is preferred.

^e The burden of the valley of vision. What saileth thee now that thou art wholly gone vp vnto the house tops?

^f Thou that art full of noyse, a citie full of brute, a toyons citie: thy flame men shall not be slaine with sword, nor die in battell.

^g All thy princes shall flee together from the bow: they shall be bound: all that shall be found in thee, shall be bound together, which haue fled from farre.

^h Therefore sayd I, Turne away from me: I will weepe bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

ⁱ For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hosts in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and crying vnto the mountains.

^j And Elam bare the quier in a mans charet with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shield.

^k And thy chiefe valleys were full of charrets, and the horsemen set themselves in aray against the gate.

^l And he discovered the couering of Iudah: and thou diddest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

^m And ye haue scene the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.

ⁿ And ye numbred the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses haue ye broken downe to fortifie the wall, ^o And haue also made a ditch betweene the two walles, for the waters of the old poole and haue not looked vnto the maker thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of old.

^p And in that day did the Lord God of hostes call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnesse and girding with sackcloth.

^q And behold, ioi and gladnesse, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, eating and drinking: for to morrowe we shall die.

^r And it was declared in the eares of the Lord of hosts. Surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, til ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes.

^s Either to pull downe such as might hurt, or els to knowe what men they were able to make. ^t To provide if needs should bee of water. ^u To God that made Ierusalem: that is, they trusted more in these worldly meanes than in God. ^v In stead of repentance ye were ioyfull and made great cheere, concerning the admonitions of the Prophets, saying, Let vs eate and drinke: for our Prophets say, that we shall die to morrow.

^w Thus saith the Lord God of hosts, Goe get thee to that treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, ^x What hast thou to doe here? and whom hast thou here? that thou shouldest here hew thee out a Sepulchre, as he that heweth out his Sepulchre in an high place, or that graue an habitation for himselfe in a rocke?

^y Behold, the Lord will carrie thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely couer thee.

^z He will surely roll and turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there shalt thou die, and there the charrets of thy glory shall bee the shame of thy lords house.

^{aa} And I will driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.

^{ab} And in that day will I call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, ^{ac} And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him, thy power also will I commit into his hand, and he shall bee a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah.

^{ad} And the key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so hee shall open, and no man shall shut: and hee shall shut, and no man shall open.

^{ae} And I will fasten him as a naile in a sure place, and he shall be for the throne of glory to his fathers house.

^{af} And they shall hang vpon him all the glory of his fathers house, euen of the nephews and posterity all small vessels, from the vessels of the cups, euen to the instruments of musick.

^{ag} In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall the naile, that is fastened in the sure place, depart and shall be broken, and fall: and the burden that was vpon it, shall bee cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

^k Because these two countries were loyned in league together.

^l Tyrus willeth other merchants to go to Cilicia, and to come no more there.

^m Who maketh her merchants like Princes.

ⁿ Thy strength will no more serve thee, therefore flee to other countries for succour.

^o For Tyrus was neuer touched nor afflicted before.

^p Because Tyrus was built by them of Zidon.

^q The Chaldeans which dwell in tents in the wilderness, were gathered by the Assyrians into cities.

^r The people of the Chaldeans destroyed the Assyrians: whereby the Prophet meaneth that seeing the Caldeans were able to overcome the Assyrians, which were so great a nation, much more shall these two nations of Caldea and Assyria be able to overthrow Tyrus.

^s That is, Tyrus by whom ye are enriched.

^t Tyrus shall lie destroyed seuentie yeeres, which he calleth the reigns of one King or a mans age.

^u Shall vse all craft and subtiltie to entise men againe to her.

^x She shall labour by all meanes to recover her first credit, as an harlot when she is long forgotten, seeketh by all meanes to entertaine her lovers.

^y Though she haue bin chastised of the Lord, yet she shall returne to her old, wicked practises, and forgaue shall give her selfe to all mens lusts like an harlot.

^z He sheweth that God yet by the preaching of the Gospel will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from auarice and filthie gaines, vnto the true worshipping of God and liberalitie toward his Saints.

children, neither nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins.

5 When the same commeth to the Egyptians, they shall be ^k forie concerning the rumour of Tyrus.

6 Goe you ouer to ^l Tarshish: howle, yee that dwell in the yles.

7 Is not this that your glorious ^m citie? her antiquitie is of ancient dayes: her owne secte shall leade her a farre off to be a sojourner.

8 Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that ⁿ crowneth men) whose merchants are princes? whose chapmen are the nobles of the worlde?

9 The Lord of hosts hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glory, & to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe through thy land like a flood to the ^o daughter of ^l Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 He hath etched out his hand vpon the sea: he shooke the kingdomes; the Lord hath giuen a commaundement concerning the place of merchandise, to destroy the power thereof.

12 And he said, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed: ^o O virgin daughter of Zidon: rise vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans: this was no people: ^q Asshur founded it by the inhabitants of the wilderness: they set vp the towers thereof: they raised the palaces therof, and he ^r brought it to ruine.

14 Howle ye shippes of Tarshish, for your ^s strength is destroyed.

15 And in that day shall Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeeres, (according to the yeeres of one King) at the ende of ^t seuentie yeeres shall Tyrus ^u sing as an harlot.

16 Take an harpe, and goe about the citie: (thou harlot that hast been forgotten) ^x make sweete melody, sing mee songs that thou mayest be remembered.

17 And at the ende of seuentie yeeres shall the Lord visite Tyrus, and shee shall returne to her ^y wages, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, ^z that are in the world.

18 Yet her occupying and her wages shall be ^z holy vnto the Lord: it shall not be layd vp nor kept in store, but her merchandise shall be for them that dwell before the Lord, to eate sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

19 He sheweth that God yet by the preaching of the Gospel will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from auarice and filthie gaines, vnto the true worshipping of God and liberalitie toward his Saints.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the finnes of the people, ¹ 3
A remnant referred shall prayse the Lord.

Behold, the Lord maketh the ^a earth empty, and he maketh it waste: he turneth it vp side downe, and scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shall be like people, like ^b Priest, and like seruant, like master, like maide, like mistresse, like buyer, like seller, like tender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vsurie.

3 The earth shall be cleane emptied, and utterly spoyled: for the Lord hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth and sadeth away: the world is feeble and decayed: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth ^c also deceiueth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the everlasting covenant.

6 Therefore hath the ^d curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are ^e burned vp, and few men are left.

7 The wine fayleth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merrie heart, doe mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noyse of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioy of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall bee bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of ^f vanity is broken down: currey house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streets: all ioy is darkened: the ^g mirth of the world is gone away.

12 In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 Surely, thus shall it bee in the mids of the earth, among the people, ^h as the shaking of an oliue tree, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shall lift vp their voyce: they shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from ⁱ the sea.

15 Wherefore prayse yee the Lord in the valleys, ^j euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the uttermost part of the earth we haue heard prayses, ^k euen glory to the ^l iust, and I sayd, ^m My leannesse, my leannesse, woe is me: the transgressors haue offended: yea the transgressors haue grievously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And he that fleeth from the noyse of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that cometh vp out of the pit, shall bee taken in the snare: for the ⁿ windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake.

affliction of the Church, both by forreine enemies, and domestically. Some read, My secret, my secret: that is, it was revealed to the Prophet that the good should bee preferred, and the wicked destroyed. ^o Meaning, that Gods wrath and vengeance should be ouer and vnder them: so that they should not escape nor were then, they did at Noahs flood.

19. The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolved: the earth is mooued exceedingly.

20. The earth shall reele, to and fro like a drunken man, and shalbe remooued like a tent, and the iniquity thereof shalbe heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21. And in that day shall the Lord visite the holte above that is on hie, euen the Kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22. And they shall be gathered together, as the prisoners in the pier, and they shal be shut op in the prison, and after many dayes that they be visited.

23. Then the moone shall be abashed, and the sunne ashamed, when the lord of hosts shal reigne in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem: and glorie shall be before his ancient men.

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiving to God, in that that hee sheweth himselfe lord of the world, by punishing the wicked and maintaining the golly.

Lord, thou art my God: I will extol thee, I will praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderfull things, according to the counsels of olde, with a stable truth.

2. For thou hast made of a citie an heape, of a strong citie, a ruine: euen the palace of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be build.

3. Therefore shall the mighty people giue glory vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4. For thou hast been a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadowe against the heate: for the blast of the mightie is like a storme against the wall.

5. Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, as the heate in a drie place: hee will bring downe the song of the mightie, as the heate in the shadow of a cloud.

6. And in this mountaine shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fatte things, euen a feast of fined wines, and of fat things full of marrowe, of wines fined and purified.

7. And he will destroy in this mountaine the couering that couereth all people, and the yaile that is spread vpon all nations.

8. He will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people, will hee take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9. And in that day shall men say, Loe, this is our God: wee haue waited for him, and hee will saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited from him: wee wil reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10. For in this mountaine shall the hande of the Lord rest, and Moab shall be threshed vnder him, euen as straw is threshed in a Madmenah.

And he shall stretch out his hand in the middes of them (as he that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands, shall hee bring downe their pride.

12. The defence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe and lay low, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

In that day shall this song bee sung in the land of Iudah, Wee haue a strong citie: saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarkes.

2. Open yee the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the truth, may enter in.

3. By an assured purpose wilt thou preserve perfect peace, because they trusted in thee.

4. Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

5. For hee will bring downe them that dwell on high: the high citie he will abase: euen vnto the ground will hee cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust.

6. The foote shall treade it downe, euen the feete of the poore, and the steppes of the needy.

7. The way of the iust is righteousness: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust.

8. Also wee, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9. With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within me will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the worlde shall learne righteousness.

10. Let mercie bee shewed to the wicked, yet hee will not learne righteousness: in the land of vprightnesse will hee doe wickedly, and will not behold the maiestie of the Lord.

11. O Lord, they will not behold thine hand, but they shall see it, and be confounded with the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine enemies shall deuoure them.

12. Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordaine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our works for vs.

13. O Lord our God, other lords beside thee haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee onely, and thy Name.

14. The dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15. Thou hast increased the nation: thou art made

By Moab are meant all the enemies of his Church.

There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1. Chro. 3. 49. and another in the land of Moab, Iere. 49. 1. which seemeth to haue bene a plentiful place of corn.

This song was made to comfort the faithfull, when their captiuitie should come, assuring them also of their deliuerance, for the which they should sing this song.

Gods protection and defence shall bee sufficient for vs.

The assurth the godly to returne after the captiuitie to Ierusalem.

Thou hast decreed so, and thy purpose cannot be changed.

There is no power so high, that can let God, when he wil deliuer his.

God will fet the poore against the power of the wicked.

We haue constantly abid in the aduersities where with thou hast afflicted vs.

Meaning, that by afflictions men shall learne to feare God.

The wicked though God shew them euident signes of his grace, shalbe neuer the better.

Through enuy and indignation against thy people.

The fire and vengeance, where with thou dost destroy thine enemies.

The Babylonians, which haue not gouerned according to thy word.

Meaning, that the reprobate, euen in this life shal raine the beginning of euill death.

To wit, the company of the faithfull by the calling of the Gentiles.

made glorious: thou hast enlarged the coasts of the earth: and thou hast enlarged the habitation of the world.

16 Lorde, in trouble haue they visited thee: they poured out a prayer when thy chastening was upon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth nere to the trauaile, is in sorrow, and cryeth in her paines, so haue wee been in thy sight, O Lord.

18 Wee haue conceived, wee haue borne in paine, as though we should haue brought forth winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall.

19 The dead men shall liue: even with my bodie shall they rise. Awake, and sing, yee that dwell in dust: for thy dewe is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come my people, * enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, vntill the indignation passe quer.

21 For loe, the Lord cometh out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her blood, and shall no more hide her flaine.

22 The Lord shall rise vp to ioy when he seeth the draw of Gods grace. He exhorteth the faithfull to be patient in their afflictions and to waite vpon Gods worke. The earth shall vomit and cast out the innocent blood, which it hath drunke, that it may crye for vengeance against the wicked.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophesie against the kingdome of Sathan, 2 And of the ioy of the Church for their deliuerance.

In that day the Lord with his sore and great sword shall visite Liuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that crooked serpent, and hee shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyard of red wine.

3 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment lest any assaile it: I will keepe it night and day.

4 Anger is not in mee: who would set the briars and the thornes against me in battell? I would goe through them, I would burne them together.

5 Or will hee feele my strength, that hee may make peace with me, and be at one with mee?

6 Hereafter, Iakob shall take roote: Israel shall flourish and growe, and the worlde shall be filled with fruit.

7 Hath hee smitten him as he smote those that smote him? or is hee slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In measure in the branches thereof

He maruileth, that Israel will not come by gentilesse, except God make them to feele his rods, and so bring them vnto him. Though I afflict and diminish my people for a time, yet shall the roote spring againe and bring forth in great abundance. He sheweth that God smiteth his in mercie, and his enemies in iustice. That is thou wilt not destroy the roote of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharpe winde of affliction.

wilt thou contend with it, when hee bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iakob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sinne: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as challee stones broken in pieces, that the grones and images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the defenced citie shall be desolate, and the habitation shall be forsaken, and left like a wilderness. There shall the calfe feede, and there shall hee lie, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are drie, they shall be broken: the women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercy on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanell of the riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shall be gathered, one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpe be blowne, and they shall come, which perished in the lande of Asshur: and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkenesse of Israel. 9 The rewardes of them that should learne the word of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

Woe to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beauty shall be a fading flower, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and are overcome with wine.

2 Beholde, the Lord hath a mighty and strong hoste, like a tempest of haile, and a whirlewinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that overflowe, which throwe to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be troden vnder foote, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beauty shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fatte, and as the hasty fruit afore summer, which when hee that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, hee eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the residue of his people:

6 And for a Spirit of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

glory, shall be preferred. He wil giue counsell to the gouernour, and strength to the captaine to driue the enemies in at their owne gates.

He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatry, and the monuments thereof destroyed. Notwithstanding his fauour that hee will shew them after, yet Ierusalem shall be destroyed, and graue for carrell shall grow in it. God shall not haue neede of mighty enemies for the very women shall doe it, to their great shame. He shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped. In the time of Cyrus, by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

A Meaning, the proud kingdome of the Israelites, which were drunken with worldly prosperity. Because the Israelites for the most part dwelt in plentiful valleys, hee meant hereby the valley of them, that had abundance of worldly prosperity, and were, as it were crowned therewith as with garlands. He seemeth to meane the Assyrians, by whom the ten tribes were carried away. Which is not of long continuance, but is loone ripe, and first eaten. Signifying, that the faithfull, which put not their trust in any worldly prosperity, but made God their glory, shall be preferred. He wil giue counsell to the gouernour, and strength to the captaine to driue the enemies in at their owne gates.

Meaning the hypocrites, which were among them, and were altogether corrupte in life and doctrine, which is here meant by drunkenness and folly.

For there was none that was able to understand any good doctrine: but were foolish, and as yong babes.

They must have one thing oftentimes tolde.

Let one teach what he can, yet they shall not more understand him than they spoke in.

Thus is the Prophet whom God should send.

This is the doctrine, whereupon ye ought to stay and rest.

It sheweth to them that are weary, and have need of rest, what is the true rest.

Because they will not receive the word of God when it is offered, it cometh of their owne malice, if after they hear be so hardened, that they care not for it, as before Chapter 6. 9.

They thought they had shutes to avoide Gods iudgements, and that they could escape though all other perished.

Though the Prophets condemned their Idols, and vaine trust, of falshood and vanitie, yet the wicked thought in themselves that they would trust in these things.

That is, Christ by whom all the building must be tried, and vpholde.

Gal. 1. 8. 2. cor. 13. 1. 1. cor. 13. 1. 1. cor. 13. 1.

He shall be quiet and seeke none other remedies, but be content with Christ.

In the restitution of his church, iudgement, and iustice shall reigne.

A Gods corrections and affliction. x Affliction shall discover their vaine confidence, which they kept secret to themselves. y Terror and destruction shall make you to learne that, which exhortations and gentleness could not bring you vnto. z Your affliction shall be so fore, that you are not able to endure it.

Meaning the hypocrites, which were among them, and were altogether corrupte in life and doctrine, which is here meant by drunkenness and folly.

For there was none that was able to understand any good doctrine: but were foolish, and as yong babes.

They must have one thing oftentimes tolde.

Let one teach what he can, yet they shall not more understand him than they spoke in.

Thus is the Prophet whom God should send.

This is the doctrine, whereupon ye ought to stay and rest.

It sheweth to them that are weary, and have need of rest, what is the true rest.

17 But they have erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drink: the Priest and the Prophet have erred by strong drink: they are swallowed vp with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drink: they haue in vision: they stumble in judgement.

18 For all their cities are full of filth, vomiting: no place is cleane.

19 Whom shall hee teach knowledge? and whom shall hee make to understand the things that hee heareth? them that are weaned from the milke, and drawn from the breasts.

20 For precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little.

21 For with a stammering tongue and with a strange language shall hee speake vnto this people.

22 Vnto whom hee sayd, This is the rest: give rest to him that is weary: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare.

23 Therefore shall the word of the Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little, that they may goe, and fall backward, and be broken, and bee snared, and be taken.

24 Wherefore heare the word of the Lord, ye come full men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem.

25 Because ye haue said, Wee haue made a p. couenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement: though, a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made a falshood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid.

26 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will lay in Zion a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. Hee that beleueth, shall not make haste.

27 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and righteousness to the balance, and the haile shall sweep away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflowe the secret place.

28 And your couenant with death shall be disannulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode down by it.

29 When it passerh ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morning in the day, and in the might, and there shall be onely feare to make you to understand the hearing.

30 For the bed is streight that it cannot suffice, and the couering narrow that one can not wrap himselfe.

31 For the Lord shall stand as in mount

Perazim: he shall be wroth as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may doe his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte.

22 Now therefore bee no mockers, lest your bondes increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speach.

24 Doeth the plowman plow all the day, to sowe: doeth he open, and breake the clods of his ground?

25 When he hath made it plaine, will he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barley and rie in their place?

26 For his God doeth instruct him to haue discretion, and doeth teach him.

27 For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument: neither shall a Cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, & cummin with a rod.

28 Bread cometh when it is threshed, hee doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noise, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also cometh from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsell, and excellent in worke.

A prophetic against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of man.

A H. altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: let them kill lambs.

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, and there shall bee heauinesse and sorrow, and it shall be vnto me like an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou bee humbled, and shalt speake out of the ground, and thy speach shall bee as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall bee out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreouer the multitude of thy strangers shall bee like small dust, and the multitude of strong men shall be as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall be in a moment, euen suddenly.

6 Thou shalt bee visited of the Lord of hostes with thunder, and shaking, and a great noise, a whilewinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shall be as dreames or vision by night: euen all they that make vaine trust, shall come at vnawares euen as a dreame in the night.

the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and lay siege vnto it.

8 And it shall bee like an hungry man dreameth, and beholde, & hee awaketh; and when he awaketh, his soule is empty: or like as a thirſtie man dreameth, and loe, hee is drinking, and when hee awaketh, behold hee is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations bee that fight against mount Zion.

9 Say your selues, and wonder, they are blinde, and make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath covered you with a spirit of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath hee couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the words of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. Then shall hee say, I can not: for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is given vnto him that can not read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. And he shall say, I cannot read.

13 Therefore the Lord sayd, Because this people come nether vnto mee with their mouth, and honour me with their lippes, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their feare toward mee was taught by the precept of men.

14 Therefore behold, I will againe doe a maruileous worke in this people, euen a maruileous worke, and a wonder: for the wise doing of their wise men shall perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 Woe vnto them that seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their works are in darkenesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of denises shall it not bee esteemed, as the potters clay? for shall the worke of him that made it, Hee made me not? or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, He had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shall be turned into Carmel? and Carmel shall be counted as a Forrest.

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the words of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde, shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darknesse.

19 The meeke in the Lord shall receiue ioy againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel.

21 Which made a man to sinne in the word, and tooke him in a snare: which reprooued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus sayth the Lord vnto the house of Isakoh, euen he that redeemed Abraham, Isakoh shall not now be confounded, neither now shall his face be pale.

23 But when hee seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the middes of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holy one of Isakoh; and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that entred in spirite, shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Hee reprooueth the leues, which in their aduersitie used their owne counsell, 2 And forgetteth the helpes of the Egyptian, 3 To despise the Prophets, 4 Therefore be they, which what destruction shall come vpon them, 18 but offereth mercie to the repentant.

Woe to the rebellious children, faith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me, and couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselves with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall bee your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his princes were at Zoan, and his ambassadours came vnto Hanes.

5 They shall bee all ashamed of the people that cannot profit them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shall bee a shame and also a reproch.

6 ¶ The burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the young and olde lyon, the viper, and fiery flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bunches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto her, Their strength is to sit still.

8 Now goe and write it before them in a table, (and note it in a booke that it may bee for the last day for euer and euer.

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not heare the lawe of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophecie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: propheticall errors.

11 Depart out of the way: goe aside out of the path, cause the Holy One of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus sayth the Holy one of Israel, Because you haue cast of this worde, and trust in violence, and wickednesse, and stay thereupon.

13 Therefore this iniquitie shall bee vnto you

h. Make hereon as long as you list, yet shall you finde nothing but occasion to be allowed for your prophesies are blinde, and therefore can not direct you.

i. Meaning, that it is as if, either to read, or not to read, except God open the heart to vnderstand.

k. Because they are hypocrites and not sincere in heart, as Mat. 23. 8.

l. That is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine, and not by my word.

m. Meaning, that where as God is not worshipped according to his word, both magistrates and ministers are but fooles, & without vnderstanding.

n. This is spoken of them, which in heart despised Gods word, and mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face.

o. For all your craft, faith the Lord, you cannot be able to escape mine hands.

p. Shall there sorbe a change of all things? and Carmel, that is a plentiful place in respect of that it shall be then may be taken as a Forrest, as Chap. 32. 15.

q. They that went about to finde fault with the Prophets words, and would not abide admonitions, but would entangle them and bring them into danger.

r. Signifying, that except God give vnderstanding and knowledge, man can not but fall away, and murmure against him.

s. Who contrary to their promise, take not notice of their proceedings, and contrary to my commandment, seek to help at Babel.

t. They seek to close their doings, and not godly means.

u. The chiefs of Israel went into Egypt in ambassadors, to seek helpe, and to doo as their cities.

v. There is a heauie sentence of prophesie against the beastes that carried their treasures into Egypt, by the wilderness, which was South from Iudah: signifying that if the beastes should not be feared, the men should be punished much more grievously.

w. To wit, to Jerusalem.

x. And not to come to assist to seeke helpe.

y. That is, this prophesie.

z. That it may be a witness against them for all posterities.

aa. Hebereth was the cause of their destruction and bringeth all misery to man: to wit, because they would not heare the word of God, but delighted to be flattered and led in error.

bb. Thirteen vs not by the word of God neither be so rigorous, nor take vnto vs in the name of the Lord, as Jer. 11. 31.

cc. Meaning, in their stubbornnesse against God and the admonitions of his Prophets.

you as a breach that falleth: as a swelling in an his wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not found ^a a sheerd to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit.

15 For thus said the Lord God, the Holy One of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye be saued: in quietnesse and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue said, No, but we will flee away vpon ^p horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of five shall ye flee, till ye be left as a ship mast vpon the ^p top of a moun-taine, and as a beaken vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore wil the Lord wait, that he may haue ^q mercie vpon you, and therefore wil hee be exalted, that hee may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of ^r iudge-ment. Blessed are all they that waite for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: hee will certainly haue mercie vpon thee at the voice of thy cry: when he heareth thee he will answere thee.

20 And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shall be no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy ^r raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a word be-hinde thee, saying, This is the way, ^r walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And yee shall ^r pollute the couering of the images of silver, and the rich ornament of thine images of golde, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, ^r Get thee hence.

23 Then shall he giue raine vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sow the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell bee fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winnowed with the shouell and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euery high ^x mountaine, and vpon euery high hill shall there bee riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall.

26 Moreover, the light of the Moone shall be as the light of the ^y Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seven fold, and like the light of seven dayes in the day that the Lord shall bind vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, ^z the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof ^z heauie: his lipps are full of indignation, and his tongue ^z as a deuouring

18 And his spirit ^z as a riuier that ouerfloweth vp to the hecke: it diuidenth asunder, to fan the nations with the fanne of ^z vanity, and there shall bee a bridie to cause them to erre in the chawes of the people.

19 But there shall be a song vnto you as in the ^b night, when a solemne feast is kept: and gladnesse of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the Mighty one of Israel.

20 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voice to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and haile stones.

21 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Ashur be destroyed, which smote with the ^c rod.

22 And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall ^d cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him ^e with tabrets and harps: and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall he fight ^f against it.

23 For ^g Topheth is prepared of old: it is euen prepared for the ^h King: hee hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof ⁱ is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a ri-uer of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

C H A P. XXXI.

1 Hee curseth them that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

VOe vnto them that ^a goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charrets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they are very strong: but they looke not vnto the Holy one of Israel, nor ^b seeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet is ^c wisest: therefore hee wil bring euill, and not turne backe his word, but he wil arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanity.

3 Nowe the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh, and not spirit: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the ^d helper shall fall, and he that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me,
As the Lyon, or Lyons whelpes roareth vpon his pray, against whom ^e a multitude of shepheards bee called, hee will not bee afraide at their voyce, neither will humble himselfe at their noise: so shall the Lord of hostes come ^f downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds that flee, so shall the Lord of hostes defend Ierusalem by defending and detrians and the Israelites ^e Hee sheweth the Jewes, that if they would put their trust in him, hee is so able, that none can resist his power: and so carefull ouer them, as a birde ouer her young, which ever flyeth about them for their defence:

C H A P. XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers and officers described by the government of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Christ.

Behold, ^a a King shall reigne in iustice, and the princes shall rule ^b in iudgement.

2 And that man shall be as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a drie place, and as the shadow of a great rocke in ^c a wearie land.

3 The eyes of the ^d seeing shall not bee shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall understand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall be ready to speake distinctly.

5 A ^e niggard shall no more be called liberrall, nor the churle rich.

6 But the niggard will speake of niggardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and doe wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make emptie the hungry soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he deuifeth wicked counsels, to vndoe the poore with lying words, and to speake against the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberrall man will deuise of liberrall things, and hee will continue his liberrallitie.

9 Rise vp, ye women that are at ease: heare my voice, ye ^f carelesse daughters: hearken to my words.

10 Yee women, that are carelesse, shall be in feare ^g aboute a yee in dayes: ^h for the vintage shall faile, and the gathering shall come no more.

11 Yee women that are at ease, be astonished: feare, O yee carelesse women: put off the clothes: make bare, and gird sackcloth vpon the loynes.

12 Men shall lament for the ⁱ teates, ^{en} for the pleasant fieldes, and for the fruitfull vine.

Or, multitude. k That is, when the Church shall be restored: then the Prophets after they haue denounced Gods iudgements against the wicked, vie to comfort the godly, lest they should faile.

l The fields which is now fruitfull, shall bee as a barren Forrest in comparison of that it shall be then. Chap. 3. 17. which shall be fulfilled in Christs time, for then they that were before as the barren wilderness, being regenerate, shall be fruitful, and they that had some beginning of godlines, shall bring forth fruits in such abundance, that their former life shall seeme as a wilderness.

m They shall not need to build it in high places for feare of the enemy: for God will defend it, and turne away the stormes from burning of their commodities. n That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth forth in abundance: or in places which before were covered with waters, and now made dry for your vses. o The fields shall be so rank, that they shall lend out their cattell to eate vp the first crop, which abundance shall be signes of Gods fauour and loue toward them.

a Meaning, the enemies of the Church as were the Caldeans, and Assyrians: but chiefly of Saneherib, but not only. b When thine appointed time shall come that God shall take away thy power: and that which thou hast wrongfully gotten, shall be given to others, as Amos 5. 11.

c The Caldeans shall doe like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel: and the Medes and Persians shall doe the same to the Caldeans. d I declare hereby what is the chiefest refuge of the faithfull, when troubles come, to pray and seeke helpe of God. e Which helpedst our fathers so soone as they called vpon thee.

f That is, the Assyrians fled before the armie of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Persians. g When thou, O Lord, diddest lift vp thine arme to punish thine enemies. h Yee that as caterpillers destroyed with your number the whole world, shall haue no strength to resist your enemies the Caldeans, but shall bee gathered on an heape and destroyed. i Meaning, the Medes and Persians against the Caldeans. k That is, in the dayes of Hezekiah.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Saneherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Ierusalem. 2 His blasphemies against God.

Now in the fourteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib King of Ashtur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

2 And the king of Ashtur sent Rabshakeh from Bichish toward Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah with a great hoste, and he stood by the conduit of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellour, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And Rabshakeh saide vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the King of Ashtur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say Surely I haue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against mee?

6 Lo, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reed on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pearce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to mee, We trust in the Lord our God, is not that he, whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Yee shall worship before this altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the King of Ashtur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou despise any captaine of the least of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charrets and for horsemen?

10 And am I nowe come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto mee, Goe vp against this land and destroy it.

11 Then said Eliakim, and Shebna, and Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iews tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then sayd Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent mee to thy master and to thee, to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall? that they mayeate their owne douring, and drinke their owne piss with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood and cryed with a lowd voyce in the Iews language, and said, Heare the words of the great king, of the king of Ashtur.

14 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for hee shall not be able to deliuer you.

So pretended to grow to some appoyntment with him, 15 Neither a This historie is rehearsed, because it is as a seale and confirmation of the doctrine afore, both for the threatnings and promises: to wit, that God would suffer his Church to be afflicted, but as length would send deliuerance.

b When he had abolished superstition, and idolatry, and reformed religion, yet God would reuerse his Church to ere their faith and patience.

c For he was now referred to his office, as Ieriah had prophesied, Ch. 21. 10.

d This declared that there were few godly to be found in the kings house, when he was driven to find this wicked man in such a weightie manner.

e Saneherib chief captaine.

f He speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah, fully charging him that the Lord his trust in his wit & eloquence, whereas his only confidence was in the Lord.

g Saram laboured to pull the godly king from one vaine confidence to another: to wit, from trust in the Egyptians, whose power was weake & would deceiue them, to yeeld himselfe to the Assyrians, & to not to hope for any helpe of God.

h Her reproche to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Saneheribs least captaines.

i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, will pretend the Name of the Lord: but wee multury the Spirit, whether they be of God or no.

15. Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not bee giuen out into the hand of the king of Asshur.

16. Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the king of Asshur, Make appointment with mee, and come out to me, that euery man may care of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figge tree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well.

17. Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, even a land of wheate & wine, a land of bread and vineyards.

18. Lett Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord will deliuer vs. Hark any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the king of Asshur?

19. Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20. Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their country out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21. Then they kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answer him not.

22. Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilki-ah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chanceller, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Hezekiah asketh counsell of Iſaiah, who promiſeth him the victorie. 10 The blaſphemie of Saneherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The armie of Saneherib is ſlaine of the Angel. 38 And he himſelfe of his owne ſonnes.

And when the king Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth, and came into the house of the Lord.

2 And hee sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebna the chanceller, with the Elders of the Priests, clothed in sackcloth vnto Iſaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If so be the Lord thy God hath heard the wordes of Rabshakeh, whom the King of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah sayd vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus sayth the Lord, Bee not afraid of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphemed me.

7 Behold, I will send a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a noise, and returne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

8 So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for hee had heard that hee was departed from Lachish.

9 Hee heard also men say of Tirhakah, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, hee is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall yee speake to Hezekiah King of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God deceiue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Asshur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassar?

13 Where is the King of Hamath, and the King of Arpad, and the King of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?

14 So Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the messengers and read it, and he went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hostes, God of Israel, which dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the words of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God.

18 Trueth it is, O Lord, that the Kings of Asshur haue destroyed all lands, and their 19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mens hands, even wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that all the kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou onely art the Lord.

21 Then Iſaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto mee, concerning Saneherib King of Asshur, 22 This is the worde that the Lord hath spoken against him, The virgin, the daughter,

f. Of the Egyptians and Ethiopians, that shall come and fight against him. g. Which was a citie toward Egypt, thinking thereby to haue stayed the force of his enemies.

h. Thus God would haue him to utter a most horrible blasphemie before his destruction: as to call the author of all trueth, a deceiver: some gather hereby that Shebna had disclosed vnto Saneherib the answer that Iſaiah sent to the king. i. Which was a citie of the Medes. k. Called also Charra a citie in Mesopotamia whence Abraham came after his fathers death.

l. He groundeth his prayer on Gods promise, who promised to heare them from betweene the Cherubims.

m. Meaning of the ten tribes.

n. He declareth for what cause he prayed, that they might be deliuered: to wit, that God might be glorified thereby through all the world. o. Whom God had chosen to himselfe as a chaste virgin, and ouer whom he had care to preferre her from the lulls of the tyrant, as a father would haue ouer his daughter.

Tyrants are bridled. Isaiah. Hezekiahs sicknesse, and ter of Zion, hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn: the daughter of Jerusalem hath shaken her head at thee.

33 Who hast thou railed on and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on high? even against the holy One of Israel.

34 By thy seruants hast thou rayled on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my charrets I am come, vp to the top of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the high cedar thereof, and the faire fire trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heights of his top, and to the forest of his fruitfull places.

35 I haue digged sand drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers I esied in.

36 Hast thou not heard how I haue of olde time made it, and haue formed it long agoe? and shouldest thou now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and laid on ruinous heaps, as cities defended, 37 Whose inhabitants haue small power, and are afraid, and confounded? they are like the grasse of the field & greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or come blasted afore it be grown.

38 But I know thy dwelling, and thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy furie against me.

39 Because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine hooke in thy nostrils, and my bridle in thy lips, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou camest.

40 And this shall be a signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such as groweth of it selfe: and the second yeere, such things as grow without sowing: and in the third yeere, sow ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruit thereof.

41 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take roote downward, and I beare fruit vpward.

42 For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hosts shall doe this.

43 Therefore thus saith the Lord, concerning the King of Ashtur, Hee shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.

44 By the same way that he came, he shall returne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord.

45 For I will defend this citie to saue it, for mine owne sake, and for my seruant Dauids sake.

46 ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord went out, and smote in the campe of Ashtur an hun-dreth, fourescore, and fiftie thousand: so when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

37 So Saneheribs king of Ashtur departed, and went away, and returned and dwelt at Nineueh.

38 And as he was in the Temple worshipping of Nisroch his god, Adramelech and Sanezer his sonnes slew him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of Ararat: and Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

C H A P. XXXVIII.

1 Hezekiah is sicke. 5 He is restored to health by the Lord, and liueth fiftie yeeres after. 20 He giueth thanks for his benefite.

About that time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Isaiah sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Put thine house in an order, for thou shalt die, and not liue.

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord,

3 And said, I beseech thee, Lord, remember now, how I haue walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.

4 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord to Isaiah, saying,

5 Goe, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will adde vnto thy dayes fiftie yeeres.

6 And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the king of Ashtur, and this citie: for I will defend this citie.

7 And this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe this thing that he hath spoken.

8 Behold, I will bring againe the shadow of the degrees, (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahaz by the Sonne) ten degrees backward: so the sunne returned by tenne degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.

9 ¶ The writing of Hezekiah King of Iudah, when he had bene sicke, and was recovered of his sicknesse.

10 I said in the cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am depriued of the residue of my yeeres.

11 I said, I shall not see the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world.

18 For the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy truth.

19 But the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee, as I doe it say: the father to the children shall declare thy truth.

20 The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore we will sing my song, al the dayes of your life in the house of the Lord.

21 Then said Iſaiah, Take a lumpe of drie figges and lay it vpon the boile, and hee shall recouer.

22 Also Hezekiah had said, What is the signe, that I shall goe vp into the House of the Lord?

Whereas I thought to haue liued in rest and ease, being deliuered from mine enemy, I had grieue vpon griefe. He esteemeth more the remission of his sinnes, and Gods fauour, then a thousand liues. For as much as God hath placed man in this world to glorifie him, the godly tooke it as a signe of his wrath when their dayes were shortened, either because that they seemed vnworthy for their times to liue longer in his seruice, or for their zeale to Gods glory, seeing that there are so few in earth that doe regard it, Psal. 6. 5. and 115. 17. x Al posteritie shall acknowledge, and the fathers according to their duty toward the children shall instruct them in thy graces and mercies toward me. y He sheweth what is the vse of the Congregation and Church, to wit, to giue the Lord thanks for his benefites. 2 Read. 2. CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reprovved because he sheweth his treasures vnto the ambassadours of Babylon.

At the same time, Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, king of Babel, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah: for hee had heard that he had beene sicke, and was recouered.

2 And Hezekiah was glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and al the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdom that Hezekiah shewed them not.

3 Then came Iſaiah the Prophet vnto king Hezekiah, and sayd vnto him, What said theſe men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel.

4 Then said he, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures that I haue not shewed them.

5 And Iſaiah said to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hostes, 6 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue laid vp in store vntill this day, shall be caried to Babel: nothing shall be left, saith the Lord.

7 And of thy sonnes, that shall procede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall be eunuches in the palace of the king of Babel.

8 Then said Hezekiah to Iſaiah, The word of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he said, Yet let there be peace, and truth in my dayes.

CHAP. XL.

Remission of sinnes by Christ. 3 The coming of Iohn Baptist. 18 The Prophet reproveth the idolaters and them that trust not in the Lord.

Comfort ye, comfort yee my people, will your God say.

2 Speake comfortably to Ierusalem, and cry vnto her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for she hath receiued of the Lords hand double for all her sinnes.

3 A voice crieth in the wilderness, Prepare yee the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God.

4 Euery valley shall be exalted, and euery mountaine and hill shall be made lowe: and the crooked shall be streight, and the rough places plaine.

5 And the glory of the Lord shall be reuealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

6 A voice said, Crie. And hee said, What shall I crie? All flesh is grasse, and all the grace thereof is as the floure of the field.

7 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse.

8 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand for euer.

9 O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voice with strength: lift it vp, be not afraid: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Behold your God.

10 Behold, the Lord God will come with when Iohn the Baptist brought tidings of Iesus Christs coming, who was the true deliuerer of his Church from sinne and Satan, Matth. 3. 3. g Whatſoeuer may let or hinder this deliuerance, shall be remooued. h This miracle shall be so great, that it shall be known through all the world. i The voice of God which spake to the Prophet Iſaiah. k Meaning all mans wisdom and naturall powers. 1 am. 1. 10. 1. pet. 1. 24. l The Spirit of God shall discouer the vanitie in al that seeme to haue any excellencie of themselves. m Though considering the frailtie of mans nature, many of the Iewes should perih, and so not be partakers of this deliuerance, yet Gods promise should be fulfilled, and they that remained, should fee the fruit thereof. n To publish this benefite through all the world. o He sheweth at one word the perfection of all mans felicitie, which is to haue Gods presence, power a This is a consolation for the Church, assuring them that they shall be neuer destitute of Prophets, whereby he exhorteth the true ministers of God that then were, and those also that should come after him, to comfort the poore afflicted, and to assure them of their deliuerance both of body and soule.

q He shall shew his care and favour over them that are weak and tender.

r Declaring that as God onely hath all power, so doth he vse the same for the defence & maintenance of his Church.

s He sheweth Gods infinite wisdom for the same ends and purpose.

t He speaketh all this to the intent that they should neither feare man, nor put their trust in any, save onely in God.

u Hereby he admonisheth them against the idolatry, wherewith they should be tempted in Babylon.

x He sheweth the rage of the idolaters, seeing that the poore that have not to suffice their own necessities, will defraud themselves to serve their idoles.

y Haue ye not the word of God which plainly condemneth idolatry?

z Can ye not learne by the visible creatures whom God hath made to serve your vse, that you should not serve them nor worship them?

12 Who hath measured the waters in his fist? and couered heauen with the sparine, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? & weighed the mountaines in a weight, and the hilles in a ballance?

13 Who hath instructed the Spirit of the Lord? or was his counsellor, or taught him?

14 Of whome tooke hee counsell, and who instructed him? and taught him in the way of iudgement? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding?

15 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the ballance, behold, he taketh away the Iles as a little dust.

16 And Lebanon is not sufficient for fire, nor the beasts thereof sufficient for a burnt offering.

17 All nations before him are as nothing, and they are counted to him lesse then nothing and vanitie.

18 To whom then will ye liken God? or what similitude wil ye set vp vnto him?

19 The workman melteth an image? or the goldsmith beateth it out in golde, or the goldsmith maketh siluer plates.

21 Know yee nothing? haue yee not heard it? hath it not bene tolde you from the beginning? haue yee not vnderstood it by the foundation of the earth?

22 Hee sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grasshoppers, he stretcheth out the heauens as a curtaine, and spreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in.

23 He bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie.

24 As though they were not planted, as though they were not sown, as though their stocke tooke no root in the earth: for he did euen a blow vpon them and they withered, and the whirlwind will take them away as stubble.

25 To whom now will ye liken me, that I should be like him, sayth the Holy one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, and bringeth out their armies by number, and calleth them all by names? by the greatnesse of his power and might, strength nothing faileth.

27 Why sayest thou, O Iakob, and speakest, O Israel, My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer my God?

28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euermolting God, the Lord hath created the ends of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is wearie: there is no searching of his vnderstanding.

29 But hee giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, he increaseth power.

30 Euen the young men shall faint, and be wearie, and the young men shall stumble & fall.

31 But they that wait vpon the Lord, shall renew their strength: they shall lift vp the wings as the eagles: they shall runne, and not be wearie, and they shall walke, and not faint.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Gods mercie in helping his people. 6 Their idolatry. 27 Deliverance promised to Zion.

Keep silence before me, O Ilands, and let the people renew their strength: let them come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

2 Who rayfed vp iustice from the East, and called him to his foote? and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the Kings? hee gaue them as dust to the sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bowe.

3 Hee pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feet.

4 Who hath wrought and done it? he that calleth the generations from the beginning, I the Lord am the first, and with the last I am the same.

5 The Iles saw it, and did feare, and the ends of the earth were abashed, drewe neere, and came.

6 Euery man helped his neighbour, and said to his brother, Be strong.

7 So the workman comforted the fowder, and hee that smote with the hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is ready for the sodering, and hee fastened it with nailes, that it should not bee moued.

8 ¶ But thou, Israel, art my seruant, and thou Iakob, whome I haue chosen, the seede of Abraham my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the ends of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, & said vnto thee, Thou art my seruant I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not afraid, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, and helpe thee, and wil susteine thee with the right hand of my iustice.

11 Behold, all they that prouoke thee, shall be ashamed, and confounded: they shall be as nothing, and they that strue with thee, shall perish.

12 Thou shalt seeke them and shalt not finde them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shalbe as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lord thy God will holde thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.

d And therefore all power is in his hand, to deliuer when his time cometh.

f Considering mine excellent workes among my people.

g They assembled themselves, and conspired against me to maintain their idolatry.

h He noteth the obstinacie of the idolaters to maintain their superstitions.

i And therefore oughtest not to pollute thy selfe with the superstition of the Gentiles.

k That is, by the force of my promise in the performance wherof I will shew my selfe faithful and iust.

l Because they shalbe destroyed.

14 Feare not, thou worme, Iakob, and yemen of Israel: I will helpe thee, sayeth the Lord and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make thee a roller, and a new threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh theⁿ mountaines, and bring them to powder, and shalt make the hills as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt fagge them, and the winde shall cary them away, and the whirlewind shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glory in the holy one of Israel.

17 When^o the poore and the needie seeke water, and there is none (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them.)

18 I will open riuers in the tops of the hills, and fountaines in the mids of the valleys: I will make the wildernesses as a poole of water, and the waste land as springs of water.

19 I will set in the wilderness the cedar, the Shittah tree, and the myrre tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wilderness the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together.

20 Therefore let them see and know, and let them consider and vnderstand together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy One of Israel hath created it.

21 Stand to your cause, sayth the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, sayth the king of Iakob.

22 Let them bring them forth, and let them telvs what shall come: let them shew the former things what they be, that we may consider them, and know the latter end of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that wee may know that you are gods: yea, doe good or doe euil, that we may declare it, and behold it together.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning, that wee may know? or beforetime, that wee may say, He is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth^y your wordes.

27 I am the first that sayth to Zion, Behold, behold^r them: and I will giue to Ierusalem a one that shall bring good tidings.

28 But when^b I beheld, there was none, and when I inquired of them, there was no counsellor, and when I demanded of them, they answered not a word.

¶ That is, the Iudaice, which returne from the captiuitie. a To wit, a continuall succession of Prophets and Ministers. b When I looked whether the idoles could doe these things, I found that they had neither wisdom nor power to do any thing: therefore he concludeth that all are wicked, that trust in such vanitie.

29 Behold, they are all vanity: their worke is of nothing, their images are winde and confusion.

CHAP XLII.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Christ. 6 Why he was sent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

Behold, a my seruant: b I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule^r delighteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shall bring forth iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He shall not^r cry, nor lift vp, nor cause his voice to be heard in the streete.

3 A bruised reede shall he not breake, and the smoking flaxe shall he not quench: hee shall bring forth iudgement in^r truth.

4 He shall not faile nor be discouraged till he haue^r set iudgement in the earth: and the kyles shall wait for his law.

5 Thus saith God the Lord: (he that created the heauens & spread them abroad: he that stretched forth the earth, and the buds thereof: he that giuerh breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in^r righteousness, and will hold^m thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a^r couenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles,

7 That thou mayest open the eyes of the blinde: and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darknesse, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my glory will I not giue to another: neither my praise to grauen images.

9 Behold, the former things are^r come to passe, and new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth: yee that goe downe to the Sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderness and the cities thereof lift vp^r their voice, the townes that^r Kedar doth inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rocks sing, let them shout from the top of the mountaines.

12 Let them giue glorie vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the ylands.

13 The Lord shall goe forth as a^r gyant: he shal stirre vp^r his courage like a man of warre he shal shout and cry, and shall preuaile against his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene still and refrained my selfe: now will I cry like a^r trauailing woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once.

15 I will make waste mountaines, and hills, a That is, Christ, who in respect of his manhood is called here seruant. The Prophets vnto make mention of Christ after that they haue declared any great promise, because he is the foundation whereupon all the promises are made and ratified. b For I haue committed all my power to him, as to a most faithfull steward. So in a roade, I will establish him: to wit, in his office by giuing him the fulnesse of my Spirit. c Hee only is acceptable vnto mee, and they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other means of reconciliation. d He shall declare himselfe gouernour over the Gentiles, and call them by his word, and rule them by his spirit.

e His coming shall not be with pompe and noise, as earthly princes. f Hee will not hurt the weake and feeble, but support and comfort them. g Meaning, the wicke of a lampe or candle which is almost out, but he will cherish it and snuffe it, that it may shine bright.

h Although hee fauour the weake, yet will he not spare the wicked, but will iudge them according to truth and equitie. i Till he haue set all things in good order.

13. The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he fashioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he purteth it with the compasse, & maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beaurie of a man that it may remaine in an house.

14. He will hew him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oake, and taketh courage among the trees of the Forrest: hee planteth a firre tree, and the raine doth nourish it.

15. And man burneth thereof: for hee will take thereof, and warme himselfe: he also kindleth it and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worshippeth it: he maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16. He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he rosteth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe, and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17. And the residue thereof hee maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, & worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and saith, Deliu- er me: for thou art my God.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliverance of the people of Cyrus. 9 God winneth in all his works. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

THUS saith the Lord vnto Cyrus his anointed, whose right hand I haue holden to subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loines of kings, & open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will goe before thee & make the crooked straight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darknesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou mayest know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iakob my seruants sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name and name thee, though thou hast not known me.

5 I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God beside mee: I girded thee though thou hast not known me,

6 That they may know from the rising of the sunne, and from the West, that there is none beside me: I am the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the light and create darknesse: I make peace and create euil: I the Lord do all these things.

8 Ye heauens, send the dewe from aboue, a To assure the Iewes of their deliverance against the great tentations that they should abide he nameth the person and the means.

b Because Cyrus should execute the office of a deliverer, God called him his anointed for a time, but after another sort, then he called David.
c To guide him in the deliverance of my people.
d I will take away all impediments and lets.
e Not that Cyrus did knowe God to worship him aright, but hee had a certaine particular knowledge, as prophane men may haue of his power, and so was compelled to deliver Gods people.
f Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthinesse.

9 I haue giuen thee strength, power, and authoritie. h If find peace and warre, prosperitie, and auersitie, as Amos. 3. 6.

and let the cloudes drop downe righteousness: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice grow forth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lord haue created him.

9 Woe be vnto him that strueth with his maker, the potter and with the potterds of the earth: shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, I haue none hands?

10 Woe vnto him that saith to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?

11 Thus saith the Lord, the holy one of Israel, and his maker, Aske thee of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the works of mine hands: command you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose handes haue spread out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their armie.

13 I haue raised Phin vp in righteousness, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build my citie, and he shall let goe my captiues, not for price nor reward, saith the Lord of hosts.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the merchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabaeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall be thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verily thou, O God, hast hidest thy selfe, O God, the Saviour of Israel.

16 All they shall be ashamed, and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israel shall be saved in the Lord, with an euermlasting saluation: ye shall not be ashamed nor confounded world without end.

18 For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be inhabited) I am the Lord, and there is none other.

19 I haue not spoken in secret, neither in a place of darknesse in the earth: I saide not in vaine vnto the feede of Iakob, Seeke you me, I the Lord doe speake righteousness, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: drawe neere together, ye abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idolole, and pray vnto a god that cannot saue them.

21 Tell yee and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath tolde it of olde? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other.

horteth the Iewes to patience, though their deliverance be deferred for a time: they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shall be destroyed. u To wit, of man, but chiefly of his Church. x As doe the false gods, which giue vncertaine answers. y All ye idolaters which though you feare to haue neuer so much worldly dignitie, yet in Gods sight you are vile and abiection.

i He comforteth the Iewes, and the world. k Though when ye looke to the heauens and earth, for accompt, ye see nothing newe, yet the signes of Gods wrath, yet I will cause them to bring forth euill, as a token of your delinquence, and of the performance of my promise, which is meant by righteousness. l I haue appointed Cyrus to this vnto and purpose. m Hereby hee sheweth their impietie, which in aduersitie and trouble murmure against God, and will not say his pleasure: willing that man should march with his like, and not contend against God. n That is, it is not perty made. o In stead of murmuring, humble your selues, and see what ye will for the consolation of my children, and you shall be sure of it, as ye are of these things which are at your commandement. Some read it with an interrogation, and make it the application of the similitude. p That is, the starres. q To wit, Cyrus, that I may shew by him the faithfulness of my promise in delivering my people. r Meaning, freely and without rancome or any grievous condition. s These people were tributaries to the Persians, and to king Artabastus giue this money toward the building of the Temple. t Whereas before they were thine enemies, they shall now honour thee, and thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in the time of Christ. u Hereby hee comforteth the Iewes to patience, though their deliverance be deferred for a time: they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shall be destroyed. x As doe the false gods, which giue vncertaine answers. y All ye idolaters which though you feare to haue neuer so much worldly dignitie, yet in Gods sight you are vile and abiection.

God beside me, a just God, and a Saviour: there is none beside me.

22 Looke vnto me, and yee shall be saved:
all the ends of the earth shall be saved: for I am God: and there is none other.

23 I haue sinned by my selfe: the word is gone out of my mouth in righteousnesse, and shall not returne, That euery knee shall bow vnto me, and euery tongue shall sweare by me.

24 Surely he shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousnesse and strength: he shall come vnto him, and all that haue provoked him, shall be ashamed.

25 The whole seede of Israel shall be iustified and glory in the Lord.

26 I haue sinned by my selfe: the word is

2 Hearke me, ye stubborne hearted, that are farre from iustice:

3 I bring neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie: for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glory vnto Israel.

4 CHAP. XLVII.
Come downe and sit in the dust: O virgin, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no throne, O daughter of the Caldeans: for thou shalt no more bee called tender and delicate.

5 Take the mill stones, and grind meale:
loose thy lockes: I make bare thy feete: vncouer the legges, and passe through the floods:

6 Thy filthinesse shall be discouered, and thy shame shall be seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meeete thee as a man.

7 Our Redemer, the Lord of hosts is his Name, the Holy one of Israel.

8 Sit still, and get thee into darknesse, O daughter of the Caldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The ladie of kingdomes.

9 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou didst shew them no mercie, but thou diddest lay thy very heauy yoke vpon the ancient.

10 And thou saydest, I shall be a lady for e-uer, so that thou diddest not let thy minde to these things, neither diddest thou remember the latter end thereof.

11 Therefore now heare, thou that art gi-uen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse, Shee saith in her heart, I am, and none els: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall know the losse of children.

12 But these two things shall come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children and widowhood: they shall come vpon thee in their perfection, for the multitude of thy diui-nations, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

13 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednes:
thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebell, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

14 Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof:

destruction shall fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, or thou beware.

15 Stand now among thine enchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whome thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayest haue profic, or if so be thou mayest haue strength.

16 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starre ga-zers, and prognosticators stand vp, & saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee.

m They shall utterly perish, and no part of them remaine. n They shall see every one to that place, which hee thought by his speculations to be most sure: but that shall deceive them.

a He detesteth their hypocricie which vaunted themselves to be Israelites, and were not so in deede. b Meaning the fontaine and flocks. c They make a shew as though they would have none other God. d He sheweth that they could not accuse him in any thing, for as much as he had performed whatsoever hee had promised. e I have done for the more then I promised, that thy stubbornnesse and impudencie might have been overcome. f How thou shouldst be delivered out of Babylon. g Will yee not acknowledge this my benefite. h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doeth not declare all things at once, lest they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisdom. i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt: for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church. k As it was my free mercie that I did chuse thee so is it my free mercie that must save thee. l For I had respect to thy weaknesse and infirmities: for in siluer there is some purenesse, but in vs there is nothing but drosse. m I tooke thee out of the furnace where thou shouldst have been consumed. n God ioyneth the saluation of his with his owne honour: so that they can not perish, but his glory should be diminished, as Deut 32.27. o Reade Chap. 41.8. p Reade Chap. 41.4.

14 Behold, they shall bee as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliver their owne liues from the power of the flame: there shall bee no coales to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shall they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euen thy merchants from thy youth: every one shall wander to his owne quarter, none shall save thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocricie of the Iewes is reprobable. 20 Of thy deliuerance out of Babylon.

HEare ye this, O house of Iakob, which are called by the name of Israel, and are come out of the waters of Iudah: which swear by the Name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousness.

2 For they are called of the holy cite, and stay themselves vpon the God of Israel, whose Name is the Lord of hosts.

3 I have declared the former things of olde, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew, that thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy brow brasie,

5 Therefore I have declared it to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idol hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, behold all this, and will not yee declare it? I have shewed thee newe things, euen now, and hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardest them not, least thou shouldest say, Behold, I knewe them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of old: for I knew that thou wouldest grievously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressor from the wombe.

9 For my Names sake will I deferre my wrath, and for my praise will I refraine it from thee, that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue fined thee, but not as siluer: I haue chosen thee in the furnace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I doe it: for how should my Name be polluted? surely I will not giue my glory vnto another.

12 Hearc mee, O Iakob and Israel, my called, I am, I am the first and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens: when I call them, they stand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, and heare: which among them hath declared these things? the Lord hath loved him: he will do his will in Babel, and his arme shall bee against the Chaldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, and his way shall prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare yee this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee to profite, and leade thee by the way that thou shouldest goe.

18 Oh that thou haddest hearkened to my commandements: then had thy prosperitie been as the flood, and thy righteousness as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy seed also had been as the sand, and the fruit of thy body like the grauell thereof: his name should not haue been cut off nor destroyed before me.

20 Go yee out of Babel: flee yee from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ioy: tell and declare this: shewe it forth to the end of the earth: say yee, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iakob.

21 And they were not thirftie: he led them through the wilderness: he caused the waters to flow out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the waters gushed out.

22 There is no peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleue his promises. 6 Christ is the saluation of all that beleue, and will deliver them from the tyranny of their enemies.

HEare ye me, O Iles, and hearken, ye people from farre. The Lord hath called me from the wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2 And hee hath made my mouth like a sharpe sword: vnder the shadow of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, and hid me in his quier,

3 And said vnto me, Thou art my seruant, Israel, for I will be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5 And now saith the Lord, that formed me from the wombe to be his seruant, that I may bring Iakob againe to him (though Israel protection and defence: this chiefly is meant of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his word. e By Israel is meant Christ, & all the body of the faithful, the members & their head. f Thus Christ in his members complaineth his labors & preaching take none effect, yet he is comforted that his doings are approved of God.

g To obey me, and to do what I command them.

h Meaning, Cyrus, whom he had chosen to destroy Babylon.

i Since the time that I declared my selfe to your fathers. k Thus the prophesie speaketh for himselfe, and to assure them of these things. l What things shall doe thee good.

m That is the prosperitie of Israel. n After that he had forewarned them of their capriciousness, and of the cause thereof, he sheweth them the great ioy, that shall come of their deliuerance.

o He sheweth that it shall be as easie to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt. p Thus he speaketh that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as Chap 37. 31.

a This is spoken in the person of Christ to assure the faithful, that these promises should come to passe for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.

b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Psal. 2.7. c By the sword and shaft, he signifies the verue and efficacy of Christs doctrine. d God hath taken me to his quier, which are after called by the word of God and governed by his spirit.

6 And he said, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my servant, to raise vp the tribes of Iacob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my saluation vnto the end of the world.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his Holy one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a seruant of rulers, Kings shall see, and arise, and princes shall worship, because of the Lord, that is faithful: and the Holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lord, In an acceptable time I haue heard thee: and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will preserve thee, and will giue thee for a covenant of the people, that thou mayest raise vp the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heathenages:

9 That thou mayest say to the prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in darknesse, Shew your selues: they shall feede in the wayes, and their pastures shall be in all the tops of the hills.

10 They shall not be hungry, neither shall they be thirstie, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne: for he that hath compassion on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them.

11 And I will make all my mountaines, as a way, and my pathes shall be exalted.

12 Behold, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North and from the West, and these from the land of Sinim.

13 Reioyce, O heauens, and be ioyfull, O earth: braist forth into praise, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her child, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine hands: thy wals are euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about and behold: all these gather themselues together, and come to thee: as I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely put them all vpon thee as a garment, and gird thyselfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee, shall be farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten me these, seeing I am barren, and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? and who hath nourished them? behold, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lift vp mine hand to the Gentiles, and set vp my standard to the people: and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes: and thy daughters shall be caried vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings shall be thy noursing fathers, and Queenes shall be thy nourses: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and lick vp the dust of thy feet: and thou shalt know that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the pray be taken from the mighty? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lord, Euen the captiuitie of the mighty shall be taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children, 26 And I will feede them that spoyle thee, with their owne flesh, and they shall be drunken with their owne blood, as with sweet wine: and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy Sauour and thy redeemer, the mightie one of Iacob.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of Gods is not diminished. 3 Christs obedience and victory.

Thus saith the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditor to whom I sold you? Behold, for your iniquities are yee sold, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore came I, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand so shortned, that it cannot help? or haue I no power to deliuer? Behold, at my rebuke I drie vp the sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotte for want of water, and die for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darknesse, and make a sacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen mee a tongue of the learned, that I should knowe to minister a word in time to him that is wearie: hee will raise me vp in the morning: in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare, as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

God true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heaven.

m You have sought consolation by your own devices, and have refused the light and consolation, which God hath offered: therefore yee shall remain in sorrow, and not be comforted.

6 I gae my backe vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face for shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I sent my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 Hee is neere that iustifieth me: who will contend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come neere to me.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe mee: who is hee that can condemne mee? loe, they shall waxe old as a garment: the moth shall eate them vp.

10 Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voice of his seruant: he that walketh in darknesse, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kinde a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that yee haue kindled. This shal ye haue of mine hand: yee shall lie downe in sorrow.

CHAP. LI.

1 Trust in God alone by Abraham's example. 2 Not to feare men. 3 The great affliction of Ierusalem. 22 And her deliverance.

HEARE me, ye that follow after righteousness, and ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the rocke, whence yee are hewen, and to the hole of the pit whence yee are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shal comfort Zion: hee shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert like Eden, and her wilderness like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladnesse shall bee found therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue eare vnto me, O my people: for a law shal proceede from mee, and I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My righteousness is neere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine armes shall iudge the people: the Iles shal waite for me, and shal trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shal waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwel therein, shal perish in like manner, but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousness shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, yee that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eate them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like wooll: but my righteousness shall bee for e-uer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp as in the olde time in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dried the sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euerslasting ioy shall bee vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioy and gladnesse: and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

12 I, euen I am hee, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldst feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shalbe made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, and laid the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue hastneth to be loosed, and that hee should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided the sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

16 And I haue put my words in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant the heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Ierusalem, which hast drunke at the hand of the Lord the Cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whom she hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp.

19 These two things are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation and destruction and famine, and the sword: by whome shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the streets as a wild bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and drunken, but not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, euen the dregges of the cup of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that spoyle thee: which haue said to thy soule, Bow downe, q Whereof the one is outward, as of the things that come to the bodie: as warre and famine: and the other is inward, and appeareth to the mind: that is, to be without comfort: therefore he saith, how shalt thou be comforted? r But with trouble and feare.

1 Moe of the Gentiles shall beleue the Gospel then of the Jewes. 7 God leaueh by for a time, to whom afterward he sheweth mercie.

a After that he hath declared the death of Christ, he speaketh to the Church because it should feele the fruit of the same and call it her barren, because that in the capacitie it was as a widow without hope to haue any children.

b The Church in this her affliction, and captiuitie shall bring forth moe children then when she was at libertie or this may be spoken by admiration, considering the great number that should come out of her. Her deliuerance vnder Christ was as her childhood, and therefore this was accomplished, when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospel. c Signifying that for the great number of children that God should giue her, she should seeme to want room to lodge them.

e When as thou wast refused for thy finnes, Chap. 50. 1.

f That did regenerate thee by his holy Spirit.

g His glory shall shine through the whole world, which seemed before to be shut vp in Iudea.

h As a wife which wast forsaken in thy youth.

i As sure as the promise that I made to Noah, that the waters should no more ouerflow the earth.

k Hereby he declareth the excellent estate of the Church vnder Christ.

l Or, asper or puerle.

m By the hearing of his word and inward moouing of his Spirit,

Retoyce, O barren that didst not beare: breake forth into ioy, and reioyce, thou that diddest not travaile with child: for the desolate hath more children then the married wife, saith the Lord.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtaines of thine habitations: spare not, stretch out thy cords and make fast thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seed shall possesse the Gentiles, as dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou bee confounded: for thou shalt not bee put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy widowhood any more.

5 For I, that made thee, a thine husband (whose Name is the Lord of hostes) and thy Redeemer, he holy One of Israel, shall be called the God of the whole world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, and as a young wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a little while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with everlasting mercie haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy Redeemer.

9 For this is vnto mee as the waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angrie with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shall remooue and the hilles shall fall downe: but my mercie shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with carbuncles, and lay thy foundation with sapphires, 12 And I will make thy windowes of jaspers, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall be taught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children.

14 In righteousness shalt thou bee established, and be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it, and from feare: for it shall not come neere thee.

m In stabilitie and surenesse, so that it shall stand for ever.

15 Behold, the enemy shall gather himselfe, but without me: who focuseth shall gather himselfe in thee, against thee, shall fall.

16 Behold, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper, and every tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruants, and their righteousness is of me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are better than mans.

HO, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and yee that haue no siluer, come, buy and eate: come, I say, buy wine, and milke without siluer and without money.

2 Wherefore doe yelay out siluer and not for bread? and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto mee, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delight in fatnesse.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto me: heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, euen the sure mercies of Dauid.

4 Behold, I gaue him for a witnesse to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people.

5 Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knew not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the holy one of Israel: for hee hath glorified thee.

6 Seeke yee the Lord while hee may be found: call yee vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he will haue mercie vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgive.

8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, saith the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughts about your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So shall my word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

I Although you are not soone reconciled one to another and in good measure, yet I am most easie to be reconciled, yea I offer my mercies to you. If these small things haue their effect, as daily experience sheweth, much more shall my promise which I haue made and confirmed, bring to passe the things which I haue spoken for your deliuerance.

And therefore shall not preuaile. o Meaning the domesticall enemies of the Church, as are the hypocrites. p Signifying hereby that man can do nothing but to farre as God giueth power: for seeing that all are his creatures, hee must needs gouerne and guide them.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An euertlasting ioy, indigence and iustice. 10 Against the wicked that deuoure their flocke.

Thus saith the Lord, ¹ Keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my^b righteousnesse to bee reuealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which laith hold on it: hee that keepeth the^s Sabbath & pollutech it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which^d is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separate mee from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a drie tree.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuch, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take hold of my couenant.

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine^o House, and within my walles, a place and a name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euertlasting name, that shall not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, & to loue the Name of the Lord, and to bee his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and pollutech it not and imbracech my couenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy Mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine House of prayer: their burnt^s offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine altar: for mine house shall be called an house of prayer for^h all people.

8 The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.

9 All ye^s beasts of the field, come to deuoure, euen all ye beasts of the forest.

10 Their^k watchmen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumbe dogs: they cannot barke: they lie and sleepe and delight in sleepe.

11 And these greedie dogs can neuer haue enough: and these shepherds cannot vnderstand: for they all looke to their owne way, euerie one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.

plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations, which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that he should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters, 9 And their vaine confidence.

The righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, & no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away^a from the euill to some.

3 But you^c witches children, come hither, the seed of the adulterer and of the whore.

4 On whom haue ye iested? vpon whom haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, and a false seed?

5 Inflamed with idoles vnder every green tree? and sacrificing the^d children in the valleys vnder the toppes of the rockes?

6 Thy portion is in the smoothe stones^e of heriuier: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delire in these?

7 Thou hast made thy^s bed vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

8 Behind the^h doores also & postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discovered thy selfe to another then mee, and wentest vp, and diddest enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betwene thee and them, and loudest their bedde in euery place where thou sawest it.

10 Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifold iourneys, yet saidest thou not, There is no hope: thou^m hast found life by thine hand, therefore thou wast not grieved.

11 And whom diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hastⁿ lied on mee, and hast not remembred mee, neither set thy minde thereon? is it not because I hold my peace, and that of long^o time? therefore thou fearest not mee.

2 Yet they seeke mee daily, and will knowe my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of Iustice: they will drawe neere vnto God, saying,

3 Wherefore haue wee fasted, and thou seekest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Behold, in the day of your fast you will seeke your will, and require all your debts.

4 Behold ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse, yee shall not fast as yee doe to day, to make your voyce to be heard aboue.

5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bow down his head, as a bullrush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting, that I haue chosen, to loose the bands of wickednesse, to take off the heavy burden, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that ye breake euery yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, & hide not thy selfe frome thine owne flesh?

8 Then shall thy light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shall grow speedily: thy righteousness shall goe before thee, and the glorie of the Lord shall embrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answer: thou shalt crie, and he shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the mids of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou poure out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the darkenesse, and thy darkenesse shall be as the noone day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall be of thee, that shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repairer of the breach, and the restorer of the pathes to dwell in.

13 If thou turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, & call the Sabbath a delight, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne waies, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, 14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lord, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Iacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

the spiders^e web: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webs shall be no garment, neither shall they couer themselves with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their hands.

7 Their feete runne to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: wholoener goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 Therefore is ^f iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth ^f iustice come neere vnto vs, wee wait for light, but loe it is darknes: for brightnesse, but we walke in darknesse.

10 We grope for the wall like the ^b blind, and we grope as one without eyes: wee stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like ⁱ beares, and mourne like doves: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our ^k sinnes testifye against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and wee know our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and wee haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceiuing and vttering out of the heart false matters.

14 Therefore ^m iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre off: for truerh is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter.

15 Yea, truth faileth, and he that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe ^a a pray: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when he saw that there was no man, hee wondred that none would offer himselfe. Therefore his arme did ^p saue it, and his righteousnesse it selfe did sustaine it.

17 For hee put on righteousness, as an habergion, and an ^q helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloake.

18 As to make recompense, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompense to his enemies: hee will fully repay the ^r I-lands.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the Sunne: for the enemy shall ^c come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chafe him away.

20 And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto ^t them that turne from iniquity in Iakob, sayth the Lord.

21 And I will make this my couenant with them, sayth the Lord, My spirit that is vpon thee, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seede of thy seed, saith the Lord, from henceforth euen for euer.

CHAP. LX.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 18 They shall haue abundance, though they suffer for a time.

A Rise, O Ierusalem: bee bright, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For behold, darknesse shall couer the earth, and grosse darknesse the people: but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall be seene vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in ^c thy light, and Kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold: all ^d these are gathered, and come to thee, thy sons shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall be nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shall be astonied and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

6 The ^f multitude of camels shall couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring gold and incense, and shewe forth the praises of the Lord.

7 All the sheepe of ^g Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rammes of Nebaioth shall serue thee: they shall come vp to be accepted vpon mine ^h altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

8 Who are these ⁱ that flee like a cloude, and as the doves to their windowes?

9 Surely the Iles shall waite for me, & the ships ^k of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sons from farre, and their siluer, and their gold with them, vnto the name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shall build vp thy walles, and their ^l Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and the ^m kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shall be vtterly destroyed.

13 The Gentiles that are now enemies, shall become friends and setters forth of the Church. 1 Meaning Cyrus and his successors, but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ, being conuerted by his Gospel. m Hee sheweth that God hath giuen all power & authoritie here in earth for the vie of his Church: and that they which will not serue and profit the same, shall be destroyed.

u Because the doctrine is made profitable by the verue of the Spirit, he ioyneth the one with the other, & promisseth to giue them both to his Church for euer.

a The time of thy prosperity and felicitie: whereas speaking of Babylon, he commanded her to goe downe, Chap. 47. 1.

n There is nothing so excellent which shall not serve the necessity of the Church.

o Signifying, that Gods maiesty is not included in the Temple, which is but the place for his feet, that we may learn to rise up to the heavens.

p To worship their head Christ by obeying his doctrine.

q Both his and low shall be ready to help and succour thee.

r Thy governors shall love thee and seeke thy wealth and prosperitie.

s Meaning, not a temporal felicity, but a spiritual, which is fulfilled in Christs kingdom.

t Signifying, that all worldly means shall cease, and that Christ shall be all in all, as Rev. 21. 22. & 22. 5.

u The children of the Church.

x Meaning, that the Church should be miraculously multiplied.

* Luke 4. 18.

a This appertaineth to all the Prophets & ministers of God, but chiefly to Christ, of whose abundant graces every one receiveth according as it pleaseth him to distribute.

b To them that are lively touched with the feeling of their sinnes.

g Trees that bring forth good fruits, as Math. 3. 8.

13 Theⁿ glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuary: for I will glorifie the place of my^o feete.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bow vnto thee: and al they that despised thee, shall fall down at the soles of thy feet: and they shall call thee, The citie of the Lord, Zior, of the holy one of Israel.

15 Whereas thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a ioy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breasts of kings: and thou shalt know, that I the Lord am thy Saviour, and thy Redeemer, the mighty one of Iakob.

17 For brasie wil I bring gold, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasie, and for stones yron. I will also make thy Government peace, and thine exactours righteousness.

18 Violence shall no more bee heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call Saluation, thy walles, and Praise, thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightness of theⁿ moon shine vnto thee: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

20 Thy sunne shall neuer go downe, neither shall thy moone be hid: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and the daies of thy sorrow shall be ended.

21 Thy people also shall bee all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, theⁿ grasse of my planting shall bee the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become as aⁿ thousand, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

CHAP. LXI.

1 Hee prophesieth that Christ shall be anointed, and sent to preach. 10 The ioy of the faithfull.

Theⁿ spirit of the Lord God is^a vpon me, therefore hath the Lord annointed me: he hath sent mee to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to bind vp the^b broke hearted, to preach liberty, to the^c captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison,

2 To preach the^d acceptable yeere of the Lord, and the day of^e vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,

3 To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beauty for^f ashes, the oyle of ioy for mourning, the garment of gladnesse for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called streets of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.

4 And they shall build the olde wast places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the cities that were desolate and wast through many^h generations.

5 And the stranger shall stand and feede your sheep, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen and dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shall bee named^k the Priests of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: Ye shall eate the^l riches of the Gentiles, and shall bee exalted with their glory.

7 For your shame you shall receive^m double, and for confusionⁿ they shall reioyce in^o their portion: for in their land they shall possesse the^p double: euerlasting ioy shall be vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement, and hate robbery for burnt offering, and I will direct their worke in truth, and will make an euerlasting couenant with them.

9 And their seede shall be known among the Gentiles, and their buds among the people. All that see them, shall know them, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed.

10 I will greatly reioice in the Lord, and my soule shall bee ioyfull in my God: for hee hath clothed me with the garments of saluation, and couered me with the robe of righteousness: he hath decked me like a bridegroom, and as a bride tireth her selfe with her iewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth to grow that which is sown in it: so the Lord God will cause righteousness to grow, and praise before all the heathen.

For Zions sake I will not^a hold my tongue, and for Ieruselems sake I will not rest, vntill the righteousness thereof breake forth as the^b light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.

3 Thou shalt also bee a^d crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royal diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shall no more be said vnto thee, Forsaken, neither shall it be said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt bee called || Hephzi-bah, and thy land || Beulah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an^f husband.

Gods benefits towards his Church.

Who is this that commeth from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? he is glorious in his apparell, and walketh in his great strength. I speake in righteousness, and am mightie to saue.

2 Wherefore is thine apparell redde, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the winepresse?

3 I haue troden the winepresse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for I will tread them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foot in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the yeere of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore mine owne arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therefore I will tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will remember the mercies of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnes toward the house of Israel, which hee hath giuen them according to his tender loue, & according to his great mercies.

8 For hee said, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie: so hee was their Sauour.

9 In all their troubles hee was troubled, and the Angel of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercy hee redeemed them, and hee bare them and caried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled and vexed his holy spirit: therefore was hee turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.

11 Then hee remembered the olde time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the Sea with the shepheard of his sheepe? Where is hee that put his holy spirit within him?

12 Hee led them by the right hand of Moses: with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an everlasting Name.

13 He led them through the deepe, as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so didst thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

16 Doubtlesse thou art our father: though Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our Redeemer: thy Name is for ever.

17 O Lord, why hast thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance.

 I was found of them that sought me not: I sayd, Behold me, behold me, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

I have spread out mine hands all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, even after their owne imaginations.

A people that prouoked mee euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in gardens, and bur-neth incense vpon bricke.

Which remaine among the graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eat swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels.

Which say, Stand apart, come not neere to mee, for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath, and a fire that burn-eth all the day.

Behold, it is written before me: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it vnto their bosome.

Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers shall be together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mount-raines, and blasphemed me vpon the hills: therefore will I measure their old worke into their bosome.

Thus saith the Lord: As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a blessing is in it: so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

But I will bring a seede out of Iakob, taine: and mine elect shall inherite it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

And Sharon shall be a sheepfold, & the valley of Achor shall be a resting place for the cattell of my people, that haue sought me.

But yee are they that haue forsaken the Lord, and forgotten mine holy mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the multitude, and furnished the drinke offerings vnto the number.

Therefore will I number you to the sword, and all ye shall bowe downe to the slaughter, because I called, and yee did not an-swere: I spake, and yee heard not, but did euill in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

Therefore thus saith the Lord God, behold, my seruants shall eate, and yee shall bee hungry: behold, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall be thirstie: behold, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shall be ashamed.

Behold, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and ye shall crie for sorrow of heart, and shall howle for vexation of mind.

And ye shall leave your name as a curse vnto my chosen: for the Lord God shall slay you and call his seruants by another name.

He that shall blesse in the earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, & he that sweareth in earth, shall swear by the true God: for the former troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselves from mine eyes.

For loe, I will create new heauens and a new earth: and the former shall not be re-membred nor come into minde.

But bee you glad and reioyce for euer and by swearing, is meant the praising of God for his benefits, and the true worshipping of him which shall not be onely in Iudah, but thorow all the world. x I will no more suffer my Church to bee desolate as in times past. y I will to alter and change the state of my Church, that it shall seeme to dwell in a new world.

in the things that I shall create: for beholde, I will create Ierusalem, as a reioyting, and her people, as a ioy.

19 And I will reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioy in my people, and the voice of weeping shalbe no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

20 There shalbe no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an old man that hath not filled his dayes: for hee that shall be an hundred yeeres old, shall die as a yong man: but the sinner being an hundred yeeres old, shall be accursed.

21 And they shall build houses and inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, and eate the fruit of them.

22 They shall not build, and another inhabit: they shall not plant, and another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shal enioy in old age the worke of their hands.

23 They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the seed of the blessed of the Lord, and their buds with them.

24 Yea before they call, I will answer, and while they speake, I will heare.

25 The wolfe and the lambe shall feede together, and the lion shall eate straw like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shall bee his meate. They shall no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holy mountaine, saith the Lord.

CHAP LXXVI.

1 God dwelleth not in temples made with hands. 3 Hee despiseth sacrifices done without mercie and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetual Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked is everlasting.

Thus saith the Lord, * The heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footstool: where is that house that ye will build vnto me? and where is that place of my rest?

For all these things hath mine hand made, and all these things haue bene, saith the Lord: and to him will I looke, euen to him that is poore, and of a contrite spirit and trembleth at my words.

Hee that killeth a bullocke, is as if hee slew a man: he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if he cut off a dogges necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: he that remembereth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes, and their soule delighteth in their abominations.

Therefore will I chuse out their delusions, and I wil bring their feare vpon them: because I called, & none would answer: I spake, and they would not heare: but they did euil in my sight, and chose ythings which I would not.

11 That ye may sucke and be satisfied with the breasts of her consolation: that ye may milke out and be delighted with the brightnes of her glory.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I wil extend peace ouer her like a flood, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shalbe borne vpon her sides, and be ioyfull vpon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shalbe comforted in Ierusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your hearts shall reioyce, and your bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shalbe known among his seruants, and his indignation against his enemies.

15 For behold, the Lord wil come with fire, and his charrets like a whirlwind, that he may recompense his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Jeremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to bee he that found out the booke of the Law, and gave it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident reuelations of prophesie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very young to prophesie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued 18. yeere vnder the said King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres, vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fortie yeere, besides the time that he prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares and lamentation, the destruction of Ierusalem and the captiuitie of the people for their idolatrie, conuoufnesse, subtiltie, crueltie, excesse, rebellion and contempt of Gods word, and for the consolation of the Church, reueileth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First, the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubborn & obstinate, when the Prophets do admonish the most plainly of their destruction. Next, how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted & rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly, though God shew his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will he euer shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgment to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in preseruing his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Jeremiah prophesied. 6 Hee acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 Hee commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

THe wordes of Jeremiah the sonne of Hilkiah one of the Priests that were at Anathoth in the land of Benjamin. 2 To whome the word of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah, in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah vnto the end of the eleuenh yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem in captiue in the fift moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knew thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the nations.

6 Then said I, Oh, Lord God, behold, I cannot speake, for I am a child.

7 But the Lord said vnto me, Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt go to all I shall send thee, & whatsoever I comānd thee, shalt thou speak.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee, to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand and touched my mouth, & the Lord said vnto me, Behold, I haue put my words in thy mouth.

10 Behold, this day haue I set thee ouer the nations and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to root out, and to destroy & throw down, to build, and to plant.

11 After this, the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying, Jeremiah, what seest thou? And I said, I see a rod of an almond tree.

12 The Lord said vnto me, Thou hast seen aright: for I wil hasten my word to performe it.

13 Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I said, I see a seething pot looking out of the North.

true ministers, which by his word haue power to beate downe whatsoever lieth selfe vp against God: and to plant and assure the humble, and such as giue themselves to the obedience of Gods word, 1. Cor. 10. 4. hebr. 4. 12. and these are the keys which Christ hath left to loose and binde, Math. 18. 18. m. The ioynt the fig with the word for a more ample confirmation: signifying by the rod of the almond tree, which first buddeth, the hastie coming of the Babylonians against the Iewes. n Signifying, that the Caldeans, and Assyrians should be as a port to seeke the Iewes which boyled in their pleasures and lusts.

14 Then

a That is, the sermons and prophesies. b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of the law vnder king Iosiah, 2 King. 22. 8. c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the Priests, the sonnes of Aaron, Ios. 21. 18. d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: for as much as he did not presume of himselfe to preach and prophesie, but was called thereunto by God. e Meaning, the nephew of Iosiah. for Iehoiachin was his father, who reigned but three moneths, and therefore is not mentioned, no more is Iachin that reigned no longer. f Of the eleuenh yeere of Zedekiah, who was also called Mattaniah, and in this time the Iewes were caried away into Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar. g The scripture vseth this manner of speech to declare that God hath appointed his ministers to their offices before they were borne, as Isa. 40. 1 g. 1. 15. h For Jeremiah did not only prophesie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Meabites, and other nations.

i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatenings should come vpon the world, he was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pity them that should thus perish, & on the other side by the infirmities of mans nature, knowing how hard a thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Isa. 41. 1. exord. 3. 11. and 41. k Which declareth that God maketh them meeke and afflicteth them, who he calleth to his glory, giuing them all meanes necessary for the same, Exo. 4. 12. 1sa. 6. 7. l He sheweth what is the authority of Gods word, which by his word haue power to beate downe whatsoever lieth selfe vp against God: and to plant and assure the humble, and such as giue themselves to the obedience of Gods word, 1. Cor. 10. 4. hebr. 4. 12. and these are the keys which Christ hath left to loose and binde, Math. 18. 18. m. The ioynt the fig with the word for a more ample confirmation: signifying by the rod of the almond tree, which first buddeth, the hastie coming of the Babylonians against the Iewes. n Signifying, that the Caldeans, and Assyrians should be as a port to seeke the Iewes which boyled in their pleasures and lusts.

^h Meaning, that hypocrites deuis that they worship idoles, but they knowe God in them, and therefore they call their doings Gods seruice.

ⁱ He compareth the idolaters to these beasts, because they neuer cease running to and fro: for both valleys and hills are full of their idolatrie.

^k He compareth the idolaters to a wilde asse: for she can neuer be tamed, nor yet wearied: for as she runneth she can take her winde at euery occasion.

^l That is, when she is with foale: and therefore the hunters waite their time: so though thou canst not be turned backe now from thine idolatrie, yet when thine iniquitie shall be at the full, God will meete with thee.

^m Hereby hee warneth them that they should not goe into strange countreies to seeke helpe: for they should spend their labour, and hurt themselves, which is heere meant by the bare foote and thirst, Isa. 57. 10. ⁿ As a thiefe will not acknowledge his fault till he be taken with the deede, and readie to be punished, so they will not confesse their idolatrie, till the plagues due to the same light vpon them.

^o Meaning, that idolaters spoile God of his honour: & where as he hath taught to call him the Father of all flesh, they attribute this title to their idoles.

^p Thou thoughtest that thy gods of blockes and stones could haue holpen thee, because they were many in marked before me, saith the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I followed Baalim? behold thy wayes in the valley, and know, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes:

24 And as a wilde asse, vsed to the wilderness, that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not wearie themselves, but will find her in her moneth.

25 Keepe thou thy feet from barenesse, and thy throe from thirst: but thou saidest desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow.

26 As the thiefe is ashamed, when he is found, so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their Kings, their Princes and their Priests, and their Prophets, 27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my father, and to a stone; Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah.

29 Wherefore will ye pleade with me? ye all haue rebelled against me, saith the Lord.

30 I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your own sword hath deuoured your Prophets like a destroy-lion.

31 O generation, take heed to the word of the Lord: haue I bene as a wilderness vnto Israel? or a land of darknesse? Wherefore saith my people, ben, We are lords, we will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, dayes without number.

33 Why dost thou prepare thy way, to seeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee, that thy wayes are wickednesse.

34 Also in thy wings is found the blood of the foules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guiltlesse, surely his wrath shall turne from me: behold, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou sayest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy wayes? for thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, as thou art confounded of Assy-sur.

but now let vs see whether either the multitude, or their preience can deliuer thee from my plague, Chap. 11. 13. ^q As though I did you iniurie in punishing you, seeing that your faults are so euident. ^r That is, you haue killed your Prophets, that exhorted you to repentance, as Zechariah, Isaiah, &c. ^s Haue I not giuen them abundance of all things? ^t But will trust in our owne power and policie. ^x The Prophets and the faithfull are slaine in euery corner of your country. ^y For the Assyrians had taken away the ten tribes out of Israel, and destroyed Iudah, euen vnto Ierusalem: and the Egyptians slew Iosiah, and vexed the Iewes in sundry sort.

37 For thou shalt goe forth from thence, and thine hands vpon thine head, because the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

C H A P. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 34 Hee promisseth the restitution of his Church. 30 Hee reprobeth Iudah and Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

They say, If a man put away his wife, and shee goe from him, and become another mans, shal he returne againe vnto her? shal not this land be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many louers: yet turne againe to me, saith the Lord.

2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the high places, and behold, where thou hast not played the harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the wayes, as the Arabian in the wilderness: and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the showres haue bene restrained, and the latter raine came not, and thou haddest a whores forehead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.

4 Diddest thou not stil cry vnto me, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?

5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? will he refuse it to the end? thus hath thou spoken, but thou dost euill, euen more and more.

6 The Lord saide also vnto mee, in the dayes of Iosiah the King, Hast thou seene what this rebell Israel hath done? for she hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there played the harlot.

7 And I said, when she had done all this, Turne thou vnto mee: but she turned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah saw.

8 When I saw, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I cast her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraid, but she went also, and played the harlot.

9 So that for the lightnesse of her whoredome, shee hath euen defiled the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stocks.

10 Neuertheless for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

11 And the Lord said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath justified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Goe and cry these wordes toward the North, & say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But know thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast

As God threatened by his Law, Deut. 28. 24.

Thou wouldest neuer be ashamed of thine adles and repents: and this impudencie is common to idolaters, which will not give off, though they be neuer so manifestly convicted.

The Ebrewe word may rather signifie lightnesse and wantonnes, or noise & bruite.

Iudah sinned for a time that shee did returne, as vnder Iosiah and other good Kings, but she was neuer truly touched, or wholly reformed, as appeared when occasion was offered by any wicked prince.

Israel hath not declared herselfe so wicked as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions and examples to call her to repentance.

¹⁴ O ye disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion.

¹⁵ And I will giue you pastours according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

¹⁶ Moreover, when ye be increased and multiplied in the land, in those dayes, saith the Lord, they shall say no more, The Ark of the covenant of the Lords: for it shal come no more to mind, neither shal they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for that shalbe no more done.

¹⁹ But I said, How did I take thee for children and giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and said, Thou shalt call me, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me?

²⁰ But as a woman rebelleth against her husband: so haue ye rebelled against mee, O house of Israel, saith the Lord.

²¹ A voice was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerter their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

²² O ye disobedient children, returne and I will heale your rebellions. Behold, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

²³ Truly the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

²⁴ For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour from our youth, their sheepe and their bullocks, their sonnes and their daughters.

²⁵ We lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

¹ True repentance. ⁴ He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. ⁵ The destruction of Iudah is prophesied, for the malice of their hearts. ¹⁹ The Prophet lamenteth it.

³ For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem,

⁵ Declare in Iudah, and shew forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blow the trumpet in the land: cry, and gather together, & say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

⁶ Set vp the standard in Zion: prepare to flee, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

⁷ The Lyon is come, vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to lay the land waste, and chy cities shall be destroyed without an inhabitant.

¹⁰ Then said I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast deceiued this people and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shal haue peace, and the sword pierceth vnto the heart.

¹¹ At that time shal it be said to this people and to Ierusalem, A dry wind in the high places of the wilderness, cometh toward the daughter of my people, but neither to fanne nor to cleanse, ¹² A mighty wind shal come vnto me from those places, and now will I also giue sentence vpon them.

¹³ Behold, he shall come vp as the clouds, and his charrets shall be as a tempest: his hortes are lighter then eagles: woe vnto vs, for we are destroyed.

18 Thy wayes and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shalbe bitter, therefore it shal pierce vnto thine heart.

19 My belly, my belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard the sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole land is wasted: suddenly are my tents destroyed, & my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standerd, and heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is foolish, they haue not knowne me: they are foolish children, & haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and void: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines: and loe, they trembled, and all the hills shooke.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birds of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lord said, The whole land shall be desolate: yet will I not make a full end.

28 Therefore shall the earth moue, & the heauens aboue shalbe darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole citie shall flee, for the noise of the horsemen and bowmen: they shall goe into thicket, and climbe vp vpon the rockes: euery citie shalbe forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou shalt be destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou clovest thy selfe with skarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of gold, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee and seeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noise as of a woman traouailing, or as one labouring of her first child, euen the voyce of the daughter Zion that sigheth and stretcheth out her hands: woe is mee now: for my soule fainteth because of the murderers.

CHAP. V.

In Iudah no righteous man found neither among the people nor the rulers. 15 Wherefore Iudah is destroyed of the Caldeans.

RVnto and fro by the streetes of Ierusalem, and behold now, and know, and inquire in the open places thereof if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, & seeketh the truth, and I will spare it.

2 For though they say, The Lord liueth, yet doe they sweare falsly.

3 O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the truth? thou hast smitten them, but they haue not forrowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receive correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.

4 Therefore I said, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get me vnto the great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bonds.

6 Wherefore a Lion out of the forest shal slay them, and a Wolfe of the wilderness shal destroy them: a Leopard shal watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shalbe torne in peeces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased.

7 How should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken mee, and I sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adultery, and assembled themselves by companies in the harlots houses.

8 They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euery man neyed after his neighbours wife.

9 Shall I not visit for these things, saith the Lord? Shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Climbe vp vpon their wals, and destroy them, but make not a full end: take away their battlements, for they are not the Lords.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grievously trespassed against mee, saith the Lord.

12 They haue denied the Lord, and said, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sword nor famine.

13 And the Prophets shalbe as winde, and the word is not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake such words, behold, I will put my wordes into thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shalbe as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

15 Lo, I wil bring a nation vpon you from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mighty nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

16 Whose quiuer is as an open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

s Their wisdom and pollicie tend to their owne destruction, and pulleth them from God.

t By these manner of speeches he sheweth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the land, and also condemneth the obstinacie of the people, who repent not at the feare of these terrible tidings, seeing that the insensible creatures are moued therewith, as if the order of nature should be changed.

u But for his mercies sake he will reuerse himselfe a residue to be his Church, and to prayse him in earth.

x Neither thy ceremonies nor rich gifts shall deliuer thee.

y As the Prophets were moued to pittie the destruction of their people, so they declared it to the people to moue them to repentance.

b Though they pretend religion and holiness, yet all is but hypocrisie: for vnder this kinde of swearing is concealed the true religion.

18 Neuertheless, at those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will not make a full end of you.

19 And when ye shall say, Wherefore doeth the Lord our God do these things vnto vs? then shalt thou answer them, Like as ye haue forsaken me and serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land, that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iakob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, 21 Heare now this, O foolish people, and without vnderstanding, which haue eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not.

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Lord? or will ye not be afraid at my presence, which haue placed the sand for the bounds of the seaby the perpetual decree that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it.

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: he serueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the harvest.

25 Yet your iniquities haue turned away these things, & your sinnes haue hindred good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked persons, that lay waite as hee that setteth snares: they haue made a pit to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birdes, so are their houses full of deceit: thereby they are become great and waxen rich.

28 They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deedes of the wicked: they execute no iudgement, no nor the iudgement of the fatherlesse: yet they prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shall I not visit for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthy thing is committed in the land.

CHAP. VI.

1 The coming of the Assyrians and Caldeans. 16 He exhorteth the Iewes to repentance.

O Ye children of Benjamin, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem, and blow the trumpet in Tekoa: set vp a standard vpon Bethhaccerem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great destruction,

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to a beautifull and daintie woman.

3 The pastours with their flockes shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tents round about by her, and euery one shall feede in his place.

4 Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp toward the South: woe vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hostes said, Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must bee visited: all oppression is in the mids of it.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so shee casteth out her malice: crueltye and spoile is continually heard in her before mee with sorrow and strokes.

8 Behou instructed, O Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land, that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whome shall I speake, and admonish that they may heare? behold, their eares are vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken: behold, the word of the Lord is vnto them as a reproch: they haue no delight in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am wearie with holding it: I will powre it out vpon the children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assembly of the young men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses with their lands, and wiues also shall be turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

13 For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsly.

14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the flaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the waies and behold, and aske for the olde way, which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall finde rest for your soules: but they saide, Wee will not walke therein.

17 Also I set watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heede to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, Wee will not take heed.

He warneth them to amend by his correction, and to turne to him by repentance.

He exhorteth the Babylonians to be diligent to search out all and to leaue none.

They delight to heare vaine things, and to shut vp their eares to true doctrine.

As the Lord had giuen him his word to be as a fire of his indignation to burne the wicked, Chap. 5. 14. so he kindleth it now when hee seeth that all remedies are past. None shall be spared.

When the people began to feare Gods iudgements, the false Prophets comforted them by flatterings, shewing that God would send peace and not warre.

18 Heare therefore yee Gentiles, and thou Congregation knowe, what is among them, 19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, ⁱⁿ the fruit of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heede vnto my wordes, nor to my Law, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou me in-cense from Sheba, and sweete calamus from a farre countrey? Your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweet vnto me.

21 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will lay stunnibg blockes before this people, and the father and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perishe.

22 Thus sayeth the Lord, Behold, a people cometh from the North countrey, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bow and shield shall they be weaponed: they are cruell and will haue no compassion: their voice roareth like the sea, & they ride vpon horses, well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, and our hands waxe feeble for woe is come vpon vs, as the sorrow of a woman in traile.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine only sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set thee for a defence and fortress among my people, that thou maist know and trie their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily: they are brasse, and yron, they all are destroyers.

29 The bellows are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They shall call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

2 Jeremiah is commanded to shewe vnto the people the word of God, which trusteth in the outward seruice of the Temple. 13 The wils that shall come to the Iewes, for the despising of the Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doeth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

THe words that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords house, and crie this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord, all ye of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Amend your wayes & your workes, and I will let you dwell in this place.

4 Trust not in lying wordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amend and redresse your wayes and your workes: if you execute iudgement betwene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widow, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then I will let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for cuer and cuer.

8 Behold, you trust in lying wordes, that cannot profite.

9 Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and sweare falsly, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not?

10 And come and stand before me in this House, whereupon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though wee haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this House become a den of theeues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, euen I see it, saith the Lord.

12 But goe yee now vnto my place which was in Shilo, where I set my Name at the beginning, and behold what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because ye haue done all these workes, saith the Lord, (and I rose vp early, and spake vnto you: but when I spake, ye would not heare me, neither when I called, would ye answere.)

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this House, whereupon my Name is called, wherein also ye trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whoole seed of Ephraim:

16 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp crie or prayer for them, neither intreat me for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the streets of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, & the fathers kindle the fire, & the women knead the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, sayth the Lord, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruite of the ground, and it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, put your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and ate the flesh.

22 For I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voice, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it be may be well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubbornnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early every day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare me nor incline their eare, but hardened their necke and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words vnto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also crie vnto them, but they will nor answer thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: trueth is perished and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, saith the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue build the hie place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall burie in Topheth till there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate for the foules of the heauen and for the beasts of y earth, & none shall fray them away.

34 * Then will I cause to cease from the cities of Iudah, and from the streetes of Ierusalem the voice of mirth and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegrome & the voice of the bride, for the land shall be desolate.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord mooneth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the couetoufnesse of the Prophets and Priests.

At that time, saith the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the Kings of Iudah, and the bones of their Princes, and the bones of the Priests, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their graues.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne & the moone, and all the host of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue serued, and whom they haue followed, and whom they haue sought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as dounge vpon the earth.

3 And death shall be desired rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, saith the Lord of hosts.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shall they fall and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue themselues to deceit, and would not returne.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lord: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figges on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them, shall depart from them.

14 Why doe wee stay? assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people.
 24 In the knowledge of God ought we only to reioyce, 26 The vnclimction of the heart.

O H, that mine head were full of water, and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh, that I had in the wilderness a cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and goe from them: for they be all adulterers, and an assembly of rebels,

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for lies: but they haue no courage for the truth vpon the earth: for they proceede from euil to worse, and they haue not knowen me, saith the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heed of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother will vse deceit, and euery friend will deale deceitfully,

5 And euery one will deceiue his friende, and will not speake the truth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paines to doe wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the mids of deceiuers, & because of their deceit they refuse to know me, sayth the Lord.

man. f They haue so praised deceit, that they cannot forsake it. rather forsake God, then leaue their wicked trade.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will melt them, and trie them: for what should I doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth wait for him.

9 Shall I not visite them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Vpon the mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wilderness a mourning, because they are burnt vp: so that none can passe thorough them, neither can men heare the voice of the flocke: both the soule of the ayre, and the beast are fled away and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is wise to vnderstand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen hee shall declare it. Why doeth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wilderness, that none passeth through?

13 And the Lord saith, Because they haue forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter,

14 But haue walked after the stubburnesse of their owne heart, and after Babilims, which their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feed this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue known, and I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Take heed and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women that they may come,

18 And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eye liddes gush out of water.

19 For a lamentable noise is heard out of Zion, How are we destroyed, and utterly confounded, for wee haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O yee women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament.

1 The constellations of the starres are not to be feared. 2 The weaknesse of idoles. 3 Of the power of God. 4 Their Pastours are become brute beasts.

Hear ye the word of the Lord that hee speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus sayth the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such.

3 For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the hands of the carpenter) with the axe.

4 And another decketh it with siluer, and with gold: they fasten it with nailes, and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not, they are borne because they cannot go: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, & thy Name is great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O King of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion:

for among al the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they dote, and are foolish: for the stocke is a doctrine of vanitie.

9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarsish, and golde from Vphaz, for the worke of the workman, and the hands of the founder: the blew filke, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of truth: hee is the liuing God, and an euertlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens)

12 Hee hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 He giueth by his voice the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: hee turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

14 Euery man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanity, and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The portion of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

17 Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, at this time I will throw as with a sling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so.

19 Woe is me for my destruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorrow, and I will beare it.

20 My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coards are broken: my children are gone from me, & are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtaines.

21 For the Pastours are become beasts, and haue not fought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noise of the brute is come, and a great commotion out of the North country to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himselfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his steps.

24 O Lord, correct me, but with iudgement, not in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen

This declareth that all that hath bene in this Chapter spoken of idoles, was to arme the Iewes whē they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, & now with one sentence he instructeth them both how to protect their owne religion against the idolaters, and how to answer them to their shame, which should exhort them to idolatry, & therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, where as all theretof his writing is Ebrew.

The more that man thinketh to do any thing well by his owne wisdom, and not as God instructeth him, more doth he proue himselfe to be a vile beast. By these words, Portion of Rod, he signifieth their inheritance, meaning, that God should be all sufficient for them: and that their felicitie consisteth in him alone, and therefore they ought to renounce all other helpes and succours, as of idols, &c. Deut. 32. 9. Psal. 116. 5.

The Prophet willett the Iewes to prepare themselves to this captivity, shewing that it was now at hand, that they should seele the things whereof he had said.

It is my iust plague, & therefore I will take it patiently: whereby he teacheth the people how to behaue themselves toward God.

3 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods couenant.
10 The people of Iudah, following the steppes of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth them to remain to pray for them.

THe word that come to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare ye the words of this couenant, and speak vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

3 And say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the words of his couenant,

4 Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the yron forname, saying, Obey my voice, and doe according to all these things, which I command you: so shall yee be my people, and I will be your God.

5 That I may confirme the othe that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land which floweth with milke and honie, as appeareth this day. Then answered I, and said, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord said vnto mee, Cry all these wordes in the citie of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare yee the words of this couenant, and doe them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voice,

8 Neuerthelesse they would not obey, nor incline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubburnesse of his wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the wordes of this couenant, which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord said vnto me, A conspiracy is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my words: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they crie vnto me, I will not heare them.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, goe, and crie vnto the gods vnto whome they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streets of Ierusalem haue ye set vp altars of confusion, turn altars to burne incense vnto Baal

14 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp a cry of prayer for them: for when they crie vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What should my beloved in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many? and the bloody flesh goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euil, thou reioycest.

16 The Lord called my name, A greene oliuetree, faire, and of goodly fruit: but with noise and great tumult he hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hostes, that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselves to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught mee, and I know it, when thou shewest mee their practises.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had deified thus against me, saying, Let vs destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

20 But O Lord of hostes, that iudgeth righteously, and tryest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, Prophecie not in the Name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will visit them: the young men shall die by the sword: their sounes & their daughters shall die by famine, 23 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, when the yeere of their visitation.

Some reade, I will corrupt his word, meaning, I will corrupt his word, but being moved with a Spirit of God, he denieth the aduancement of Gods glory and the verifying of his word, which is by the destruction of his enemies. q To wit, both the Priests and the rest of the people: for this to woe was the Priests, and they dwelt in it, reade Chap. 1. 1. r Not that they could not abide to heare God named: (for herein they would shew themselves most holy) but because they could not abide to be sharply reproued, and therefore desired to be blasted. 30. 10. and to be maintained in their pleasures, Mich. 2. 11. and not to be visited condemned, Amos. 7. 13.

a The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in all his doings, although man be not able to giue a reason of all his actes. b This question hath bene alway a great temptation to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperity.

But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seen me; and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for slaughter: and prepare them for the day of slaughter. How long shall the land mourn, and the herbes of every field wither: for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed; and the birds, because they sayd, He will now see our last end.

If thou shalt binne with thine footemen, and they have wearied thee: then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou dost lightest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Jordan? For even thy brethren, and the house of thy father, even they have dealt unfaithfully with thee: and they have cried out altogether against thee: but beloeue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

I have forsaken mine house: I have left mine heritage: I have given the dearly beloved of my soule into the hands of their enemies.

Mine heritage is vnto me, as a Lyon in the Forrest: he crieth out against me; therefore haue I hated it.

Shall mine heritage be vnto me, as a bird of diuers colours? are not the birds about her, saying, Come assemblie all the beasts of the field, come to eate her?

Many pastors haue destroyed my vineyard, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wilderness.

They haue laid it waste, and in, being waste, mourneth vnto me: and the whole land hath waste, because no man setteth his minde on it.

The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wilderness: for the sword of the Lord shal deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other end of the land: no flesh shall haue peace.

They haue sown wheate, and reaped thornes: they were sicke, and had no profite: and they were ashamed of your fruits, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

I haue saith the Lord against all mine euill neighbours, that touch the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherit. Behold, I will plucke them out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

And after that I haue plucked them out, I will returne, and haue compassion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

of their idoles and superstitions: therefore their enemies, as thicke as the fowles of the ayre shall come about them to destroy them. Hee prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by the captiues of Nebuchadnezzar, whom hee calleth pagans. I Because no man regardeth my word, or the plagues that I haue sent vpon this land. In the word of the Prophets. They lamented the fynes of the people. For in stead of amendment, you grew worse and worse, as Gods plagues testified. Meeting the wicked enemies of this Church which blasphemed his Name, and when he would punish after that hee hath deliuered his people. After that I haue punished the Gentiles, I will haue mercie vpon them.

And if they will learne the wayes of my people, so sweare by my name, (The Lord liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built in the middes of my people.

But if they will not obey, then will I vterly plucke vp, and destroy that nation, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XIIII.
The destruction of the Temple is prophesied. Why Israel was reueiled to the people of God, and why they were forsaken. He subuerteth them in repentance.

Thus saith the Lord vnto me, Go, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

So I bought the girdle according to the commandment of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward Perath, and hide it therein in the cleft of the rocke.

So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

And after many dayes, the Lord said vnto me, Arise, goe toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commaunded thee to hide there.

Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

Thus saith the Lord, After this manner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, and walke after the stubbornnesse of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shall be as the girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I tied to me the whole house of Israel, & the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lord, that they might be my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this word. Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Euery bottell shall be filled with wine, and they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not know that euery bottell shall be filled with wine?

Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the kings that sit vpon the throne of David, and the Priests and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennesse.

And I will dash them one against another,

4. They shall be of the number of the faithfull, and haue a place in my Church.

Because this is a ring of the Church of Ierusalem, which was farre from Ierusalem, it is evident, that this was a vision, whereby was signified that the Iewes should possess our European Churches to be captiues in Babilon: and there foreright of Ierusalem from the Iewes, though they were ioyned to the Lord before as a girdle about a man.

Euery one of you shall be filled with spirituall drunkennesse, and be without all knowledge to seeke how to helpe your selues. It shall be as if for me to destroy the greatest and the strongest, as it is for a man to breake earthen bottles.

ther, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pitié, nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not proud: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Giue glory to the Lord your God, before he bring darknesse, and ouer your feet stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you looke for light, hee turne it into the shadow of death, and make it as darknesse.

17 But if ye will not heare this, my soule shall weepe in secret for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and drop down teares, because the Lords flocke is caried away captiue.

18 Say vnto the King and to the Queene, Humble you selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of the South shall bee shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be caried away captiue: it shall be wholly caried away captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes and behold them that come from the North: where is the flocke that was giuen thee, euen the beaui- full flocke?

21 What wilt thou say, when he shall visite thee? (for thou hast taught them to bee captiues, and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorrow take thee as a woman in trauaile?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts discovered, and thy heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke Moore change his skin? or the leopard his spots? then may yee also doe good, that are accustomed to doe euill.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South winde.

25 This is my portion, and the part of thy measures from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me and trusted in lies.

26 Therefore I haue also discovered thy skirtes vpon thy face, that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy neyings, the filthinesse of thy whoredome on the hills in the fields, and thine abominations. Woe vnto thee, O Ierusalem: wilt thou not be made cleane? when shall it once be?

1 Of the death that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

THE word of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the death.

2 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue been brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the crie of Ierusalem goeth vp.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferi-ours to the water, who came to the welles, and found no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and couered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

5 Yea, the hinde also caluet in the field, and forsooke it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and drew in their winde like dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the Saviour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that passeth by, to tarry for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonished, and as a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord art in the midst of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not refrained their feet: therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but hee will now remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they fast, I will not heare their crie, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, Behold, the prophets say vnto them, Yee shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets propheticie lies in my Name: I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they propheticie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanity, and deceitfulness of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that propheticie in my Name whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not bee in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whom these prophets doe propheticie, shall be cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, & the sword, and there shall be none to burie them, both they and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse vpon them.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes, 3 But threatneth to destroy them with foure plagues.

Then said the Lord vnto mee, ³ Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affection could not bee toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shal we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: & such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint ouer them foure kinds saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the dogs to teare in pieces, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to deuoure and to destroy.

4 I wil scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth, ⁴ because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which hee did in Ierusalem.

5 Who shall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shal be fory for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken mee, saith the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I am weary with repenting.

7 And I will scatter them with the fanne in the gates of the earth: I haue wasted, and destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes.

8 Their widowes are increased by mee about the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the assembly of the yong men a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and speedily.

9 Shee that hath borne ⁵ seuen, hath been made weak: her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed her, whiles it was day: shee hath been confounded and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sword before their enemies, saith the Lord.

10 Woe is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me; a contentious man, and a man that striveth with the whole earth: I haue neither lent on vsury, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsury: yet every one doth curse me.

11 The Lord said, Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I wil cause thine enemies to intreate thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall the yron break the yron, and the brasie that commeth from the North?

13 Thy substance and thy treasures will I giue to be spoyled without gain, and that for all thy sinnes euen in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to goe with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shal burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visire me, and reuenge me of my persecuters: take me not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke.

16 Thy words were found by me, and I did feate them, and thy word was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hosts.

17 I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauinesse continuall? and my plague desperate and can not bee healed? why art thou vnto mee as a liar, and as waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before mee: and if thou take away the precious from the vile, thou shalt be according to my word: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee and to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

The word of the Lord came also vnto me, saying,

2 Thou shalt not take a thee a wife nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus saith the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beere them, and concerning their fathers that beget them in this land,

4 They shall die of deaths and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shal they be buried, but they shal be as dung vpon the earth, and they shal bee consumed by the sword, and by famine, and their carkeises shall bee meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, Enter not in to the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor bee moued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, saith the Lord, euen mercie and compassion.

6 Both the great, and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the morning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also go into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke,

9 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegrome & the voice of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt shew this people all these words, and they shall say vnto thee, Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is our iniquitie? and what is our sin that we haue committed against the Lord our God?

11 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them, and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Law,

12 And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for hehold, you walke euery one after the stubbornesse of his wicked heart, and will not heare me)

13 Therefore will I drue you out of this land into a land that ye know not, neither you, nor your fathers, and there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace.

14 Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more be said, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, 15 But, The Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel from the land of the North, and from all the lands where hee had scattered them, and I will bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many fishers, and they shall fish them, and after, will I send out many hunters, and they shal hunt them from euery mountaine and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rockes.

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their wayes: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my land, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthy carions and their abominations.

19 O Lord, thou art my force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the end of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited lies, and vanitie, wherein there was no profit.

27 But if yee will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, & not to beare a burden nor to goe through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it and to plant it.

10 But if it doe euill in my sight, and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: I will returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they said desperately, Surely wee will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubburnesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgine of Israel hath done very filchly.

14 Will a man forsake the snow of Lebanon, which cometh from the rocke of the field? or shall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people haue forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the ancient wayes, to walke in the paths and way that is not troden.

16 To make their land desolate, and a perpetuall derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall bee astonished and wagge his head.

17 I will scatter them with an East wind before the enemy: I will shewe them the backe and not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuice against Ieremiah: for the Lawe shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the tongue, and let vs not giue heede to any of his words.

19 Hearken vnto mee, O Lord, and heare the voice of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore, deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sword, and let their wiues bee robbed of their children, and bee widowes: and let their husbands bee put to death, and let their yong men be slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the crie be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take mee, and hid snares for my feete.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsell against mee: tendeth to death: forgieue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them bee overthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

The prophesie of the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

Thus saith the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottel of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests.

And goe forth vnto the valley of Benhinom, which is by the entrie of the East gate: and thou shalt preach there the wordes that I shall tell thee.

And shall say, Heare ye the word of the Lord, O Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his eares shall tingle.

Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whom neither they, nor their fathers haue knowne, nor the kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

And they haue built the high places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offerings vnto Baal, which I commanded not nor spake it, neither came it into my minde)

Therefore behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Benhinom, but the valley of slaughter.

And I will bring the counsell of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their carkeises will I giue to be meate for the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the field.

8 And I will make this city desolate and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and hisse because of all the plagues thereof.

9 And I will feed them with the flesh of their sonnes, and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eate the flesh of his friend in the siege and straitnesse, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues, shall hold them strait.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottel in the sight of the men that goe with thee.

11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Euen so will I breake this people and this city, as one breaketh a potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Topheth till there bee no place to bury.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this city like Topheth.

houses of the Kings of Iudah shall bee defiled as the place of Topheth, because of all the houses vpon whose roofes they haue burnt incense vnto all the hostes of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offerings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Jeremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophesie, and hee stood in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

15 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon this city, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my words.

CHAP. XX.

Jeremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 He prophesieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 Hee complaineth that hee is a mocking stocke for the words of God. 9 Hee is compelled by the Spirit to preach the word.

When Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Jeremiah prophesied these things,

2 Then Pashur smote Jeremiah the Prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin which was by the House of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Pashur brought Jeremiah out of the stocks. Then said Jeremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but Magor-mislabib.

4 For thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terrour to thy selfe, and to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, & thine eyes shall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and hee shall cary them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

5 Moreover, I will deliuer all the substance of this city, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoile them and take them away, and cary them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt bee buried there, thou and all thy friends, to whom thou hast prophesied lies.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceiued mee, and I am deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast preuailed: I am in derision daily: euery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproch vnto me, and in derision daily.

9 Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the railing of many, and feared on euery side. Declare, said they and we will declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceiued: so we shall preuaile against him, and wee shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 But the Lord is with me like a mighty gyant: therefore my persecuters shall be ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shall bee greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euerslasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 But, O Lord of hostes, that triest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let mee see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for hee hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 Cursed bee the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed bee the man, that shewed my father, saying, A man childe is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man be as the cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the crie in the morning, and the shouting at noone tide.

17 Because hee hath not slaine mee, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue bene my graue, or her wombe a perpetual conception.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorow, that my daies should be consumed with shame?

CHAP. XXI.

Hee prophesieth that Zedekiah shall bee taken, and the citie burned.

The word which came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maafeiah the Priest, saying,

2 Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs, (for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so bee that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then said Jeremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith yee fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the mids of this city.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mightie arme euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

Thus the enemies conferred together to know what they had heard him say, that they might accuse him thereof, read Isa 29.21. 2. Here he sheweth how his faith did strive against temptation, and fought to the Lords for strength.

7 And after this, sayth the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this cite, from the pestilence, from the sworde, and from the famine into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and hee shall smite them with the edge of the sworde: hee shall not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.

9 ¶ He that abideth in this cite, shall die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans that besiege you, hee shall liue, and his life shall be vnto him for a pray.

10 For I haue set my face against this cite, for euill and not for good, sayth the Lord: it shall be giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

11 ¶ And say vnto the house of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath go out like fire, & burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your workes.

13 Beholde, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will visite you according to the fruit of your workes, sayth the Lord, and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall deuoure round about it.

CHAP. XXII.

2 Hee exhorteth the King to iudgement and righteousness. 9 Why Ierusalem is brought into captiuitie. 11 The death of Shallum the sonne of Iosiah is prophesied.

Thus said the Lord, Go down to the house of the king of Iudah, and speake there this thing,

2 And say, Heare the word of the Lord, O King of Iudah, that sittest vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, * Execute yee iudgement and ^a righteousness, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and vex not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: doe no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this House, * and ride vpon chariots, and vpon horses, both hee and his seruants and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these wordes, I swear by my selfe, sayth the Lord, that this House shall be waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art ^c Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wilderness, and as cities not inhabited,

7 And I will ^d prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe ^e cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 ¶ And many nations shall passe by this cite, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus to this great cite?

9 Then shall they answer, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them.

10 ¶ Weepe not for the dead, and be not moued for them, but weepe for him that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his native country.

11 For thus saith the Lorde, As touching ^h Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither.

12 But hee shall die in the place whither they haue ledde him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 ¶ Woe vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrighteousnesse, and his chambers without equitie: hee vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He saith, I will builde me a wide house, and large chambers: so hee will make himselfe large windowes, and fieling with cedar, and paint them with vermillion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou clovest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy ^k father eate and drinke and prosper, when hee executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When hee iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knew me, sayth the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnesse, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression and for destruction, ^m euen to doethis.

18 Therefore thus sayth the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall ⁿ not lament him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glory.

27 But to the land whereunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they caried away, hee and his seede, and cast out into a lande that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus sayth the Lord, Write this man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his seede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

CHAP. XXIII.

Against false pastours. 5 A prophetic of the great Pastour Iesu Christ.

VOe bee vnto the pastours that destroy and scatter the sheepe of my pasture, saith the Lord.

2 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God of Israel vnto the pastours that feede my people, Yee haue scattered my flocke and thrust them out, and haue not visited them: behold, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your workes, saith the Lord.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my sheepe out of all countreys, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their foldes, and they shall grow and encrease.

4 And I will set vp shepherds ouer them, which shall feede them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neither shal any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous branch, and a King shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah shall be saued, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the name whereby they shall call him, * The Lord our righteousness.

7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

8 But, The Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the seed of the house of Israel out of the North countrey, and from all countreys where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me, because of the prophets: all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whome wine hath overcome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holy words.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of oathes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried vp, and their course is euill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the prophet and the priest doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine house, saith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way shalbe vnto them as slipperie wayes in darkenesse: they shall bee driuen forth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the prophets of Ierusalem filthinesse: they commit adulterie and walke in lies: they strengthen also the handes of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Sodome, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah.

15 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hosts concerning the Prophets, Behold, I will feede them with wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophets of Ierusalem is wickednesse gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Heare not the words of the prophets that prophetic vnto you, and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say stil vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye shall haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbornnesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

18 For who hath stood in the counsel of the Lord, that he hath perceiued & heard his word? Who hath marked his word, and heard it?

shoulders: and thus they refuted the word of God as a grie-uous burden.
c Because this word was brought to contempt and derision, he will teach them another manner of speech, and will cause this word Burden to cease, and teach them to aske with reue-rence, What sayth the Lord?

foorth in his wrath, and a violent whirlwinde shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked:

20 The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntil he haue executed, and till he haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it plainly:

21 I haue not sent these prophets, sayth the Lord, yet they ranne: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsell, and I had declared my wordes to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, sayth the Lord, and not a God farre off?

24 Can any hide himselfe in secret places, that I shall not see him, sayth the Lord? Doe not I fill heauen and earth, sayth the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets said, that propheticke lies in my name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? † Doe the prophets delight to propheticke lies, euen prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause my people to forget my Name, by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, and hee that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheate, sayth the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, sayth the Lord? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, sayth the Lord, that steal my word, euery one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I will come against the prophets sayth the Lord, which haue sweet tongues, and say, He saith.

32 Behold, I will come against them that propheticke false dreames, sayth the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profite vnto this people, sayth
the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a priest shall aske thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I will euen forsake you, sayth the Lord.

34 And the prophet, or the priest, or the people that shall say, The burden of the Lord, I will euen visite euery such one, and his house.

35 Thus shall ye say euery one to his neighbour, and euery one to his brother, What hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken?

36 And the burden of the Lord shall ye mention no more: for euery mans word shall be his burden: for ye haue peruered the wordes of the liuing God, the Lord of hostes our God.

37 Thus shalt thou say to the prophet,
What hath the Lord answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken?

38 And if you say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus saith the Lord: Because ye say this worde, The burden of the Lord, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Yee shall not say, The burden of the Lord,

39 Therefore behold, I, euen I will utterly forget you, and I will forsake you, and the ci-tie that I gaue you and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence,

40 And will bring an euermlasting reproch vpon you, and a perpetuall shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIII.

The vision of the basket of figs, 5 Signifieth that part of the people should bee brought againe from captiuitie, 8
And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should bee caried away.

The Lord shewed mee, and behold, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lorde, after that Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel had caried away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes of Iudah with the worke-men, and the cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had very good figges, euen like the figges that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughtie figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then said the Lord vnto me, What see-st thou, Ieremiah? And I said, Figs: the good figs very good, and the naughty very naughty, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill.

4 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel,
Like these good figges, so will I knowe them that are caried away captiue of Iudah to bee good, whom I haue sent out of this place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out,

7 And I will giue them an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 And as the naughtie figges which can not be eaten, they are so euill (surely thus saith the Lord) so will I giue Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ie-

CHAP. XXV.

11 Hee prophesieth that they shall bee in captiuitie seuentie yeeres. 12 And that after the seuentie yeeres the Babylonians should be destroyed. 13 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

The word that came to Ieremiah, concerning al the people of Iudah in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Ioshiah king of Iudah that was in the first yeere of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel:

1 The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yeere of Ioshiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah euen vnto this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto mee, and I haue spoken vnto you rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early, and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor incline your eares to obey.

5 They said, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednesse of your inuentions, and ye shall dwell in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And goe not after other gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke mee not to anger with the workes of your handes, and I will not punish you.

7 Neuertheless ye would not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked mee to anger with the workes of your handes to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my words,

9 Behold, I will send and take to mee all the families of the North, sayth the Lord, and Nebuchad-rezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

10 Moreouer, I will take from them the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the noyse of the millstones, and the light of the candle.

11 And this whole land shall be desolate, and an astonishment, and these Nations shall serue the King of Babel seuentie yeeres.

12 And when the seuentie yeeres are accomplished, I will visite the King of Babel and that nation, saith the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation.

13 And I will bring vpon that land all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen all that is writren in this booke, which Ieremiah hath prophesied against all nations.

14 For many nations, and great Kings shall euen serue themselves of them: thus will I recompense them according to their deeds, and according to the workes of their owne handes.

15 For thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken vnto mee, Take the cup of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cause all the Nations, to whom I sende thee, to drinke it.

16 And they shall drinke, and be mooued, and be mad, because of the sword that I will send among them.

17 Then tooke I the cuppe at the Lords hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whom the Lord had sent me:

18 Euen Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the Kings thereof, and the Princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, as appeareth this day:

19 Pharaoh also King of Egypt, and his seruants, and his Princes, and all his people:

20 And all sorts of people, and all the Kings of the land of Vt: and all the Kings of the land of the Philistims, and Paltkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Ahdod:

21 Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites,

22 And all the Kings of Tyrus, and all the Kings of Zidon, and the Kings of the Iles that are beyond the sea,

23 And Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermost corners,

24 And all the Kings of Arabia, and all the Kings of Arabia, that dwell in the desert,

25 And all the Kings of Zimri, and all the Kings of Elam, and all the Kings of the Medes, 26 And all the Kings of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the Kingdomes of the world, which are vpon the earth, and the King of Shephach shall drinke after them.

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke and be drunken, and spew and fall, and rise no more because of the sword, which I will send among you.

28 But if they refuse to take the cuppe at thine hand to drinke, then tell them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Yee shall certainly drinke.

29 For loe, I begin to plague the citie, where 31 The found shall come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, and he will giue them that are wicked, to the sword, saith the Lord.

36 A voice of the crye of the shepheards, and an howling of the principall of the flocke shall be heard: for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture.

37 And the best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

38 He hath forsaken his court, as the Lyon: for they land is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressour, and because of the wrath of his indignation.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Jeremiah hath brought the people to repentance, 7 He is taken of the false prophets and priests, and brought to iudgement. 23 Priiah the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim contrary to the will of God.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the court of the Lords House, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worship in the Lords House, all the wordes that I command thee to speake vnto them: keepe not a word backe,

3 If so be they will hearken, and turne e-uery man from his euill way, that I may repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their workes.

4 And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If yee will not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the wordes of my seruants the Prophets, whom I sent vnto you, both rising vpon early, and sending them, and will not obey them.

6 Then will I make this house like Shiloh, and will make this cite a curse to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priests, and the prophets, and all the people heard Ieremias speaking these wordes in the house of the Lord.

8 Now when Ieremias had made an ende of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priests, and the Prophets, and all the people took him, and sayd, Thou shalt die the death.

9 Why hast thou prophesied in the name of the Lord, saying, This house shall be like Shiloh, and this cite shall be desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Ieremias in the house of the Lord.

10 And when the princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vpon from the Kings house into the house of the Lords, and late downe in the entre of the new gate of the Lords house.

11 Then spake the Priests, & the Prophets vnto the Princes, and to all the people, saying, ¶ This man is worthy to die: for hee hath prophesied against this cite, as yee haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Ieremias vnto all the Princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lord hath sent me to prophesie against this house, and against this cite all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amend your wayes and your workes, and heare the voice of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that hee hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hands: doe with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But know ye for certaine, that if ye put mee to death, yee shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this city, and vpon the inhabitants therof: for of a truthe the Lord hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these wordes in your eares.

16 Then said the Princes and all the people vnto the Priests, and to the Prophets, This man is not worthy to die: for hee hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vpon certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assembly of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Morashite prophesied in the daies of Hezekiah king of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus sayth the

the Lord of hostes, Zion shall be plowed like a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape: and the mountaine of the house shall be as the high places of the forest.

¹⁷ Did Hezekiah King of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, & the Lord repented him of the plague, that he had pronounced against them? Thus might we procure great euill against our soules.

¹⁸ And there was also a man that prophesied in the Name of the Lord, one Vriah the son of Shemariah, of Kirjath-iarem, who prophesied against this cite, and against this land, according to all the words of Ieremiah.

²⁰ Then Iehoiakim the king sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

²² But the hand of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

²³ Which declarerth that nothing could have appeased their furie, if God had not mooued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

CHAP. XXVII.

¹ Ieremiah at the commandment of the Lord sendeth bonds to the King of Iudah and to the other Kings that were there: whereby they are warned to be subiects vnto Nebuchad-nezzar. ² Hee warneth the people and the Kings and rulers that they beleene not false prophets.

³ In the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

⁴ Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee bonds, & yokes, & put them vpon thy necke,

⁶ And commaund them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shall ye say vnto your masters,

⁷ I haue made the earth, the man, and the beasts that are vpon the ground, by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whom it pleased me.

⁸ But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and the beasts of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

⁹ Which declarerth, did vs also such visible signes, but they had no reuelation, 1. King. ¹⁰ c. Reade Chap. 25. 9.

⁸ And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, the same nation will I visit, saith the Lord, with the sword and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

⁹ Therefore heare not your prophets, nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your enchanters, nor your sorcerers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shall not serue the king of Babel.

¹⁰ For they prophesie a lie vnto you to cause you to go farre from your land, & that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

¹² ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudah according to all these words, saying, Put your necks vnder the yoke of the king of Babel and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

¹⁵ For I haue not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesie a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the prophets that prophesie vnto you.

¹⁶ ¶ Also I spake to the Priests and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the words of your prophets that prophesie vnto you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the house of the Lord shal now shortly be brought againe from Babel, for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

¹⁷ Heare them not, but serue the king of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore should this city be desolate?

¹⁹ For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bales, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this cite, from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Ierusalem.

21 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the house of the Lord, & in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, 22 They shall bee brought to Babel, and there they shall bee vntill the day that I visite them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophesie of Hananiah. 12 Ieremiah reproveth Hananiah, and prophesieth.

And that same yeere in the beginning of the ^areigne of Zedekiah king of Iudah in the ^bfourth yeere, and in the fift moneth Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of ^cGibeon, spake to me in the house of the Lord, in the presence of the priests, and of all the people, and said,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the king of Babel.

3 [†]Within two yeeres space I will bring in to this place all the vessels of the Lords house, that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Ichoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, sayeth the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah sayd vnto the ^dprophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the House of the Lord,

6 Even the Prophet Ieremiah said, So be it: the ^eLord so doe, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou hast prophesied to restore the vessels of the Lords house, and all that is caried captiue, from Babel, into this place.

7 But heare thou now this word that I will speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that haue bene before me & before thee in time past, ^fprophesied against many countreis, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the Prophet which prophesieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet be known, that the Lord hath truly sent him.

10 Then Hananiah the prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and brake it.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord, Euen so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.

12 Then the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying, 13 Goe and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make them yokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a ^hyoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the ⁱbeasts of the field also.

15 Then said the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the prophet died the same yeere in the seuenth moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 Hee prophesieth their returne after seuen tie yeeres. 16 He prophesieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Hierusalem. 21 Hee threateneth the prophets that seduce the people. 32 The death of SHEMAIAH is prophesied.

Now these are the words of the ^{||}book that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto ^athe residue of the Elders, which were caried away captiues, and to the Priests, and to the prophets, & to all the people, whom Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel:

2 (After that Ieconiah the King, and the ^bQueene, and the eunuches, the ^cprinces of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workemen, and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem)

3 By the hande of Elafah the sonne of Shaphan, and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah ^esent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) saying,

4 Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caried away captiues, whom I haue ^dcaused to be caried away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel:

5 Build you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

6 Take you wiues, and beget sonnes, and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the prosperitie of the cite, whither I haue caused you to be caried away captiues: and ^epray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

^e That is, I would with the same for Gods honor & wealth of my people, but he hath appointed the contrary.

^f Meaning, that the Prophets that did either denounce warre or peace, were tried either true or false by the successe of their prophesies.

Albeit God maketh to come to passe sometime that which the false prophet speaketh, to trie the faith of his, Deut. 13. 3.

^g This declareth the impudencie of the wicked hirelings, which haue no zeale to the truth, but are led with ambition to get the fauour of men, & therefore cannot abide any, that might discredit them, but burst forth into rages, and contrary to their owne conscience, passe not what lies they report, or how wickedly they doe, so that they may maintaine their estimation.

^h That is, a hard and cruell servitude.

ⁱ Signifying, that all should be his, as Dan. 2. 38.

^k Seeing this thing was euident in the eyes of the people, and yet they returned not to the Lord, it is manifest, that miracles cannot moue vs, neither the word it selfe, except God touch the heart.

^{||} Or, letter. ^a For some died in the way.

^b Meaning, Ieconiah is other. ^c Chap. 24. 1. ^c To intreat of some equal conditions.

^d To wit, the Lord whose worke this was.

^e The Prophet speaketh not this for the affection that he bare to the tyrras, but that they should pray for the common wele and quietnesse, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more patience and lesse griefe wait for the time of their deliuerance, which God had appointed most certaine: for els not only the Israelites, but all the world, great and the inleuitible creatures should reioyce when these tyrras should be destroyed, as Iia.

14. 4.

8 ¶ For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your Prophets, & your Soothsayers that be among you, deceue you, neither giue care to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophetic you a lie in my Name, I haue not sent them, saith the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, that after seuen-tye yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visit you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts, that I haue thought towards you, saith the Lord, euen the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, so giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shall you cry vnto me, and ye shall get and pray vnto me, and I will heare you.

13 And ye shall seeke me, and find me, because ye shall seeke me with all your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captivity, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, sayeth the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be carried away captiue.

15 ¶ Because ye haue said, The Lord hath raised vs vp Prophets in Babel, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiue:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will send vpon them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figs, that cannot be eaten, they are so naughty.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terrour to all kingdomes of the earth, and a curse, and astonishment and an hissing, and a reproch among all the nations whither I haue cast them,

19 Because they haue not heard my words, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them, but ye would not heare, saith the Lord.

20 ¶ Heare yee therefore the word of the Lord al ye of the captiuitie, whom I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophetic lies vnto you in my Name: Behold, I will deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel, and hee shall slay them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the King of Babel burnt in the fire.

23 Because they haue committed villenie in Israel, and haue committed adultery with their neighbours wives, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I know it, and testifie it, saith the Lord.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, & to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

26 The Lord hath made thee Priest for Iehoiada the Priest, that ye should be officers in the house of the Lord, for euery man that raueh and makerh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stocks.

27 Now therefore why hast northou reprooued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which propheticd vnto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and cate the fruits of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophecied vnto you, and I sent him not, and hee caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seed: he shall not haue a man to dwell among this people, neither shall he behold the good, that I will doe for my people, saith the Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He rebueth the enemies. 18 And comforteth the Church.

THe word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes that I haue spoken vnto thee, in a booke.

3 For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Again, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace.

6 Demand now and behold, if man trauell with child: wherefore doe I behold euery man with his hands on his loynes as a woman in trauell, and all faces are turned into palenesse?

Ecc 2 7 Alas,

|| Or dreamer.

o Shemaiah the false prophet flattereth Zephaniah the chief Priest, as though God had giuen him the spirit and zeale of Iehoiada to punish whoeuer repressed against the word of God, of the which he would haue made Ieremiah one calling him a rauer and a false prophet.

p He and his seed shall be destroyed, so that none of them should see the benefit of this deliuerance.

a Because they should be assured, & their posteritie confirmed in the hope of this deliuerance promised.

b He sheweth that before that this deliuerance shall come, the Chaldeans should be extremely afflicted by their enemies, & that they should be in such perplexitie and sorrow as a woman in her trauell, as Isa. 13. 8.

c Meaning, that the time of their captiuitie should be grievous. d When I shall visite Babylon. e Of the king of Babylon. f To wit, of Iakob. g That is, Mes- siah, which should come of the stocke of Da- uid according to the flesh, and should be the true pastour, as Ezek. 34. 23. who is set forth, and his kingdom that should be e- uerlasting, in the person of David, Hof. 3. 5.

h Reads Chap. 30. 24.

l Herein is com- mended Gods great mercy to- ward his, who doeth not destroy them for their finnes, but cor- rect and chastise them, till he haue purged and pardoned them, and so burneth the rods by the which he did pu- nish them, I. Iai. 33. 1.

m Meaning, that the citie and the Temple should be resto- red to their for- mer state. n He sheweth how the people shall with praise and thankgi- uing acknow- ledge this bene- fit.

o Meaning, Ze- rubbabel, who was the figure of Christ, in whom this was accom- plished.

7 Alas, for this day is great: none hath bene like it: it is even the time of Iakobs trouble, yet shall he be delivered from it.

8 For in that day, saith the Lord of hosts, I will breake his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serue themselves of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lord their God, and David their King, whom I will raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my servant Iakob, saith the Lord, neither be afraid, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iakob shall turne againe, and shall be in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to saue thee: though I utterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not utterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not utterly cut thee off.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy louers haue forgotten thee: they seek thee not: for I haue stricken thee with the wound of an enemy, and with a shape chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy finnes were increased.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy finnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16 Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall be deuoured, and all thine enemies, euery one shall go into captiuitie: and they that spoile thee, shall be spoiled, and all they that rob thee, will I giue to be robbed.

17 For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The cast away, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iakobs tents, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the citie shall be builded vpon her owne heape, and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof.

19 And out of them shall proceed thankgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I will multiply them, and they shall not be few: I will also glorifie them, and they shall not be diminished.

20 Their children also shall be as afore time, and their congregation shall be established before me: and I will visit all that vex them.

21 And their noble ruler shall be of themselves, and their gouernour shall proceed from the mids of them, and I will cause him to draw neere, and approach vnto mee: for who is this that directeth his heart to come vnto me, saith the Lord?

22 And ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

23 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the while winde that hangeth ouer, shall light vpon the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce wrath of the Lord shall not returne, vntill he haue done, and vntill he haue performed the intents of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it.

CHAP. XXXI.

The seruants of Gods benefits after their returne from Babylon, 23 And the spirittuall joy of the faithfull in the Church.

At the same time, saith the Lord, wil I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people.

2 Thus saith the Lord, The people which escaped the sword, found grace in the wilder- nesse: he walked before Israel to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared vnto mee, 4 of old, say they: Yea, I haue loved thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercy I haue drawen thee.

4 Again, I will build thee, and thou shalt be builded, O virgin Israel: thou shalt still be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt goe forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of Samaria, and the planters that plant them, shall make them common.

6 For the dayes shall come that the watchmen vpon the mount Ephraim shall crye, Arise, and let vs goe vp vnto Zion to the Lord our God.

7 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iakob, and shout for ioy among the chiefe of the Gentiles: publish praise, and say, O Lord saue thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Behold, I wil bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coasts of the world, with the blind and the lame among them, with the woman with child, and her that is deliuered also: a great company shall returne hither.

9 They shall come weeping, and with mercy wil I bring them againe: I wil lead them by the riuers of water in a straight way, where in they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first borne.

10 Heare the word of the Lord, O ye Gen- tiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and say, He that scattered Israel, wil gather him and wil keepe him, as a shepherd doeth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iakob, exhort one another to embrace it. m That is, lamenting their finnes, which had not giuen eare to the Prophets, and therefore it followeth that God receiued them to mercie, Chap. 30. 4. Some take it that they should weepe for ioy. n Where they found no impediments, but abundance of all things. o That is, my dearly beloved, as the first child is to the father.

p Signifying, that Christ doth willingly submit himselfe to the obedience of God his father. q Left the wicked hypocrites should flatter themselves with these promises the Prophet sheweth what shall be their portion. r When this Messias and deliuerer is come.

a When this shall come: mean- ing Christ, not onely Iudah and Israel, but the rest of the world shall be called. b Which were deliuered from the crueltie of Pharaoh. c To wit, God. d The people thus reioyce, though he were not so beneficial to them now, as he had bene of old. e Thus the Lord answereth that his loue is not changeable. f Thou shalt haue still occasion to reioyce, which is meant by tabrets and dancing, as their custome was of- ter notable vic- tories, Exo. 15. 20. Iudg. 5. 28. and chap. 15. 14. g Because the 12 tribes, which were the rem- nant of the tribes, were re- turned to Sam- aria, therefore this must be spiritu- ally vnderstood vnder the king- dome of Christ, which was the restoration of the true Israel. h That is, shall eate the fruit thereof, as Les. 19. 11. deu. 30. 6. i The ministers of the word. k They shall ex- hort all to the embracing of the Gospel, as I. Iai. 2. 3. l He sheweth what shall be the concord and love of all vnder the Gospel, where none shall be refused for their infirmities: and euery one shall and ransomed him from the hand of his enemies, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, & shall run to the bountifullnesse of the Lord, even for the wheat, and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe, and bullocks: and their soules shall be as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorow.

13 Then shall the virgins reioyce in the dances, and the yong men and the old men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, and will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes.

14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priest with farnesse, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Lord, A voice was heard on high, mourning and bitter weeping, Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus sayth the Lord, Refraine thy voice from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shall bee rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemies.

17 And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an untamed calfe: I conuert thou me, and I shall be conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim my deare sonne or pleasant childe? yet since I spake vnto him, I shall remember him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp signes: make thee heapes: set thine heart toward the path and way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgin of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou goe astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created a new thing in the earth: A Woman shall compasse a man.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord blesse thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that goe forth with the flocke.

because he should be borne of a virgine without man: or he meaneeth, that Ierusalem which was like a barren woman in her captiuitie, should be fruitfull as shee, that is ioyned in marriage, and whom God blesseth with children.

25 For I haue satiate the wearie soules, and I haue replenished euery forowfull soule.

26 Therefore I awaked and beheld, and my sleepe was sweet vnto me.

27 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will sow the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah, with the seede of man, and with the seed of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, and to throwe downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so will I watch ouer them, to build, and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a sowre grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shall be set on edge.

31 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new couenant with the house of Israel, & with the house of Iudah.

32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they brake, although I was an husband vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shall be the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Lawe in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will bee their God, and they shall bee my people.

34 And they shall teach no more euery man his neighbour and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgieue their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more.

35 Thus saith the Lord, which giueth the sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of the moone, and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hosts.

36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shall the seed of Israel cease from being a nation before me for euer.

37 Thus saith the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, or the foundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the citie shall bee built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

ioyned with our head. m If the sunne, moone and starres cannot but giue light according to mine ordinance, so long as this world lasteth, so shall my Church neuer faile, neither shall any thing hinder it: and as sure as I will haue a people, so certaine is it, that I will leaue them my word for euer, to gouerne them with. n The one and the other is impossible. o As it was performed, Nehem. 3. 1. By this description he sheweth that the citie should be as ample, and beautiful as euer it was: but he alludeth to the spirituall Ierusalem, whose beautie should be incomparable.

e Having vnderstood this vision of the Messiah to come, in whom the two houses of Israel and Iudah should be ioyned, I reioiced. f I will multiply and enrich them with people and cattell. g The wicked vied this promise, when they did murmur against Gods iudgements pronounced by the Prophets, saying, That their fathers had sinned the fault, and that the children were punished, Ezek. 18. 3. h Though the couenant of redemption made to the fathers, and this which was giuen after, seeme diuers, yet they are all one, and grounded on Iesus Christ, Ioue that this is called new, because of the manifestation of Christ, and the abundant graces of the holy Ghost giuen to his Church vnder the Gospell. i And so were the occasion of their owne diuocement through their infidelitie, Isa. 50. 1. k In the time of Christ, my Law shall in stead of tables of stone be written in their hearts by mine holy spirit, Hebr. 8. 8. l Vnder the kingdomes of Christ there shall be none blinded with ignorance, but I will giue them faith and knowledge of God for remission of their sinnes, and daily increase the same: so that it shall not seeme to come so much by the preaching of my ministers, as by the instruction of my holy spirit, Isa. 54. 13. but the full accomplishing hereof is referred to the kingdom of Christ, when we shall be 39 And the line of the measure shall goe forth in his presence vpon the hill Gareb, and shall compass about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fieldes vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horse gate toward the East shall be holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it bee plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

CHAP. XXXII.

Jeremiah is cast into prison because he prophesied that the king should be taken of the king of Babylon: & he sheweth that the people should come againe to their owne possession.

38 The word that came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, in the tenth yeere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

1 For then the king of Babels hostes besieged Ierusalem: and Jeremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Iudahs house.

2 For Zedekiah king of Iudah had shut him vp, laying, Wherefore doest thou prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this city into the hands of the king of Babel, and he shall take it?

3 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah shall not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the hands of the king of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his face.

4 And hee shall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be, vntill I visit him, saith the Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper.

5 ¶ And Jeremiah sayd, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 Behold, Hanameel, the sonne of Shalum thine vnckle, shall come vnto thee and say, Buy vnto thee my field, that is in Anathoth: for the title by kinred appertaineth vnto thee to buy it.

7 So Hanameel, mine vnckles sonne came to me in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, & said vnto me, Buy my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

8 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vnckles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, euen seven shekels, and ten pieces of siluer.

9 And I wrote it in the booke and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the balances.

10 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed according to the Law, and custome, with the booke that was open,

11 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncklesonne, and in the presence of the witnesses written in the booke of the possession, before all the lawes that were in the court of the prison.

12 And I charged Baruch before them, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that they may continue a long time.

13 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fields, and vineyards shall be possessed againe in this land.

14 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying, 15 Ah Lord God, behold, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing I hard vnto thee.

16 Thou shewest mercy vnto thousands, and recompenseth the iniquitie of the fathers, into the bosome of their children after them: O God the great and mighty, whose Name is the Lord of hostes,

17 Great in counsell, and mighty in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the sons of men, to giue to every one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his works)

18 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

19 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, & with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terrour,

20 And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers, to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and hony,

21 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

22 Behold, the mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and behold thou seest it.

23 And thou hast said vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

24 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah, saying, 25 Behold, I am the LORD GOD of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?

26 Therefore

h And so to hide them in the ground, that they might be preserved as a token of their deliuerance.

10 Or, hid. 2 And 34. 7. deni. 5. 9.

i Because the wicked are subiect to the curse of God, he sheweth that their posterity, which by nature are vnder this malediction, shall be punished both for their owne wickednes, and also the iniquity of their fathers, which is likewise them, shall also be reckoned on their head.

k Meaning the his miracles in deliuering his people, should neuer be forgotten.

l The word signifieth any thing that is cast vp, as a mount or rampart, and is also vsed for engines of warre, which were layed on an high place, to shoot into a city before that guns were in vye. m That is, of every creature: who as they are his worke, so doth he gouerne and guide them, as please him, whereby he sheweth that as he is the author of this their captiuitie for their sinnes, so will he for his mercies be their redeemer to restore them againe to libertie.

38 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar, King of Babel, and he shall take it.

39 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whole roofes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and powdered drinke offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.

40 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to anger with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

41 Therefore this citie hath beene vnto me as a promocation of mine anger, & of my wrath, from the day, that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remoue it out of my sight, 42 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke me to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priests, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

43 And they haue turned vnto me the backe and not the face: though I taught them, °rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine, 44 But they set their abominations in the house (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it.

45 And they built the hie^r places of Baal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnom, to caule their sonnes & their daughters to passe thorow the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my mind, that they should doe such abomination, to cause Iudah to sinne.

46 And nowe therefore, thus hath the Lorde God of Israel spoken, concerning this citie, whereof yee say, It shall be deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

47 Behold, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, & I will cause them to dwell safely.

48 And they shall bee °my people, and I will be their God.

49 And I will giue them °one heart, and one way, that they may feare me for euer for the wealth of them, and of their children after them.

50 And I will make an °euerlasting couenane with them, that I will neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.

51 Yea, I will delight in them to doe them good, & I will plant them in this land assuredly, with my whole heart, and with all my soule.

42 For thus sayth the Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so will I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fields shall be possessed in this land, whereof yee say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Men shall buy °feldes for siluer, and make writings and seale them, and take witnesses in the land of Benjamin, and round about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, sayth the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIIL

1 The Prophet is monished of the Lord to pray for the deliuerance of the people, which the Lord promised. 8. God forgiueth sinnes for his owne glory. 15. Of the birth of Christ. 20. The kingdome of Christ in the Church shall neuer be ended.

Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the second time (while he was yet shut vp in the °court of the prison)

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker^b thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call vnto mee, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the °mounts, and by the sword.

5 They come to °fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselves with the dead bodies of men, whom I haue slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my °face from this citie, because of all their wickednesse.

6 Behold, °I will giue it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

7 And I will cause the captiuitie of Iudah and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first.

8 And I will °cleans^e them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against mee: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against mee, and whereby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shall be to me a name, a °ioy, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all the good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare and tremble for all the goodnesse, and for all the wealth, that I shew vnto this citie.

10 Thus sayth the Lord, Again^e there shall be heard in this place (which yee say shall be desolate, without man, and without beast, 12 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Again in this place, which is desolate, without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall be dwelling for shepherds to rest their flockes.

13 In the cities of the mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, & in the cities of the South and in the land of Benjamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, sayth the Lord.

14 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord that I will performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

15 In those dayes and at that time, will I cause the branch of righteousness to grow vp vnto Dauid, and hee shall execute iudgement, and righteousness in the land.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah be saued, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and hee that shall call her, is the Lord our righteousness.

17 For thus sayth the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priestes and Leuites want a man before mee to offer burnt offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually.

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus sayth the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, & night in their season,

21 Then may my couenant be broken with Dauid my seruant, that hee should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites and Priestes my ministers.

22 As the army of heauen cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me.

23 ¶ Moreover the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, which the Lord hath chosen, hee hath euen cast them off? thus they haue despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus sayth the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, 26 Then will I cast away the seed of Iacob and Dauid my seruant, and not take of his seed to be rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iacob: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 Hee threatneth that the cities, and the King Zedekiah shall be given into the hands of the King of Babel. 11 He threatneth that he will send his servants.

The word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdoms of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus sayeth the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall behold the face of the king of Babel, and hee shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus saith the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not die by the sword;

5 But thou shalt die in peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh lord: for I haue pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these wordes vnto Zedekiah King of Iudah in Ierusalem.

7 (When the king of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people, which were at Ierusalem, to proclaime libertie vnto them,

9 That every man should let his seruant goe free, and euery man his handmaid, which was an Ebrew or an Ebrewesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iewe his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant goe free, and euery one his handmaid, and that none should serue themselves of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they repented & caused the the seruants and the handmaids, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subiection as seruants and handmaids.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of seruants, saying,

14 * At the terme of seuen yeres let ye goe euery man his brother an Ebrew which hath been sold vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee fixe yeres, thou shalt let him goe free from thee: but your fathers obeyed mee nor, neither inclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and yee had made a couenants before me in the house, whereupon my Name is called.

16 But ye repented, & polluted my Name: for yee haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmaid, whom yee had set at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and holde them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants and as handmaids.

17 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Ye haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, & euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the words of the couenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betwene the parts thereof.

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priestes, and all the people of the land, which passed betwene the parts of the calfe, 20 I will euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shall be for meat vnto the fowles of the heauen, and to the beasts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the king of Babels hoste, which are gone vp from you.

22 Behold, I will command, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this city, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

Hee proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

The word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah, King of Iudah, saying,

2 Goe vnto the house of the Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

3 Then tooke I Iazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, & the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the House of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was about the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the treasure.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and said vnto them, Drinke wine.

6 But they said, We will drinke no wine: for Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, Yee shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

7 Neither shall ye build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tents, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dayes, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor field, nor feed,

10 But we haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, and done according to all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, and let vs goe to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the hoste of Aram: so we dwell at Ierusalem.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem. Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, sayth the Lord?

14 The commandement of Ionadab the son of Rechab that he commanded his sonnes that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising early, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.

15 I haue sent also vnto you al my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them saying, Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not encline your care, nor obey me.

18 And Jeremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because yee haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall not want a man, to stand before me for ever.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Jeremiah inditeth, the booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 Hee is sent with the booke vnto the people, and readeth it before them. 14 He is called before the rulers and readeth it before them also. 23 The king casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

And in the fourth^a yee of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Jeremiah the sonne of the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, even^b from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne every man from his euil way, that I may forgieue their iniquitie and their finnes.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote^c at the mouth of Jeremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which hee had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.

5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am^d shut vp, and cannot goe into the House of the Lord.

6 Therefore goe thou, and read the roule, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lords House vpon the fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will^e pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euil way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Loyd hath declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Jeremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House.

9 And in the fifth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem; and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Jeremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the higher court at the entrie of the^h new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellors chamber; and loe, all the princes sate there, even Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chufsi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they said vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the wordes, they wereⁱ afraid both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, Wee will certifie the King of all these wordes.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, how diddest thou write all these wordes at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto mee with his mouth, and I wrote^j them with ynke in the booke.

19 Then said the princes vnto Baruch, Goe, ^khide thee, thou and Jeremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 And they went into the King to the court, but they layd vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the chancellour, and told the King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the king sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King; and in the audience of all the princes, which stood beside the King.

22 Now the king sate in the winter house, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read three, or foure sides, he cut it with the penknife, and cast ⁱ The golly were afraid, seeing God so offended, and the wicked were affrighted for the horror of the punishment.

25 Neuertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the king, that hee would not burne the roule: but he would not heare them.

26 But the king commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord^d hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule & the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe^o another roule and write in it al the former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah hath burnt.

29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, P Why hast thou written therein: saying, That the king of Babel shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Hee shall haue none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his dead bodie shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visite him and his seede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim king of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like words.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succedeth Ieconiah. 3 Hee sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah, going into the land of Benjamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten and put in prison.

¶ And King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for^a Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whom Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel made King in the land of Iudah.

2 But neither he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the wordes of the Lord, which he spake by the ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the King^c sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiah^d went in and out among the people: for they had not put him in to the prison.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was^e come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Ierusalem)

6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying,

7 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Thus shalt thou say to the King of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to enquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, & take it and burne it with fire.

9 Thus saith the Lord, ¶ Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though yee had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the^f land of Benjamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

13 And when he was in the^g gate of Benjamin, there was a chiefe officer whose name was Iriah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and hee tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou fliest to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but hee would not heare him: so Iriah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore, the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that the^h prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there along time, 17 Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke him out, and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah said, Yea: for said hee, thou shalt bee deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel.

18 Moreover, Ieremiah said vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

19 ¶ Where are now your prophets, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?

CHAP. XXXVIII

1 By the motion of the rulers Jeremiah is put into a dungeon. 16 At the request of Ebed-melech the king commandeth Jeremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Jeremiah sheweth the king how he might escape death.

Then Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of Malchiah, heard the words that Jeremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: but the that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for hee shall haue his life for a pray, and shall liue.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, This citie shall surely bee giuen into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the princes said vnto the king, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus hee || weakeneth the hands of the men of warre that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such words vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold, he is in your hands, for the king can deny^a you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Jeremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremias stucke fast in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the blacke More, one of the Eunuches which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Ieremias in the dungeon, (then the king sate in the gate of Benjamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

9 My lord the king, these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremias the Prophet, whome they haue cast into the dungeon, & he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Take from hence thirtie men with thee, and take Ieremias the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, and went to the house of the King vnder the treasury, and tooke there old rotten ragges and olde worne clouts, and let them downe by cords into the dungeon to Ieremias

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke More said vnto Ieremias, Put now these old rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arime holes, betwene the cords: And Ieremias did so.

13 So they drew vp Ieremias with cords and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Ieremias remained in the court of the prison.

14 Then Zedekiah the king sent & tooke Ieremias the Prophet vnto him, into the third entrie that is in the House of the Lord, and the King said vnto Ieremias, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremias said to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay me? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremias, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then said Ieremias vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of hosts, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe forth vnto the King of Babels princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not be burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

18 But if thou wilt not goe forth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the king said vnto Ieremias, I am careful for the Jewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest they deliuer mee into their hands, and they mocke me.

20 But Ieremias said, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voice of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it be well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe forth, this is the word that the Lord hath shewed me.

22 And behold, all the women that are left in the king of Iudahs house, shall bee brought forth to the king of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee: thy feete are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire.

24 Then said Zedekiah vnto Ieremias, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast sayd vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and wee will not slay thee: also what the King sayd vnto thee.

18 So Ieremiah abode still in the court of the prison: vntill the day that Ierusalem was taken: and hee was there, when Ierusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar besiegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Ieremiah is provided for. 15 Ebedmelech is deliuered from captiuitie.

In the ninth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel and all his hoste against Ierusalem: and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleventh yere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken vpon.

3 And all the princes of the King of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, euen Neregal, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarfechim, Rab-faris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the King of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the city by night, through the Kings garden, and by the gate betweene the two walles, and hee went toward the wilderness.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

6 Then the king of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slew all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines to carie him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gaue them vineyards and fields at the same time.

11 Now Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah vnto Ne-buzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying,

12 Take him, and looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him euen as he shall say vnto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushazban, Rabfaris, and Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babels princes:

14 Euen they sent and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that he should carie him home: so he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Goe and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring my words vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shall bee accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lord, and thou shalt not bee giuen into the hand of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall be for a pray vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Ieremiah hath licence to goe whither he will. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

The word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Ramath: when he had taken him being bound in chains among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as hee hath said: because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I loofe thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands, if it please thee to come with mee into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, I tarie still: behold all the land is before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to go, thither go.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore he said, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, to goe wherefoeuer it please thee to go. So the chiefe steward gaue him vitalles and a reward, and let him go.

1 The captaines aske counsell of Ieremiah what they ought to doe. 7 He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

THen all the captains of the hoste, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaiah, & all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And said vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, † Heare our prayer, we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euē for all this remnant (for we are left, but a few of many, as thine eyes doe behold)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may a doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lord your God according to your words, and whatsoever thing the Lord shall answere you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they said to Ieremiah, b The Lord be a witnesse of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if wee doe not, euē according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs.

6 Whether it bee good or euill, we will obey the voice of the Lord God, to whome we send thee that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

8 Then called hee Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most,

9 And said vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom yee sent me to present your prayers before him,

10 If ye will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I d repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the King of Babel, of whom yee are afraid, bee not afraid of him, sayth the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you † from his hand, 12 And I will grant you mercie that he may haue compassion vpon you, and hee shall cause you to ¶ dwell in your owne land.

13 But if yee say, Wee will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voice of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but wee will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shal see no warre, nor heare the sound of the trumpeter, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell,

15 (And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah, thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, If yee set your faces to enter into Egypt, and goe to dwell there)

16 Then the sword that yee feared, f shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which yee care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shal die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence, and none of them shal remaine nor escape from the plague that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath been powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred forth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and yee shal be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse and a reproch, and ye shal see this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely yee b dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euē according vnto al that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore, know certainly that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, i in the place whither yee desire to goe and dwell.

^b This declareth that pride is the cause of rebellion, & contempt of Gods ministers.

^c When the hypocrites of the wicked is discovered, they brast forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, reade Mai. 30. 10.

^d Hee sheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to faine that they would obey God and imbrace his word, if they were assured that his messengers spake the truth: though in deede they be most far from all obedience.

^e Thus the wicked doe, or onely contemne and hurt the messengers of God, but slander and speak wickedly of all them that support or fauour the godly.

^f As from the Moabites, Ammonites, and Edomites, Chap. 40. 11.

2 Then spake ^a Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the ^b proude men, saying vnto Ieremiah, ^c Thou speakest falsely: the Lord our God hath ^d not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there.

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah ^e prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and carie vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captains of the hoste tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from all ^f nations, whither they had been driuen, to dwell in the hand of Iudah:

6 Euen men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and euery person, that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: thus came they to ^h Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and hidethem in the clay in the bricke kill, which is at the entry of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah,

10 And say vnto them, I thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will send and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel ^k my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and hee shall spread his pavilion ouer them.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: ^l such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and hee shall burne them and carie them away captiues, and hee shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a ^m shepherd putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

13 Hee shall breake also the images of ⁿ Bethshemesh, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall hee burne with fire.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reprobued the people for their idolatrie. 15 They that set light by the threatening of the Lord, are chastened: 26 The destruction of Egypt and of the Iewes therein is prophesied.

The word that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at ^a Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the country of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Ye haue scene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein.

3 Because of their wickednes which they haue committed, to prouoke me to anger in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods whom they knew not, neither they nor you, nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets ^b rising early and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore ^c my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and waited, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your handes, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whither ye be gone to dwell: that yee might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that yee might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the ^d kings of Iudah, and the wickednesse of their wiues, and your owne wickednesse and the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not ^e humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my law nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you ^f to euill, and to destroy all Iudah, 12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that ^g haue set their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all be consumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall euen be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation and an astonishment, and a ^h curse and a reproch.

13 For I will visit them that dwell in the land

^a These were all famous & strong cities in Egypt, where the Iewes, that were fled, dwelt for their safetie: but the Prophet declareth that there is no holde so strong that can preserue them from Gods vengeance.

^b Reade Chap. 7. 25 and 25. 3. and 26. 1. and 29. 19. and 32. 33.

^c He stretcheth before their eyes Gods judgments against Iudah and Ierusalem for their idolatrie, that they might beware by their example, and not with the like wickednesse prouoke the Lord: for then they should be double punished.

^d He sheweth that we ought to keepe in memory Gods plagues from the beginning, that considering them, we might liue in his feare, and know, if he haue not spared our fathers, yea, kings, princes, and rulers, and also whole countries and nations for their finnes, that we vile wormes cannot looke to escape punishment for ours.

^e Or, I set mine face against you. ^f Which haue fully set their mindes and are gone thither on purpose. Whereby he excepteth the innocents, as Ieremiah & Baruch that were forced: therefore the Lord sheweth that he will set his face against them: that is purposefully destroy them.

land of Egypt, as I have visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should return into the land of Iudah to the which they haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwell in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord we will not heare it of thee.

17 But we wil doe whatsoever thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as we haue done, both we and our fathers, our Kings, and our princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then I had wee plenty of victuals, and were well and felt none euill.

18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, we haue had scarcenesse of all things, and haue been consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when wee burnt incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did wee make her cakes to make her glad, and powre out drinke offerings vnto her without our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answer, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbear, because of the wickednesse of your inuencions, and because of the abominations, which yee haue committed: therefore is your land desolate and an astonishment, and a curse, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because yee haue burnt incense, and because yee haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his lawe, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreover Ieremiah said vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Yee and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, we will performe our vowes that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: ye will performe your vowes and doe the things that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare, the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt. Behold, I haue sworne by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God lieth.

27 Behold, I will watch ouer them for euill and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, vntill they be vtterly destroyed.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall knowe whose words shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, when I visite you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for euill.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah King of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar King of Babel his enemy, who also fought his life.

went against Egypt, and slew the king, and so brought these Iewes and other into to Babylon.

1 Ieremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring him that hee should not perish in the destruction of Ierusalem.

THE word that Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when hee had written these wordes in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiah, in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch.

3 Thou diddest say, Woe is me now: for the Lord hath layd sorrow vnto my sorrow: I faint in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.

4 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord saith thus, Behold, that which I haue build, will I destroy, and that which I haue planted, will I plucke vp, euen this whole land.

5 And seekest thou great things for thy selfe? seeke them not: for behold, I will bring a plague vpon all flesh, saith the Lord: but thy life will I giue thee for a pray in all places, whither thou goest.

The

m You haue committed dolefull euill in making wicked vowes, and in performing the same.

n This declaration is a horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God will not vouchsafe to haue his Name mentioned by such as haue polluted it.

o We see therefore that God hath a perpetual care ouer his church, whereof they are members: for though they be but two or three, yet hee will deliuer them when hee destroyeth his enemies.

p He sheweth the manner whereby they should be destroyed, to assure them of the certainty of the plague, and yet they remaine still in their obstinacie till they perish for Iosaphat lib. 10. de Antiq. cap. 11. writeth that five yeeres after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchadrezzar the younger, hauing overcome the Moabites and the Ammonites,

^b Make ready buckler and shield, and go forth to battell.

^c Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your fallets, four in the spears, and put on the brigandines.

^d Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mighty men are smitten, and are fled away, and looke not back: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

^e The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the North by the river Perath.

^f Who is this, that commeth vp, as a flood, whose waters are moued like the rivers?

^g Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are moued like the riuers, and hee saith, I wil goe vp, and wil couer the earth: I will destroy the cite with them that dwell therein.

^h Come vp, yee horses, and rage yee charrets, and let the valiant men come forth, & the blacke Moores and the Libyans that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bowe.

ⁱ For this is the day of the Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that hee may auenge him of his enemies: for the sword shall deuoure, and it shal be faciate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hostes hath a sacrifice in the North countrey by the river Perath.

^j Goe vp vnto Gilead, & take balm; O virgin, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou use many medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

^k The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy cite hath filled the land: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong, and they are fallen both together.

^l The word that the Lord spake to Jeremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel should come and smite the land of Egypt.

^m Publish in Egypt, & declare in Migdol, and proclaim in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the sword shal deuoure round about thee.

ⁿ Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lord did drie them.

^o He made many to fall, and one fell vpon another: and they said, Arise, let vs goe againe to our owne people and to the land of our natiuitie from the sword of the violent.

^p They did drie there, Pharaoh King of Egypt, and of a great multitude^q hath passed the time appointed.

^r As I live, saith the king, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, surely as Tabor in the mountaines, and as Carmel in the sea, so shall it come.

^s O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee gear to goe into captiuitie: for Noph shall bee waste and desolate, without an inhabitant.

^t Egypt is like a faire calfe, for destruction commeth: out of the North commeth.

^u Also her hired men are in the mids of her like fat calves: they are also turned backe and fled away together: they could not stand, because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation.

^v The voice thereof shall goe forth like a serpent: for they shall march with an armie, and come against her with axes, as bewyers of wood.

^w They shall cut downe her Forrest, saith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are more then the grasshoppers, and are innumerable.

^x The daughter of Egypt shal be confounded: she shall be deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.

^y Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite the common people of No, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods and their Kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him.

^z And I will deliuer them into the hands of those, that seeke their liues, and into the hand of Nbuchad-rezzar King of Babel, and into the hands of his seruants, and afterward shee shall dwell as in the olde time, saith the Lord.

^{aa} But feare not thou, O my seruant Iakob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I wil deliuer thee from a faire country, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iakob shal returne and be in rest, and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

^{ab} Feare thou not, O Iakob my seruant, saith the Lord: for I am with thee, and I will vtterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I wil not vtterly destroy thee, but correct thee by iudgment, and not vtterly cut thee off.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The word of the Lord against the Moabites, 16 Because of their pride and cruelty.

Concerning Moab, thus saith the Lord of Hostes, the God of Israel, Woe vnto Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and afraid.

2 Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euill against it. Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, O Madimen, and the sword shall pursue thee.

3 A voice of crying shall be from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed: her little ones haue caused their crie to be heard.

5 For at the going vp of Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a crie of destruction.

6 Flee and saue your liues, and be like vnto the heath in the wilderness.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thy works and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and Chemosh shal go forth into captivity with his priests and his princes together.

8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perill, and the plaine shall be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.

9 Glue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate without any to dwell therein.

10 Cursed be hee that doeth the worke of the Lord negligently, and cursed be hee that keepeth backe his sword from blood.

11 Moab hath been at rest from his youth: and he hath settled on his lees, & hath not been powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taste remained in him, and his sent is not changed.

12 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall carry him away: and shall emptie his vessels, and breake their bottles.

13 And Moab shall bee ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el their confidence.

14 How thinke you thus, Wee are mightie, and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed, and his cities burnt vp, and his chosen yong men are gone downe to slaughter, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.

16 The destruction of Moab is readie to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that knowe his name, say, How is the strong staffe broken, and the beautiful rod!

18 Thou daughter that doest inhabite Dibon, come down from thy glory, & sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vp vpon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holds.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and behold: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, and ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste.

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon, and vpon Iahazab, and vpon Mephaath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, 23 And vpon Kiriathaim, and vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth-meon, 24 And vpon Kiriath, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the land of Moab farre or neere.

25 The horne of Moab is cut off, and his armie is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lorde: Moab shall wallow in his vomite, and he also shall be in derision.

27 For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though he had been found among the cues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art moued.

28 O yee that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and be like the doe, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 Wee haue heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proude) his stoutnesse and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, & but it shall not be so: and his diffimations, for they doe not right.

31 Therefore will I howle for Moab, and

Have not bene removed as the Iewes haue, but hath liued at ease, and as wine that feedeth it selfe on his lees.

As the call of Beth-el was not able to deliuer the Israelites: no more shall Chemosh deliuer the Moabites. Elr. gone up, or destroyed.

How are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength and riches?

Thus they that flee, shall answer,

That is, his power and strength.

He willed the Caldeans to lay, afflicions enow vpon them, till they be like drunken men that fall downe to their shame, and are derided of all.

Or, shall be full of claphu hands.

He shall not execute his malice against his neighbours.

C H A P. XLIX.

and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy plants are gone over the sea, they are come to the sea: of Iazer the destroyer is fallen vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy vintage.

33 And thy gladnesse is taken from the plentiful field, and from the lande of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the wine-press: none shall treade with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.

34 From the citie of Heshbon vnto Eleah, and vnto Iahaz haue they made their noise: from Zoar vnto Horonaim, the heifer of three yeere old shall be lowing: for the waters also of Nimrim shall be wasted.

35 Moreover, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a shawme, & mine heart shall sound like a shawme for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished.

37 For euery head shall be bald, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the hands shall be cuttings, and vpon the loines sackcloth.

38 And mourning shall bee vpon all the house tops of Moab, and in all the streets thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

39 They shall howle, saying, How is he destroyed? how hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus sayth the Lord, Behold, he shall flee as an eagle, and shall spread his wings over Moab.

41 The cities are taken, & the strong holds are wonne, and the mightie mens hearts in Moab at that day, shall be as the heart of a woman in traile.

42 And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

43 Feare, and pit and snare shall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 Hee that escapeth from the feare, shall fall into the pit, and he that getteth vp out of the pit, shall bee taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, even vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fled, stood vnder the shadow of Heshbon, because of the force: for the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the scilitious children.

46 Wo be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiue, and thy daughters led into captiuiety.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the latter daies, saith the Lord. Thus saith the iudgement of Moab.

The word of the Lord against the Ammonites, 27. Iddene, 28. Dimefai, 28. Kedar, 34. and Elam.

Vnto the children of Ammon, thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath hee none heire? Why then hath their King possessed Gad? and his people dwelt in his cities?

2 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will cause a noise of warre to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possess those that possessed him, saith the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ais is wasted: crye yee daughters of Rabbah: gird you with sackcloth: mourne and run to and fro by the hedges: for their king shall goe into captiuitie, and his Priests and his Princes likewise.

4 Wherefore glorie thou in the valleys? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: shee trusted in her treasure, saying, Who shall come vnto me?

5 Behold, I will bring a feare vpon thee, saith the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and yee shall be scattered euery man to right forth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And afterward I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

7 To Edom thus saith the Lord of hostes, Is wisdom no more in Teman? is counsell perished from their children? is their wisdom vanished?

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan (they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 If the grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if the cues come by night, they will destroy till they haue enough.

10 For I haue discovered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seede is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall bee none to say,

11 Leauethy fatherlesse children, and I will preserue them alieue, and let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, they whose iudgment was not to drinke of the cup, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou hee that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sborne by my selfe, saith the Lord, that Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproch, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lorde, and an ambassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against Pher, and rise vp to the battell.

a They were persecuted from the Moabites by the river Arnon, and after that the tribes were carried away into captiuitie, they invaded the country of Gad.

b To wit, of the Ammonites.

c Meaning, of the Israelites.

d Which was one of the chief cities of the Ammonites, as were Heshbon and Ais: these were also a city called Heshbon among the Moabites.

e In thy plentiful country, signifying, that power and riches cannot presently when as God will execute his iudgements.

f That is, without looking backe, and as every one can find a way to scape.

g In the time of Christ, when the Gentiles shall be called.

h Which was a city of Edom, called by the name of Teman, Eliphaz foresaw, who came of Esau.

i The meaning is, that shall dwell as though they fled away, that were backe and made your land and possesse it.

j Meaning, that God would utterly destroy them, and not spare out, though the grapegatherers leaue some grapes, and therefore shall but all they haue enough, Chod.

k The destruction shall be so great, that there shall be none left to take care of the widowes and fatherlesse.

l I haue not spared mine owne people, and how should I pietie thee?

m The destruction shall be so great, that there shall be none left to take care of the widowes and fatherlesse.

n I haue not spared mine owne people, and how should I pietie thee?

o Which was a chief citie of Edom.

p That is, Bozrah.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy feare, and the pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, and keepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldst make thy nest as hie as the eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

17 Also Edom shall bee desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof, 18 As in the ouerthrow of Sodom, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, I see thee shall come vp like a Lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, enem I will make him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepherd that will stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that he hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that he hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely he shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is moued at the noyse of their fall: the crie of their voice is heard in the red Sea.

22 Behold, he shall come vp, and flee as the Eagle, and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom bee as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

23 Vnto Damascus hee sayth, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard euil tidings, and they are faint hearted as one on the searefull sea that cannot rest.

24 Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her selfe to flight, and feare hath seated her: anguish and sorrowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaile.

25 How is the glorious citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy?

26 Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hosts.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of Ben-hadad.

28 Vnto Kedar, and to the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel shall smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, and go vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flockes, shall they take away: yea they shall take to themselues their curtains and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off (they haue consulted to dwell) O yee inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.

31 Arise, and get you vp vnto the wealthy nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels shall bee a bootie, and the multitude of their cattell a spoyle, and I will scatter them into all winds, and to the utmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

33 And Hazor shall be adwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 The words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet, concerning Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah, saying, 35 Thus sayth the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will breake the bowe of Elam, enem the cheife of their strength.

36 And vpon Elam I will bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towards all these windes, and there shall be no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shall not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, enem the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I will send the sword after them till I haue consumed them.

38 And I will set my throne in Elam, and I will destroy both the King and the Princes from thence, saith the Lord: but in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

3 For out of the North there commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall flee, and depart, both man and beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping shall they go, and seeke the Lord their God.

8 Flee from the mids of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goats before the flocke.

9 For loe: I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrey, and they shall set themselves in aray against her, whereby she shall bee taken: their arrowes shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vain.

10 And Caldea shall bee a spoile: all that spoile her, shall be satisfied, sayth the Lord.

11 Becas se yee were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are growen fat, as the calves in the grasse, and eyed like strong horses,

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord it shal not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: every one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, and hisle at all her plagues.

14 Put your selues in aray against Babel round about: all yee that bend the bow shoot at her, spare no arrowes: for shee hath sinned against the Lord.

15 Cry against her round about: she hath giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as she hath done, doe vnto her.

16 Destroy the sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sithe in the time of harvest: because of the sword of the oppressour they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the Lyons haue disperfed them: first the King of Asshur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit the King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Asshur.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, sayth the Lorde, the iniquitie of Israel shall bee sought for: and there shall be none: and the finnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will be mercifull vnto them, whome I reserue.

21 Goe vp against the land of the rebels, euen against it, and against the inhabitants of Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, sayth the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commanded thee.

22 A cry of battell is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the hammer of the whole world destroyed and broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striven against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hostes in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her from the vtmost border: open her storehouses: tread on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her bullocks: let them goe downe to the slaughter. Woe vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bend the bow, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, doe vnto her: for shee hath beene proud against the Lord, euen against the holy One of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of warre shal be destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Behold, I come vnto thee, O proud man, saith the Lorde God of hostes: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visit thee.

32 And the proude shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all round about him.

33 Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, helde them, and would not let them goe.

34 But their strong Redeemer, whose name is the Lord of hostes, hee shall maintaine their cause, that hee may giue rest to the land, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

38. A drought is vpon her waters, & they shall be dried vp: for the land of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idoles.

39. Therefore the Zions with the Iims shall dwell there, and the Iostiches shall dwell therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation.

40. As God destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah with the places thereof nere about, sayth the Lord, so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein.

41. Behold, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, & many kings shall be raised vp from the coasts of the earth.

42. They shall holde the bowe and the bucker: they are cruell and ynnocentfull: their voice shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43. The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: sorrow came vpon him, even sorrow as of a woman in trauaile.

44. Behold, hee shall come vp like a Lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation: for I will make Ierusalem to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepherd that will stand before me?

45. Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that he hath conceiued against the land of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely hee shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46. At the noise of the winning of Babel the earth is moued, and the crie is heard among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The raine confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vanitie of Idolaters. 59 Ieremiah giueth his booke to Sheraiah.

Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants, that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying winde,

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, and shall emptie her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her on euery side.

30 Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hostes.

4 Thus the flaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streets.

5 For Israel hath bene no widow, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lord of hostes, though their land was filled with sinne against the Holy one of Israel.

6 Flec out of the middes of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: bend not destroyed in her iniquity: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: shee will render vnto her a recompense.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cup in the Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations rage.

8 Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if shee may be healed.

9 Wee would haue cured Babel, but shee could not be healed: forsake her, and let vs goe euery one into his owne country: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp so the cloudes.

10 The Lorde hath brought forth our righteousnesse: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: gather the shields: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the standard vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the scouters: for the Lord hath both deuised, and done that which hee spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine ende is come, even the end of thy couetousnesse.

14 The Lorde of hostes hath sworne by himselfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men as with caterpillers, and they shall cry and shout against thee.

15 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

16 He giueth by his voice the multitude of waters in the heauen, & he causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: hee turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of her treasures.

17 Euery man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

1 When God shall execute his vengeance.

m That is, the true God of Israel is not like to these idols: for he can helpe when all things are desperate.

n He smeth the Mees and Perissians, as he did before call the Babylonians his Chaldeans.

o Not that Babylon stood on a mountaine, but because it was strong and seemed invincible.

p From thy strong holdes and fortresses.

q By these three nations he meant Armenia the higher, and Armenia the lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of diuers nations.

r By turning the course of the riuer, one side was made open, and the reedes that did grow in the water, were destroyed, which Cyrus did by the counsell of Gobria and Gabatha, Belchazzars captaines.

rouers: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

19 The portion of Iakob is not like them: for hee is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his name.

20 Thou art mine hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy king domes.

21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the chariot and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake old and young, and by thee will I breake the young man and the maide.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dulces and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euill that they haue done in Zion, even in your sight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O destroy- ing mountaine, saith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roule thee downe from the P rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, saith the Lord.

27 Set vp a standard in the land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the king domes of A- rarat, Minni, and Ashchenaz against her: ap- point the prince against her: cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his do- minion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for the dwelise of the Lord shall bee performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they haue remained in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poste shall run to meete the poste, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shewe the King of Babel, that his citie is taken on a side thereof, 32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reeds burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, The daughter of Babel is like athreshing floore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her har- uest shall come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath deuoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made me an empty vessel: hee swallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicacies, he hath cast me out.

35 The spoile of mee, and that which was left of me, a bringer vnto Babel, shall the inha- bitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the in- habitants of Caldea, shall Ierusalem say.

36 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will manifeste thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the sea, and drie vp her springs.

37 And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an his- sing without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roare together like lions, and yell as the lions whelps.

39 In their heate I will make them feasts, and I will make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, and like rammes and goates.

41 How is Sheshach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

42 The sea is come vp vpon Babel: thee is covered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is drie and a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwel- leth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visite Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which hee hath swallowed vp, and the nations shall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the mids of her, and deliuer yee euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord.

46 Lest your heart euen faint, and ye feare the rumour that shall be heard in the land: the rumour shall come this yeere, and after that in the other yeere shall come a rumour and cruel- tie in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will visit the images of Babel, and the whole land shall be confounded, and all her slaine shall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the slaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that haue escaped the sword, goe a- way, stand not still: remember the Lord afarre off, and let Ierusalem come into your minde.

51 We are confounded because wee haue heard reproch: shame hath covered our faces,

When she shall be cut vp and threshed.

This is spoken in the perion of the Iewes, be- waiting their state and the crueltie of the Babylonians.

Thus the Lord sheweth the iniurie done to his Church, as done to himselfe, because their cause is his.

When they are inflamed with thirsting and drinking, I will fast with them, alluding to Belshazzars banquet, Dan. 1.

Meaning Babel, as Chap. 2. 15.

The great armie of the Medes and Persians.

That is, his gifts and pro- fects which he had received as part of the spoile of other nations, and which the idolaters brought vnto him from all countries.

Meaning, that Babylon should not be destroyed all at once, but by lit- tle and little.

Should be brought to nothing: for the first yeere came the tidings, the next yeere the sieges, and in the third yeere it was taken: yet this is not that hor- rible destruction which the Pro- phets threatened in many places: for that was after this when they rebelled, and Darius out- came them by the policie of Zopyrus, and hanged three thousand gen- tlemen, besides the common people.

All creatures in heauen and earth shall reioice and praise God for the destru- tion of Baby- lon the great enemy of his Church.

Babylon did not only destroy Israel, but many other nations.

Yet that are now captiues in Babylon.

He sheweth how they should remember Ierusalem by lamenting the misera- ble affliction thereof.

thereof.

for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lords house.

52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will visit her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to ^hheauen, & though she should defend her strength on high, yet from me shall her destroyers come, saith the Lord.

54 A sound of a crie ^{commeth} from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans.

55 Because the Lord hath laid Babel waste, and destroyed from her the great voyce, and her wayes shall roare like great waters, and a sound was made by their noyse:

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, ^{euery} vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenceth, shall surely recompence.

57 And I will ^hmake drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the King, whose name is the Lord of hosts.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The ⁱthicke wall of Babel shall be broken, and her hie gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shall be weary.

59 The word which Ieremiah the Prophet commanded Sheraiah the sonne of Nerijah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Iudah into Babel, in the ^hfourth yeere of his reigne, and this Sheraiah was a peaceable prince.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euil that should come vpon Babel, ^{euery} all these things, that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah said to Sheraiah, When thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these wordes, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an end of reading this booke, thou shalt bind a ^lstone to it, and cast it in the mids of Euphrates, 64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel be drowned, and shall not rise from the euill, that I will bring vpon her: and they shall be ^mweary. Thus farre are the words of Ieremiah.

CHAP. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought forth of prison, and fed like a king.

Zedekiah ^{*} was one and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did euil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

3 ^a Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till hee had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

4 ^{*} But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, hee and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built forts against it round about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the King Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the ^h way of the gate betwene the two walles, which was by the Kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wilderness.

8 But the armie of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his hoste was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king and caried him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, ^c where hee gaue iudgement vpon him.

10 And the king of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then hee put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel, and put him in prison all the day of his death.

12 Nowe in the fifth moneth, in the ^d tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yeere of the king Nebuchad-nezzar, king of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward, ^{which} stood before the king of Babel in Ierusalem, 13 And burnt the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the walles of Ierusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and there residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the land, to dresse the vines, and to till the land.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miſerable eſtate of Ieruſalem, and ſheweth that they are plagued becauſe of their ſins. The firſt and ſecond Chapter begin every verſe according to the letter of the Ebrewe Alphabet. The third hath three verſes ſix eueny letter, and the fourth is as the firſt.

a The Prophet wondreth at the great iudgement of God, ſeeing Ieruſalem which was ſo ſtrong, and ſo full of people, to be now deſtroyed and deſolate.

ow doeth ^a the citie remaine ſolitarie that was full of people? ſhee is as a widow: ſhee that was great among the nations, and ^b princeſſe among the prouinces, is made tributarie.

b Which had chiefe rule ouer many prouinces and countreys. c So that ſhee taketh no reſt. d Meaning, the Egyptians and Aſſyrians, which promiſed helpe. e For her cruelty toward the poore and oppreſſion of ſeruant, Ier. 34.18.

2 She weepeth continually in the ^c night, and her teares ^d runne downe by her cheekes: among all her ^e louers, ſhe hath none to comfort her: all her friends haue dealt vnfaithfully with her, ^f and are her enemies.

3 Iudah is caried away captiue, becauſe ^g of affliction, and becauſe of great ſeruitude: ſhee dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no reſt: all her perſecuters tooke her in the ſtraits,

4 The wayes of Zion lament, becauſe no man commeth ^h to the ſoleme feaſtes: all her gates are deſolate: her Prieltes ſigh: her virgines are diſcomfited, and ſhee is in ⁱ heauineſſe.

f As they ſied to come vp with mirth and ioy, Plal. 43.4. g Ebr. laſtneſſe. h That is, haue rule ouer her, Deut. 33.44.

5 Her aduerſaries ^j are the chiefe, and her enemies proſper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her tranſgreſſions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become ^k like harts that finde no paſture, and they are gone without ſtrength before the purſuer.

h As men pined away with ſorrow & that haue no courage. i In her miſerie ſhe conſidered the great benefits and commodities that ſhe had loſt. k At her religion & ſeruing of God, which was the greateſt grieue to the godly.

7 Ieruſalem remembered the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleaſant things that ſhee had in times paſt, when her people ^l fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did help her: the aduerſaries ſaw her, and did mocke at her ^m Sabbaths.

8 Ieru-

8. Jerusalem hath grievously sinned, therefore she is in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they have seen her filthinesse: yea, she sigheth and turneth backward.

9. Her filthinesse is in her skirts: shee remembered not her last end, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemye is proud.

10. The enemye hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom thou didst commaund, that they should not enter into thy Church.

11. All her people sigh & seeke their bread: they haue given their pleasant things for meat to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12. Haue ye no regard, all ye that passe by this way? behold, and see, if there be any sorrow like vnto my sorrow, which is done vnto me, where with the Lord hath afflicted mee in the day of his fierce wrath.

13. From aboue hath he sent fire into my bones, which preuaileth against them: he hath spread a net for my feet, and turned me backe: he hath made me desolate, and dayly in heauinesse.

14. The yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vpon my necke: he hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered mee into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp.

15. The Lord hath troden vnder foot all my valiant men in the mids of me: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my young men: the Lord hath troden the wine presse vpon the virgin the daughter of Iudah.

16. For these things I weepe: mine eye, mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemye preuailed.

17. Zion stretcheth out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iakob round about him: Ierusalem is as a menstruous woman in the mids of them.

18. The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorrow: my virgins & my yong men are gone into captiuitie.

19. I called for my louers, but they deceived me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the citie, while they sought their meate to refresh their soules.

20. Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me; for I am full of heauinesse: the sword spoileth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21. They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shall be like vnto me.

22. Let all their wickednesse come before thee: doe vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, and mine heart is heauie.

How hath the Lord darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembered not his footstool in the day of his wrath!

The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iakob, and not spared: he hath throwen downe in his wrath the strong holdes of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdom and the princes thereof.

He hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the hornes of Israel: hee hath drawen backe his right hand from before the enemye, and there was kindled in Iakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

He hath bent his bowe like an enemye: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: hee powred out his wrath like fire.

The Lord was an enemye: hee hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

For he hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, he hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the feasts & Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, & hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.

The Lord hath forsaken his altar: hee hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: hee hath giuen into the hand of the enemye the wals of her palaces: they haue made a noise in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: he stretched out a line, hee hath not withdrawn his hand from destroying: therefor hee made the rampart and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

Her gates are sunke to the ground: hee hath destroyed and broken her barres: her king and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Law is no more, neither can her Prophets receiue any vision from the Lord.

The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heads: they haue girded themselues with sackcloth: the virgins of Ierusalem hang downe their heads to the ground.

Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people,

the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained:
those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mine enemy consumed.

CHAP. III.

I Am the man, that hath seene affliction in the Lord of his indignation.

^a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when hee declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Ierem. 20. 2.

He hath led mee, and brought mee into darknesse, but not to light.

13 Surely he is turned against mee: he turneth his hand against me all the day.

14 My flesh and my skin hath he caused to waxe old, and he hath broken my bones.

15 He hath builded against me, and com-passed me with gall and labour.

16 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

17 He hath hedged about mee, that I can not get out: he hath made my chaanes heauie.

18 Also when I cry and shone, hee shutteth out my prayer.

19 He hath stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.

20 He was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lyon in secret places.

21 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

22 He hath bent his bow and made mee a marke for the arrow.

23 He caused t the arrowes of his quier to enter into my reins.

24 I was a derision to all my people, & their song all the day.

25 He hath filled me with bitterness, and made me drunken with wormewood.

26 Hee hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

27 Thus my soule was farre off from peace:
I forgate prosperity.

28 And I said, My strength and mine hope is perished from the Lord.

29 Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

30 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me.

31 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

32 It is the Lords mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

33 They are renewed euery morning: great is thy faithfulness.

34 The Lord is my portion, saith my soule:
therefore will I hope in him.

35 The Lord is good vnto them that trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him.

36 It is good both to trust, and to wait for the saluation of the Lord.

37 It is good for a man that hee beare the yoke in his youth.

38 He sitteth alone, and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.

39 He putteth his mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

40 Hee giueth his cheek to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

41 For the Lord will not forsake for e-uer.

42 But though he send affliction, yet will hee haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For b He speaks this as one that sits Gods belie indignance, which he greatly feared, and therefore seeth them out with this deuifitie of words.

c This is a great temptation to think that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to doe, that they

2 The noble || men of Zion comparable to fine gold, how are they esteemed as earthen pitchers, even the worke of the hands of the potter!

3 Euen the dragons * draw out the breasts, and giue sucke to their yong, but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the ostriches in the wilderness.

4 The tongue of the sucking childe cleaueth to the roofoe of his mouth for thirst: the yong children aske bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them.

5 They that did feed delicately, perish in the streets: they that were brought vp in scarlet, embrace the dung.

9 They that be slaine with the sword are better then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were stricken thorow for the fruits of the field.

10 The hands of the pitifull women haue foddren their owne children, which were their meat in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not haue beleueed that the aduersarie and the enemy should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem:

13 For the sinnes of her prophets, and the iniquities of her Priests, that haue shedde the blood of the iust in the middes of her.

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

Remember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: consider, and behold our reproch.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliants.

and some went into Egypt and other places for succour: albeit it seemeth that the Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

3 We are fatherlesse, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 We haue drunken our water for money, and our wood is sold vnto vs.

5 Our necks are vnder persecution we are wearie, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our hands to the Egyptians and to Ashtur, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 We gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sword of the wilderness.

10 Our skinn was blacke like as an oden because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maids in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke the yong men to grind, and the children fell vnder the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the gate, and the yong men from their songs.

15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: woe now vnto vs, that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our eyes are dimme, 18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?

21 Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shall be turned: renew our dayes as of old.

22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

rest remained,

EZEKIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsel of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmur that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophesied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should bee still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof hee confirmeth his former prophecies, declaring by new visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie should most certainly be destroyed and the people grievously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained, should be brought into cruell bondage. And lest the godly should despaire in these great troubles, hee assureth them, that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies, which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly bee performed vnder Christ, of whome in this booke are many notable promises, and in whome the glorie of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophesied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiah prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

C H A P. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel prophesied, and in what place.
3 His vision. 5 The vision of the four beasts. 26 The vision of the throne.

IT came to passe in the thirtieth yere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captives by the river Chebar) that the heavens were opened, and I saw visions of God.

In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yere of King Iachins captiuitie.)

The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the river Chebar, where the hand of the Lord was vpon him.

And I looked, and behold, a whirlewind came out of the North, a great cloud and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnes was about it; and in the mids thereof, so was, in the middes of the fire came out as the likenesse of Iamber.

Also out of the middes thereof came the likenesse of foure beasts, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

By this diuinitie of words, he signifieth the fearefull iudgement of God, and the great afflictions that should come vpon Ierusalem. Or, pale yellow. Which were the foure Cherubims that represented the glory of God, as Chap. 3. 23.

THE VISION.

- A. The whirlewind that came out of the North, or Aquilon.

- F. The forme of the foure beasts.
- G. Their feet like calves feet.
- H. Hands coming out from vnder their wings.
- I. K. L. M. The fashion of the foure faces of every beast.
- N. Their wings ioyned one to another.
- O. Their two wings, which covered their bodies.
- P. Fire running among the beasts.
- Q. Wheels hauing every one foure faces.
- R. The rings of the wheels which were full of eyes.
- S. The firmament like vnto chrisfall.
- T. The throne, which was set vpon the firmament.
- V. Where face like the appearance of a man.
- X. The appearance of Amber above, and beneath the man.
- Y. The fire about him.
- Z. The brightnesse of fire like the rainbow.
- Midi, or the South.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is sent to call the people from their error.

And hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, stand vp vpon thy feet, and I will speake vnto thee.

And the Spirit entred into mee, when he had spoken vnto mee, and set mee vpon my feet, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.

For they are impudent children, and stiff hearted: I doe send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God.

But surely they will not heare, neither in deed will they cease, for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they knowe that there hath bene a Prophet among them.

And thou sonne of man, feare them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels, and thornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their words, nor be afraid at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease: for they are rebellious.

But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and eate that I giue thee.

And when I looked vp, behold, an hand was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.

And he spread it before mee, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

Moreouer he said vnto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

So I opened my mouth, and he gaue me this roule to eate.

And hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honie.

And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknown tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel,

Not to many people of an vnknown tongue, ranne among the beasts, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

And the beasts ranne, and returned like vnto lightning.

Now as I beheld the beasts, behold, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

The fashion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their fashion, & their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.

They had also rings, and height, and were fearefull to behold, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

And when the beasts went, the wheeles went with them: & when the beasts were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp.

Whither their spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beasts was wonderfull, like vnto christall, spread ouer their heads aboue.

And vnder the firmament were their wings streight, the one toward the other: euerie one had two, which couered them, and euerie one had two, which couered their bodies.

And when they went forth, I heard the noise of their wings, like the noise of great waters, and as the voice of the Almighty, euen the voice of speech, as the noise of an hoste: and when they stood, they let down their wings.

And there was a voice from the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stood, and had let downe their wings.

And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a saphyre stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

And I saw as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire round about within it to looke to, euen from his loines vppward: and to looke to, euen from his loines downward, I saw as a likenesse of fire, and brightnes round about it.

As the likenesse of the bow that is in the cloud in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell vpon my face, and I heard a voice of one that spake, i That is, when they had executed Gods will: for afore they returned not, till God had changed the state of things.

k The Ebrew word is Tarshish: meaning, that the colour was like the Cilician sea or a precious stone so called.

l Or, the front.

1 Which declared the swiftnesse, and the fearefulness of Gods iudgements. m Which signified, that they had no power of themselves, but onely waited to execute Gods commandment.

n Whereby was signified a terrible iudgement, toward the earth.

o Considering the maiestie of God, and the weakenesse of flesh.

a That is, the Lord.

b Meaning, man, which is but earth and ashes, which was to humble him, and cause him to consider his own state, and Gods grace.

c So that he could not abide Gods presence till Gods spirit did enter into him.

d This declarereth on the one part Gods great affliction toward his people, that notwithstanding their rebellion, yet he will send his Prophets among them, & admonisheth his ministers of the other part, that they cease not to do their dutie, though the people be neuer so obstinate: for the word of God shall be either to their saluation, or greater condemnation.

e Read Ierem. 1. 17. he sheweth that for none afflictions they should cease to do their duties.

f He doeth not onely exhort him to his dutie, but also giueth him the means wherewith he may be able to execute it.

g He sheweth what were the contents of this booke: to wit, Gods iudgements against the wicked.

h Whereby is meant that none is meet to bee Gods messenger before he haue receiued the word of God in his heart, as ver. 16. and haue a zeale thereto, and delight therein, as Ierem. 15. 16. reu. 10. 10.

i The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

j Moreouer he said vnto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

k So I opened my mouth, and he gaue me this roule to eate.

l And hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honie.

m And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

n For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknown tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel, o Not to many people of an vnknown tongue, tongue, or of an hard language; whose words thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent & stiffe hearted.

8 Behold, I haue made thy face strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house.

10 Hee said moreouer vnto mee, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart all my words that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares.

11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, and tell them, Thus sayth the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deed cease.

12 Then the spirit tooke me vp, and I heard behinde me a noise of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noise of the wings of the beasts, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheels that were by them, euen a noise of a great rushing.

14 So the spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away, and I went in bitternesse, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues, to Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, & remained there astonished among them seuen dayes.

16 And at the end of seuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet, if thou warn the wicked, and hee turne not from his wickednes; nor from his wicked way, hee shall die in his iniquity, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a righteous man turne from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, I will lay a stumbling blocke before him, and hee shall die, because thou hast not given him warning: hee shall die in his sinne, and his righteous deeds, which he hath done, shall not be remembered: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuerthelesse, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the hand of the Lord was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Arise, and go into the field, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and gone forth into the field, behold, the glory of the Lord stood there, as the glory which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entred into me, which set me vp vpon my feete, and spake vnto me, and said to me, Come, and shut thy selfe within thine house.

25 But thou, O sonne of man, behold, they shall put bands vpon thee, and shall bind thee with them, and thou shalt not goe out among them.

26 And I will make thy tongue cleaue to the roote of thy mouth, that thou shalt bee dumbe, and shalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I shall haue spoken vnto thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, He that heareth, let him heare, and he that leaueth off, let him leaue: for they are a rebellious house.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the cite of Ierusalem is signified. 2 The long continuance of the captivity of Israel. 3 An hunger is prophesied to come.

4 Thou also sonne of man, take thee a briek, and lay it before thee, and pour tray vpon it the cite, euen Ierusalem.

5 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engines of warre against it round about.

6 Moreouer, take an yron pan, and set it for a wall of yron betwene thee and the cite, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

7 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the house of Israel vpon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

8 For I haue laid vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundredth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

9 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fortie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

10 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine arme shall be vncovered, and thou shalt propheticke against it.

8 And behold, I will lay ^a bandes vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, and millet, and ^f fitchel, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: ^g even three hundredth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

10 And the meat, wherof thou shalt eate ^h shall be by weight, ⁱ even ^j twentie shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, ^k even the sixt part of an Hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it ^l as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it ^m in the dung that cometh out of man, in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp, ⁿ even vnto his houre, I haue not eaten of any thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any ^o vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he said vnto me, Lo, I haue giuen thee bullocks ^p dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover, hee said vnto me, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake ^q the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, & they shall eat bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shall be astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

CHAP. V.

The signe of the haire, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

ANd thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, ^a or take thee a barbour's rasour, and cause it ^b to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee ballances to weigh, and diuide the ^c haire.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the mids of ^d the cite, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the ^e other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the ^f last third part thou shalt scatter in the wind and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a fewe in number, and binde them in thy ^g lappe.

4 Then take of them againe and cast them into the mids of the fire, and burne them in the fire: ^h for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the mids of the nations and countreys, ⁱ that are round about her.

6 And she hath changed my ^j iudgements into wickednesse more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreys, that are round about her, for they haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, ^k and they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your ^l multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, and yee haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue yee kept my iudgements: no, yee haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are round about you,

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I, ^m even I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the mids of thee, ⁿ even in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will doe any more the like, because of thine abominations.

10 For in the mids of thee, the fathers ^o shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eat their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the windes.
